Fire Rages In Santa Barbara

COMBINED AP & UPI

Green Valley in western Solano County this morning became the latest crisis point in the series of fires that have blackened an estimated 70,000 acres in three North Bay counties since last Friday.

OTHER FIRES

Other fires in Northern California (with acreage lost in parenthesis):

Petrolio in Humboldt County (9,000) not under control.

Rockport (90) under control.

Hopland (80) under control.

Healdsburg (100), new fire which broke out last night, not under control.

Chico (200) under control.

Auburn (5,100) under control.

GREEN VALLEY

"Borate bomber" aircraft, bulldozers, and firemen are being diverted from the Santa Rosa, Valley of the Moon and other area blazes to throttle the wind-whipped flames which chewed eastward from Napa over rugged Twin Sisters mountain since 3 p.m. yesterday, and are moving within two miles of scores of plush Green Valley homes west of Fairfield and Suisun City.

Regional Civil Defense Fire Service and Rescue Coordinator C. E. "Chuck" Green has left his Solano County headquarters and is coordinating the fire defense at the scene. His office told the Independent-Journal he believes enough men and equipment will be available in time.

FIRST SMOKE

When the smoke first flowered volcano-like over the twin-tipped mountain yesterday afternoon, Green could only look despairingly at it and continue trying to obtain equipment to halt the holocaust that had destroyed 91 homes in Sonoma and Napa counties. But the fire so far has blackened more than 45,000 acres.

He had obtained Civil Defense pumper and tank rigs from as far away as Fresno and Sacramento, for the fire lines. Like chess-men, other units were moving northward from Los Angeles to protect the areas left almost without equipment.

Marin County contributed volunteer firemen, trucks and bulldozers to Sonoma County fire lines; Contra Costa fire districts sent the nine trucks they dared spare; San Francisco rigs were to be seen lacing the streets of fire-ringed Sonoma County com-

FIERY STRUGGLE — Wind-whipped flames which onlookers described as "burning tornadoes tall as telephone poles" set some homes ablaze yesterday and skipped others in Agua Caliente outside Sonoma. Weary fire crews also had to watch such problems as gasoline tanks overflowing in the intense heat, hosing down the streets to keep their trucks from catching fire. In some cases, firemen had to crawl under trucks while flames whoosed past. (AP Wirephoto)

Marin Fire Fighters Still Going To Aid Of Neighbors

Other Marinites, however, were sent home as they became exhausted from many hours on the fire lines.

Among those returning last night was Tamalpais Fireman Robert Davison, who described the fire scene as "damned hot and damned smoky."

Staying on the scene from the same group were Jerry Collin, Robert De Walt, Donald Irving and Rev. John Duncan, pastor of the Community Methodist Church, Tamalpais Valley.

No injuries, but a few scorched eyebrows, were suffered by the group, according to Davison. He said they stayed on the job most of time, "fighting grass fires and house fires and just a little bit of everything."

Mill Valley mortician Jerry Gooch, who lives in Sonoma, reported today he helped save a friend's home yesterday "by luck" when it was surrounded by fire.

He said the house was safe Monday night, but was encircled by fire yesterday after the wind changed. Harry and Frank Merz of San Rafael brought a bulldozer and cleared the area around the home and other buildings while a tank truck sprayed them.

Novato firemen Walter Nolan and Alvin Butti last night replaced Capt. George Hale and fireman Samuel Marzell on a Novato truck which is operating in the Healdsburg area.

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) made an aerial inspection of the Calistoga fire area yesterday afternoon and reported that his Washington office is staying in touch with the federal office of Emergency Planning in case Gov. Edmund G. Brown declares the fire a major disaster area.

Clausen said "all that is humanly possible is being done" to fight the Napa and Sonoma fires.

SUCCESS

A goal for which there are many hard and fast rules, the trouble being that all are hard and none are fast.

Johnson 'Avoiding Reds'; Campaigns Called Dirty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders accused President Lyndon B. Johnson today of playing politics when he should be discussing history's "greatest issue": Freedom vs. communism at home and abroad.

House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck, credited Johnson as being the best politician he had seen in the White House.

However, Halleck said Johnson is going too far when he enlists top diplomatic and military officials in his campaign against Goldwater. He said the president is endangering the bipartisan tradition that politics stops at the water's edge.

Halleck appeared with Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen at the weekly "Ev and Charlie Show" following a regular strategy meeting of key republicans from both sides of the capitol.

Dirksen in his prepared statement renewed a GOP criticism that Johnson in his acceptance address at Atlantic City failed to mention the Communist threat. And he noted that in his opening campaign address at Detroit, the president spoke of prosperity, justice and peace but did not mention freedom.

Mundt told the Senate that the 1964 presidential campaign was "dirtier" and filled with more diatribe than those of the past.

He said the presidential candidates and their running mates have put on a campaign which "is an insult to the intellegince of the American voters."

As a result, Mundt said, "our image overseas will be so soiled and stained the only loser will be peace and freedom."

Mundt said Johnson, Goldwater, Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey and his GOP counterpart William E. Miller were equally responsible.

"They are honest, able, dedicated, highly-trained, patriotic individuals," Mundt said. "They are not crooks, vote-thieves, dopes, dupes, tripper happy or warmongers."

Mundt asked the senate "What kind of madness has overtaken these candidates for office?"

LBJ Gives Warning Of Extremists

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon B. Johnson said today that America's destiny "must not be placed in the hands of those who steer a reckless and callous course."

The nation's choice in this election year is "between the center and the fringe—between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes of American life," Johnson said. Speaknig before cheering delegates to the annual convention of the International Union of Electrical Workers, he said:

"We must be guided not by those whose compass points backward—but by those whose eyes and hearts are fixed on the stars that lead us forward.

"We have no time for arrogance or beligerence. We have no time for callousness or contempt—either in the policies of our nation or in the hearts of our leaders."

Johnson was interrupted at least a dozen times by cheers and applause by his labor union audience. As the president spoke to that group here his words beamed by closed circuit television to other union meetings in Chicago, Miami Beach, New

Forest Fire In Napa Out Of Control Again

NAPA (AP)—A forest fire in the Mount St. Helena area broke out of control again today at midday and reached the edge of Knight's Valley where 100 people live. The fire site is seven miles northwest of Calistoga, hard hit by fire Monday.

NWP Gets April Tunnel Deadline

Service Ordered By PUC

The California Public Utilities Commission today gave Northwestern Pacific Railroad until next April 17 to get trains rolling again through the Puerto Suello tunnel.

The commission issued an order requiring the railroad to begin reconstruction of the tunnel within 50 days after personal service of the order. It will be served tomorrow, a PUC aide said.

Reconstruction must be completed within 150 days after work commences, and within five days after completion, "the railroad must restore the same quantity and quality of service as that provided before the tunnel as damaged by fire and cave-ins in 1961," the PUC ordered.

A DEADLINE

This would make the deadline for restoring service next April 17.

In its get-tough order to end the railroad's long attempt to permanently abandon its main line San Rafael service, the PUC declared:

"This commission has jurisdiction under Section 762 of the Public Utilities Code to require a public utility to repair existing plant and facilities for the convenience of the public and to secure adequate service."

TODAY'S ORDER

The PUC initiated its own investigation into the actual abandonment of the line despite Interstate Commerce Commission turndown of an abandonment application. It held a hearing at the Marin County Civic Center in June. Today's order results from that hearing.

The commission in its order said that it clearly has the authority to order reconstruction of the tunnel, supplementing the ICC denial of abandonment

The ICC merely ruled the railroad could not abandon the line. Ordinarily, when an abandonment petition is filed, there is rail service on the line proposed to be abandoned. However, there has been no service on the San Rafael main line of NWP since the tunnel partially collapsed in a fire on July 22 1961. The petition to abandon was filed the following month.

After long hearings on the petition and two turndowns by the ICC, the railroad appealed to federal courts. The U.S. District Court in San Francisco rejected its appeal, which was then carried to the U.S. Supreme Court. The supreme court is expected to rule next month.

Meanwhile, the railroad has revived another projected abandonment, also turned down by the ICC, and lumped it with a petition to abandon the tunnel. Required legal notice of the new application, which seeks to aban-

PARKS, REC GROUP SEES MASTER PLAN

Proposal Outlines Recreation Space For Ultimate Population Of County

By FRANK FARRARA

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission took its first look yesterday at a tentative master plan for parks, recreation and open space to meet the county's ultimate population.

Boat harbors, golf courses, riding and hiking trails, picnic and camping areas, beaches and parks, roadside rests are envisioned in the plan.

Planner Walter Horchler, who is developing the plan, gave the commission a two-hour briefing that touched upon all the likely spots for recreational development in the county.

"The expansion of population calls for an equal expansion of recreation, if possible," Horchler said.

Despite the state parks and the Point Reyes National Seashore, there is still a need to develop more parks and recreational areas for Marin County residents, Horchler said.

State and national facilities attract out-of-county visitors, he said. "The county needs a park system to serve its own people."

Among major developments envisioned in the plan are:

1. Creation of boat harbors, beaches and picnic areas at Tomales Bay to make it a "boating paradise."

2. Construction of a multipurpose reservoir in the Laguna Lake-Chileno Valley area of North Marin which could serve recreational needs as well as provide irrigation water and possibly industrial water for proposed development along Petaluma River and San Antonio Creek.

3. A network of riding and hiking trails along Marin Hills and connecting to a statewide trail, and bicycle trails.

4. Use of Marin Municipal Water District lands as a "recreation resource."

5. Development of facilities at Stafford Lake, near Novato.

6. Preservation of Santa Venetia Mountains as an upland reserve area.

7. A system of parkways and

Marin Long, Hot Autumn Continuing

The mercury climbed to 101 in San Anselmo yesterday as the area's long, late hot spell went on and on.

Temperatures were very little lower today, but the weatherman hoped sea breezes would break the heat wave by tomorrow.

Noon temperatures showed the mercury was climbing fast again. It was already 90 in Woodacre, while San Rafael and San Anselmo each had 86, Novato had 81 and Mount Tamalpais had 82.

Other highs yesterday were 94 in San Rafael and Mill Valley, 92 in Novato, 90 in Fairfax and 87 on Mount Tamalpais.

A weak low pressure trough, running along the coast from Mexico to Oregon, was expected to move inland tonight, bringing cooling air to parched Californians and others.

But the forecast offered little hope for fire-plagued parts of Napa and Sonoma counties. Officially, it predicted:

"Continued warm with low humidity and high fire danger except cooler near the coast."

Repeat Warning On Burning Ban

All outdoor burning in Marin County, including backyard incinerators, has been banned for duration of the current fire hazard period, fire chiefs in the county warned today.

Anyone violating the ban is subject to $500 fine.

The no-burning order was issued by the State Division of Forestry under emergency powers because of the rash of brush and forest blazes throughout California.

Four Saved From Nuclear Chamber

NEVADA TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI) — Four men who were trapped in an underground nuclear detonation chamber for more than 80 hours were rescued today in good condition.

George R. Cooper, was the last of the four workers to be brought up an 1,800 elevator shaft which was jammed Saturday night when an auxiliary elevator cable snapped.

Cooper stepped foot on the surface shortly after 8 a.m. Arthur Luhnow reached the top about an hour earlier.

None of the men was injured. The others are Leland Roeder and Floyd Shaw.

Food Poisoning Kills 35

NEW DELHI (UPI) — An American-supported school lunch program was reported continuing all over India despite the food-poisoning deaths of 35 small boys and the hospitalization of scores of others in a southeast Indian village.

The boys, all aged 4 to 10, were stricken at Maddikare in Andhra after eating a midday meal the chief ingredient of which were corn meal, powdered milk and vegetable oil.

This food was supplied by CARE. The organization supports a school lunch program for 7 million Indian children, including 950,000 in Andhra.

Both Indian and American officials were investigating the cause of the tragedy.

Hurricane Gladys Maroons 3,000

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Gladys, whose wind-whipped tides marooned 3,000 persons on North Carolina's fabled Outer Banks, swung on a northerly course today that apparently spared the heavily populated cities of the Eastern Seaboard.

Forecasters located the center of the storm, fourth hurricane of the season about 225 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

Forecasters said the 85 mile-an-hour winds at the storm's center was expected to pass southeast of Cape Cod, Mass., tonight.

State's Take Rises

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California general fund revenues for the first two months of the 1964-65 fiscal year totaled $314,997,664, up five per cent over a year earlier, Controller Alan Cranston reported yesterday. The sales tax, the largest revenue producer, accounted for $211,711,119 during the two month period, an increase of nearly nine per cent over last year.

British Troops Take Indonesia Prisoners

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — British Gurkha and New Zealand troops have killed another Indonesian paratrooper and captured several others in new action in the Malayan government announced today.

The latest kill brought to 19 the number of Indonesians slain since the paratroop landing in the Labis area of Johore State Sept. 2. More than 50 are believed to have been captured. About 20 guerrillas are believed still at large.

French Milk Strike

PARIS (UPI) — A milk strike spread from Paris to the eastern and northern sections of the country today. Dairymen in Toulouse, in the southwest, struck yesterday. The strike movement began in the Paris area last Friday in an effort to force the government to boost wholesale milk prices.

FBI Target Nabbed

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI)—Lloyd Donald Gresson, recently placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals, has been arrested at Elsinore, Calif., it was disclosed here today. Gresson was being sought on larceny and auto theft and was also wanted for questioning in the mysterious deaths of Margaret Ayoub, 37, of Wilkes-Barre, last June and Mrs. Lola Cotton, 44, in Miami, Fla., May 27.

Atlas Flies True

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (UPI)—An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile was launched successfully yesterday from this base toward a preselected target down the Pacific missile range, the Air Force reported. The launching was a routine firing by a Strategic Air Command missile crew, the Air Force said.

Slow Probe Seen On Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee hopes to defuse a politically explosive investigation of the Justice Department and former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), whose committee ordered the inquiry yesterday over his opposition, says he intends to try to keep anything from happening until after the November elections.

As chairman of the special subcommittee created to conduct the investigation, Celler will have a lot to say about when it gets under way, but he'll be under heavy pressure to act promptly.

Republicans, who offered the resolution ordering the investigation and backed it almost solidly in committee, would like to see it begun while Kennedy is campaigning for the U.S. Senate from New York.

The Teamsters Union, which has been the chief force behind the investigation move, would like to see action before President James R. Hoffa's conviction for jury-tampering is heard on appeal in December.

After the 20-13 vote that set the investigation in motion, Celler told newsmen: "Nobody asked for this investigation except those involved with the Teamsters Union. If it had not been for their agitation, there would be no investigation."

The Teamsters want the committee to look into charges that the Justice Department violated Hoffa's constitutional rights by its actions during his trial in Chattanooga. They first backed an investigation directed specifically to Hoffa's case.

'Hard Luck' Glenn Regaining His Health, Looks To Future

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—January, 1964, dawned as a good year for Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. He was a national hero. There were plans for a senatorial race in Ohio.

Before two months elapsed, it was apparent that 1964 was to be the darkest year ever for the former astronaut who orbited an American spaceship around the earth in 1962.

The latest stroke of ill fate is the serious illness of his father, John Glenn Sr. of New Concord, Ohio. His mother also has been ailing. The astronaut's father-in-law, Dr. W. H. Castor of New Concord, has undergone two brain operations.

A dreary parade of bad luck started Feb. 26 with a fall in a Columbus, Ohio, apartment bathroom. The resulting head injury caused dizziness which knocked Glenn from the U.S. Senate race in Ohio. It also laid low a man who thrives on action.

Only now is he able to resume the things he enjoys most.

"Seems like old times," say the neighbors as they watch Glenn running along a country road. He also turns boaters' heads for a quick second look as the trim figure skims past on water skis.

"I am feeling much better," Glenn says, and he looks it. The twinkle is back in his eye. The quick, wry smile comes easy and often.

"It could be a lot worse," he said. "Annie's (his wife's) two operations proved to be successful. There were no signs of malignancy in the tissues. Our son David has enrolled at Harvard and our daughter Lyn is as bouncy and healthy as ever."

Glenn says he doesn't have any trouble with dizziness unless he moves his head faster than a gentle nod.

"It takes about 10 to 15 seconds to straighten out," he said. "Doctors say it will be one or two months and I will be completely cured."

The sandy-haired astronaut said he still doesn't know what he will do after he retires from the Marines.

"I want to work with NASA some, not an 8 to 4 office job but part time as a consultant. I would like to keep my hand in youth work and the Freedom Foundation, and have some sort of business connection that involves international travel.

"But I am still at the mercy of the medics. I have to go to San Antonio next week for another medical checkup. There are no immediate plans."

Homes Lost During Santa Barbara Fire

SANTA BARABARA (AP)—Erratic 45-mile-an-hour winds rammed a brush fire into an exclusive residential district near Santa Barbara last night, destroying at least 30 expensive homes.

The fire, reported contained yesterday afternoon, roared through the Montecito area east of the city, forcing evacuation of residents and 600 students at Westmont College.

U.S. Forest Service officials said there was a possibility the fire might extend into Santa Barbara proper.

The fire, shooting flames hundreds of feet into the air, broke out in a canyon in the afternoon. Aided by borate bombers, firemen had the blaze apparently contained at dusk before winds arose to drive it to new fury.

UAR Premier Due Soviet Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Aly Sabry of the United Arab Republic flew to Czechoslovakia today with agreements for Soviet aid in his pocket. Premier Nikita Khrushchev saw him off.

The agreements cover use of 280 million dollars in long-term credits promised by Khrushchev in Cairo last May.

They provide for Soviet participation in construction of an iron and steel complex to turn out more than a million tons of steel annually, a plant building heavy machinery, a machine tool factory, a lubricants plant and a thermal power station.

New Viet Labor Crisis Hits; Reds Down Two U.S. Planes

About 3,000 workers reportedly struck French-owned plantations in Bien Hao Province, demanding a 50 per cent pay increase and double rice allotments. There appeared a strong possibility that many more thousands of plantation workers in other provinces would join the strike.

Bien Hoa begins about 15 miles north of Saigon, and most of the province is controlled by the Communist Viet Cong. Unconfirmed reports said the workers struck at the demand of Red guerrillas who operate throughout the plantations.

A general strike in Saigon ended last night, but the new work stoppage underlined the uncertainty surrounding the government's future.

Early today two U.S. Air Force planes were shot down, and one American and one Vietnamese pilot were presumed captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The two Skyraiders with an American and a Vietnamese pilot aboard each were shot down while attacking guerrillas near Rach Gia, 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

The occupants of one plane bailed out. U.S. military spokesmen said the American was missing. The Vietnamese was rescued.

The second plane crash-landed and the American made his way to government lines. The Vietnamese pilot was missing and presumed captured.

Future Of County's Parks Is Outlined

scenic roads including wayside rests and viewpoints.

Horchler said urbanization will push developments into San Geronimo Valley, Nicasio Valley, Hicks Valley, San Antonio Valley and the area between Hamilton Air Force Base and Black Point.

"These areas are frankly lost," he said.

He said Paradise Beach Park, being developed near Tiburon, "will be perhaps the first county park that could be called a county recreation beach park." He felt that China Camp represents "the last possible chance to go to the beach close "to home."

Horchler admitted that county funds are limited for such a program and suggested that some facilities could be developed by private enterprise.

In this first briefing, he made no recommendation for land acquisition and set forth no priority for developments.

Some of Horchler's comments on existing recreational facilities were:

MUIR WOODS — "We don't have a type of Sunday diversion at Muir Woods. It's strictly visual."

POINT REYES NATIONAL SEASHORE — Development is concentrated around a few strategic areas with the accent on preserving the natural beauty. "We have no real recreational opportunity at Point Reyes right now. It will take two to three years."

ANGEL ISLAND — "Only a minor part has been developed."

STINSON BEACH STATE PARK—It's limited, hemmed in by development and cliffs.

SAMUEL P. TAYLOR STATE PARK—"Perhaps the most popular park for picnics and camping with many turned away. Use and overuse endangers trees and vegetation, and it would be actually desirable to reduce acreage and use . . . deconcentrate . . . but where could we send them?"

RODEO LAGOON — "An active site, but proposed development of Marincello will concentrate population and perhaps that will sublimate other attendance."

SAN RAFAEL—Boyd Park is outstanding, but San Rafael, for its size, is not too well endowed.

NOVATO—"Fastest rising district in the county, but has only one city park, an old cemetery. Novato relies on school facilities for recreation."

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said that when the plan is completed, the Marin County Planning Commission will hold two public hearings on it, and county supervisors will have at least one hearing.

The parks and recreation commission adjourned until Oct. 7 and 2 p.m. when commissioners are scheduled to discuss possible recreational use of Phoenix Lake with William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District.

Fire's Smell, Mice Bother Sausalitans

It wasn't the fire that bothered the residents on Spring Street in Sausalito this morning. It was the smell and the mice.

The fire in the Livermore Disposal Co. truck was noticed by a passerby at 9:45 a.m., who reported it to the fire department. The scavengers dumped their whole load on the street at Spring near Pearl Street to fight the fire.

Fireman Mike Kyle, off duty, smelled smoke, realized the city has a ban on burning and came out of his house at 614½ Spring Street. Other neighbors also emerged. Then, according to firemen, two mice appeared in the midst of the garbage and two women bystanders fled.

The fire was quenched, a city crew scooped up the mess with a loader, and firemen washed down the fragrant street and returned to the station.

Handicapped To Be Topic

A panel of San Mateo County educators will address a public meeting on neurologically handicapped children at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Davidson Junior High School, San Rafael.

The panelists are William S. Herbig, assistant superintendent of special education in the county; Edward A. Keuffer, a psychologist, and Mrs. Madeline Lassers, teacher of neurologically handicapped children.

The meeting is sponsored by the Marin chapter of the California Assn. for Neurologically Handicapped Children, in an effort to encourage a public school program for brain-injured and other educationally handicapped children in Marin County.

FIRE

munities with hoses in last-ditch stands.

Dirty, gray smoke lay like a vast shroud over the once verdant areas of Sonoma and Napa counties and the hilly, residential Montecito area of Santa Barbara County yesterday when Gov. Edmund G. Brown's plane flew over the north and south line areas on an inspection tour.

State Division of Forestry officials hoped today to bring most of Northern California's forest and brush fires under control by tomorrow morning, but a sudden change in the winds could spoil their plans.

The weather bureau forecast for most of northern California today calls for extremely warm weather with variable winds from the east and north.

"I wish there was something we could do," Brown told Napa Mayor Ralph Trower and state officials when they met his plane at Napa County Airport. "Let's go and look at this thing."

As the party's limousines entered the Mount George Section northeast of Napa, the roads were lined by fire-seared vineyards and orchards with a scattering of charred homes.

Then Brown and his party moved to Calistoga, one of the hardest hit areas. He told Mayor Herbert (Bud) Hanly that he wished the state could do more to help the fire-stricken areas.

En route back to Los Angeles, Brown's plane passed over the Montecito fire near picturesque Santa Barbara. He remarked that this fire probably was more expensive in terms of property damage than the Northern California blazes.

"I hate to see these fires," the governor sighed. "They're like losing your family. California is such a beautiful state."

State Forester Paul Cox said the Santa Rosa blaze is "60 per cent under control and the danger to the city has been eliminated for now." Officials, however, said shifting winds could change the situation in a short time. Acreage lost is 38,000.

Cox said the Valley of the Moon fire has been stopped at a spot about two miles north of Sonoma on the south side of Agua Caliente Creek. Total acreage lost in this fire amounts to over 7,000.

Santa Rosa, a city of 36,000, was the most populous area endangered by the fire which erupted during the weekend atop Mount St. Helena.

The fire spread down both sides—into wine-rich Napa Valley on one side and toward Santa Rosa on the other.

At Calistoga the fire burned 40 homes Monday morning and forced half of the town's 2,500 residents to leave.

At Santa Rosa, firemen saved the Sonoma County Hospital in a dramatic battle early yesterday while 250 patients remained in their beds. Wind whipped the fire around the hospital through the outskirts of the city's high-priced foothill residential districts. Several houses were destroyed.

He saw animals trying to get through fences to get away from the fires. "I saw a fawn that was so tired he just stood there while the fire came on," he said.

Convict Wins Hearing Via Dorado Case

The first Marin Superior Court order to show cause why a prisoner should not be granted a writ of habeas corpus based on the so-called Dorado decision is scheduled for 2 p.m. Oct. 19 before Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The application was made by J. Charles Foulds, 26, serving a 12-year sentence at San Quentin Prison for forgery and passing a worthless check in Orange County. Foulds alleges he is illegally imprisoned because he was not informed of his right to counsel nor right to remain silent before he gave a confession which was later used during his trial.

Foulds also alleges he was unaware that a tape recorder was being used when he confessed.

Last Aug. 31 the California Supreme Court ordered that Robert B. Dorado, 29-year-old San Quentin prisoner, be granted a new murder trial in Marin County. The ruling was based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision involving an Illinois case holding that a man must be told his right to counsel once he becomes the "chief object of police attention" as a suspect.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. said today he has thus far denied two writ applications based on the decision because neither properly qualified. Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said he has ruled against three, all insufficient to warrant an order to show cause.

'Marshal J' On Trial For Assault

Television's "Marshal J." clad in western-type corduroy coat and cowboy boots, went on trial in Marin Municipal Court today on charge of assault and battery on a Sausalito waiter April 11.

The "marshall" Jay Alexander,, 37, of 2373 Dominic Street, Novato, allegedly assaulted William Capilos, 49, in Sausalito's Spinnaker Restaurant. Jury selection in the case began at 9:30 a.m. today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Capilos has filed a $40,000 personal injury damage suit in Marin Superior Court against Alexander, alleging the actor caused extreme physical injury and emotional distress as result of the incident.

Ranch Annex Plan On Agenda

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission will consider annexation of 200 acres of the Fagundes Ranch to the City of San Rafael at a meeting at 8:45 a.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The proposed annexation of the uninhabited ranch land, south of Lucas Valley Road between the extension of Las Gallinas Avenue and Highway 101, would bring the city boundaries almost completely around the unincorporated Terra Linda area.

The commission also will consider a proposal to annex six acres of the Hillcrest subdivision at Tiburon Glen Boulevard and Paradise Drive to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

Shop Center Will Expand At Novato

A $325,000 expansion and remodeling project for the Nave Shopping Center on South Novato Boulevard in Novato was announced today by William F. Nave, owner.

The expansion includes an 18,000-square foot department store costing $250,000 and $75,000 remodeling of the fronts of the existing buildings to make the entire center of one design and landscaping, Nave said.

Construction of the new department store, at the west of present stores, is expected to start on Oct. 15, with Al Villa of San Rafael as builder. Next Feb. 1 is the target date for completion, according to Nave.

Schaaf and Jacobs Inc. of San Rafael have drawn plans for the project.

The department store will be operated by Harold McAffee of Millbrae, who has had 15 years experience as a manager of a national department store, and has operated his own department store in San Bruno for the past five years, Nave said. He will operate both the San Bruno and Novato stores.

don part of the San Rafael main line plus the Sausalito spur line, was first published Sept. 9 and the necessary three publications were completed today.

Boris H. Lakusta, attorney for San Rafael and Marin County in fighting to restore the rail service, said today he expected the railroad would contend the PUC order could not take effect while the new application is pending. San Rafael will argue otherwise, he said. It will be up to the ICC whether to hold another hearing on the twin abandonments, both of which it has previously rejected.

LBJ

York City, St. Paul and Kansas City.

Johnson's audience was bedecked with paper hats that said "LBJ for the USA." The union, which has endorsed his candidacy, roared with cheers for several minutes and tossed confetti around the ballroom when he appeared. It had the atmosphere of a political convention or New Year's Eve.

As usual, Johnson did not mention the name of his Republican campaign opponent, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater in his speech.

But pointing his finger toward the audience, Johnson said he had come to their meeting to ask them and all other Americans "to stand up and be counted for the character and conscience of their country."

"And that is what is under challenge. Americans are not presented with a choice of parties. Americans are not presented with a choice of liberalism and conservatism."

MARIN FIRECALLS

YESTERDAY:

8:53 a.m., San Rafael—False alarm at Francisco Boulevard and Harbor Street.

9:54 a.m., near Mount Tamalpais on Panoramic Highway—Resuscitator call for James H. Baggarly of Sonoya, Ga.; taken to Marin General Hospital.

12:55 p.m., Sausalito — Contractors illegally burning wire and wood at 59 South Street.

1:24 p.m., San Rafael — 5th Avenue and B Street, a car's gas tank overflowed onto street; hosed down street.

2:45 p.m., Marinwood—Fire in carburetor of car driven by Mrs. Graham A. Turner, 1295 Idylberry Road, at intersection of Marinwood Avenue and Miller Creek Road; out on arrival.

4:27 p.m., San Rafael—Mattress smoldering in basement of vacant house at 3 Jones Place; no damage.

6:29 p.m., near Fairfax—Shed ignited yesterday by grass fire rekindled at Olema Drive and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. No damage.

Huge Sewer System For Bay Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A giant 300 - million - dollar sewer system to keep San Francisco Bay from becoming a cesspool by the year 2000 was proposed yesterday to a legislative study commission.

The plan for the horseshoe shaped system was advanced by Brig. Gen. Arthur H. Frye of the Army Corps of Engineers, and Bernard Smith, a civilian consulting engineer.

General Frye also told the commission headed by State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) "I do not advocate the complete cessation of fill in the bay, but intelligent control of that fill."

One branch of the system would start at the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers at Collingsville, and run under the bay past Marin County to a point 10 or 15 miles out in the ocean. The southern section would curve around the lower end of the bay with a feeder line to the Livermore area. It also would reach into the ocean for disposal.

Both would pick up municipal and industrial sewage.

Trustees Plan Site Accord

Lagunitas School District trustees decided last night to try to work out their differences with the Woodacre Improvement Club over expropriation of club property for a school site.

The trustees felt that despite the club members' objections, the site was so centrally located in the district's school population area that every effort should be made to reach agreement.

The property would include the clubhouse, and members felt that, although they could use the building after school hours, the club activities would be curtailed.

Man Booked For Fight With Driver

A 34-year-old San Rafael man was booked by San Rafael police last night on a charge he pulled another man from his car, knocked him down and kicked him.

Police said they picked up Joseph Columbus Hildreth of 1012 Los Gamos Road after his alleged victim, Joseph J. Carusone of 290 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, came to the station and signed a complaint at 11:32 p.m.

Carusone said Hildreth's car had struck his earlier as he started to pull off the Redwood Highway frontage road. When both cars stopped, he charged, Hildreth pulled him from his car, tearing his coat.

Hildreth then hit him in the face, Carusone said, kicking him after he fell to the ground.

IN MEMORIAM

MITCHELL, KATHLEEN MARIE—In loving memory of our darling daughter and sister, KATHLEEN MARIE MITCHELL, who departed this life suddenly SEPTEMBER 23, 1954, age three years, four months.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
It was a bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
To love, to hold and then to part
Is the saddest thing of the human heart.
O Lord, keep green the grave that lies
Beneath the wide and starry skies;
Keep sweet the sleep and give her rest,
Whose hands are folded o'er her breast.
Forgotten to the world by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you will ever be.

SADLY MISSED BY MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

Novato Rejects Plan For Cluster Housing

The Novato City Council overroad the city planning staff and planning commission last night to reject a cluster housing plan for 21 acres in Pleasant Valley—to the plaudits of a throng of residents.

By 4-to-1 vote, Councilman J. Wayne Womack dissenting, the council returned the plan submitted by developers Roberts and Aguirre to the planning commission for revision.

After more than two hours of discussion of the plan, the council asked that all those who opposed it stand up. More than 100 members of the audience arose.

The planning staff had recommended approval of the plan, after cutting the number of units from 84 to 70. It passed the planning commission by 4-to-2 vote.

The area is zoned "planned single family," which permits cluster housing. However, objectors claimed the plan submitted by Roberts and Aguirre actually called for row housing on hillside lots 25 feet wide.

"We created the planned single family zone to prevent monstrosities in the hills. The citizens have rejected this plan and I am going to follow their wishes," said Councilman William Jack Adams in moving rejection.

Robert Roberts, one of the developers, said he was considering asking for rezoning to single family to avoid further fights with residents of Pleasant Valley.

"From our homes all we will see is a continuous fence and row of the backside of houses," said David F. Gillis of 30 Roy Court.

City Planning Director Robert Lagle pointed out that the developer could put homes on standard lots on the hill by excavation of the hillside.

Lloyd S. Brook of 520 Davis Avenue said Roberts did not want to develop the hill, only to sell it. As proof, he exhibited a copy of a classified advertisement in yesterday's Independent-Journal offering the acreage for sale.

The council awarded E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo, lowest of nine bidders, contract for resurfacing of the east end of Vallejo Avenue at $10,239. The engineer's estimate was $11,325.

It awarded Ceccotti and Sons of Marin, Corte Madera, lowest of eight bidders, a $9,377 contract for construction of the Sunset Parkway connection. The engineer's estimate was $11,850.

The Novato City Council also:

1. Passed ordinances regulating encroachments, grading, and trees in the public right of way, and giving the council the right to review planing decisions. It also adopted a fee schedule for encroachment and grading permits.
2. Adopted a 27-mile street system for gasoline tax purposes and accepted the Hill Avenue and Canyon Road street widening projects and the improvements in Forest Park Unit 6.
3. Authorized the Marin County Board of Supervisors to canvass the votes in the Ignacio-Loma Verde annexation election on Nov. 3.
4. Set the rental fee for private parties using the municipal swimmng pool at $10 per hour for 50 people if they live within the city or Novato Unified School District and $15 per hour for those outside.
5. Authorized City Administrator J. Julien Baget to write the California Public Utilities Commission that the council favored extended telephone service with San Rafael.
6. Heard a report from Mayor Robert D. Carrow that the state might assume a large portion of the cost of realignment of the intersection of Diablo Avenue and Highway 101, for which the city has budgeted $50,000. Carrow asked that the city council meet with the State Highway Commission at its October meeting to try to speed allocation of funds to acquire right of way for the Novato freeway bypass. The council also approved a supplemental agreement on the freeway plans at San Marin Drive.
7. Set for Oct. 27 public hearing on annexation of 120 acres on the east side of Highway 101 south of Hamilton Air Force Base. This proposed uninhabited annexation has been approved by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.
8. Denied T. L. Sutton's appeal from planning commission turndown of rezoning from single family residential to commercial at Diablo Avenue and Novato Boulevard.
9. Approved making San Marin Drive a through street from Highway 101 to Novato Boulevard and installing stop signs on San Marin Drive at Novato Boulevard, on Industrial Way at First Street, and on Nave Drive at the main gate to Hamilton Air Force Base.
10. Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Monday to discuss large assessment district developments. Representatives of the North Marin County Water District and Novato Sanitary District will be asked to the meeting.

State Help Is Due Novato On 'Islands'

The City of Novato may receive help from the State Division of Highways in landscaping center islands on Highway 101 within the city.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow last night told the Novato City Council that he had reached tentative agreement with Alan Hart, district highway engineer, for state participation in the landscaping project.

The city has $3,000 in the current budget to install irrigation and plantings on two islands north and south of the Grant Avenue intersection, pending state approval.

"Hart stated that the State Division of Highways might assist in the project and all the islands from Lamont north to Olive Avenue might be planted," Carrow reported.

Baptist Seminary Has 259 Students

Registration last year at this time totaled 274, seminary officials reported. Students from 35 states, Canada, Hong Kong, Guatemala, Korea, the Philippines and Okinawa are studying at the seminary.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

San Anselmo Demos To Open Quarters

San Anselmo Democratic Headquarters will open officially Sunday at 7 p.m. in the old Ross Valley Savings and Loan Building on San Anselmo Avenue.

Anthony Nugent and Mrs. Carolyn Monroe, area chairman of the Committee to Elect President Johnson, made the announcement.

In San Geronimo, the Committee to Elect Johnson will have its organizational meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at Forest Knolls Camp.

Mrs. Diane Williams and Harold Gregg are co-chairmen of the San Geronimo Valley area.

AGAINST 14

Marin County social workers will wage a campaign to defeat Proposition 14 (housing amendment), Dorothy Chevalier of Sausalito announced today.

The Marin campaign is in response to a call to action from directors of the Bay Area chapter of the National Assn. of Social Workers.

McCABE TALK

George McCabe, Democratic candidate for Congress, called for passage of the Adult Basic Education Act at a Democratic picnic in Mill Valley's Boyle Park Sunday.

Passage of the act, now pending in Congress, would help reduce the dependency of many uneducated adults on others, increase their chances for employment, and in the long run, reduce tax burdens and increase the nation's productivity, McCabe declared.

TEEN GOP

Teen-age Republicans of Marin, headed by president Bruce Proctor, held a Republican stricker drive at Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae last Saturday.

ARCHITECTS

School Staffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Faculty and other professional staff in American colleges and universities reached an all-time high of 496,000 during the first term of 1963-64.

Child Care Center Plan Is Revised

The child care center at Marin City will be operated by the county schools office, starting Dec. 1 but two teachers technically will be employees of the Social Services Department, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

The action resolves the question just which department really should run the center, now being operated by the Sausalito school district. It also makes possible a $10,000 federal grant to refurbish the rooms being used.

The Sausalito School District, meanwhile, has announced it would not require rent on the building space, but would ask $100 a month for utilities. In addition, Sausalito district will pay $1,209 toward refurbishing the building and $3,320 for operating the center and nursery school the rest of the fiscal year.

County Administrator Alan Bruce warned, however, that the federal funds for the two teachers are assured for this year only.

U.S. Crude Oil

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than one fifth of the nation's output of crude oil comes from "stripper wells," those of less than 10 barrels daily production average, the American Petroleum Institute reports.

Dixie Meeting Set

Dixie School District trustees will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Miller Creek School to accept the school from contractor Royce Hall of Napa and to enter into an agreement with Eichler Homes for purchase of a school site in upper Lucas Valley.

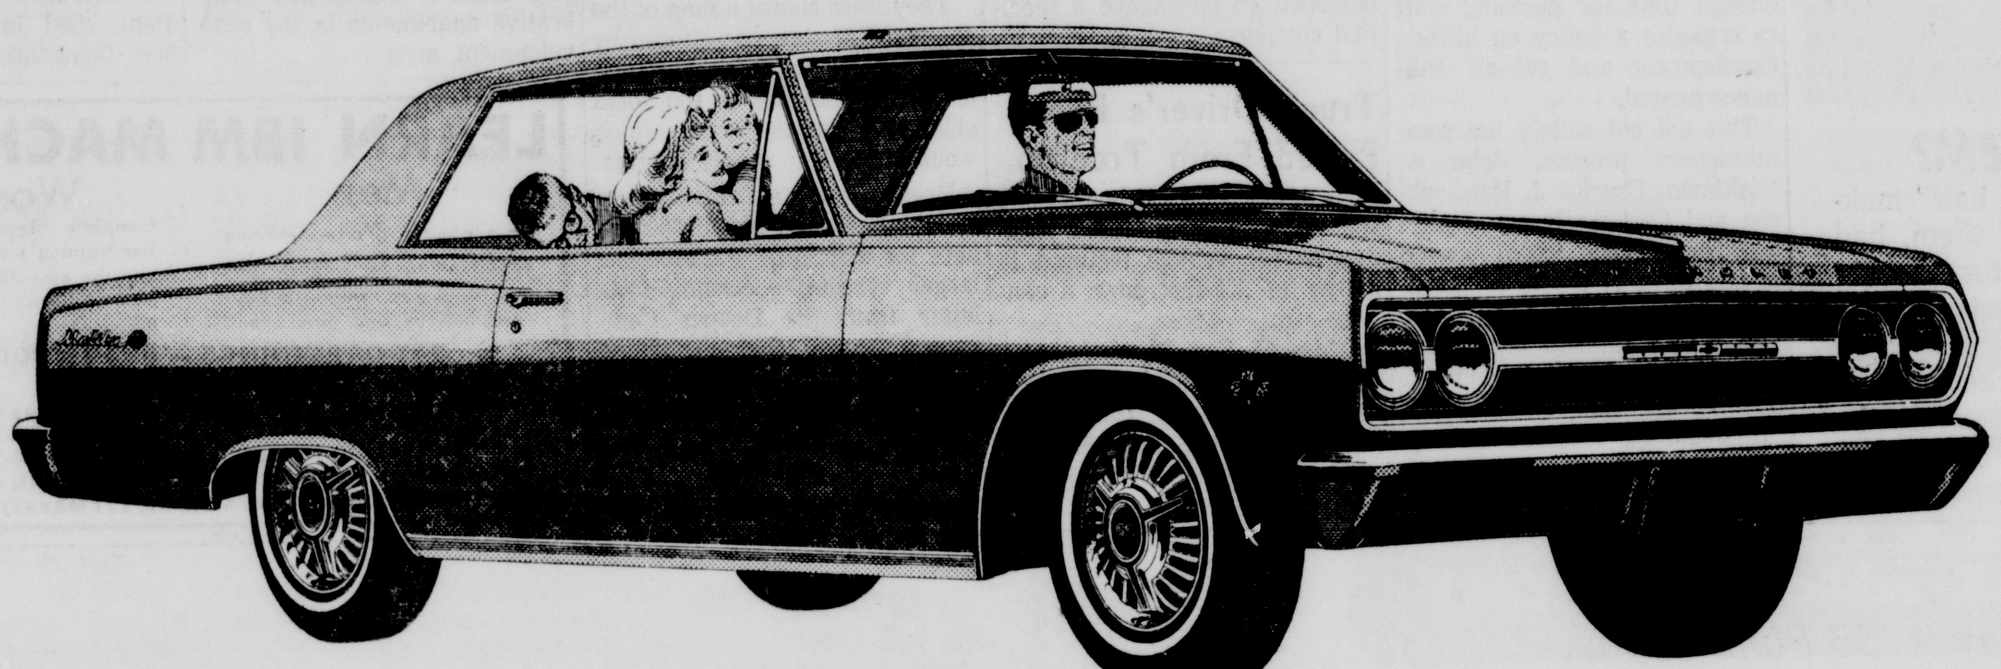
'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Chevrolet Impala '65

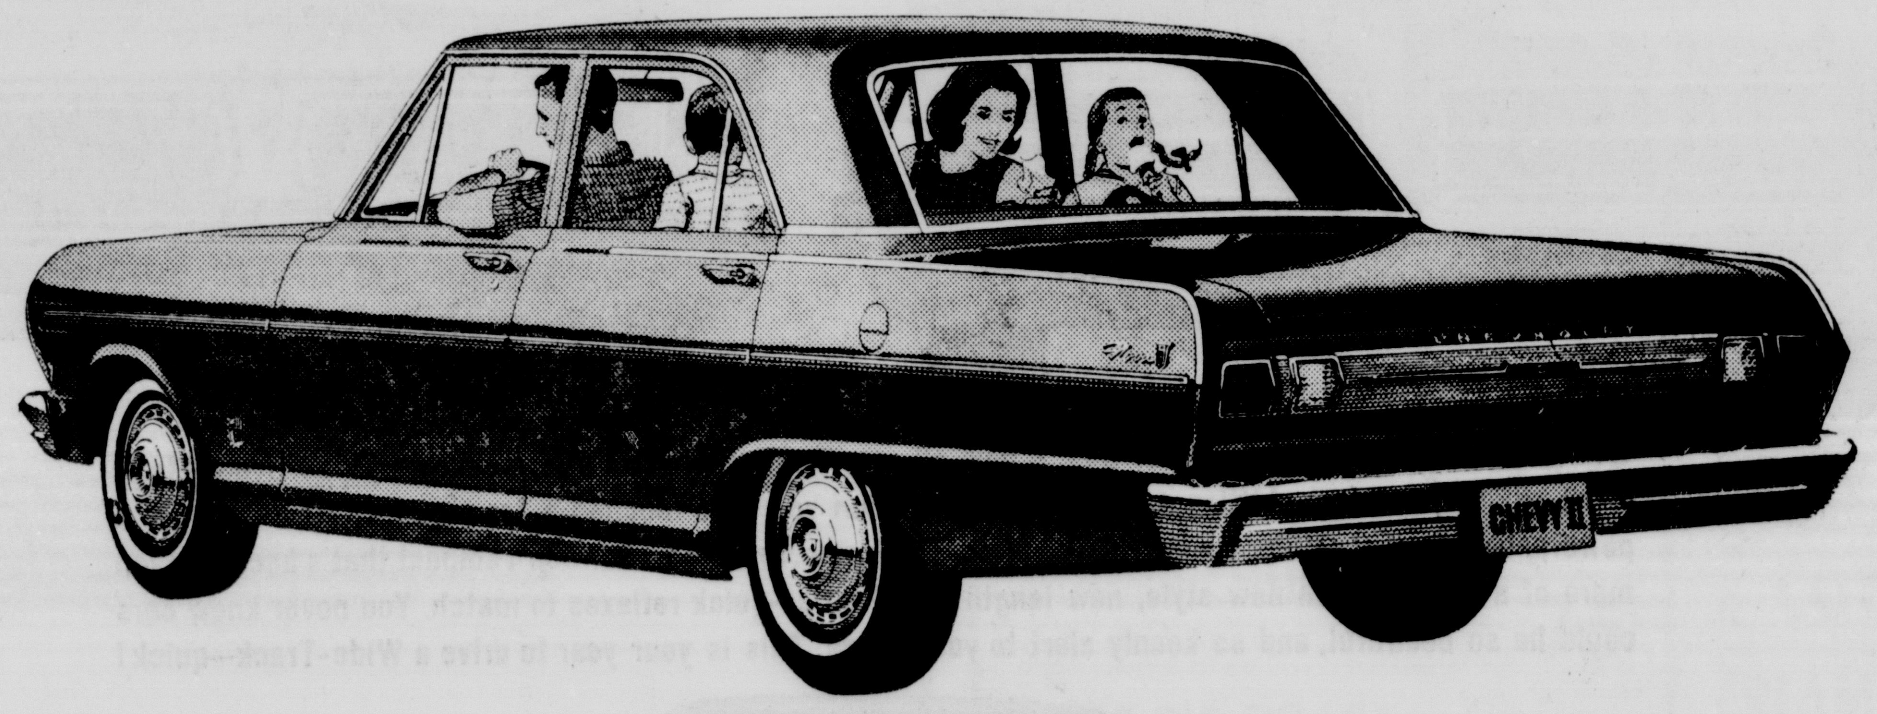
One look at it and—presto—last year's crop of cars seem like something that happened a long time ago. It's longer, lower, wider—with the kind of interior comforts that'll have many an expensive car wondering why it didn't think of them first. More shoulder room, more leg room up front and (thanks to a smaller floor tunnel) more foot room too. Curved side windows, rich new fabrics and an instrument panel that's a conversation piece all by itself (in the Impala series it has the look of hand-rubbed walnut). In fact, just about everything's new right down to the road. And even that'll seem newer because this year Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride is smoother than ever. But if all this seems like a bit too much to remember, don't try. Just take a drive at your dealer's. It'll all become unforgettable.



'65 Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

Chevelle Malibu '65

New style, new ride—and plenty of V8 stuff. Here are all the things that have made Chevelle America's most popular new-sized car—plus some new surprises that promise to make it come on stronger than ever for '65. Like those cleaner, bolder lines. Like the silky way it skims over the choppiest roads. (Thanks to softer coil springs and other suspension system refinements, Chevelle now rides with a serenity you'd expect only in a bigger, heavier car.) Like V8 power that'll make you think we stole some of Corvette's stuff—which we did. All told, five different power plants are now available from a quieter six to a V8 that comes on with 300 horses strong. Some people might have expected us to stand pat after introducing a car this successful last year. One short drive will show you how wrong they were.



'65 Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Chevy II Nova '65

It may very well be the expensive-est looking thrift car you've ever laid eyes on. But thrifty it is. The big difference this year being that Chevy II's marvelous mechanical efficiency now comes decked out in a debonair new look. And to keep things in stride under the hood, there's a new range of six engines available, no less, including a new 300-hp V8. Of course, you still get those famous Chevy II maintenance reducers—like self-adjusting brakes, long-lived exhaust system, battery-saving Delcotron generator. But if you go by all the fine new features, you could get the idea that saving you money was about the last thing we had in mind when we built this one. And in a way it was. Right up until we pasted the price sticker on the window.

Corvair Corsa '65

There's never been a Corvair—or any other car—like it. The entire line now sports a totally new Body by Fisher, styled with fresh, sophisticated flair that would set a European's pulse fluttering. The longer, wider design gives all Corvair closed models a thin-line hardtop roof, accented by frameless curved side windows. It also allows more shoulder and entrance room. And to go with the racier look, there's up to 180 hp available in the new Corsa series, up to 140 hp in the Monza and 500 series. Also a flatter riding independent suspension system, bigger self-adjusting brakes, more responsive steering—all solidly buttressed by a wider road stance for '65. Truth is, you've got to drive this one to believe it.

WHAT SHOES! AND WHO'LL WEAR THEM?

John Agababian, proprietor of the Corte Madera Shoe Repair Center at 11 Corte Madera Center, displays pair of size 18 shoes he made on order for a man from San Francisco who declined to say for whom they were purchased. The shoes are 19 inches long. Agababian, who says his business is "half and half" making shoes and repairing them, had to make his own lasts for the big footwear as standard lasts do not come in such sizes. The man who placed the order and picked up the shoes, said Agababian, wears only a size 10½.

Hillside Planning Freeze Discussed

A freeze on hillside development was shelved temporarily after brief discussion at last night's San Rafael Planning Commission meeting.

Two members opposed the freeze, one favored it, and a fourth said he was not ready to vote. Two members were absent.

The proposed freeze is still in the discussion stage. It would stop approval of new subdivisions by the planning commission in certain hillside areas—as yet unspecified.

The purpose of the freeze, as explained by chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr., would be to stop new hillside development until a "slope policy" could be spelled out in detail and enacted into law.

City Planner George H. Rodggers, in proposing the freeze, suggested it apply to lots of over 25 per cent grade, but this still left unspecified details of defining a 25 per cent grade unspecified.

Robbins said details could be worked out by the planning staff.

"We all realize that some ordinance on hillside development is necessary in the interests of conscientious planning," said Robbins.

He added that the freeze would be for a short time only, three months or six months—enough time for planning staff to organize a policy on hillside development and get an ordinance passed.

This did not satisfy the commissioners present, John A. Miskimen, Charles J. Hendrickson and Carl S. Brown. Brown and Hendrickson were opposed to any form of freeze or moratorium.

"These interim ordinances have a way of going on and on, for years," said Hendrickson. "It would be extreme to stop development this way."

"Any slope policy needs to be part of our master plan," said Brown.

Miskimen said he needed more time to study the freeze idea.

Several developers present objected to the freeze idea.

William J. Parnow said: "There is definitely a need for some limit on steepness" of a subdivision, and admitted that he has built on slopes too steep, at least once. "But I find this freeze arbitrary," Parnow said.

Leslie Smith, a planner for Kenneth Frost Associates, said any freeze would have to be applied to all hillside development. since all would be affected by the ordinance envisioned by the planners.

Kenneth Frost said a freeze of three or six months wouldn't be long enough. He said it would take at least a year to work out an ordinance based on a slope policy.

The slope policy being worked out by the planning staff for the commission would control the density of development in accordance with how steep the lots were in a given subdivision.

The density would be controlled by limiting the lot size, by spelling out a "cluster" development policy in which homes could be closer providing they were grouped in widely separated "clusters," or by leaving undevelped all lots above a specified steepness.

Truck Driver's Body Pulled From Treetop

EUREKA (AP)—A driver's body was pulled from his truck Tuesday as the vehicle teetered in a tree top 200 feet down a canyon.

Ogden M. Fox, 58, of Crescent City was found dead in the rig's cab. The truck fell from a narrow mountainous road Monday night, California Highway Patrol officers said.

San Rafael Board Of Education Votes Canal Street Site Purchase

The San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to buy a five-acre elementary school site at the southwest corner of Canal Street and Bayview Drive.

Four members of the board passed a resolution authorizing County Counsel Douglas J. Maliney to acquire the property, then designated chairman C. Paul Bettini to sign an agreement for the $130,680 purchase from Kerner-Bellam Co.

Board member Bella H. Aaron, who had objected to having the county counsel handle property negotiations, was absent from the meeting.

Only dissenting comment last night came from board member John M. Bagshaw, who said he was "still questioning whether this site is large enough. I am afraid we are boxing ourselves in."

The other three board members seemed to agree with Supt. Bert C. Corona, who replied that the admittedly small size of the site would be justified by its location.

A partial solution to the lack of acreage, Corona suggested, may be to make the school a two-story one.

In regard to another proposed school site, board members heard the latest report on the possible size and cost of a site in Peacock Gap, but took no action.

They were shown a map of the original 9.57-acre site offered by the Draper Companies, plus several additional lots on the north side of Peacock Drive which would bring it to nearly 12 acres.

Price of the smaller site, they were told, would be $13,500 per acre for a total of $131,625. The larger version, according to a letter from the Draper Companies, would cost the same amount per acre, plus $48.50 for each extra lineal foot of street frontage.

But Corona noted that the district had originally hoped to hold its cost to $100,000, which might mean cutting the site to eight acres. He said he did not feel purchase of the site was yet a pressing problem.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

1. Authorized the firm of Abbot and Hanks to do laboratory tests on new construction at Davidson Junior High and Sun Valley School, and hired Floyd S. Newgen, now working with Healdsburg schools, as building inspector at $375 per month.

2. Authorized a $62.40 foreign language study as part of a statewide study. Half the cost will be reimbursed to the district.

3. Adopted 19 textbooks in English, sociology and foreign languages.

4. Agreed to "be very careful in the future" about setting dates of bid openings to avoid conflict with holidays. The comment came on a letter from M. B. McGowan of 342 Mountain View Avenue complaining that a change in bid opening dates on the Davidson Junior High School addition had caused "confusion among general contractors" and had raised the price of the work.

5. Turned down the request of Jorgen V. Lunding of 241 Riviera Drive that he be notified "of any and all meetings" relating to buying school sites in the Peacock Gap and Glenwood areas. "I think the public notification is sufficient," commented chairman Bettini.

Supervisors To Meet On Marin City Needs

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center with the Marin County Redevelopment Agency on the problems of Marin City.

The meeting was called at the request of the redevelopment agency, faced with a financial problem of meeting obligations to other jurisdictions, particularly the Sausalito School District, and to private lenders, but with slow sales of houses and co-operative apartments in the redevelopment area.

$100,000 A Year For Greek Queen

ATHENS (AP) — Queen Mother Frederika of Greece is going to get a government pension of $100,000 a year, the newspaper Vima said today.

Palace officials declined to comment on the report, which quoted government sources.

Hub Manager Flautt Is Due Same Salary As Mill Valley's

San Anselmo City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt will get a $100 a month raise in salary, beginning Oct. 1, bringing his pay from $1,074 to $1,175, the same as Mill Valley pays its city manager.

City councilmen last night voted the pay raise by unanimous vote, and commended Flautt for "doing a good job."

The San Anselmo City Council also studied a proposal by Mozart Kaufman, who said he wants to develop the rear of his department store, which abuts the former Greyhound depot site so that the back will look even more attractive than the front.

He proposed a 16-foot sidewalk area at the rear entrance, with large planter boxes to serve as benches, and trees to provide shade. He wants to complete the improvement in November, in plenty of time for Christmas shopping.

The sidewalk area would encroach on city property.

Thomas Stoddard of The Alameda and Mrs. John West of Crescent Lane asked the councilmen to hold off approving individual improvement plans until a general plan can be worked out for the entire Hub area, with emphasis on esthetics. They said they are interested especially in preserving the creek.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Adopted a select system of streets as required by the state for gasoline tax purposes. Public Works Director Richard A. Sypher said that Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Redhill Avenue, Center Boulevard, and Butterfield Road are designated as main arterials.

2. Approved a sign to advertise the Oct. 3 Grape Festival, waived a business license for the festival, and decided to permit a fire engine to be stationed on the premises on that day.

3. Approved a list of six men who had passed the police officer examination but postponed hiring one until Chief Raymond R. Buchignani returns next month from the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy.

4. Called for bids on three new police cars to replace three 1963 sedans now in use. Bids will be opened on Oct. 13.

5. Approved re-installation of street light near 201 Brookside Drive, as requested by Hans E. Fischel of 107 Brookside Drive.

6. Asked Administrator Flautt to get information on future street re-alignment plans at the Hub so that owners of Mobil service station, gutted by fire, can make plans for remodeling.

7. Voted to extend a water line from Forest Avenue to Creek Road, with a fire hydrant at the end of the line. Cost to the city will be about $1,400. Fire Chief Frank Sousa recommended the water line extension for fire protection purposes.

Strep Cases Lead Diseases

Fifteen streptococcus infections, of which San Rafael and Mill Valley each had five, led the list of communicable diseases reported to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer, last week.

Fairfax had two of the infections, while Corte Madera, San Anselmo and Novato had the others.

There were five cases of measles, of which San Rafael had two. Others were in Marin City, Mill Valley and San Anselmo.

Novato had two of the three reported cases of mumps, with the other coming from Fairfax. The list also included one case each of Salmonella food poisoning (in Belvedere-Tiburon), infectious hepatitis (in Fairfax) and Shigella (in Corte Madera).

AA Meeting Set

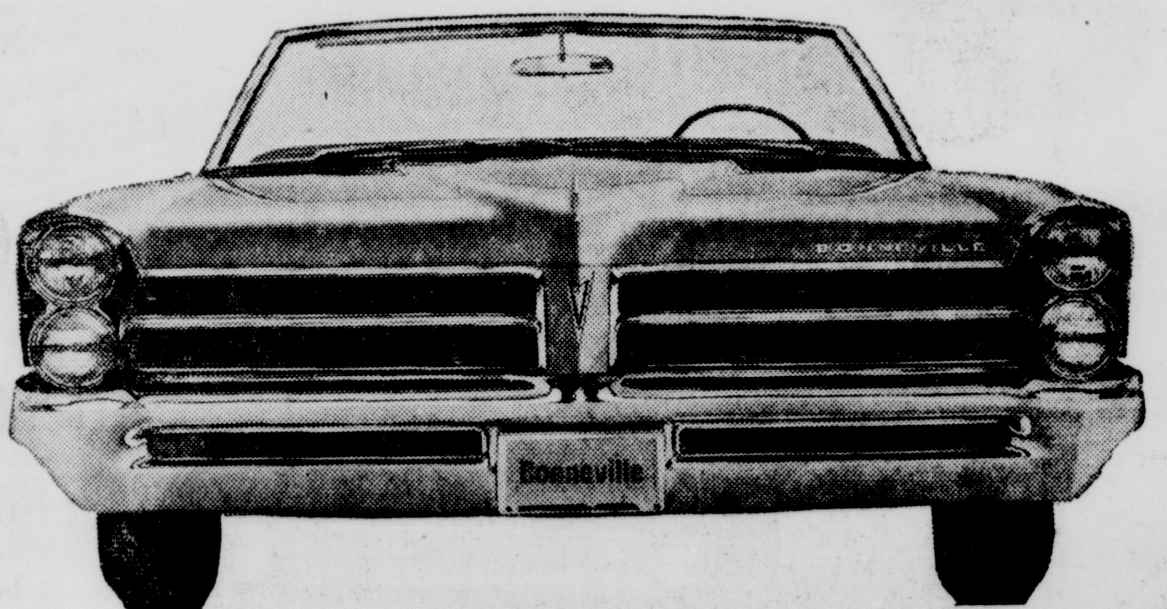
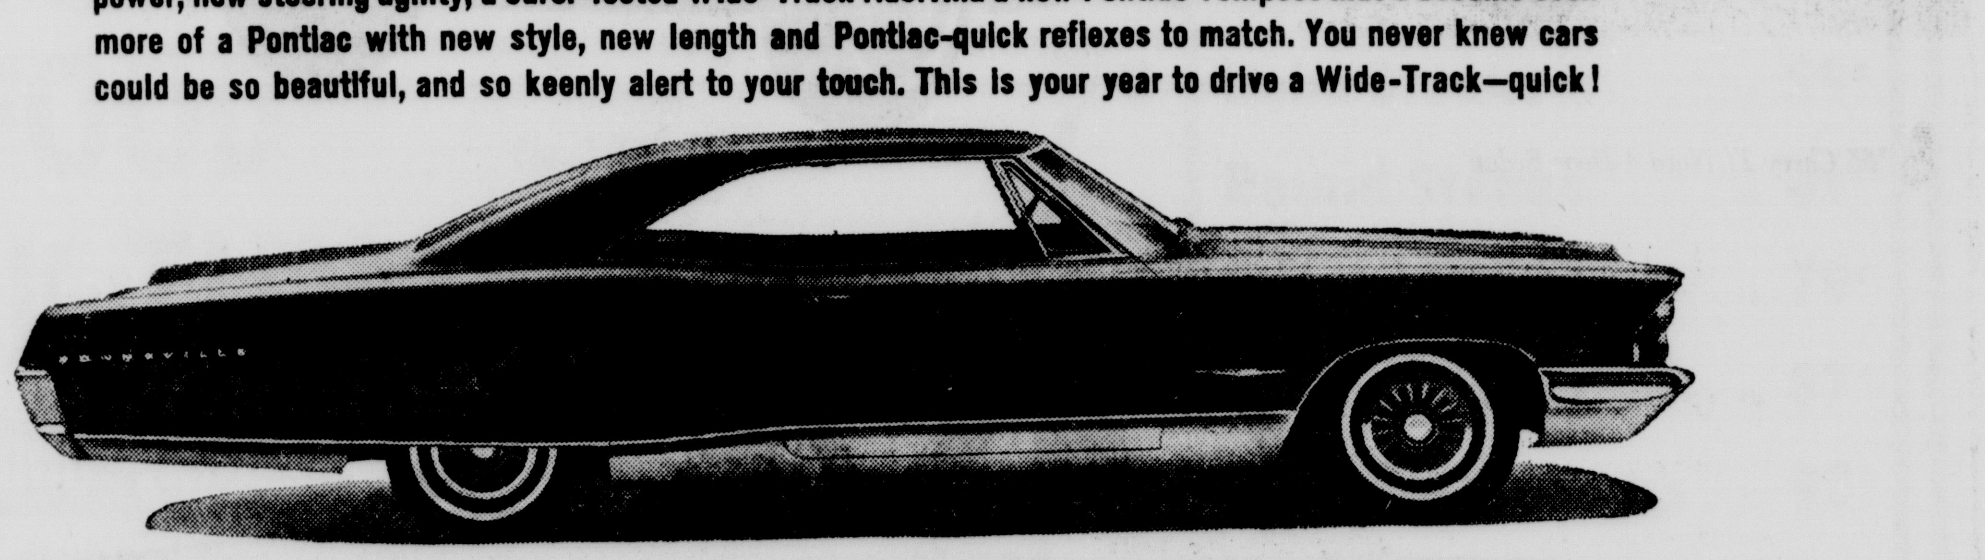
Today is '65 Pontiac Day.
1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks

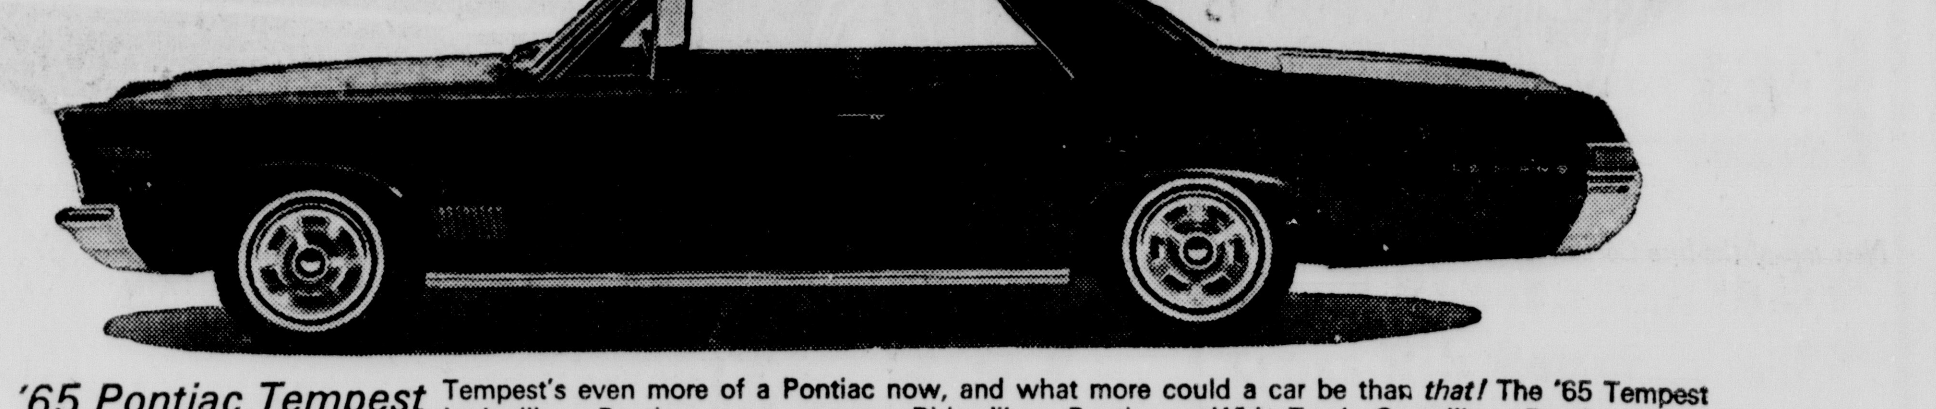


PONTIAC
Le Mans

What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkiest, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!



'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.



'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

ALL A MISTAKE—Sylvan Millerbernd of Cosmos, Minn., leans against a Highway 15 sign near Winthrop, Minn., as he hitchhiked back home from Rochester after being picked up for a traffic ticket he had already paid. (AP Wirephoto)

PATROL MAKES ERROR

He Pays Ticket But Gets All The Traffic Will Allow

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Sylvan Millerbernd, 29, a farmer, is thinking about hiring a lawyer about that matter of a $10 traffic ticket.

It wasn't the ticket that irked him. It was what happened after he paid it.

Millerbernd, of Cosmos, Minn., was taken in a state highway patrol car 150 miles and jailed at Rochester for allegedly ignoring a traffic ticket issued in June. He paid it by mail Aug. 26.

He was arrested Sunday night at his home, where friends and neighbors were visiting, he said, and whisked away despite his protests. A relay of six patrolmen took him to Rochester.

"They treated me like a criminal," he said.

Worse yet, Millerbernd said the ticket had been instrumental in ruining a $1,000 engine and putting him out of the trucking business. He was given the ticket for having insufficient brakes on a pickup truck for towing a disabled semitractor. Driving the tractor home ruined the motor he contended.

Millerbernd said he wasn't offered a ride back from Rochester, so he hitchhiked the 150 miles back home, letting off steam on the way.

Drake High Hits Record

Sir Francis Drake High School has started the new school year with the largest enrollment in its history.

The San Anselmo school has 173 more students than the original capacity, but new facilities have been added to cope with the problem.

SUPERVISORS HIT PROPOSITION 14

Fusselman Opposes Board Move, Not His Right To Tell Others How To Vote

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday added its voice to those against Proposition 14 on the November ballot.

The vote was 4-1, with Supervisor William D. Fusselman opposed. The matter was not on the agenda and no one appeared to speak from the audience.

"I bow to no one in my compassion and sincere consideration and friendship for people of different race than my own," Fusselman said before the vote. But, he went on, "I wasn't elected to tell people how to vote."

(Proposition 14 calls for a constitutional amendment which would nullify California fair housing legislation and forbid such legislation in future.)

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who is a member of the executive board of the Marin Chapter of Californians Against Proposition 14, brought the matter up. He said Marin had been the only county in the state to formally endorse the Rumford Bill, which would be repealed by the proposed constitutional amendment.

He said in general he would agree with Fusselman not to take a stand on a state measure, but said the question of Proposition 14 was a moral and ethical one, and the board's action would be a "political duty."

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker seconded the motion and supervisor George H. Ludy said he wished he could re-second it.

Greyhound Faces State PUC Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Western Greyhound's request for a 20 per cent fare increase for Bay Area commute service has brought on an investigation by the State Public Utilities Commission.

The probe will be to determine whether bus fares, operations, facilities and service are "reasonable and adequate" and if the company should not be ordered to extend route service, the PUC said yesterday.

Greyhound proposed to buy 60 new buses at a cost of 1.8 million dollars for its commute service when it applied for the fare boost on July 23.

Oil Paintings

Mill Valley artist Don Elda Boutwell will show a collection of oil paintings next month at the Den of Antiquity, 1915 Bridgeway, Sausalito. The paintings will be shown during the whole of October.

PAUL Y. DUNN
Cites way to save

Giving To Crusade Is Called A Saving

"If we paid more attention—and gave more money—to our youth agencies, we would have to spend less in taxes for corrective programs in the long run" is the conviction of Paul Y. Dunn, chief executive of the Marin County Boy Scouts.

As chairman of the speakers' bureau for the current United Crusade drive, Dunn uses this as an illustration in his appeals for Crusade donations.

"It costs $16.25 per day to keep a boy or girl in Juvenile Hall," he says, "and while the parents pay part of this when they can, it still means dollars to us in taxes. And the contrast with the cost of supporting a boy or girl in a youth agency—less than $20 per year in the Boy Scouts, for example—is enormous.

"It is not the primary purpose of the Scouts and other youth agencies to prevent juvenile delinquency, but by the very nature of our work we do help in a very substantial way. All the youth agencies spend a great deal of effort in the high-delinquency areas."

State President Due At San Rafael Aerie

San Rafael Eagles Aerie will hold a dinner meeting Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. at which Joseph Fournier, president of the California Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be the featured speaker.

The dinner and speech will be followed by a business meeting and initiation of candidates.

Drake Widening Job Near Finish

Torn-up Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near the Hub intersection in San Anselmo will be restored to its former travelway by the time of the Oct. 3 Grape Festival, Administrator Douglas J. Flautt assured the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The entire street widening and bridge construction project should be completed by the contractor, Ghilotti Brothers, by mid-October, he added.

The original contract price was $117,990, but the job is now estimated at $142,300 because of work changes made since the contract was awarded back in May, Flautt disclosed.

Public Works Director Richard A. Sypher outlined various factor which resulted in the $25,000 discrepancy in cost.

One was that the concrete bottom of the Tunstead Avenue bridge was designed so that the footings are well below grade, and the city engineer did not feel that an invert is necessary. But the State Division of Highways, in approving the plan for gasoline tax funds, asked that the invert be included. This added $8,961 to the cost, plus the added cost of reinforcing steel.

During demolition, an old concrete railroad bed appeared to be only two feet thick. But after work began, it was discovered that the thickness increased to 10 feet at the deepest point.

Typographical errors also caused miscalculation in the amount of concrete required, Sypher said.

"I do not expect this situation to occur at any time, and assuredly not again under my supervision," Sypher told the city fathers.

City councilmen and citizens in the audience expressed concern that the torn-up streets are hurting business in town, and a widened Sir Francis Drake Boulevard might run into a bottleneck when the four-lane highway narrows to two lanes at Tunstead Avenue and southward toward Ross.

Engineer Sypher showed drawings of the four-lane to two-lane transition at Tunstead Avenue and said, "We haven't made anything any worse."

Administrator Flautt reported that Ross Town Council has already engaged an engineer to plan for the transition at Bolinas Avenue, when Sir Francis Drake is widened to the Ross city line.

Goldwater Blasts Cuts In Defense For 'Handouts'

Miller Says Debate Avoided; Humphrey Defends Economy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Barry Goldwater said today in Dallas, Tex., that President Lyndon B. Johnson wants to cut defense spending in favor of "handouts here, subsidies there," and declared: "That way lies national suicide."

Drumming criticism of the Democrats' foreign and defense policies, the Republican presidential nominee said that if the United States is to halt communism and safeguard freedom "we must be stronger than the enemy by far.

"We must realize that the responsible use of power—to deter those with hostile intent—is not so largely to provoke all-out war as it is to prevent war," Goldwater said in an address prepared for the American Legion's national convention.

"If the Communists believe the odds favor them," the Arizona senator said, "they will not hesitate to hit us with their most fearsome weapons."

Goldwater said the administration now proposes "to cut our military spending in order to provide funds for sticking the government's fingers in a still larger mess of pie—for handouts here, subsidies there."

He said that effort is likely to end up "draining the public's purse" and doing more harm than good.

Goldwater called for "true economy, not the false economy of weakening our defenses."

At Idaho Falls, Ida., Goldwater's running mate Rep. William Miller today charged that President Johnson is "hiding behind a smoke screen" to avoid campaign debate on his personal fortune and other issues.

Miller continued his hard-hitting attack on Johnson as he swung into the second day of an intensive campaign swing that has been dominated alternately by slashing criticism of the president and vigorous defenses to allegations of conflict of interest against himself.

He continued hitting at the personal financial activity of Johnson, arguing that there was public "suspicion and doubt" about the way the Johnson family acquired a fortune centered on a television station, a federally regulated activity.

Miller described the president as a man without convictions, one whose ethics needed close public scrutiny.

Last night in Billings, Mont., Miller said, as he had previously, that he had opposed "discriminatory wool legislation," on behalf of the company and said he had done so to protect the jobs of its workers. He said he had no stock holdings in Lockport Felt.

Miller had said earlier he was an assistant secretary and director of the firm at a salary of $7,500 a year.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning at Evansville, Ind., today told Indiana voters that if they want a responsible president they'll have to vote Democratic.

"In such a difficult and demanding period of history, this nation has no choice but to elect as president the man who knows the meaning of responsibility, who has demonstrated his capacity to bear the immense burdens of this office . . .

"Responsibility has been the hallmark of the Kennedy-Johnson administration and responsibility is the single quality which most distinguishes President Johnson from the leader of the Goldwater faction," the Democratic vice presidential candidate told a courthouse rally in this southwestern Indiana city.

"Unlike the leader of the Goldwater faction," Humphrey said in his prepared remarks, "I come to Evansville today to reaffirm the conviction that we need not fear the future, we need not retreat to the past, we need only seek the help and the hands of the American people in our quest for a better America, in our pledge to keep America moving forward."

Humphrey defended this record and said the Democrats had demonstrated responsibility by "taking an economy which has suffered three recessions in eight Republican years and transforming it into an economy which produces 43 consecutive months of record-breaking growth."

TRAFFIC 'SPEED KILLS' THEORY IS CHALLENGED

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new automobile accident report, challenging the theory that chances of a mishap increase in proportion to the rate of speed, says the key factor is the difference between a vehicle's speed and the average speed of other traffic moving in the same direction.

A report by Bureau of Public Roads experts—issued yesterday—concluded that an automobile traveling 40 miles an hour on a highway with a 60-mile speed limit is just as likely to be involved in an accident as another car going 80.

Among other conclusions:

Chances of an accident of a car going 20 miles an hour would be sharply higher than either the 40 m.p.h. or 80 m.p.h. vehicle.

The death rate is highest at very high speeds, but lowest at average speeds.

Drivers under 25 or over 65 are more likely to be involved in accidents.

Curtain Going Up For 1965's Autos

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry was in a holiday mood today as it lifted the curtain on the first of its 363 new 1965 models.

Ford Motor Co. unveiled its Lincoln-Continental line today, and American Motors put its Ramblers on display.

All General Motors divisions will show their new products tomorrow with Chrysler Corp. and the rest of Ford's lines due for public view Friday.

Salesmen in 40,000 dealer showrooms across the country had their pencils sharpened to resume the fast selling pace which marked the 1964 model run.

One of the key questions was whether auto makers would hold the price line, in view of contract gains won by the United Auto Workers and increased costs of some materials.

A partial answer came Tuesday when Ford announced that 1965 Lincoln-Continental prices would be unchanged. The four-door sedan, for example, was listed at a $5,766 factory-suggested price, the same basic price the car has had since it was introduced in September 1960.

General Motors announced today it was generally holding the price line for the seventh consecutive year on its five lines.

Basic prices of Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet lines remained the same as in 1964, but there were some adjustments in prices of optional equipment.

In general, the trend in 1965 cars was towards longer, more powerful vehicles.

On the styling front, the most noticeable thing about 1965 cars is that their generally follow long, clean lines with a minimum of gingerbread. More engine options and raft of accessories are available.

Chevrolet, with 45 models in its five lines, offers more choices than any other car maker. Ford is next with 44.

The fastback, a straight sloping line from the rear window to the rear bumper was noticeable on quite a few new cars.

The industry seemed to operate on the theory that customers had more money and wanted more than a stripped-down car.

General Motors Pact Negotiations Slow Up

DETROIT (AP) — Controversial non-economic problems appeared today to be the major roadblocks to a peaceful settlement in labor contract negotiations between General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union.

Bargaining teams—faced with an impending strike deadline—met in morning, afternoon and night sessions yesterday seeking agreement on a pact covering some 354,000 UAW-represented employees at 129 GM plants in 71 cities across the nation.

Their time was devoted almost exclusively to such matters as working conditions, production standard, union representation and disciplinary layoffs.

Both sides agreed there was still time to avoid a nationwide strike before the 10 a.m. Friday deadline set by the UAW. Their comments to newsmen, however, were anything but encouraging.

"There was no progress whatsoever—and a lot of work has yet to be done," said UAW president Walter Reuther.

"There was no substantial forward movement," agreed Louis Seaton, GM vice president for personnel. "But if we work at it, there is no reason in the world why we can't reach a settlement on both economic and non-economic matters."

In an effort to speed up the process, both sides agreed to scale down their representation at the main bargaining table to six members each. Other negotiators formed subcommittees concentrating on such specialized subjects as pensions, insurance, skilled trades and the like.

Friday's strike deadline is for an agreement on a national contract covering such items as wages, pensions, vacations, relief time and working conditions.

Editors For High School Are Named

Editors of the two student publications at Terra Linda High School have been named, and student staffs have been selected for each.

Charles Ennis, last year's outstanding high school journalist award winner, will head the Voice of Troy, student newspaper. Ennis, a junior, is a son of Lt. Col. Charles Ennis, 253 Las Lomas Street, Hamilton Air Force Base.

Sue Vantine and Jan Miller, both seniors, will head the yearbook, "Oracle," as co-editors. Miss Vantine is a daughter of Robert Vantine, 362 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, and Miss Miller is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, 558 Pinewood Drive, Marinwood.

Helping with the newspaper will be Donna Spencer, managing editor; Sheryl Griffen, news editor, and Jerry Webb, advertising manager and sports editor.

On the yearbook, Jackie Nyhus will serve as senior editor, Marilyn McLean as activities editor, and Bonnie Brown as art editor.

DOLLARS FOR DEMOCRATS DRIVE

Former United States Treasurer Elizabeth R. Gatov of Kentfield autographs a dollar bill, which bears her official signature, to open the Democrats fund campaign. Watching are Jenny and Katie Westberg, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Westberg of Mill Valley. The one-week drive starts this Saturday.

Pro-Prayer Vote Ousts Trustees

LA MESA, Calif. (UPI)—Three La Mesa-Spring Valley School District trustees who voted to ban teacher-led prayers in school have been recalled from office.

An organization called Parents for Prayers started the recall movement after the five-man board voted 3-2 to ban teacher-led prayers. The action to have prayers banned in the district's schools was initiated by the American Civil Liberties Union.

The recalled trustees — who will be replaced on the board by Mrs. Geraldine Gill, Dr. William McCandless and the Rev. Lewis Ginn—say they acted on the advice of San Diego County Counsel Bertram McLees Jr.

Newspaper Editor Named At Seminary

Janice Jackson, a second-year student at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, has been appointed editor of the student newspaper by the associated student body.

She replaces Edward Weber of Kansas, who was elected editor last year but did not return to the seminary this year. The paper was named the Disseminarian last year, its first year of publication after some years' lapse.

Hub Parks Cost Put At $131,000

A master plan for San Anselmo Memorial Park, which would include play areas for all ages, an elevated park area with picnic grounds, and possibly a field house and an amphitheater, was laid out last night before the San Anselmo City Council.

Landscape architect William L. Kapranos presented a point-by-point proposal, which adds up to a total cost of about $131,000 if all items are included. The city paid the architect $500 to draw up the master plan.

Mayor William Franchini thanked the architect for an "excellent plan" and decided to postpone a decision until each councilman has had a chance to study the proposal in detail.

Thomas Stoddard, representing the San Anselmo Homes Assn., suggested that a public swimming pool be considered instead of the amphitheater. He said a pool would be widely used, and "would pay for itself and ultimately might help pay for the entire park."

Architect Kapranos's plan calls for an active playground area adjacent to Isabel Cook School, and a park area, elevated about three feet, for more passive recreation. The elevated portion would include a field house, picnic area, amphitheater, wading pool, seniors' play area, tiny tot compound, and landscaped grounds.

A parking compound would provide for about 80 parking spaces, with adjacent courts for volleyball and badminton.

The plan also outlined a complete irrigation system to make it easier for the city to water the grounds and maintain the park.

Red-Led Japanese Oppose U.S. Base

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—About 35,000 Communist-led demonstrators marched past the U.S. Navy base in this port city today shouting opposition to visits by nuclear submarines.

The Japanese government recently gave its approval to port calls by atomic subs provided they do not carry nuclear missiles.

Measure For Aged Housing Will Be Topic

County Proposition A on the Nov. 3 ballots—the proposal for a bond issue to underwrite low-rent housing for the elderly—will be discussed on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

This is the third in a series of political discussions scheduled by program conductor Kitty Oppenheimer before the election.

Speakers will be Richard Phenix, coordinator of the Marin County Community Services Project; Mrs. G. Stanleigh Arnold, vice chairman of the Citizens Committee for Housing of Marin's Elderly; John Shonbran, regional director of the Public Housing Administration, and Fran Jenkins, representative of the Marin County Real Estate Board on the Citizens Committee for Home.

Questions telephoned by listeners will be directed to the speakers. A rebroadcast from a recording will be at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Cello, Piano Program Is Near-Perfect

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Beethoven's lyrical genius shone with brilliant clarity in the playing last night by cellist Gabor Rejto and pianist Adolph Baller of four sonatas.

It was the opening recital of Dominican College's concert series, presented in Angelico Hall. It was also the first of a series of concerts the musicians will give as a benefit for the scholarship they have established at Dominican as a memorial to their late colleague, violinist Maurice Wilk, who with them composed the Alma Trio.

Sonatas performed were the F Major, Op. 5, No. 1; the D Major, Op. 102, No. 2; the G Minor, Op. 5, No. 2; and the A Major, Op. 69.

All were so beautiful and so flawlessly executed that it was almost impossible to select high points of the program. Though the effortless ease and technical perfection of the faster movements was thrilling, we were most impressed with the wonderful warmth of cello tone, subtly turned phrases and expressive power of the melodies in the adagio movements.

In response to their enthusiastic reception by an audience composed mostly of young women students at the college, the artists played Beethoven's Variations in B Flat Major.

To Antioch College

Ronald A. Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Yoder of 917 Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael, will enter Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, next week. Ronald was a June graduate of Terra Linda High School. He tentatively plans to major in accounting.

Religious Freedom Declaration Sought

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Three American cardinals appealed to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today to pass a declaration that every human being has a right to complete religious freedom.

Conservative Spanish and Italian cardinals assailed the proposal as a danger to the Roman Catholic Church.

The clash came in one of the most dramatic sessions of the 3-year-old council.

During the same meeting in St. Peter's Basilica, the 2,500 council fathers voted approval of the very heart of the collegiality concept of shared power by pope and bishops in governing the Church.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis — speaking for nearly all 244 U.S. bishops — called on the council to defend religious liberty. They said approval of the declaration was an absolute necessity.

The opposition to the religious liberty declaration — one of the most controversial tropics of the council — came from cardinals Alfredo Ottaviani and Ernesto Ruffini of Italy, and Spanish Cardinals Fernando Quiroga and Jose Bueno.

They supported the view that public officials have the right to establish a state religion.

Cardinal Ottaviani, conservative head of the Vatican's holy office, was quoted as saying:

"We must profess and defend the Catholic faith even if sometimes this brings persecution."

Cardinal Cushing, in his first speech to the council, was quoted as saying:

"The Church must become the champion of religious freedom."

"What we are asking," he said, "can be summed up in what has become an important phrase in traditional American life — 'decent respect for the opinions of mankind'."

Danish Election Upsets Cabinet

COPENHAGEN Denmark (UPI) — Socialist Premier Jens Otto Krag today delivered the formal resignation of his coalition government to King Frederik. Monday's general election had reduced the coalition to a minority.

The King asked Krag to stay on as caretaker premier. None of the opposition parties won a majority, and it was expected that Krag would try to form a minority coalition government instead of calling for new elections immediately.

Whatever the political uncertains, no changes were foreseen in Danish foreign policy. All the major parties agree on adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Jury Decrees Death For Children's Slayer

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A jury decreed death Tuesday for Robert Nicolaus, 31, who confessed he placed his three children in a car trunk and then shot them to death.

It took the Sacramento County Superior Court jury six hours to decide to send the pale, Sacramento State College psychology graduate to the gas chamber.

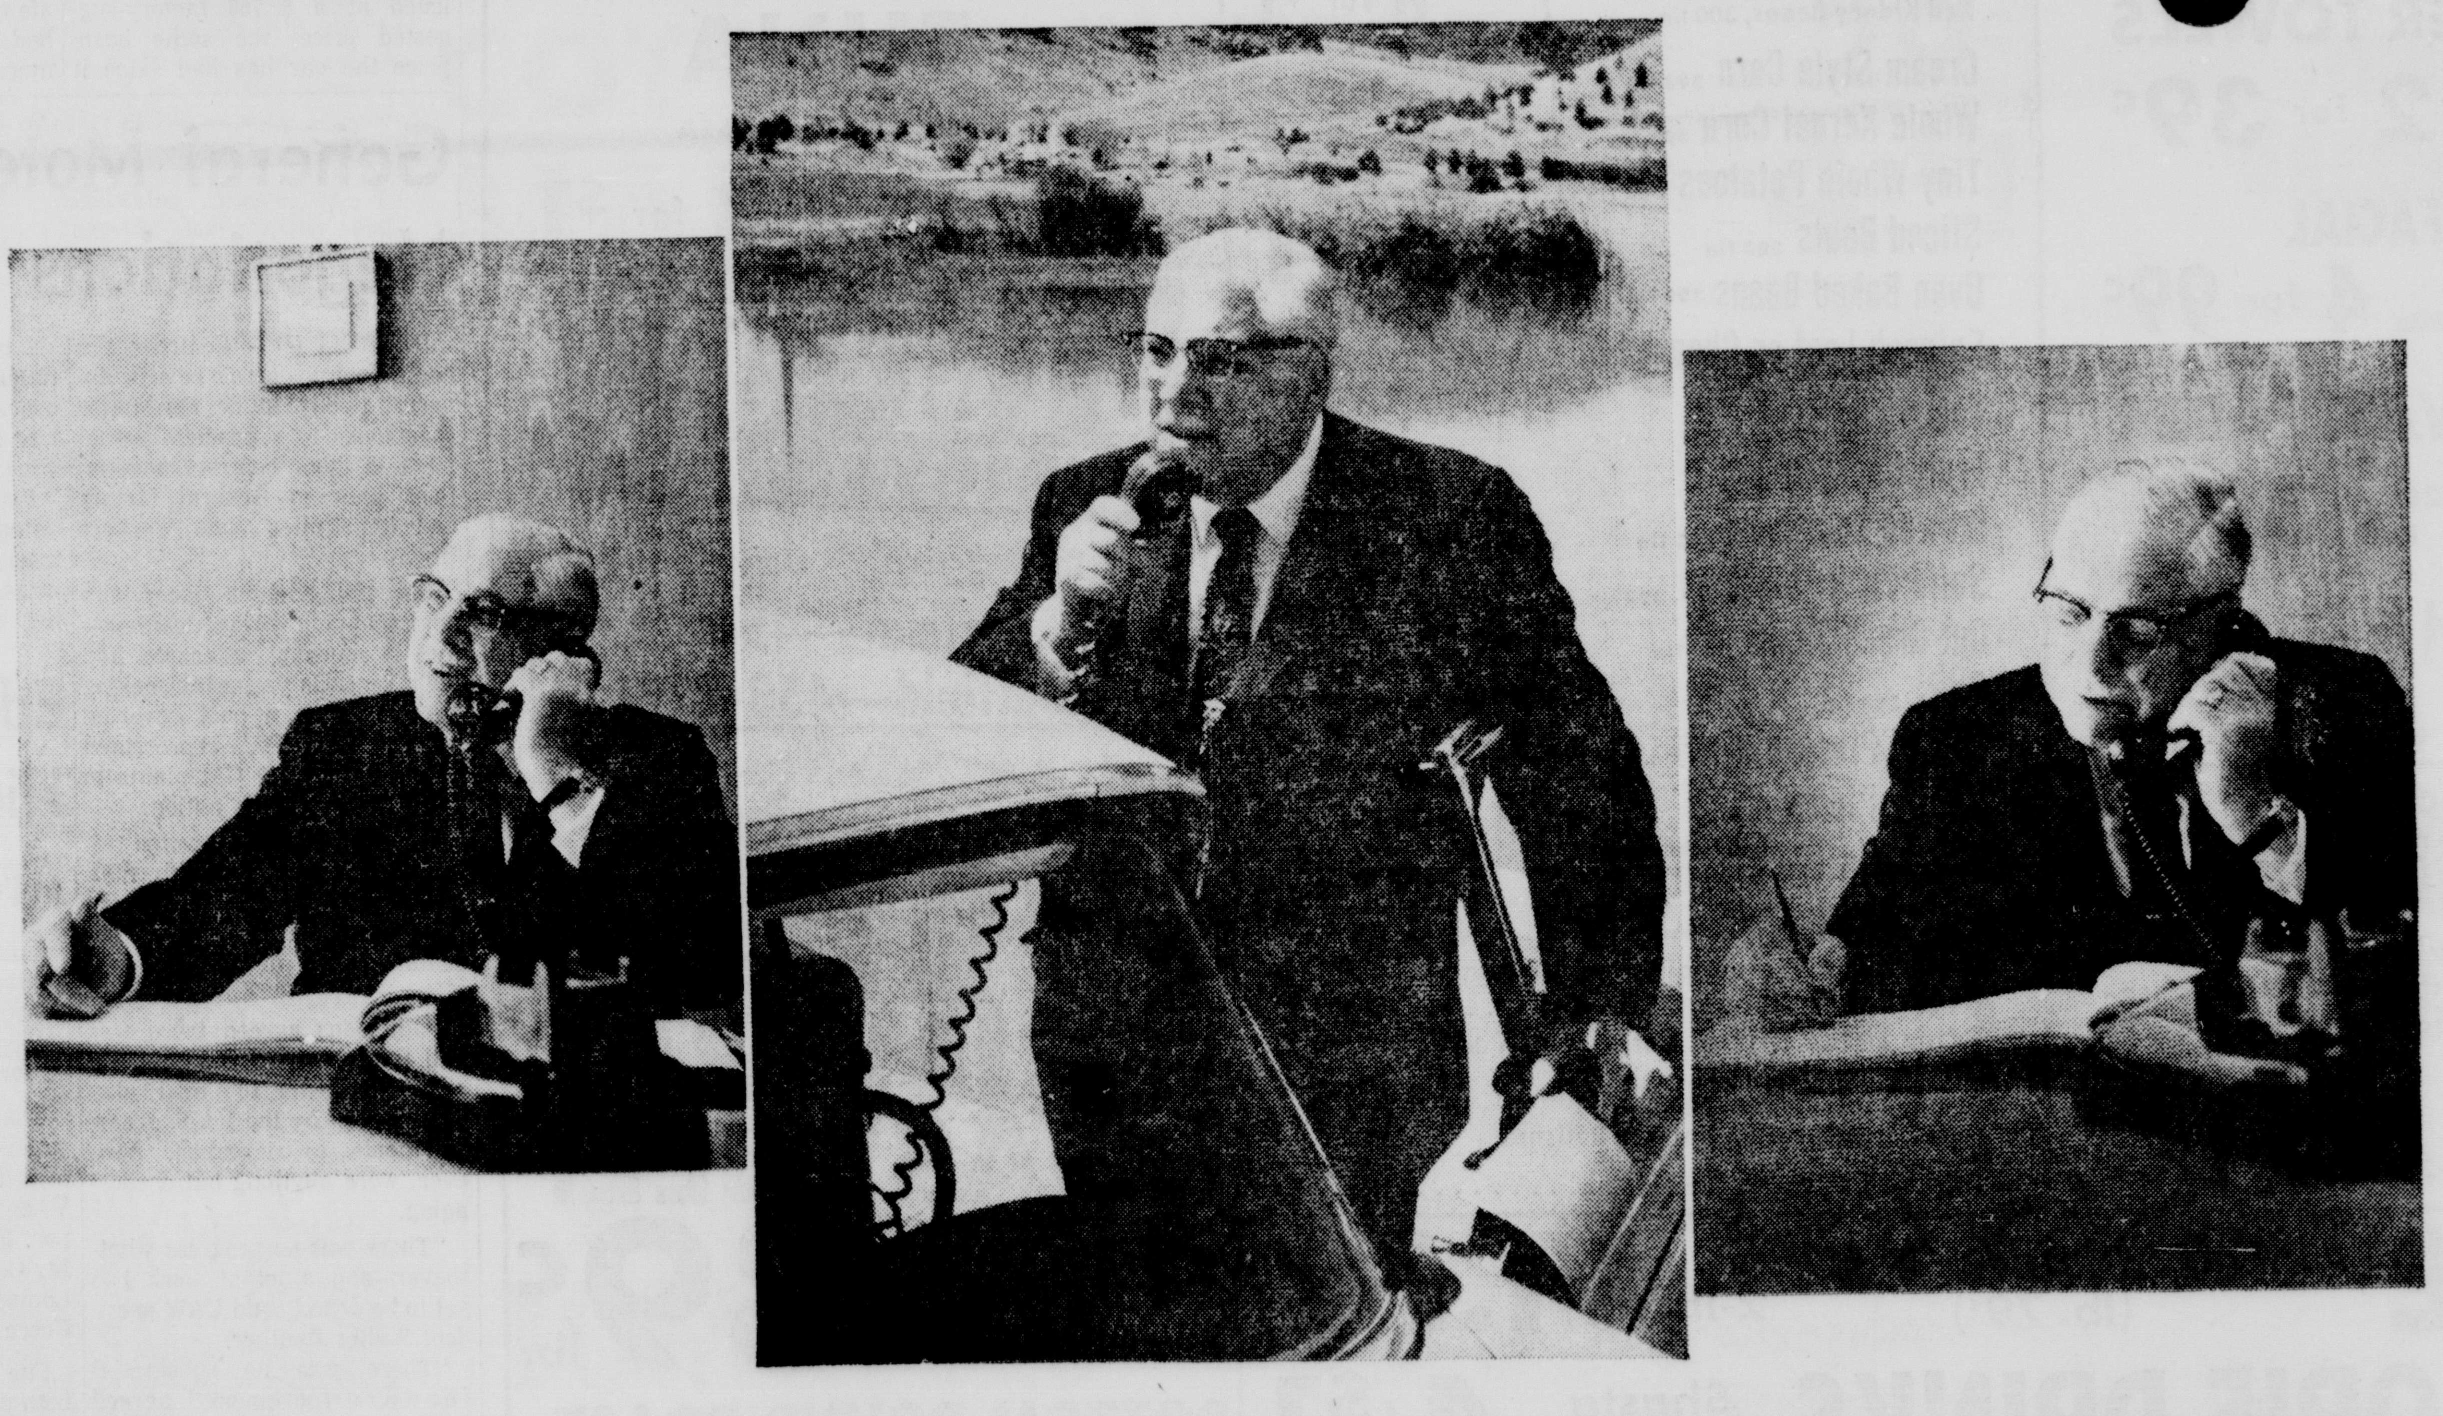
Bill Fusselman Calling



Now, I thoroughly dislike bitter personality exchanges. Nevertheless my close friends and supporters insist that I must show just how my opponent tries to maneuver the voters without disclosing his past 15 years activities.

The important thing is not whether either one of us has the personal satisfaction of winning this election. The real and only important thing to you is how well you will be served.

As an example of his effort to direct your attention away from an explanation of how he has devoted his 15 years residence in the County, my gracious opponent, last November, had this to say to many people: "I am going to take him on for his age and absenteeism." "HIM," being your humble servant. A question is posed: Does he infer that I am mentally incompentent? HE is, if he thinks so. If it is longevity he refers to: Who knows? He MAY have a direct line to headquarters and have the answer. I doubt it. I don't think he can qualify. As a matter of information—my Mother was within 4 months of being 90—my Dad's father was 92 and his mother 84.

After the shock of having a fiftieth birthday, age has never bothered me. I have had 25 more happy years to justify my existence—25 years of training and experience which can be very valuable to you.

What has he been doing the past 15 years for the public weal? He continually refers to himself as a successful businessman. What business? How successful?

His claim of my absenteeism is completely false—just sheer nonsense, which was proven when I published the attendance record of all five Supervisors.

You know, the meetings of the Board of Supervisors have the least time requirements of the entire job. ABSENTEEISM? I haven't taken a vacation in the 22 years I have been Supervisor. Nor have I left the County for a period of over 24 hours. There has been a continuing attention to County Business.

A long time friend who has many contacts with County departments said to me recently, "Bill, to many people you fellows are just names in the paper. It's a shame they don't have more opportunities to meet you." He is right. I suppose thousands of Marin folks never have been to one of our meetings, nor have had occasion to confer with their particular Supervisor. So I had some photos taken in July and August while I was at work. Three of them, used here, will illustrate my availability.

I have a telephone on my desk at home—another one in my office at the Civic Center which is served by alert operators at the two switchboards—one at the Civic Center and the other at the Courthouse. If I am in either building the call will go through. On the road I am constantly tuned in on a two-way radio with the operators at our Communications Center in San Rafael. I have carried on, "loud and clear," conversations with them from north of Sebastopol, Montgomery Street, Union Square and the many residential areas of San Francisco, as well as the East Bay. Contact can be had around the clock. Complete availability.

Sincerely,

Bill Fusselman

Well Baby Clinics To Offer More Service

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday appropriated $1,525 to increase the number of child health conferences—also known as well baby clinics—provided by the county health department.

According to the plan submitted by the department, nine more clinics a year will be held in the Fairfax-San Anselmo area, so that each city will have two sessions every month.

Nine sessions will also be added for the Gallinas Valley and 15 other sessions a year will be spread throughout the county as population and requests demand the service.

Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant health officer, said that in some places appointments are being booked two months in advance, and that infants should be able to receive medical checks much sooner than that after birth.

The board also agreed to hire Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks at $600 a month and Dr. Patricia A. Hallinan at $550 a month to share the post of assistant health officer should Dr. Tonelli take a year's leave of absence for further study.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to draw up a statement of the facts in the question of whether a Marin transit district should be formed. The action was taken even though the board had learned such a statement could not be mailed with the sample ballots.

2. Directed architects of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation to take into consideration plans by the Louise A. Boyd Museum Assn. and the Marin Museum Assn. for needs for space in the Civic Center complex. The foundation is revising the Civic Center-Fairgrounds master plan.

3. Took the question of changes in the zoning ordinance restricting residential development in industrially and commercially zoned areas off the calendar, and asked for a survey of needs for such uses and for a possible interim move controlling such development, but not necessarily prohibiting it.

4. Adopted open area zoning for three small parcels of Marin Municipal Water District watershed land which had inadvertently been missed in a previous action.

5. Appointed Barbara Bradley as intermediate typist clerk, auditor-controller's office; Garry L. Aquilino as junior accountant, treasurer-tax collector's office; Joseph L. Henderson as tabulator operator, data processing bureau; Alvin Lees as programmer, data processing system; Martha Jean Warner as deputy clerk, municipal court; Nelda E. Oakley as intermediate typist clerk, sheriff's office; Marjorie O'Brien as senior typist clerk, health department; Louie Preston as social worker, social services; Nona Sheets as library aide, library, and Luther Norwood as janitor, public works.

6. Promoted Jeanne Desmond from intermediate account clerk to senior account clerk, auditor-controller's office; Lois Motz from intermediate typist clerk to library assistant, and Betty Times from library aide to intermediate typist clerk, library; Branson Peppers from mechanic to heavy equipment mechanic, and Richard G. Shaler draftsman I to draftsman II, public works.

Chairman Named For Bay Crusade

Major group chairmen were announced today for two of the five divisions in the Marin United Crusade campaign now under way.

Charles E. Pollock, chairman of the professional division, named these group chairmen: Dr. Ira H. Degenhardt of San Rafael, physicians; Dr. James R. Rideout, Terra Linda, dentists; Richard A. Clarke, San Rafael, attorneys; Robert Matthews, Marin General Hospital, hospitals and medical groups; Richard O. Pancost, Sunny Hills, social agencies; Jack Hermann, Kentfield, architects; Richard S. Harding, San Rafael, consulting engineers, and Glenn W. Sleezer, San Rafael, accountants.

The professional division has been assigned a quota of $24,903.

In the public employees division, chairman Michael Mitchell named William Desmond of the county health department as chairman of the county section and Eugene Churchill of the North Marin County Water District as head of the tax districts. City chairmen include Mrs. Eleanor Lyncn, San Rafael; Douglas Flautt, San Anselmo; Arthur Lang, Mill Valley; Mrs. Isabelle Moore, Larkspur; Arthur H. Brandow, Corte Madera; Mrs. Alice Leonesio, Fairfax; Kenneth H. Huck, Sausalito, and Mrs. Natalie Lewis, Ross.

Quota set for the public employees division is $8,969.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee has voted to continue for two years the Food for Peace program for disposing of U.S. farm surpluses overseas. Final congressional approval is expected.

President Lyndon B. Johnson had asked that the program be extended for five years. In the past 10 years 12.3 billion dollars worth of agricultural products was shipped abroad at a cost of 17 billion dollars.

The measure authorizes expenditure of 3.5 billion dollars on the program over the next two years.

$120,000 Assault Suit Filed

A $120,000 suit for alleged assault and false arrest has been filed in Marin Superior Court by a Novato man against his neighbor.

Melvin Kobretz, 33, of 45 Montego Key, filed the suit against George Schultz. He alleges that on Sept. 6, Schultz, of 57 Montego Key, struck him without provocation, and the defendant then unlawfully arrested Kobretz "without probable cause."

Kobretx asks $20,000 damages for the alleged assault, and a total of $100,000 damages for physical and mental suffering resulting from the arrest.

Marin County sheriff's reports show both Kobretz and an "Arthur" Schultz of that address were booked on citizens' arrests for assault and battery. Marin Municipal Court records show no complaints were later filed, however, and bail for both men was exonerated.

Trustees Take A Reading On New Way Of Teaching

Four members of the San Rafael Board of Education were given a rundown last night on promising new techniques now being introduced to a few classes in the city's schools, for teaching youngsters to read.

The explanation came from Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan, who worked with similar methods in Euclid, Ohio, schools before coming here.

Jordan said the systems were worked out to get away from having small reading groups while the rest of the class did "seat work" of questionable value.

First step, he said, was creation of a "mechanized first grade by "tearing out the cloak room and putting in a console."

At first, tape recordings were used, with each child listening through earphones. Later, these were supplemented with slides to illustrate what was heard. Finally, Jordan said, the Euclid schools installed an enlarging device which projected words on the wall.

"It has been fairly well established that there is some positive correlation between retention and the size of print," he said.

Year-end tests indicated use of these devices had brought a phenomenal increase in the average reading ability of the youngsters, Jordan said. With a "normal" score set at 2.0 (for second grade), classes using the devices came up with median scores of 3.4, or nearly fourth grade level. Highest pupils in these classes, Jordan said, went beyond the limits of the test's scoring system, which stopped at 4.0.

Part of the explanation, Jordan said, is that children today have larger vocabularies when they first enter school than they used to. The reason: television.

Only three classes in the district are using the system this year, partly because of cost limitations and partly because Jordan and other officials prefer not to give teachers the feeling new methods are being "rammed down their throats."

Jordan said he would give a future demonstration on still another system, called "words in color." Results using this technique, he said, have been even greater.

"That is the one that really frightens us," he said.

Board member Bella H. Aaron was absent from the session.

San Rafael Votes Extra Salary To Vice Principals

Salaries of elementary school vice principals and teachers-in-charge were raised last night by the San Rafael Board of Education.

Acting on recommendation of Supt. Bert C. Corona, the board granted the vice principals a $100 yearly raise and gave teachers in charge a $50 per year increase.

The board hired two full-time teachers, 14 adult education instructors, a clerk, and a home economics teaching aid.

Hired to teach French and German at Terra Linda High School was Donald Calder. Mrs. Katherine L. Louis was hired as a primary grade teacher.

Juliet Larrabure was hired as a clerk in the adult school and Mrs. Joanne McCrillis was designated a teacher aid in home economics at Terra Linda High School.

School Meeting

Discussion of additional classroom construction and reports on inventory, curriculum and report cards are scheduled by the Larkspur School District Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district offices at 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Flight Pattern Hearing Asked

A public hearing on the change in the Hamilton Air Force Base flight pattern was requested of the Air Force last night by the Novato City Council.

The formal request was voted after four members of the audience asked that such a hearing be held.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street said she had tried to attend a briefing last Tuesday at the air base, but was denied admittance by the authorities there.

She also reported she had brought complaints about the change in the flight pattern to the attention of Rep. Donald H. Clausen and the Federal Aviation Agency.

"I disagree with the policy and procedures of the Air Force," said C. P. Hansen of 1418 Cambridge Street.

Mrs. Joseph D. Moock of 5 Dawes Court presented the council a petition with 17 signatures protesting the change in the approach pattern, which brings planes down to 1,500 feet over the residential area of Novato.

The Air Force had proposed a change from the south approach to one over Novato for their bad weather approach when winds blow from the south. This was approved June 15 by the FAA, and practice flights have been made over it since that time. As a result of residents' protests, the briefing for city officials and a few others was held last Tuesday.

J. Wayne Womack assured the group that Col. Charles D. Chitty, commander of the 78th Fighter Wing, had promised another briefing if the residents of the area wanted it.

The council then formally asked for such a meeting to be held at a time and place in which the public could attend, with advance notices given in the press.

Plan Commissioners Crack Down On Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission came down hard last night on businesses which try to add more signs to buildings already built to specifications approved by the commission.

"It's this piecemeal routine that kills us," said commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson.

"We have served notice that signs in downtown San Rafael are going to be few and far between," said chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

The case in question was a request by the United California Bank for a 5-foot by 5-foot sign, in the parking lot at the bank's new location, 830 Third Street. Last week the commission had denied a request for another additional sign, this one to go atop the Northwestern Savings and Loan Ass'n. at 1200 Fifth Avenue.

Commissioner Hendrickson said that the United California sign was "just another piecemeal afterthought."

"Your building is already loaded," he told L. J. Hendy, assistant vice president in the bank's properties department. "Now you're trying to push this down our throats."

The four commissioners present voted unanimously to turn down the request.

The ire of another commissioner was vented against "blackmail" of the commission by designers and builders pleading ignorance of the law."

Commissioner John A. Miskimen was referring to a request by Harold Cookson, 53 Bret Hart Lane, for a variance to allow a 15-foot setback for his house rather than the 25 feet required. A swimming pool had already been built in the rear of the lot, seemingly on assumption the variance would be granted.

Since the permit for the pool had already been granted, however, Miskimen saw no alternative but to joint the other commissioners in approving the varience.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Approved Mobil Oil Co.'s request for a service station permit on the northwest corner of Francisco and Bellam Boulevards.
2. Postpone to Oct. 13 consideration of a subdivision at Chula Vista Drive, south of Oakmont Avenue, pending submittal of a revised map.
3. Postpone again Draper Co.'s request for subdivision of Peacock Gap Unit 7, extension of Peacock Drive and abutting territory, pending review of school site location by the San Rafael Board of Education.
4. Approved tentative map of Hujon, Inc., for Loch Lomond Highlands subdivision on condition that street pavement be widened from 22 to 26 feet, there be no blanket setback exceptions, and there be reservation of a 40-foot access for streets or utilities.
5. Approved plans for a 46-unit apartment complex at Bellam Boulevard and Sonoma Street by Spiliotis and Co.
6. Approved plans by Richard V. Bettini for a 44-unit apartment complex at Woodland Avenue and Irwin Street, conditional on sidewalk being built.
7. Approved plans to alter the Cheda Building at 1041 Fourth Street to house the Courthouse Creamery and the Modern Eve Shop.
8. Granted architectural approval to plans for an 8-unit apartment building at Marian Court and Bellam Boulevard, planned by Leland Mosk, providing all landscaping is installed before occupancy.
9. Gave Charles Grandi permission to build a duplex at 55-58 Elizabeth Way.

Noxato Youth, 14, Picked Up By Police

A 14-year-old Novato boy was cited to juvenile authorities by Novato police yesterday for indecent exposure.

Vivian Irene Zaehringer, 62, of 1817 Center Road, Novato, reported that the boy was exposing himself to passing cars on Center Road. Police said the boy admitted the act.

'Blinded' Driver Hurt In Crash Into Creek

A Novato driver was cut about the face and arms when his car hit a parked car and plummeted into Novato Creek at 8:15 p.m. yesterday.

Steven Guinasso, 51, of 840 McClay Road, told Novato police he was driving west on Grant Avenue when the lights of an oncoming car blinded him. His auto hit a parked car belonging to Stanley J. Montagne of 1305 Kaehler Court, then crossed the street and went into the creek. He was treated at Novato General Hospital.

Board Rejects Paradise Beach Bids

Two bids for first phase development of Paradise Beach County Park were rejected as excessive yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The board then authorized readvertising in the hope of attracting lower bids.

The lower of the bids received was $62,753.17, with $11,829 additional if restrooms are built, by A. and J. Shooter, Inc. of San Rafael. The other was $66,711.37 plus $13,473 from Cagnin and Dorward, San Anselmo.

Total amount available is about $57,000.

Park Director Kelvin J. Nelson said the lack of bidders might have been caused by late notice to the Builders' Exchange and trade journals. He and architect ASA Hanamoto said re-advertising might bring in lower bids, in spite of approaching winter weather.

Hanamoto said that the new bids could be based on a liberal time limit for completion and then a reluctance to bid late in the year might be overcome.

The board took final action on acquisition of the St. Hilary's wildflower area in Tiburon. The land is being purchased for $41,000, including $15,000 from the county, $12,300 in a federal open space grant, and $13,700 from the Belvedere - Tiburon Landmarks Society.

The board then voted to lease the property for 25 years to the Landmarks Society for maintenance as open area.

Home Owners Win Prizes

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Rasmussen, 16 Southridge East, have won first prize of $50 in a property improvement contest sponsored by the Reedlands Property Owners Assn.

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Clements, 5 Greenwood Court, won second prize of $50; Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Persinger, 7 Warren's Way, $20; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maillard, 41 North Terrace Court, $15, and Mrs. Alice E. Royo, 49 Reed Ranch Road, $10.

The contest for the most improvement of exterior appearance of properties was judged by a vote of the members of the association, Mrs. John Hellstrom, secretary, explained.

U.S. Judicial System Anniversary Is Marked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, apparently noting current congressional attempts to curb the Supreme Court's powers, said yesterday that debate over the court's authority to limit the powers of states "has never ended."

Marking the 175th anniversary of the federal judicial system, the smiling chief justice recalled congressional resolutions introduced "but not passed" designed to limit the court's jurisdiction over a century ago "for having invalidated state laws."

In the current debate, court critics are trying to delay — or prevent—implementation of the court's directive that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned according to population.

Warren recalled vigorous arguments in the first Congress between those "who feared federal encroachment of state power and those who were apprehensive of state power being exercised at the expense of national authority."

He made clear his viewpoint when he said "fortunately . . . a crucial provision" of the juliciary act of 1789—assuring federal legal authority to protect national rights under the Constitution — "became law and provided one of the most important nationalizing influences."

Warren spoke at the opening of a national archives exhibit of landmark decisions and key documents in Supreme Court history.

Missing Car Is Located

A San Rafael man read of a stolen car in the paper yesterday and called police to say the car was sitting near his house.

Angelo D. Laurenti of 223 Belle Avenue reported the blue 1964 Corvette coupe matched the description of one stolen Friday from Dr. Irenaeus N. Tucker of Kentfield.

Police said the car's motor and transmission were missing.

Entry of plea of Jesse Garcia, 30, charged with giving a false name to obtain narcotics, was continued in Marin Municipal Court yesterday until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Garcia, who has been residing in a San Anselmo hotel, was arrested Monday at the G and G Co. prescription pharmacy in Mill Valley after police learned he had allegedly obtained a bottle of terpin hydrate and codeine at Rutherford's Pharmacy, 68 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, under the name of Al Lopez.

Sausalitan Elected To GOP Unit

Richard E. Herndon, an attorney who lives at 144 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, was elected last night to the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

He succeeds William M. Spencer Jr. of Mill Valley, who resigned because his business will take him on trips out of the county.

Gerald E. Misner, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, appointed James McNab and William Anderson, both of Kentfield, to head the finance drive for the November campaign.

Misner said about 30 Marin Republicans will attend the annual meeting of the First District Republican Congressional Committee at Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa Friday night.

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), congressman from the First District, is scheduled to be the keynote speaker.

Hamlet' Is On Screen Tonight

A moving picture production of William Shakespear's "Hamlet," filmed as it was being performed on stage, will be presented tonight and tomorrow at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo.

The production stars Richard Burton and is directed by John Gielgud. Evening performances are set tonight and tomorrow night and a matinee will also be held tomorrow.

Matinee performance starts at 1:45 p.m., and the evening show starts at 8 o'clock.

Retirement Plan Approved At Hospital

A retirement plan, life insurance and major medical insurance for employees of Marin General Hospital were voted last night by the hospital district board.

Details of all are yet to be worked out, however.

The three members of the board present—chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, Mrs. Marion C. Ibach and Paul Kent—approved the employee retirement program, the result of two years study, to go into effect Jan. 1. Details are to be worked out meantime by Barrett Coates of the retirement consultant firm of Coates, Herforth and England in San Francisco.

The plan discussed would apply to employees reaching the age of 65. It would provide a pension of about 50 per cent of the former salary for those with 30 years or more of service, but whether this would apply to average salary over the 30 years or to the highest salary or average over a shorter period is yet to be decided.

The life insurance plan, to provide $2,000 life insurance for each employee, will be put out to bid by insurance carriers. The major medical insurance plan also will be subject to offers, and its details will depend on them.

All are to be started Jan. 1.

The board, on motion of Kettenhofen, also voted to initiate a hospital-administered home care program for persons convalescent after hospital treatment but still requiring special care. Details of what it should offer and what rates should be charged are to be worked out by a committee of Kettenhofen, Mrs. Ibach, and Dr. Wilson P. Goddard. The board plans to seek a subsidy from the Babcock Foundation to assist in financing the plan.

Harold A. Riede, the district's attorney, reported he was attempting to arrange with the examiner to resume hearings on admission of Dr. Stanford Ascherman to practice at the hospital, as directed by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. in Marin Municipal Court last Friday. He has not yet been able to do so, however, he said.

Three of the eight candidates for two hospital board posts at stage in the Nov. 3 election attended the meeting, which lasted until 1 a.m. today. They are George E. Croke, Hadden W. Roth, and Thomas K. Procter.

Newspaper Is Bought In Fairfax

The Fairfax News, a weekly "voluntary subscription" newspaper has changed hands.

The owner of the Pacific Sun and the Valley Sun, Merrill Groman, bought the weekly tabloid from Charles Colby, owner of the Terra Linda News and the San Pedro Pointer, both free distribution papers.

Groman said the principal change in the Fairfax News operation under his management will be its printing in his Stinson Beach publishing plant rather than in San Francisco, as previously.

Groman said the News would continue to appear on Thursday with coverage of Fairfax community news and "perhaps a little more photography than before."

Personnel changes brought about by the purchase place Mrs. Ralph Sutton as editor becoming news editor of the Valley Sun, with Barbara Scott becoming news editor of thae Sun, and Dolores Dollahite taking over as news editor of the News.

Peter Edwards, former editor of the Fairfax News, announced yesterday that he will start a new weekly newspaper in the area to be named the Fairfax-San Geronimo-Nicasio Reporter.

Edwards said he hopes to have the first edition of his newspaper out tomorrow, but said he had not yet completed printing arrangements.

Reed Trustees Look Into 7 School Sites

Trustees of Reed School District last night discussed seven possible school sites in the northern part of their Tiburon Peninsula district, but held off decision until further site studies are prepared.

Residents at last night's meeting seemed generally in favor of placing the school on the land known as the "Swayback Horse Pasture" off Tiburon Boulevard, with the possible addition of fill offshore of the pasture.

Trustees asked architects and the district staff to draw up comparative figures on the cost of any cutting or filling necessary on each site, cost of putting in roads and utilities, acquisition cost, a report on soil conditions, in addition to figures on the number of school-age children in the area of each site.

Trustees noted that some of the sites proposed on the hills of the peninsula would require removal of hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of dirt, and filling on the site.

"It's a crime to talk of making 60-foot cuts in these hills," R. W. Harvey of 173 Stewart Drive, said from the audience. "Even if it does require filling the bay." Harvey said he preferred the horse pasture site. He called it "centrally located . . . the most feasible" for the cost.

Trustees were less enthusiastic, noting that realignment of Tiburon Boulevard is already planned through the land, which would be surrounded by roads if the district were successful in having the proposed road moved farther toward the bay. Among other objections, they mentioned that the site would entail more bay filling than is planned by the highway division; it would be small and in later years still another site might be required in the area because of lack of room for expansion.

Areas under consideration for the school are:

1. Four different sites in the area of Stewart, Geldert, Hacienda drives and south of Trestle Glen Boulevard.

2. An area on the ridge somewhat north of Reed School and near the edge of Smithridge Estates.

Trustees agreed to consider more detailed data on the sites at their Oct. 27 meeting.

Chemical Engineer

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Board of Civil and Professional Engineers announced James R. Laible, 117 Elena Circle, San Rafael, passed a recent examination for registration as a chemical engineer.

Black Point Bids Called

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Division of Highways has called for bids for removing slide material from the shoulder of State Route 27, the Black Point Cutoff, about seven miles east of Novato.

The work also will include stabilizing the slopes, reconstructing the shoulders and installing additional drainage facilities.

Bids will be opened in Sacramento Oct. 28, with $61,000 available.

Airlines Turn Up In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed mixed today in active trading.

Airlines were the upside feature, with United, Pan American and Western gaining a point or better.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.6 million shares compared with 5.26 million yesterday.

Fractional gains and losses were the general rule among key stocks but the favored issue throughout the list advanced a point or more.

Gains exceeding a point were made by Western Air Lines, Pan American, United and American Airlines.

IBM rose more than 3.

Up a point or better were Xerox, U.S. Smelting and Dymo Industries.

Milwaukee Road was up about 2 following news of merger agreement with Chicago and North Western which was off a fraction.

Texas Gulf Sulphur also was heavily traded and gained more than 2.

Up a point or better were Norfolk and Western and Trans World Airlines. Delta Air Lines rose about 2.

General Motors and Ford took fractional losses. Chrysler moved slightly higher after early wavering.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in heavy trading.

Bonds were mostly unchanged.

Chevrolet Firm Lost Franchise To Sell Autos

Andersen Chevrolet Inc. of Novato, which closed its doors to business yesterday, lost its franchise to sell Chevrolet cars, it was disclosed today by Alfred W. Bowman, member of the board of directors.

The selling agreement expired last Friday and the application for a new agreement was denied on the same date, Bowman said.

However, cars were still being sold through locked doors, Bowman charged.

During the last three months, Andersen Chevrolet Inc., has been operating under an extension of the selling agreement originally issued to Gordon Andersen, now deceased, Bowman said.

The application for the new permit was made in the name of Robert Rewoldt, member of the board of directors. This was denied.

"It was presumptious on the part of Rewoldt to post the 'permanently closed' sign while continuing to sell cars through the back door, especially after being ordered to close by the board of directors," Bowman said.

During World War II, the Declaration of Independence and the text of the Constitution were placed in Fort Knox for safekeeping.

Firm Declares Cash Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of Castle & Cooke, Inc., have declared a cash dividend of 35 cents for the second quarter of the 1964-65 fiscal year.

It is payable Oct. 16 to stockholders of record Sept. 28. The same dividend was paid for the first quarter of the current year. In the last fiscal year Castle and Cooke paid a total cash dividend of $1.20 per share plus a year end extra of 30 cents per share.

PRESENTING Cadillac FOR 1965

SO NEW! SO RIGHT! SO OBVIOUSLY CADILLAC!

The 1965 Cadillac is the most dramatically new Cadillac in sixteen years; new from chassis to rooftop and new from start to stop. Its remarkable styling—elegant, majestic and impressive as never before—establishes it instantly as an all-time Cadillac great. And not only is it an inspiration to look at—it is a revelation to drive! The marvelous responsiveness of Turbo Hydra-Matic is now standard on all eleven models. A new concept of frame and suspension gives the car incredible steadiness and levelness of ride—even under the severest conditions of cornering and handling. And there is quiet—quiet beyond anything you imagined possible in a motor car! Cadillac's new and more spacious interiors are marvelously rich and luxurious—and include such personal options as an exclusive tilt and telescope steering wheel. Cadillac owner or Cadillac admirer—you owe yourself a journey at the wheel without delay.

You will know at once that this is—in every way—the new Standard of the World!

Oakland Group Offers $6.5 Million Cash For Indians

BALANCING ACT BY PIRATE PIGSKINNERS

Drake High School end Larry Stein (81) reaches for a pass from Al Simontacchi during first quarter of the Pirates' game against Petaluma last Saturday, but the ball is slightly out of his reach. Moving in to help stop the pass is Petaluma's Chris Iverson (56). Drake barely got past the Trojans in the season opener for both teams, holding off a late rally for a 19-14 victory.

BATTLE FOR THE BALL—Drake's Stan Carter, an end, and an unidentified Petaluma defender both go after a pass from Pirates' Simontacchi during the third quarter of their game last Saturday in College of Marin stadium. Neither boy got the ball, however, as it fell incomplete.

Cleveland Says 'No' To Offer

CLEVELAND (AP) —Gabe Paul said today the Cleveland Indians have turned down an offer from an Oakland, Calif., group that wanted to move the American League club's franchise to Oakland.

"We received an offer," Paul said. "I'm not going to say how much it was, but I am going to say we turned it down.' '

The Oakland Tribune reported that $6.5 million was offered for the Indians. Paul, who owns a 20 per cent interest in the Indians, has said previously he has no intention of selling out, despite the club's financial troubles.

Paul, the president and general manager, took over two years ago as part of a 19-man syndicate which reportedly pid $6 million for the Indians.

Mayor John C. Houlihan, Chairman Kent D. Pursell of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, and President Robert T. Nahas of Coliseum, Inc., joined in urging the Ohio club owners to accept the bid.

Stockman is owner of the Edgewater Inn and a partner or director in 12 other corporations, said the Oakland Baseball Corp. which includes himself and two other Bay Area businessmen with backing from financial institutions.

Charley Fox Asked To Postpone S.F. Trip Until End Of Season

CONNOLLY

Charley Fox, manager of the S.F. Giant "farm team" at Tacoma, was asked to postpone his trip to S.F. until after the 1964 National League pennant race was over. Fox had a hotel reservation in the city and was prepared to come here several days ago. But at the last moment he was advised, so I am told, to cancel his reservations and wait until advised further by Giant officials.

It may not mean a thing and yet it does seem significant that the man who is most likely to succeed Alvin Dark as manager of the Giants in 1965 was "flagged down" at the eleventh hour on the assumption his presence in San Francisco while Dark was still boss might cause some of the parties concerned embarassment.

NONE OF the Giant official family would affirm or deny the Fox story, but it was freely whispered around the Candlestick Park archives that Charley has the inside track and the big bosses do not want the people to get a false impression of him as one seeking the job of Dark. They would rather have the public think he is just moveing up in the ranks and stear him clear of having any aims or designs on the job until AFTER Dark is advised of his fate.

At no time since the Dark explosion on racial rumors flitted about several weeks ago has owner Horace Stoneham discussed any stories on Dark's replacement. He prefers to say that the contract of Dark as manager doesn't end until the 1964 season expires.

Some of those who have talked with Dark believe he is "not through yet."

DARK WON'T say he is making other plans and he won't admit he is through. So all anybody can say or think is pure speculation.

But lately in his TV shows and at other functions, Dark maintains he is not planning any other switch until after he is told that his contract will not be renewed.

Houston was one of the spots, so it is reported, that Dark had a chance to land a job. The job was his, so they said, if he would take it.

But somebody in the Houston family came up with a strong objection to the hiring of Dark and it proved fatal, at least to Dark's immediate chances.

THERE IS quite a yarn connected with Dark losing out at Houston. One eastern scribe here with the Phils told me Dark definitely was "considered," but passed up.

Meanwhile Leo Hughes, Tacoma trainer for years, refused to be connected with any rumors about Fox coming to S.F.

"I don't know anything about Fox succeeding Al Dark and neither has Charley Fox ever mentioned it," Hughes explains.

Marichal To Pitch For Giants Tonight

HOUSTON (AP)—Everywhere Alvin Dark goes in the waning days of the 1964 National League competition, the same question is asked.

"I just don't know," says Dark. "I don't know what will happen."

The question is whether Dark will return next year as manager of the San Francisco Giants.

"When the season ends I won't have a contract," Dark said before the Giants beat Houston 7-1 last night. "Then it will depend on whether any club is interested in me.

"This club, if it stays healthy, has a chance to win the pennant next year," said Dark.

As if to prove a point, the Giants clobbered the Colts with some players who weren't healthy at one time or another this season and with a pitcher who wouldn't have received his major league chance if it had not been for injuries.

Although Dick Estelle failed to be around at the finish for the fourth time since being recalled from Tacoma, he surrendered only seven hits and made it to the ninth inning.

Orlando Cepeda, who had a leg injury at the start of the season, drove in three runs with his 31st homer and a two-run single. He now has 97 rbi's.

Harvey Kuenn, in and out of the lineup this season, passed the 2,000 career hit mark in collecting three singles. He has 11 hits in his last 21 at bats.

Estelle, whose record now is 1-1, had a 7-0 lead when the Colts got to him for their only run in the fourth. Jerry Grote tripled and the ball got away from Willie Mays for an error as the Houston catcher scored.

After Cepeda started the second inning with his homer, Tom Haller and Jim Davenport singled. They advanced on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kuenn that was mangled by Rusty Staub.

In the third, Mays reached base on a force play and went to third when Dierker tried to pick him off. The youngster's second wild pitch brought Mays across.

In the fourth, after two were out, Hal Lanier and Matty Alou collected infield scratch hits. Jim Hart and Mays walked, bringing in one run and reliever Dave Guisti. Cepeda then singled.

Masanori Murakami, the Japanese southpaw, came in during the ninth with two Colts on base and none out and retired the side on two harmless ground outs and an infield pop fly.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Yankees Extend Win Streak To 7 Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

You know that pennant race in the American League . . .

It may just be over.

The New York Yankees saw to that last night, sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 5-3 and 8-1. The twin triumphs stretched the Yankees' American League lead to 2½ games over the Baltimore Orioles, who lost 2-1 to Detroit, and 3½ games over the Chicago White Sox, who were shut out 1-0 by Los Angeles.

The Yankees hold an imposing four-game edge in the loss column and seem on the threshold of clinching the pennant that looked all but lost exactly a month ago today. On Aug. 22, New York lost its sixth straight and dropped six games off the pace.

Since then the perennial champions have won 22 of 29 including the last seven straight while moving to the top of the heap. Even though their lead is two games less than the margin held by the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies, the Yankees actually are in a stronger position because their remaining schedule does not call for them to meet the contenders. Philadelphia must play pursuing Cincinnati and St. Louis three times each in its last 10 games.

The last time the Phillies won the pennant was 1950 and the Yankees swept four straight from them in the World Series. A rookie named Whitey Ford, who had come up in mid-season to lift a slumping pitching staff,

Mrs. May Wins Golfing Title For 7th Time

Mrs. William May defeated Mrs. Roger Williams on the 30th hole yesterday to win the club championship for the seventh year at the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club.

Consolation winner was Mrs. Arthur S. Sears.

Mrs. Henry Hartman defeated Mrs. Jerry Evans 4 and 3 to win the first flight. Consolation winner was Mrs. C. B. Coleman. Second flight winner was Mrs. Charles Zapelli with a 2 up victory over Mrs. Joel Hamby. Mrs. Thomas Hardcastle was consolation winner.

Mrs. Phil Ogle won the third flight over Mrs. Rose Waller, 1 up. Mrs. Lew Baysinger won the consolation event.

Bill Bruton's third triple of the year for the Detroit Tigers was the 100th in his major league career.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds Blast Phillies, 9-2

By MIKE RATHET

You know that pennant race in the National League. . .

It may just be starting.

The Cincinnati Reds saw to that last night, capitalizing on Chris Short's wildness and a homer by Frank Robinson for a 9-2 victory over National League leading Philadelphia that trimmed the Phillies' lead to 4½ games.

The second-place Reds and the third-place Cardinals, five games back after a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets, actually are in a better position than Baltimore and Chicago, trying to catch the New York Yankees in the American League scramble.

The White Sox are in the worst position — five games down in the all-important loss column. The other three pursuers are four games back in that department, but there's one big difference in the two races. The contenders in the American League do not meet again while the Reds and Cardinals still have games remaining with the sluggish Phillies.

And Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler knows it.

"It sure does remind you of '50 all over again," said Sisler, who played for the Phillies in 1950 when they blew a 7½-game lead in the final 11 games and had to win the pennant from Brooklyn on the last day of the season.

"We have momentum now which we didn't have before, that good spirit only winning produces," said Sisler. "This club is battling back when it's behind, which it wasn't doing earlier."

The Phillies also weren't losing as often earlier. The loss to the Reds was their second in a row and their fourth in the last six games. Philadelphia has 10 games remaining — three each with St. Louis and Cincinnati, including another with the Reds tonight.

In other games yesterday, Pittsburgh's Bob Veale tied the major league strikeout high for the season by fanning 15 batters in a 2-0 loss to Milwaukee, Dick Estelle won his first major league game in San Francisco's 7-1 victory over Houston and the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 behind eight innings of shutout relief by Cal Koonce.

Short, now 17-8, put himself in a jam in the third inning and the Reds wound up with four runs. As it turned out that was enough for Jim O'Toole, 16-7, who kept eight Philadelphia hits fairly well scattered.

Walks to O'Toole and Chico Ruiz around a single by Pete Rose got the Reds started in the third. One run scored when Vada Pinson hit into a force out and the second came over as catcher Gus Triandos fired the ball into centerfield on Pinson's steal of second. Robinson then capped the uprising with his 28th homer.

Curt Simmons got the job done for the Cardinals with a six-hitter, allowing the Mets a run in the first inning on a single by Bobby Klaus, Roy McMillan's double and a sacrifice fly by Jim Hickman before settling down.

Simmons, 16-9, got the only runs he needed in the fourth when Bill White's single, a triple by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat's sacrifice fly produced two runs off Tracy Stallard.

Veale, 18-11, went into the ninth with a chance to tie the modern record of 18 strikeouts held by Sandy Koufax and Bob Feller but missed it when Eddie Mathews hit into a double play and Sandy Alomar grounded out.

Denny Lemaster, 16-11, won it with a seven-hitter, getting the only runs he needed when the Braves scored twice against Veale in the second on Joe Torre's single and doubles by Gene Oliver and Denis Menke.

Estelle got enough support from Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn against the Colts. Cepeda drove in three runs with a homer and single while Kuenn collected three hits, including No. 2,000 of his major league career.

Bomb Threat Made On Grid Star's Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police kept an around-the-clock watch on the east side home of Cleveland Browns' fullback Jim Brown following an anonymous threat that his house would be bombed.

The police vigil was ordered yesterday after an official of station KYW-TV reported receiving a telephoned bomb threat from a woman shortly before Brown appeared on a show to discuss racial issues.

A police department spokesman said cruisers would pass Brown's house frequently to see that everything was okay. "This will continue until we think it's no longer necessary," the spokesman added.

Brown and his wife, Sue, have three children and live in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Forrest L. Fraser, producer of the Mike Douglas show, reported the incident to police. He said a woman asked him to tell Brown that if he appeared and talked "about the things that have been in the papers. . . we are going to bomb his home."

The woman identified herself only as representing a New York organization, then hung up, Fraser said.

Brown, on the show, discussed some of the statements he made in a controversial article he wrote this week in a national magazine. These included some of his views on segregation and the Black Muslims, who preach Negro supremacy.

The statements are from Brown's forthcoming book, Off My Chest.

Emphasizing that he was not a member of the organization, Brown said:

"I've never considered it. I'm not part of it. I probably won't ever be."

49ers Lose Bill Cooper For Season

The professional football season has just begun and the San Francicso 49ers have already lost three players for the season.

Linebacker Bill Cooper early yesterday underwent surgery on his injured knee at St. Mary's Hospital fr ligament and cartilage damage sustained in Sunday's win over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Forty-niner end Verne Burke and tackle Bob St. Clair were sidelined for the season prior to opening day action.

Fullback J. D. Smith also injured his knee in Sunday's game, but is still undergoing tests to determine the extent of his injury.

The 49ers yesterday looked at movies of the Philadelphia game and then went through light loosening-up drills. They face the tough St. Louis Cardinals in Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Race Driver Jim Pardue Dies From Crash Injuries

Pardue, 32-year-old North Wilkesboro veteran, died two hours after his 1964 Plymouth crashed through the fourth turn guard rail during a tire test run for a manufacturer of racing tires.

The car, making the highly banked turn as an estimated 141 miles per hour, tore down 30 feet of steel guard rail, catapulted into the air and came down atop a steel wire fence which surrounds the 1½ mile racing oval. From there, it traveled down a 75-foot embankment and came to rest about 200 feet away upside down in a drainage ditch.

Pardue, semi-conscious, was taken from the car by a rescue squad and other drivers participating in the tire tests. He was taken to Cabarrus Memorial Hospital at Concord. A physician said he died of "massive head and internal injuries."

A scholarly looking, neatly groomed father of three children, Pardue was testing the tires for use in the $50,000 National 400 stock car race scheduled at the track Oct. 18.

Known to race followers as Genial Jim, Pardue was in the midst of his best season since turning professional in 1959. He finished second in the rich Daytona 500 at Daytona Beach, Fla., in February.

On Labor Day he finished third in the Southern 500 at Darlington, S.C. He had won in excess of $35,000 this year.

It was the second fatal accident at the multi-million dollar speedway this year. Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach was severely burned in a three-car accident during the World 600 in May and died from his injuries July 2.

Pardue, who won the pole position in the May race in which Roberts was burned, was in the seventh lap of a 10-lap test run when he lost control of his car.

Track officials and spokesmen for the tire company said it had not been determined what caused the wreck. Speculation was that Pardue either blew a tire or dropped a sway bar, causing the racer to veer out of control.

Pardue, who was an auto salesman before becoming a race driver, had said many times that the Charlotte Speedway was his favorite track. But he had had little success there. He wrecked during the 1963 World 600, and was put out of the same race this year by a faulty ignition wire after starting on the pole.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Pardue's widow, mother and three children survive. His father died about three months ago.

Wilt's Stomach Keeps Him Out Of Action

Wilt Chamberlain's stomach hurts and the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. feel the pain.

While most of his mates took off for the three-game exhibition series against the Los Angeles Lakers, the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain stayed behind with gastro-enteritis.

Dr. Richard Cavanaugh made the diagnosis after examinations at St. Mary's Hospital. He explained Chamberlain has an inflammation of the stomach and intestines.

Chamberlain must miss at least two of the three games against the Lakers.

"It might be due to highly seasoned food or irregular hours in the off-season," said Franklin Mieuli, a club director.

"On the other hand, it could be the result of an ulcer, and that's what concerns us. We have phoned his Philadelphia doctor for his past medical history to find out if there has been any such attack previously," Mieuli said.

Chamberlain, who's been in discomfort for a month, said he never had stomach troubles before.

Forward Tom Meschery and guard Gary Phillips also stayed home. Meschery recently took a cast off a finger he broke before the season started while moving a high-fidelity set through a doorway. Phillips underwent surgery on his ankle and now it's sore.

A NEW IDEA TO HELP THE OLYMPIC FUND

The idea was originated by Chuck McNulty and Robert Kans. Persons have contributed $10 each for the Olympic fund and received contributor plaques. But instead of keeping the plaques, they are used in a display, with the donor's name under them.

They line the wall at Marin County Blueprint Service, 23 Joseph Court in San Rafael. Names of 51 Marin County persons are under that many plaques, as the list grows and grows. The drive is being sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Injectors of Marin car club has donated their time to pick up donations by auto. Gasoline for this has been donated by Carlson Moving and Storage Co.

The drive will continue until next Monday, at which time the plaques will be returned to the donors. Persons interested in adding to the drive should send funds to either Don R. Hoffman Associates, 856 Sweetzer Avenue, Novato, or Marin County Blueprint Service at 23 Joseph Court, San Rafael, McNulty said.

Griffith Defends Title By Whipping Welsh Challenger

Griffith, 26, dropped the 27-year-old British Champion for counts of eight in the sixth round, nine in the 10th and nine again in the 13th before a sellout crowd of 10,300 at Wembley Indoor Stadium.

Griffith was full of praise for the plucky Briton.

"He gave me a good fight and deserves a return," the champion said. "I'll be happy to fight him again any time he's ready."

British promoter Jack Solomons, who staged last night's show, immediately suggested an outdoor title fight between the two in Wales next summer.

"It's okay by me if my managers agree," said Griffith.

Gil Clancy, one of Griffith's two managers, said: "it's okay by me, too." and Clancy and Griffith shook hands on the deal.

Griffith said he was looking forward to his holiday.

"This fight was a lot tougher than I expected," the champion said.

"I tried to finish the fight earlier and thought I had him going once or twice — but he certainly wanted the title. He kept coming back and I couldn't polish him off."

Griffith set the pace from the start of the 15-rounder and battered the gallant Welshman so hard at times that it looked certain the challenger would be knocked out. Somehow the super-fit Curvis hung on. It was his second defeat in 32 pro bouts.

Griffith earned $56,000 for his 10th welterweight title fight. He has an 8-2 record for these, regaining the crown quickly each time after the defeats. His over-all record is 42-5. Curvis earned about $14,000.

Referee Harry Gibbs, the sole official, raised Griffith's right arm as a symbol of his victory. His scorecard, per custom, was not disclosed. The Associated Press had Griffith in front, 9-4 with two rounds even. Each weighed 145½.

"It was the old story of the amateur style of British boxing being unable to cope with the two-handed, non-stop fighting tactics of a trans-Atlantic champion," wrote Peter Wilson, boxing writer of the Daily Mirror.

Other writers had similar comment.

Limited Frosh Football At Tam

Because of a shortage of coaches at Tamalpais High School, the schedule for the frosh football team has been cut to three games this year, it was announced yesterday by Al Ahlsten, junior varsity grid coach at Tam.

The frosh team will be working out with the junior varsity this year because of a lack of coaching strength. The frosh gridders will not play the first three games of their schedule, but will play in their final three games, against Novato, Marin Catholic and Redwood.

Haley Not At Seals' Camp

Len Haley, the hot-skating member of the Western Hockey League champion San Francisco Seals, will be fined if he doesn't get in to training camp by today, the club announced.

Paul Jackson became the first casualty of practice when he was hit hard on the right ankle by a puck. He was sent to a hospital for x-rays.

Drakes Bay Cruise Scheduled Oct. 10

The Marin Power Squadron Drakes Bay Cruise will be held on Saturday, Oct. 10, starting at the Sausalito Channel entrance buoy at 7 a.m., it was announced today.

Members of the cruise committee are Robert Hensen, Richard Pendleton, Eugene F. Sweeney and Robert M. Kell. Registration for the cruise will end Sept. 30.

Yanks Stretch Their Lead

won the final game. Ford's still around and he's got a replica for the role he played in 1950 in young Mel Stottlemyre, whose late-season hurling helped the Yankee drive get started.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston shut out Washington 3-0 and Kansas City outlasted Minnesota 10-9.

Stottlemyre started the first game and led 5-3 when he tired in the ninth, giving up two singles. Berra went to the mound, hesitated a moment, and then called in Ramos, who came to the Yankees from Cleveland two weeks ago.

Ramos fed Al Luplow a double play pitch to save it for the youngster who has now won eight games since coming up early in August.

In the nightcap, Ford held a 3-1 lead through seven innings and Reniff finished up with a five-run Yankee ninth icing it.

New York belted two homers in each game with Roger Maris and Joe Pepitone connecting in the opener and Mickey Mantle and Phil Linz in the nightcap.

Berra had a broad grin in the happy Yankee dressing room. "I feel more like a genius than I did a month ago," he said.

Linz, who was fined $200 in the celebrated harmonica playing incident during last month's losing streak, was happy too. "If we clinch the pennant," he said, "I'll bring my harmonica in the dressing room and play a tune."

Baltimore lost it when Al Kaline crashed a two-run homer in the first inning, rubbing out a 1-0 Oriole lead.

Ed Rakow relieved Tiger starter Hank Aguirre after four straight walks forced in a run. He got out of the jam and worked into the ninth when the Orioles loaded the bases again. Julio Navarro came on and retired Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens on pop flies to end it.

The Orioles stranded 13 runners as Rakow beat them for the third time. Milt Pappas, 15-6, was the loser.

The White Sox never got started against the Angels' Fred Newman, who throttled them with a five-hitter for his 13th victory.

Three of Chicago's hits were high bouncers in front of the plate and the Sox never posed a serious threat. Rookie Bruce Howard, making his first major league start, pitched a strong five-hitter but was tagged with the loss.

The only run of the game came in the third inning with two out when Jim Fregosi doubled and Willie Smith singled him home.

The Red Sox scored all their runs in the ninth and Bill Monbouquette, who hurled a five-hitter, worked out of a bases-loaded spot in the bottom half to beat the Senators. Al Smith's pinch double was the key hit for Boston.

Ed Charles clouted a three-run homer and Bill Bryan followed with a pinch hit home run as the Athletics passed the Twins in the ninth inning. There were five other homers in the game.

Daddy's gonna look at all those new cars

Daddy's smart. He knows most of those other dealers just put on a show at new model time, but they want too much money for them, specially at the start.

Daddy says Ames Ford sells their new models at their usual special money-saving deals right on opening day. They must have the right idea, 'cause they sell more cars than anybody else. We can wait 'til tomorrow night to go to Ames Ford. (For the big news in 1965 automobiles see Ames Ford's big 12-page section in tomorrow night's Independent-Journal.)

PRO FOOTBALL NOTES

Y A's Sub On The Spot

By HAL BOCK

John Baker, a 270-pounder, put Tittle in a daze and the New York Giants in a tizzy with a bone jarring tackle that knocked the veteran quarterback out of Sunday's game.

The injury, diagnosed as severely bruised cartilages around three ribs, left Tittle as doubtful at best for Friday night's game with the Washington Redskins. If Y.A. can't go, Gary Wood, a rookie, will handle the signal calling.

It would be a tough spot for a 21-year-old from Cornell with the Giants 0-2 and desperately needing a win to stay alive in the National League's Eastern Division race.

Before the night's over, Wood may wish he were far above Cayuga's waters againespecially with ex-Giant Sam Huff out to prove New York was wrong in trading him down the river to Washington.

If that fellow who kept scoring touchdowns for San Francisco in its upset victory over Philadelphia looked familiar to Eagle Coach Joe Kuharich, there was a good reason.

Mike Lind played for Kuharich for three years at Notre Dame. At least he was on the Irish roster. Injuries limited him to five games in the three seasons, so that Kuharich never did see much of him.

Lind made up for it Sunday, scoring three times, and Kuharich would just as soon notsee any more of him.

One man's meat and potatoes is leftover hash for another.

After the Los Angeles Rams had blown a fourth quarter lead and had to settle for a tie with the Detroit Lions, Ram Coach Harland Svare was philosophical.

"A tie in this league is like a win," said Svare.

Not so for Lion Coach George Wilson. "We lost because we didn't block and tackle," the disappointed Wilson said.

Boston Patriot Coach Mike Holovak was talking to reporters after his club lost the American League title to San Diego by 51-10 last January.

"For the life of me," Holovak said, "I can't believe that's the difference between the two teams."

The Houston Oilers have one of the strongest passing attacks in the AFL and they don't do badly when the other guys are throwing either.

The Oilers lead the league in interceptions with six, five of them coming against the Oakland Raiders Saturday night. Four of the steals were by rookies and two — by Pete Jacquess and Bennie Nelson — were returned for TDs.

DAVIS CUP PLANS

Outthink Them, Yanks Ordered

CLEVELAND (AP) — "We can beat the Australians if we think," said old Ed Faulkner, "but we've got to think — we must beat them with our heads."

Faulkner is the secret weapon of the U.S. Davis Cup team in its challenge round battle against heavily favored Australia here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

He is 64, a mild mannered, Swarthmore College professor who remains unobtrusively in the wings as Chuck McKinley, Dennis Ralston and their mates sharpen their tennis strokes for the big weekend.

He is of an entirely different cut from the coaches the Americans have used in the past — Denny Pails, Jack Kramer, Eddie Moylan and Pancho Gonzales.

"I have had great admiration for Ed for years," Seixas said Monday. "His job is not to change the boys' games or tamper with their techniques in any way. He watches, picks out flaws and gives advice.

"He has been invaluable. I know of no more knowledgeable man in tennis.

way. He watches, picksout flaws and gives advice.

"He has been invaluable. I know of no more knowledgeable man in tennis.

Faulkner, a gaunt, red-faced man with disappearing gray hair, tutored Big Bill Tilden back in the 1920s when he was a pro and Tilden a member of the Germantown Cricket Club in Philadelphia. Later, he coached the French Davis Cup team which included Rene LaCoste, Henry Cochet, Jean Bortra and Jacques Brugnon. He worked with such greats as Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison.

"Our big problem now is to get Dennis Ralston in the right frame of mind," Faulkner said. "Dennis is inclined to worry when he misses a shot. He will throw away a half doezn important points before getting back on the beam.

"We must eliminate these lapses. We also are working on McKinley's service. He must hit it deeper so it cannot be attacked."

Faulkner made movies of both the American and Australian players during the recent national championships at Forest Hills and drew up involved charts showing weaknesses and strengths of both.

He has detailed brochures on the Australian stars, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle.

The American Davis Cuppers have been holding skull sessions — like football teams on Monday mornings — during which they study the films and map strategies.

"The trouble is, most boys today don't always listen," Faulkner said. "Unlike Tilden, Cochet and LaCoste, they are all alike. They believe in getting out there and banging the ball, never thinking in terms of strategy.

"We need strategy to beat the Australians. They are ahead of us by equipment."

Builders '9' Beaten By Pacifica

Pacifica Lions, one of the San Francisco teams interested in entering the Marin County Winter league, showed they are capable of playing atop brand of baseball Sunday by defeating the Billings Hutchinson Builders, 6 to 3.

The Builders outhit their opponents, but ended up on the short end of the scoring as the Pacifica club did all the damage in the last two innings with three hits and four runs. Bill Dawson from San Jose held the Builders in tow for six innings and then the Builders went on a scoring rampage, tallying three times to lead 3-0. Starter Bob De Rosa was nicked for a two-run home run in the eighth by Pacifica and then the big ninth came as the B-H nine used three pitchers, including Steve Miller and Ron Cole, who finally put out the fire, striking out the only man he faced.

Leading the Builder 11-hit attack was newcomer Jim Sanderson who garnered a single, double and 380 feet home run over the left field wall. The Builders, strengthening for the coming winter league, have added Sanderson from Vallejo J. C. and catcher Larry Smoot, former Builder receiver, from the El Paso team in the Texas League. Also aiding the losing Builder cause was Dave Hughes with a pair of singles and two tremendous defensive plays in the outfield to cut down potential rallies.

MARIN PADRES LOSE IN PRO KEG LEAGUE

San Rafael Padres are 1-1 in the won-lost column of the Western Professional Bowling League after suffering a sound thrashing at the hands ofthe Santa Clara Moonliters Sunday in Santa Clara. The margin was 27-5 in the league's point-system.

Dick Treadway topped the Padres with a five game total of 1056 on games of 221, 215, 225, 215 and 180. Someother high games in the losing cause were 223 by Don Gee and a 204 by Phil Wallace.

Carmichael, South San Francisco and Stockton lead the league after two weeks with a 2-0 record, followed by San Rafael and Santa Clara at 1-1 each and El Cerrito, Fremont and San Francisco at 0-2.

Next Sunday San Rafael hosts San Francisco at Country Club Bowl, 7 p.m.

Patriots Lose Star For Rest Of Season

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots learned yesterday that halfback Jim Crawford will be out for the season.

Dr. Joseph Dorgan said Crawford, injured on the first play of the regular season against Oakland, tore ligaments in his left knee.

San Diego Wins Coast Playoff

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —San Diego zipped across five first-inning runs, then coasted to an 11-5 victory over Arkansas Monday night to give the Padres the Pacific Coast League title, 4 games to 3.

The game was the seventh in the series, and the Western Division winners took the league championship with triumphs in the second, third, fifth and last games.

Leatherwood Hurls Softball Victory

Exotic Delicacies From The Far East

It isn't often one has a chance to learn first-hand about an exotic Chinese recipe. However, Mrs. Ethel Barrie, owner of the new Lin Fa Restaurant in Terra Linda, has given the recipe for Lin Fa Spareribs, one of the delicacies of the Far East.

LIN FA, the Cantonese restaurant in the new Northgate Shopping Center, is named for the lotus flower (the meaning of lin fa). Mrs. Barrie, who owns and manages this gourmet spot, previously operated Sai Wu, in the Westlake area in San Francisco, for nine and one-half years. Incidentally, Sai Wu means Westlake in Chinese. She first specialized in a take-home operation, but demands for her excellent Chinese cuisine prompted her to open a full-scale restaurant.

MRS. BARRIE made quite a transition from her former occupation, that of a fitter in one of the exclusive dressmaking shops in San Francisco, when she was prevailed upon by her many friends, who liked her "way with food," to open her original restaurant.

LIN FA SPARERIBS

1 lb spareribs
1 tbsp soy sauce
1 tsp salt
1 cup water
½ cup vinegar
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup Chinese or Chinese mixed pickles
4 or 5 drops sesame seed oil
2 tsp corn starch

METHOD: Cut ribs in 1-inch cubes; marinate in soy sauce for one hour; roll in flour and fry until brown. Combine rest of ingredients, except sesame oil and corn starch, and cook on stove until tender. Just before serving with flaky steamed rice, add the sesame seed oil and corn starch mixed with cold water. This has an unusual and different flavor scarcely ever found in a sparerib recipe.

RECIPE FOR PRAWNS
(Use Butterfly Prawns)

1 cup all-purpose flour
1 egg
1 tsp sugar
½ tsp salt
2 tbsp peanut oil
½ tsp baking powder
2 cups water

Mix ingredients and fry prawns in peanut oil.

Pan Can Cause Recipe Failure

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI)—A cook who boasts that she never follows recipes is asking for trouble if she tampers with directions for such baked goods as cakes, cookies, bread and rolls.

Even the wrong size or shape pan can cause recipe failure. The size and shape of baking pans affect both the volume and texture of baked goods, says the utensil committee of the Aluminum Association. The association represents primary manufacturers of aluminum.

Pans with sides too high for the batter they contain prevent good browning. Cakes baked in pans too small for the recipe will run over and acquire burned edges. Baking pans that have darkened through usage will absorb too much heat, which causes over-browning on bottom and sides of cakes.

Shiny pans such as those made of medium weight aluminum are ideal for most baking and are easy to keep bright. Three commonly-used sizes of aluminum cake pans are an 8x8x2-inch loaf pan; 8-inch diameter round layer-cake pans 1¼ inches deep, and muffin pans designed for 6, 8 or 12 medium-sized cupcakes 2 to 2½ inches in diameter.

Since few home cooks have a full range of pan sizes, here's a substitution list:

Instead of two (8-inch) round layers, use two thin 8x8x2-inch square pans or pans to make 18 to 24 cupcakes 2½ inches in diameter.

Instead of three (8-inch) round layers, try two squares 9x9x2 inches each.

Two (9-inch) round layers; one rectanngle 15x10x1-inch or 30 cupcakes, 2½ inches in diameter.

One square 9x9x2-inch: two thin 8-inch round layers.

Most baking pans currently available are stamped with the size. If yours are not, measure with a ruler or yardstick across the bottom of the pan.

Another invitation to failure lies in altering amounts of ingredients, especially such key ones as flour, sugar, shortening or liquid. Some flavoring agents, such as grated orange rind for grated lemon rind, can be substituted successfully. Fresh grapes for raisins cannot, even though raisins are dried grapes. Liquid from fresh grapes would throw the recipe off balance.

Doubling a recipe or changing baking time and/or temperature also can spoil a recipe. You'll save money and effort in the long run by making up an exact recipe by exact directions as many times as needed to get the number of servings desired.

Be sure oven is preheated to the needed cooking temperature before you place filled pans in it. Place them at or near the middle of the oven where the heat is most even; but leave space between pans so that air can circulate freely. If necessary, place pans on different racks, but stagger them so that no one pan is directly above another.

Resist the impulse to peek before the minimum baking time of 20 minutes—for most cakes—has passed. Don't open the oven door until the last 10 or 15 minutes of baking time for angel-food cakes and never shift pans around during the baking period for any cakes.

Two difficulties in baking still may result even if you heed all these warnings. If foods consistently are over or under baked at the end of a recommended cooking time, have the oven temperature control checked for accuracy.

Lime, Raspberry Combine To Make Colorful Dessert

Home Cooks of the shortorder variety may be interested in a new packaged product — lime-flavored pie filling.

In our own test kitchen we used the pie filling in a Lime Raspberry Parfait. Such a pretty combination it made — snowy-green layers laced with garnet!

LIME RASPBERRY PARFAIT

1 package (3½ ounces) lime-flavored pie filling
½ cup sugar
2½ cups cold water
2 eggs, separated
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries, thawed
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Turn the pie filling into a saucepan; stir in ¼ cup of the sugar. Gradually stir in the cold water and the slightly beaten egg yolks, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until mixture just starts to boil. If the flavor capsule is undissolved, break it with the mixing spoon and stir to blend. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in the remaining ¼ cup sugar; continue to beat until very stiff. Fold into cooled pie-filling mixture.

Drain syrup from thawed raspberries. Turn the cornstarch into a small saucepan; stir in a little of the raspberry syrup, keeping smooth; stir in remaining raspberry syrup. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Cool slightly; fold in drained raspberries.

Spoon about half of the cooled pie-filling mixture into 8 parfait glasses (¾ cup size); add over half of the raspberry mixture. Spoon remaining pie-filling mixture over raspberry layer; top with remaining raspberry mixture. Chill 1 hour before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Ever Top A Cake With Seedless Grapes?

Don't let making a fancy cake scare you. Even if you are not adept with a pastry tube, you can decorate a cake in delightful fashion.

When ever those delicious seedless grapes—green or golden—called Thompson are in season, we use the fruit to make a Bunch of Grapes cake.

OUR WAY is to put together two cake layers with apricot preserves, frost with whipped cream and outline the seedless grapes over the cream in the shape of a bunch. A short length of green stem from the grapes finishes off our handiwork. This amusing decoration is delectable to eat; the flavor of the grapes is just right with the cake, spiced filling and cream.

The following recipe produces sponge cake layers that are perfect for this dessert; a little fresh orange juice and grated lemon rind attend to its good flavor. Its texture is fine.

BUNCH OF GRAPES SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup plus ⅓ cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup apricot preserves (jam)
2 tablespoons, brandy, if desired
Cream Frosting
1½ cups seedless grapes

Sift together the flour, baking powder and ¾ cup sugar. With electric beater, beat egg whites with salt and cream of tartar until they stand in soft peaks; gradually adding the ⅓ cup sugar, beat until very stiff. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks with orange juice, lemon rind and sifted dry ingredients at medium speed for 1 minute. Fold in egg whites.

Turn into 2 ungreased round 8 by 1¾-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire racks for 30 minutes; turn out.

Put cakes together with apricot preserves (mixed with brandy if used). Cover top and sides with Cream Frosting. With a toothpick, outline the shape of a bunch of grapes on top of cake. Fill in with grapes to simulate a bunch—to do this easily, place the grapes in one layer. Refrigerate.

CREAM FROSTING

1¼ cups heavy cream
3 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon vanilla

First Satellite Missile In 1959, But Project Drifted Into Limbo

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—An Air Force B-47 flying 30,000 feet across the Florida peninsula banked into a precise southeast course as it reached the Atlantic Coast.

Moments later, a torpedo-shaped missile dropped away from a pylon on the right wing and its rocket engine flamed into life. Quickly it raced ahead of the plane and then arched straight upward into sky.

At an altitude of about 150 miles, the missile passed through the center of a five-mile-square "window" or target area in space at exactly the same moment as an orbiting Explorer satellite. For a brief instant the two were only a few hundred yards apart. If the missile had been armed with a nuclear warhead, it could have destroyed the satellite.

This event occurred on Oct. 13, 1959, over what is now Cape Kennedy and is the first recorded satellite intercept. The missile was the Bold Orion, a creation of the Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., which had built it in hopes of capturing a contract for an air-launched ballistic missile — what later became the ill-fated Skybolt missile.

Bold Orion didn't win the contract and it rapidly faded into obscurity. But its one exploit is being recalled today in the light of President Lyndon B. Johnson's announcement that the United States has developed two anti-satellite systems that are now capable of destroying orbital bombs or other hostile spacecraft.

For Bold Orion proved that it was possible for a missile to wage war in space.

On paper, and as indicated by Bold Orion, the interception of a satellite looks relatively simple. The orbital path and speed of any spacecraft can be determined quickly with optical telescapes, radar and computers. The only problem is timing the launch of an intercepting missile so that it appears in the path of the spacecraft at the right moment.

But, as McNamara remarked to newsmen in the wake of President Johnson's announcement: "It wasn't easy for us." What makes the feat difficult is developing a missile that can be launched on split-second notice and getting it to maneuver so that it is exactly aligned with its orbital target. That takes a complicated guidance system.

Nike-Zeus, because it is solid fueled, fulfilled the instant start requirement. But even with a beefed up booster stage and higher performance upper stages, the 48-foot missile was able to intercept low flying satellites — below 200 miles.

This fact prompted McNamara early in 1963 to give the Air Force a go-ahead on a new plan to use Thor missiles for satellite interception. (Its Saint idea was scrapped.) The 1,500-mile range Thors can loft a warhead 600 miles straight up. With some auxiliary solid-fueled rockets strapped on to the booster, turning it into a Thrust Augmented Thor (TAT), it can fire one to 1,000 miles. The Thor, however, has a liquid fueled core which must be loaded before firing, giving it less than instantaneous readiness.

Although McNamara said the bases for the two new anti-satellite systems are classified secret, it has been widely reported that the Nike-Zeus is on Kwajalein and Thors are being tested on Johnston Island, about 1,000 miles southwest of Honolulu.

This year, the Russians have been experimenting with a Polyot satellite having limited maneuverability. The ability to change orbits, if perfected, could complicate the anti-satellite mission. However, because of their location, the new weapons could get two and perhaps three shots at a low-flying Soviet satellite before it reaches the U.S. mainland, possibly offsetting any maneuvers.

President Johnson's decision to reveal the new weapons now during the campaign is being interpreted as largely politically motivated. He already has disclosed the existence of the previously secret 2,000 m.p.h. A-11 "Interceptor" and SR-71 "Reconnaisance-Bomber" in an effort to head off criticism from GOP candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater, who claims the administration isn't working on new strategic weapons.

However, it is known that the Russians have been observing the Johnston Island operation from their trawler fleet and presumably were aware that an anti-satellite weapon was being developed.

The "Over-the-Horizon" Radar also disclosed by the President Thursday has been under development for sometime and its existence probably was known to the Russians. The new radar can now pick up the launching of Soviet missiles as soon as they leave the pad, doubling the 15-minute warning time of the Ballistic Missile Early System (BMEWS) which can not see over the horizon.

The Thor and Nike-Zeus anti-satellite systems cost a bargain-basement 80 million dollars to develop. McNamara indicated there were no plans to deploy the system further. Both use available missiles, including Thors which had been based in England.

Oxen Hauled Ship Down To The Sea

ROWLEY, Mass. (UPI)—It took 100 yoke of oxen to haul a newly-built ship from this village to the sea back in 1814.

Cap'n Nathaniel M. Perley built the ship, a 110-ton schooner, on Rowley Common. The oxen transported the vessel on a set of tracks a mile and a half to the ocean where it was launched. The feat was performed, according to the Boston Sentinel of May 7, 1814, "to the amazement of the entire world" without injury to man, beast or property.

Castro Leaves No U.S. Assets To Offset His Seizure In Cuba

By EDWARD J. MOWERY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam has combed the nation's fiscal hideaways for blocked Cuban assets in the United States and has found virtually nothing worth seizing.

The government's July 8, 1963 freeze order on Cuban assets—18 months after a total embargo on U. S. - Cuban trade—apparently came much too late to be effective.

Fidel Castro, after seizing 1 billion dollars of American property in Cuba, used the time lag to clean out his valuables in the United States. Before the U. S. broke with Castro, Cuban assets in the United States were believed to be about 250 million dollars.

A newly completed Treasury census of Cuban assets disclosed that Cuban property and assets in the United States approximates 148.8 million dollars.

Of this total, however, only 19.6 million is reported to be owned by the Cuban government. The balance, of little or no value for vesting purposes, is the property of Cuban nationals.

The treasury explained:

"Most of this 19.6 million dollars does not constitute a net asset of the Cuban government. Most of the property claimed by Cuba is in the form of claims asserted against institutions in the United States. The 19.6 million includes . . . 12 million dollars in suits pending in U. S. courts brought by Cuba against American firms.

"In most of these suits, the American defendants have (filed) counter - claims . . . (mostly) based on appropriation of their assets in Cuba."

An analysis of the treasury's report indicates that the bulk of Cuban assets here are ethereal, and real Cuban assets may total less than 8 million dollars.

Authority for the survey follows this important chronology of events:

Two years later U. S. recognition was withdrawn.

A Treasury directive to freeze Cuban assets in this country came July 8, 1963, under authority granted by the Trading with the Enemy act.

The way was now clear to determine the extent of Cuban assets to offset partially the losses of Americans through Cuban expropriations.

Last Jan. 31 census forms were mailed to 8,000 individuals, banks, corporations and various organizations.

The forms required data on property in this country in which Cuba or its nationals had an interest, organizations in the U. S. "substantially owned or controlled" by Cuba or its nationals (U. S. branches of Cuban companies.)

The first question yielded 3,750 reports from 200 sources. The second brought a single report — on an unidentified Florida holding company subsidiary operating "almost exclusively" in Cuba.

"The majority of the reports filed," the treasury noted, "covered bank accounts, insurance policies, stock and bonds, registered in the name of Cubans. Reporting banks were concentrated in the New York and Miami areas."

"Owners of these accounts appear to be middle income Cuban families who placed some of their savings in the United States for safe keeping."

The Cubans' money is safe. But the billion dollar loss of Americans in communist Cuba has apparently gone down the drain.

Gromala Makes Mistake Branding Kent A Bigot

The president of the California Young Republican organization, John Gromala, claims he has proof that Roger Kent agreed to placing racial restrictions in Kent Woodlands property deeds in 1947.

We don't know whether this is true or not; but let's assume for the moment that it is.

So what!

While Gromala stands in support of Prop. 14 and therefore his position on discrimination is open to more question than is Roger Kent's.

Marin County has a superior court judge—a very human one—whose senseless deeds of youth would be most embarrassing were they to be dredged up and fully aired today.

The judge is a good judge, a just judge, a wise judge. He is admired and respected. We suspect that those who know the stories of his youth respect him even more for having outlived and outgrown his mistakes.

We know a chief of police in Marin about whom the same can be said. He is admired even more by those who know of the past he has outlived and outgrown.

Roger Kent, as chairman of the Democratic Party organization in California, is frequently quoted as having uttered colorful invective in response to acts or statements of his political adversaries. We regard some of these outbursts as inflammatory. But that's politics.

When it comes to a charge as serious as that of racial discrimination, the record speaks for itself. Roger Kent is an active foe of Proposition 14.

To accuse him of bigotry and hypocrisy on this issue is ridiculous.

ASTRONAUTS FACE PERSONALITY PROBLEMS

Personality clashes among astronauts on long journeys through space are a potential problem now being studied by scientists.

Since man-in-space projects of the future will include several persons rather than the single-man phase of the first space efforts, personality needs must be considered.

It is believed, however, that small crews enclosed together on long space trips will have few serious problems because each member will depend so much on the others for survival. Hostile feelings are likely to be suppressed while the men are working together to complete their mission.

The ability to get along with others is a divine quality that every person should strive for if he is to fullfill his responsibilities in any capacity, be it that of parent, student, worker or even astronaut.

Peace, progress and prosperity in every phase of activity depends on love of all men as children of the same Father in heaven.

"Bear one another's burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ." (Galatians 6:2)

Let me be an instrument of Your love, O Lord, in every way I can.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Two Propositions On Ballot Affect Veterans' Exemptions

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The November 3 ballot insofar as propositions go, is a long one. It has a total of 17 measures on which voters are called to decide, all of which are vital in one way or another to the taxpayers of California.

PROPOSITION 4 curtails veteran's tax exemption. At the present time, veterans no matter where they resided during the war, are entitled to an exemption of taxes on $1,000 of their property.

The proposed law would restrict this exemption to veterans who were residents of California at the time of entry into service, or on the effective date of the amendment. Thus, no veteran enjoying the exemption now would be deprived of the reduction in taxes he enjoys.

Proponets of Proposition 4 claim that some 70 million dollars annually is lost in local taxes because of veterans migrating to this state and claiming the exemption.

PROPOSITION 5 is another amendment affecting veterans. This one increases from $5,000 to $10,000 the amount of property the widow of a veteran may own and still receive the veterans exemption, which now is continued for widows on decease of the veteran.

It is pointed out that many widows have lost the exemption because of the operation of California's property laws.

On the other hand, opponents point out the exemption is merely another extension which will burden ordinary taxpayers to some extent. The Los Angeles chamber of commerce and the League of Women Voters of California are listed as opponents of the proposition.

PROPOSITION 6 provides for a retaliatory tax on out-of-state insurers. It is a revision of an amendment already in effect, and would allow California to tax insurance companies from other states at the same rates California companies are being taxed in other states.

Proponents point out 44 states have retaliatory laws, to act against discrimination. The amendment received unanimous support from the legislature, and no argument against its passage is contained in the voters' pamphlet.

PROPOSITION 7 provides a deviation from normal practices of state financing. Its passage would allow those responsible for safeguarding state retirement funds, with the exception of the teachers retirement fund, to play the stock market. In other words, funds which can now only be invested in bonds could be used to buy stocks, shares, or other obligations of corporations.

The plea for passage of this amendment is that the state could make more money by investing these retirement funds in corporation stocks. Several other states permit this operation. The University of California is not under the prohibitory clause and has some of its reserve in stocks.

ASSEMBLYMAN Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley) writes the argument against the amendment. He points out that in the event of fluctuation, the public will be the loser, as it would be forced to underwrite losses. No provision is in the amendment, Rumford says, for establishment of a technical committee to safe-guard the fund.

The risk of public money, Rumford declares, is too great for the benefits which would be derived.

Moonshiner Rained Out

ATLANTA (UPI) — A foxy Fulton County moonshiner used rain water to make his illegal liquor until his luck ran dry.

Policeman J. W. Estes said he searched creek banks for months trying to find the moonshiner's stills. Under normal conditions moonshiners try to put their equipment on streams.

When Estes finally located the stills in a hollow, he found the moonshiner had rigged a catch basin to capture the rain.

Some GOP Voters Won't Support 14

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to take exception to some of the remarks made by Mrs. Jordan in her letter to the I-J of Sept. 17, in which she states that many Goldwater supporters wish to help the Negro, but because they also cherish preservation of individual rights they are voting Yes on Proposition 14.

I would like to say first that I agree with Mrs. Jordan in her assertion that many Goldwater supporters wish to help the Negro. I know this to be true. And I have seen more than one car with a Goldwater sticker on one side of the bumper and a "No on 14" on the other. I'm sure it is precisely because these people cherish individual rights and wish to help the Negro that they are voting NO on Proposition 14.

To truly cherish individual rights means to cherish the rights of other individuals as well as one's own. Surely if any one of us had to choose between being able to buy the property of our choice, and being able to use a piece of property in a completely unrestricted fashion, we would choose the former. We don't raise a hue and cry against zoning regulations, building codes, health regulations and anti-nuisance ordinances, even though they do indisputably limit individual control of property. We accept them, because we see we have no right to do with our property anything harmful to others, or which will deny the exercise of another's rights.

Proposition 14 is not primarily a measure to repeal the Rumford Act. It doesn't take a constitutional amendment to do that. Many people, Goldwater supporters and others, who dislike the Rumford Act are nevertheless voting No on 14 because they do not wish to see the large real estate interests able to exercise "absolute" discretion as to whom they will rent or sell. . . . Absolute power in the hands of any special interest group is indeed something to be avoided.

The Reason For Opposing Prop. 14

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As I talk to people about the need to defeat Prop. 14, many say to me, "I am very sympathetic towards Negroes and believe that we should do something to help them." While this is an humane point of view, it should be made clear that the opponents of Prop. 14 are not seeking any favors for any group. They are asking only that the people of California refrain from placing an unfair obstacle in the path of any man who wishes to better the condition of his family.

Poor Are Poorer In Marin County

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to compliment Dr. Bostick on furthering my education. For years I was under the impression that M. D.s were "experts" in medical matters, not in causes and treatment of poverty and dependency. R. H. Nelson did not indicate his qualifications for "expertness."

Neither of our "experts" indicated how much poverty there was in Marin County or if they even knew the definition of poverty. Are our "experts" suggesting that the poor in Marin County are less poor because there are fewer of them in this county proportionately than in other localities? Marin does have the highest per capita income in the state. It also has the highest cost of living. According to my simple arithmetic, a poor family (defined as $3,000 or less annual income) is "poorer" in Marin than a family with the same income in any other county of the state.

Are our "experts" recommending that because there are only a couple of thousand such families in Marin, this County do nothing about them? Or do they believe that if we just don't mention the "poor," they will disappear? From their comments about the anti-poverty program, I question if they have ever read the Economic Opportunity Act.

Since they have displayed their "depth of knowledge" and their ability to write and express their feelings and attitudes, I for one now ask them to display their abilities to read, evaluate and discuss point by point the 7 different parts of the bill and state their objections to the various programs proposed in the bill.

Sausalito Council Receives Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a rebuttal to the letter of Mrs. Mac Boyle Lewis, the following is submitted:

The actions of the Sausalito City Council are to be truly admired in the declaration of a moratorium on bay filling. The Council, under heavy opposition fire, has set a magnificent precedent in striving to insure the preservation of our most precious resource, San Francisco Bay.

It is certainly heartening to know that our local government is endowed with a true sense of perception and is cognizant of the public interest in this vital issue.

The moratorium paves the avenue to a comprehensive and exacting planning program for the Sausalito waterfront. The end product will, most certainly, be representative of the feelings of the citizenry and set the tone for the intelligent development of our shoreline.

True, as Mrs. Lewis has stated, from an aesthetic standpoint much of our present waterline leaves little to be desired. We, as residents of Sausalito, acknowledge this fact and are eagerly looking forward to the rectification of the situation. To accept the Sausalito Properties Inc. project, which has been highly criticized, would in the planning realm be putting "the cart before the horse." If accepted the project would inhibit the planner, influence his decisions, and in general, jeopardize the community's chances for a well planned waterfront area.

Congratulations, Sausalito City Council, for your timely and appropriate decision; we, today, as will Sausalitans of the future, thank you for your efforts in achieving this end.

Nixon Seen As Almost Sure To Gain However Vote Goes

WASHINGTON — Former Vice-President Nixon will be working harder to elect Barry Goldwater than anyone except Barry Goldwater.

His great concern is the future of the Republican party — but he is not overlooking the future of Richard Nixon.

One of two things could happen:

If Sen. Goldwater wins, Mr. Nixon could have any one of the highest posts in the New Administration — Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, or Attorney-General.

IF GOLDWATER is defeated and particularly if badly defeated, Nixon figures to emerge as the center of the whole effort to unite the party and, not illogically, to be visibly on hand to pick up the pieces for another try at it himself in 1968.

He will deliver more than 100 speeches in 30 states during the next 30 days — plus daily press conferences and local TV and radio appearances — in behalf of the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

He will put extra time and effort into those states, like New York, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, where he can help elect Republican candidates for Governor and Congress.

He intends to put his persuasive powers behind holding — and winning back — the moderate Republicans for Goldwater. His candid opinion is that Goldwater must retain the support of nearly 95 per cent of the Republican voters in order to win. (The most objective evidence is that at this stage Goldwater is losing nearer to 25 per cent of the Republican vote which went for Nixon in 1960).

MOST REPUBLICAN professionals recognize that Nixon is the one national leader who can do most to unify the party.

Those who are close to the facts know that it was Nixon who planned the Hershey harmony conference, who arranged for Goldwater, Eisenhower, and himself to talk it all out at lunch beforehand. It was Nixon who arranged the exchange of letters in which Goldwater explained that by "extremism" he meant "whole-heartedness." It was Nixon who proposed bringing the GOP Gubernatorial candidates to Hershey. It was Nixon who asked Goldwater to do his best to get Clare Boothe Luce out of the race against Sen. Kenneth Keating in New York.

ALL OF THIS does not mean that Nixon can produce the substance of Republican unity or make the difference between defeat and victory for Sen. Goldwater. But he is going to give it a heroic try.

In doing so he will renew and strengthen his relations with nearly every Republican party leader in the nation and will earn the gratitude of hundreds of Republicans running for office this fall.

He will either prove to be the architect of substantial Republican unity or, in the event of Goldwater's defeat, be the Republican leader in the best position to put the party back on its feet after November.

IF GOLDWATER is decisively defeated, he may carry down with him other Republican candidates who might have been future leaders of the party. Such a consequence could leave Nixon the nearly lone national figure in a party badly needing unifying leadership.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Candidates Mum On Attack From Pulpit

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Although completely at odds on most issues, President Lyndon B. Johnson and GOP challenger Barry Goldwater apparently agree on the scriptural admonition that there is "a time for every matter under heaven, a time to keep silence, and a time to speak . . ."

THE PRESIDENTIAL candidates separately decided that it is a "time to keep silence" on the blunt sermon of Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of Washington Cathedral, casting a plague on both their political houses.

After reading the published account of Sayre's sermon in the Washington papers, Senator Goldwater's strategists became so upset that they immediately huddled with the GOP candidate.

"Senator, what do you think of Rev. Sayre's statement?" asked one nervous Goldwater adviser. "What should we do? How should we answer it?"

AFTER A MOMENT of deep contemplation, Goldwater calmly replied:

"In my judgement, we came out on top of that one. Rev. Sayre only said that I was stupid. He called the President a crook. Wouldn't you rather be called stupid than a crook?"

With a series of signs of relief that could be heard in the next room, all of the Goldwater advisers nodded their agreement.

At the White House, the first reaction of President Johnson's advisers was to try to keep the President from seeing the statement on the grounds that he would blow up.

According to a reliable White House source, President Johnson ran across the story on Dr. Sayre's sermon the next day, reading an account of it in one of the Washington papers.

"The President's first reaction was to call Sayre and tell him off," reported this source. "But after he cooled off and thought about it a while, the President decided to do nothing."

"This summer we beheld a pair of gatherings at the summit of political power, each of which was completely dominated by a single man; the one man of dangerous ignorance and devastating uncertainty, the other a man whose public house is splendid in its every appearance but whose private lack of ethic must inevitably introduce termites at the very foundation.

"The electorate of this mighty nation is left homeless, then, by such a pair of nominees. It knows not where to turn, it stares fascinated at the forces that have produced such a sterile choice — frustration and a federation of hostilities in the one party; and in the other, behind a goodly facade, only a cynical manipulation of power.

"YET IN THE END this is no fault of our leaders. For they only reflect what they so cannily perceive to be the preoccupation of every single one of us.

"Few eyes are lifted up in this nation to a nobler purpose than selfish gain . . . This is a fever, a dread sickness to which we have become so accustomed that we think it normal. No wonder that the political parties in our society reflect the emptiness of our faith and the tinsel baubles by which we forever seek to disguise the lack."

Work started yesterday on a new $100,000 furniture retail store building for Bellach Furniture Co. on Francisco Boulevard at Medway Road, which will be one of the largest retail store buildings in Marin County.

Enrollment at schools throughout Marin County is expected to reach 20,000 pupils, an increase of 2,000, mainly in elementary schools.

Two Marin Libraries Are Compared; Labor Temple Painted With Rollers

Visitors to the San Rafael Library find large expanses of shelving vacant. They find, usually, plenty of places to sit and read, or to do research.

Just the opposite is the case in Mill Valley. The visitor there finds the bookshelves not only filled to capacity, but with additional volumes piled on top, so that organization of the volumes necessarily suffers. And he finds everything crowded.

The impression is that the Mill Valley Library has many more volumes. Actually, there is not much difference in number.

As of the close of last year, the San Rafael Library had 42,657 titles, according to Head Librarian Vivian R. Smith. About 2,500 are being added this year, she said.

San Rafael City Council last year budgeted $13,000 for purchase of new books, and this year has upped the amount to $19,000. Mill Valley budgeted $13,000 last year also, and this year increased the amount to $14,000. (The San Rafael council has not always been so generous in the past, however.)

The difference is largely in that San Rafael built a $180,000 addition to its library in 1960. There are now separate locations for children's library and junior library, all within the building. So there is plenty of room for expansion.

Mill Valley's old library building, on the other hand, is virutally "bursting at the seams." But Mill Valley voters in June approved a $325,000 bond issue for a new library, so the canyon city next year should have as much library space as San Rafael.

IT ALL DEPENDS on whose job it is. A few weeks back, the Painters Union stopped painters on a Larkspur school from using rollers, declaring that union rules dictated the job must be done with brushes—admittedly slower, but doing a better job, according to the union's claim.

Last week, the Labor Temple in San Rafael — which houseshead quarters of the Painters Union along with other AFL-CIO affiliates — got a new coat of paint, put on, of course, by union members.

SOUNDS OF POLITICKING already are being heard in connection with next April's San Rafael Board of Education election. Terms of John M. Bagshaw and Mrs. Bella H. Aaron will expire. Neither has announced yet whether he or she will be a candidate for another term, but various others are alraedy being mentioned as potential candidates. Among those mentioned are Frank Parker, who was nosed out in the 1963 election; H. D. Skoloff, who just missed election in 1961; L. E. Weisenburg Jr., who served on a citizen building and finance committee and has been somewhat critical of the board's building and site acquisition politices, and Harold E. Schioldager, who also was on the building and finance committee. Doubtless there will be others, as February filing time draws nearer.

Bull Moose Party Decries Women Voter League Plan

WASHINGTON—The League of Women Voters is at it again. They're trying to get women to vote in November. As one of the founders of the Bull Moose Party, which has been working quietly for the repeal of the 19th Amendment (we were the first to point out that women can't cook—96.4 per cent of all professional chefs are men — women can't sew — 89 per cent of all couturiers are men—women can't even have babies without help—92.7 per cent of all babies are delivered by men) we have posed the question: "Why should women have the right to vote if they can't do the things they're supposed to do?"

NEW EVIDENCE has been unearthed to show that the Bull Moose Party is not just whistling "Dixie." A book written by Dr. L. P. Brockett, entitled "Women's Rights, Wrongs, and Privileges," has become to the Bull Moose Party what the Blue Book is to the John Birch Society. Written in 1869, Dr. Brockett spelled out the many disadvantages there were in giving the franchise to women.

Dr. Brockett maintained that women were well represented in politics by their husbands and fathers. No reasonable request made by a woman through their menfolk went unheeded. As Dr. Brockett put it, "the general sentiment of tenderness and regard for the female sex on the part of men both in high and low station is their greatest protection and safeguard, and they would lose this if they voted themselves."

THE GOOD DOCTOR pointed out that letting women vote was against the natural order of things.

"When a husband and father votes, he is voting for the family, but if women are allowed to vote they would be voting as individuals, which is incompatible with the organization of society and subversive to its best interests."

Give women the right to vote, Dr. Brockett warned, and the male voter will say, "I have no need to consider anybody's interest but my own."

Dr. Brockett believed, and his prophesies have borne fruit, that once a woman was given the vote the sexes would be at war. He wrote, "Let man understand that woman is determined to stand for herself and neither desires nor needs his assistance, then an antagonism would be engendered which many waters could not quench."

He pointed out that if a woman disagreed politically with her husband it could lead to separation and even permanent estrangement.

"WOMEN ALLOW their passions to get overheated and call it righteous sentiment. They make more of their idols, raise more false halos about them, and even have it as a kind of virtue to bear defeat badly in their cause. There is no hatred so implacable, especially with women, as political hatred, no bitterness so intense as that which is engendered by political strife."

And how could you hide these passions? Dr. Brockett predicted that if women got the vote their charm and beauty would disappear and "women will acquire a more careworn expression; they will have a sharper, more wiry voice, modulated upon a higher key; and that 'lean and hungry look' which has been characteristic of politicians since the time of Cassius."

The doctor dwelt on the fact that if good women got suffrage they would have to go down to the polls and stand in line with servant women, women of the lower classes, and even women of ill-repute whom, he predicted, would be paid to be there early.

AS EVERYONE KNOWS, Brockett's words weren't heeded and women did get the vote. All his predictions have come true. The only hope to bring us back to the good old days is Barry Goldwater, but unless Senator Goldwater calls for the repeal of the 19th Amendment, the Bull Moose Party is going to sit this one out.

Schools, Recreation Agreement Reached

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission Monday night approved a proposed agreement with Novato Unified and San Jose School districts for a recreation program on school playgrounds.

Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director, advised against city participation in the Little League program. The commission delayed its decision for two meetings to hear from representatives of the Little League.

Parents Invited 'Back To School'

Parents of Terra Linda High School students have been invited to a "Back to School Night" 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow at the high school.

The parents will be welcomed by Parent-Teacher Assn. President Eugene F. Sthymmel and will be allowed to wander through classrooms.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 23, the 267th day of 1964 with 99 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Mars. The evening star is Saturn.

Augustus Caesar, the first Roman emperor, was born on this date in 63 B. C.

On this day in history:

In 1779, the Bonhomme Richard commanded by the American naval hero John Paul Jones, defeated the British frigate Serapis in a battle off the coast of Scotland.

In 1943, the U. S., Great Britain, Russia and China established the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to help war-liberated areas of the world.

A thought for the day — Harry Truman once said: "The responsibilities of the great states is to serve and not to dominate the world."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Imitation In Game Sometimes Better Than The Real Thing

Every man whose wife wants a mink coat should be interested in a proof that an imitation is sometimes better than the real thing.

Thus far my research into the matter has gone only as far as a bridge hand, but this does serve to demonstrate the general principle.

South saw that he could take a real finesse in spades whenever he pleased. If it worked, he would make his contract, losing only one diamond and two clubs.

AN IMITATION

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and returned a low club. To East, it seemed that declarer was about to try a club finesse with smething like A-J or A-J-x in the South hand.

Deceived by this imitation finesse, East played a low club. South played the jack to force out the ace, and only at this moment did East see that the club play was not really a finesse.

SETS UP QUEEN

West led his other diamond, and South won with the king. Declarer now led out the ace and king of hearts and was delighted to see that the trumps broke evenly. His contract was assured.

South could afford to lead the ten of clubs, losing to the king. This set up dummy's queen of clubs before the spades had been touched.

East returned the jack of spades, but it was too late. Since declarer had no further need of the spade finesse he put up the ace of spades, led a small trump to dummy and discarded the queen of spades on dummy's queen of clubs.

DIAMOND TRICK

Declarer could then give up a diamond trick and ruff his remaining diamond with dummy's last trump.

If South relied on the genuine finesse in spades he would lose a spade trick as well as a diamond and two clubs.

The fake finesse in clubs was better than the genuine article.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 8 6 4 3
♥ J 7
♦ 9 2
♣ A 9 5 3

Answer: Bid four spades.

The jump to game usually shows a singleton or void suit in addition to excellent trump support, but two doubletons and five-card trump support should be good enough.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Dinners And Ball In Belvedere

By MOLLY MARIN

Several dinner parties are planned to precede the St. Stephen's Belvedere Ball on Saturday evening which will be given at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

The Clarence M. Kretchmers will have as their guests Messrs. and Mesdames Edwin G. Weed, Robert Crockett, Merritt Ruddock, Frank King, John Hoefer, Carlton Skinner, Russell Keil, MacBoyle Lewis and the Rev. and Mrs. Llewellyn White.

THE JAMES ELLIOTTS will have six couples in for dinner at their Belvedere home, and the Dickerson McAfees will entertain at cocktails and dinner for Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Bates, Willard Patton, Vincent Trembly and Edward Stephens. Mrs. McAfee is St. Stephen's Guild president.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Graham are entertaining with cocktails, and after that, the group will have dinner at a Tiburon restaurant before going to the ball. Guests of the Grahams will be the Messrs. and Mesdames Kirk Bassett, Willard Pittman, Mrs. Joan Schultz and Mrs. Emily Knapp.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY SANDERSON and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Wrenn (the two wives are co-chairmen of the ball), will have about 20 people for cocktails. Among the guests are the Ernie Van Asperns, James Crittendens, James Leversons and the Robert Benioffs.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moore will be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Anawalt. The Basil Knauths will entertain at cocktails and dinner at their home. Among their guests will be the John Wileys, W. C. Witters and Robert Goetz.

THE J. WILLIAM ZIMMERMANS of Greenbrae are leaving by plane today for New York City where they will attend the World's Fair. While in the East, they will take an auto tour through the New England states.

DR. AND MRS. Bernard Blumberg of Greenbrae were given a surprise celebration on the occasion of their 10th anniversary Saturday by a group of friends. Hosts for the dinner party at the Blumberg home were Mr. and Mrs. Miles B. Kaplan of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abrams of Skokie, Ill., who flew in especially for the event. Friends came from San Francisco, Peninsula and Marin. Among the 50 guests were Marinites Dr. and Mrs. Jack Siegal, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Silberman and Messrs. and Mesdames Mel Ricardi, Peter Molinari, Lawrence Keilman and Jack Price.

CAPT. AND MRS. Maxim W. Firth of San Rafael have returned after a two months' tour of the United States. Highlights of the trip were visits with Mrs. Firth's sister, Mrs. William Kelley, in Pittsburgh, Pa., nephew Miller Kelley in Fort Collins, Colo., and another sister, Mrs. Martha Cunningham in El Paso, Tex.

An interesting reunion with the Firths' best man, Vice Adm. Horace Rivero, who is now vice chief of naval operations, and classmates took place in Washington, D.C. Excellent weather followed them from the Grand Tetons, where Capt. Firth fished for trout, to the Gaspe Peninsula with its quaint villages, over the new eighteen-mile Chesapeake Bay bridge and tunnel and back through Texas and California.

'Why P-TA' Will Be Topic Of District Meet Tomorrow

The Fourteenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet tomorrow at the Guerneville Elementary School, Guerneville. Registration will begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Program topic will be "Why P-TA?" and will be presented by the department of extension and the department of organization. Panelists will be Mrs. Robley Berry, director of extension for the CCPT; Douglas Arthur, director of industrial services, Petaluma Schools, and Mrs. Hubert Pessner, director of extension, Fourteenth District.

Mrs. Dale Moore of Petaluma president of the district, will give a report of the state board of managers meeting held in San Francisco last week.

JAZZING IT UP

(Ken Molino photo)

Mrs. Crawford Heads P-TA

Mrs. Eugene Crawford, as president of the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Assn., will be serving in a field in which she has shown continuing interest in the past few years.

She says, "As parents we need to understand the problems and goals of the school, and in turn express our concerns and hopes. The P-TA is the important link between school and community."

Mrs. Crawford has been a member of the Tam High P-TA for five years, during which she served as program chairman and on the curriculum council.

She has also served as vice president of the Marin Council of Community Services in 1962-63, president of the Marin Family Service Agency in 1959, and has worked for Sunny Hills.

MRS. EUGENE CRAWFORD

A native of Evanston, Ill., she was educated at Mills College. Before her marriage to Eugene, who is an architect, she was employed by the Standard Oil Co. in Portland, Ore.

The Crawfords have lived in Mill Valley 17 years and have two children, Lynn, 19, a student at the University of the Pacific, and Bruce, 17, a senior at Tamalpais High School.

The president is a member of the Mill Valley Tennis Club and of the Outdoor Art Club.

Other officers are Mrs. Tris Coffin, first vice president; Robert Prather, second vice president; Mrs. Iris Meyer, third vice president; Irwin Peterson, fourth vice president; Mrs. Harold Griffeath, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Staiger, recording secretary; and Mrs. Edna Pixley, treasurer.

Sandra Ceccanti Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Sandra Lee Ceccanti to Kenneth William Pieri of Kentfield has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Renato Ceccanti of San Francisco.

The bride-elect is the sister of Alan Ceccanti of Castro Valley and Richard Ceccanti of San Francisco. She was graduated from Galileo High School and Bay City College of San Francisco.

Kenneth is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Mario Pieri of Kent Woodlands and the brother of Len and Jane Pieri. Mrs. Alfonso Pieri of San Francisco is his grandmother.

Kenneth was graduated from Redwood High School and St. Mary's College and is studying dentistry at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco.

P-TA Will Sponsor Film

Strawberry Point P-TA will sponsor the first of a series of provocative and topical films on Sept. 29 at the school starting at 8 p.m. The film, "Property Values and Race" was produced and directed by former Marinite Frank Quinn with William Heick assisting in the filming.

Coffee will be served during the discussion period that will follow each film. Local leaders are being invited to moderate the discussions in order to allow everyone attending an opportunity to air his views.

Oak Springs Homeowners Plan Picnic

The Oak Springs of Marin Homeowners Assn. will have a family picnic Sunday on the site of their future clubhouse and pool development.

Mrs. Frank Barley, social chairman announces games and contests are planned for the children. The teen club, according to Tim Laster, president, will assist with parking, serving and entertainment.

A special invitation has been extended to homeowners on Angela Avenue, Sheila Court, and Woodside Drive.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS OBORN MacLEAN

Joan Swart To Become Bride Of Norman Rianda

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swart announced the engagement of their daughter, Joan Amber, to Norman Francis Rianda of Gonzales at an al fresco buffet dinner on Sunday evening in their San Rafael home.

JOAN SWART

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended California Polytechnic College. She is the sister of John Bernhardt Swart of San Rafael and granddaughter of Mrs. John Sandretto of San Rafael and granddaughter of Mrs. John Sandretto of San Rafael and Mrs. Milton Feig of San Francisco.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rianda of Gonzales, was graduated from Gonzales High School and California Polytechnic College. He is employed with Spreckels Sugar Co. in Manteca. Raymond Rianda of Greenfield is his brother and he is the grandson of Mrs. Henry Rianda and Mrs. Bernard Breschin of Gonzales.

Barbecue Planned In Lucas Valley

The Lucas Valley Home and School Club will have its annual barbecue on Saturday at 1 p.m. to acquaint the parents of Lucas Valley School students with the programs carried on by the club. Softball and other games and festivities for children are planned. Hamburgers and hot dogs will be served with soft drinks.

The Home and School Club sponsors activities aimed at helping the school. The room mothers, teachers' aides, library volunteers and the clerical pool are all members of the Home and School Club, giving their time to assist the school staff.

Team Rooters Plan Dance

Annual fall dance of Redwood Junior Giants rooters for teams past and present will be held Oct. 3 at the Mill Valley Golf and Country Club.

An hors d'oeuvre table and buffet dinner will be catered and a combo will play for dancing. The dance is a fund-raiser for the Redwood team of the Pop Warner football league.

Tickets for the dinner-dance, which begins with cocktails at 7 p.m., may be obtained this week from committee chairman Mrs. James Carroll, Mrs. Joseph Minutoli or Mrs. Ross Ashley.

Newlyweds Residing In Sacramento

The wedding of Judith Eliason, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Eliason of Alameda, and Douglas Oborn MacLean of Tiburon took place in a private ceremony at the Los Angeles Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on Sept. 1.

Judith wore a full length gown of white organza over taffeta. Attending her were Judith Lea-Vell and Beverly Sarjeant, both of Alameda, who wore moss green organza over taffeta.

Roy Briggs of Oakland was best man.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. MacLean of Tiburon, attended Brigham Young University, then served a two and one-half year mission in Central America. He is presently attending the University of California at Davis preparing for a teaching career.

The bride attended Brigham Young University and was graduated from the University of California. She is a dietitian at Sutter Hospital in Sacramento.

After a wedding trip on the Mendocino Coast, the couple is living in Sacramento.

Aerie

in the redwoods is the best description of this unusual home in the OLD MILL AREA. Silvery redwood exterior with bottle glass panels lighting the staircase. Light birch interior walls — warm green w/w carpeting — a full length deck with sunlight filtering through HUGE OLD REDWOOD TREES. And of course, there's a practical side to the house too — electric kitchen with DW — 2 view bedrooms with large wardrobe closets — roomy bath with glass-enclosed tub and shower — off-street parking and double carport. More BEAUTY AND ATMOSPHERE than seem possible at only $28,950 in this district. We'd like to show it to you today.

RESOLUTION NO. 3138 RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO ESTABLISH SETBACK LINES ALONG THE SOUTH SIDE OF LISBON STREET AND THE WEST SIDE OF VERDI STREET

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission of the City of San Rafael, on the 25th day of August 1964, recommended the establishment of setback lines along certain streets in the City of San Rafael, which setback lines are described as follows:

(a) Five feet on the south side of Lisbon Street from Verdi Street and Bellam Boulevard, said distance to be measured from the street right-of-way line; and

(b) Five feet on the west side of Verdi Street from Belvedere Street to Market Street, said distance to be measured from the street right-of-way line.

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission has determined that the public necessity, safety, and general welfare require the establishment of said setback lines.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS RESOLVED that the City Council of the City of San Rafael, under the authority of Chapter 13.04 of the San Rafael Municipal Code, hereby declares its intention to establish said setback lines.

NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 5th day of October 1964, at 8:00 o'clock P.M. in the Council Chambers, City Hall, San Rafael, California, a public hearing will be had on said proposed setback lines, and any and all persons having any objection to the establishment of the said proposed setback line or lines may appear before the City Council of the City of San Rafael, and present any objections which they may have to said proposed setback line or lines as set forth above.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution shall be published twice in the Independent Journal, a newspaper published in the City of San Rafael, and two copies of this Resolution shall be posted conspicuously at least 100 feet apart upon the side of each street in front of each block of the streets mentioned above along which the said setback lines are proposed to be established. Said publication and posting of this Resolution shall be made at least ten days before the time of said public hearing.

I, W. L. MORGAN, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at a regular meeting of the Council of the City of San Rafael held on the 21st day of September, 1964, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: Councilmen Aby, Baar, Barbier, and Mayor McInnis

Nairobi Afraid Over Civil War

By HENRY REUTER

NAIROBI (WPS)—The ghost of Kabalega is walking again in Uganda, and there is talk that civil war may erupt any time between now and Nov. 4.

Kabalega did not like the British when they were colonizers of Uganda. And he liked them even less when they signed a treaty of friendship with his arch-enemy, the Kabaka, Ruler of the powerful kingdom of Buganda.

So Kabalega's men attacked the British, and their Baganda allies, and in the fighting that followed, the Baganda conquered six Bunyoro counties. As for the Kabalega, he was captured and exiled to the Seychelles Islands, in the Indian Ocean.

Ever since, the Bunyoro have been clamoring for their "lost counties." A Royal Commission set up by Britain found that four of the counties were populated mostly by Baganda, who had no wish to return to Bunyoro. The other two contained many Baganda who did want to return, however; so the Commission recommended a referendum to settle the matter.

But in October, 1962, Uganda gained its independence, with the referendum unheld, the issue unresolved, and the Kabaka's Baganda people threatening to shed their last drop of blood to keep the counties. In the past year, anticipating the referendum, the Kabaka has dipped into his treasure chests to settle thousands of Banganda ex-servicemen in the disputed areas.

The date of referendum has now been fixed—for Nov. 4. But the Uganda Government has announced that only persons who voted in the 1962 election will have a vote in the referendum, thus nullifying the Kabaka's expensive efforts to weight the vote.

Until very recently, the Uganda Government was made up of two parties. One was the Uganda Peoples' Congress (UPC), led by Prime Minister Milton Obote. The other was the Kabaka Yekka (KY) party which controls almost all the votes in Buganda, the richest, most heavily-populated, most advanced and most influential Ugandan area.

With the Baganda indignant at the possibility of losing their captured counties through a referendum, relations between the UPC and the KY have been increasingly strained. Earlier this month they snapped. The KY-UPC coalition dissolved, and the 14 KY members of parliament joined 16 members of the Democratic Party in opposition.

Today tensions are running high in the two disputed "lost counties" of Buyaga and Bugangazzi. Among their banana, cotton and coffee plantations there is constant talk of civil war.

Prime Minister Obote — still constitutionally secure, with his UPC's 59 seats compared to the 30 of the combined oppositions —has indicated that he intends to play it tough and deal ruthlessly with any lawbreakers as the referendum day approaches.

It is the first time that Uganda's people have been called on to settle such a major issue constitutionally instead of with spears and knives. And it will be the first time that the central Government has been called upon to flex its muscles to prevent war among its component kingdoms.

Bleachers Refund To Two Schools

San Rafael High School District will receive $4,220 as its share of damages being paid by six eastern manufacturers of folding school bleachers in settlement of an anti-trust suit.

Novato Unified School District will receive $1,031 as a result of the $575,000 settlement, which will be divided among 143 public agencies in California in repayment for what the State Department of Justice said were fixed prices on the bleachers.

The triple damage payment in anti-trust damages came as the result of a suit initiated in 1960 on charges of a price-fixing conspiracy involving the manufacturers who produced 90 per cent of all such bleachers sold in the United States.

The companies involved were Brunswick Corp. of Chicago; Consolidated Founderies and Manufacturing Corp. of Chicago; Fred Medart Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis; Safway Steel Products Inc. of Milwaukee; Universal Bleacher Co. of Champaign, Ill., and Wayne Iron Works of Wayne, Pa.

More Tonkin Clashes Seen

TOKYO (UPI)—Vice Adm. Roy L. Johnson, commander of the U.S. Seventh Fleet, fully expects further clashes with Communist forces in Far Eastern waters, according to an interview published today in the Pacific Stars and Stripes.

Johnson gave the interview to the U.S. armed forces newspaper before the latest Gulf of Tonkin incident last Friday.

"Incidents are bound to occur," he was quoted as saying. "The situation has been explosive and could well continue to be until Mr. Khrushchev and the Reds denounce their over-all objectives."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Great Strides Have Been Made In Complexion Problems Control

VAN DELLEN

A Dermatologist writes: "I think you could do a great service to teenagers and their parents by informing them of the great strides medical science has made in the management of complex problems.

As a dermatologist, I am appalled at the lack of knowledge and understanding of the subject among parents and family doctors. Scarring occurs in 20 per cent and this could have been prevented in many of these youngsters with proper care."

THE LETTER WAS timely because I was just about to write on several suggestions for acne. A team from Boston University Medical Center felt the same way because they sent out a news release criticizing parents and physicians for taking the attitude that nothing can be done. This leads to unintentional and undeserved neglect. This, in turn, offers little solace to the self-conscious teen-ager with blackheads and pimples.

The Boston group is working on hormones that will decrease the activity of the oil-producing glands. They are aiming at excessive amounts of oily material (sebum) that irritates the skin to form pimples. Meanwhile they suggest the use of special soaps, drying and peeling lotions, and ultraviolet light.

A TUCSON SKIN specialist traced the flare-up of acne among girls 20 years of age and younger to the use of hair spray. Older girls developed a slight thinning of the frontal hair. If these problems exist, stop spraying or wear a cosmetic mask.

From the University of Pennsylvania comes a report on the benefits derived from the proper use of a comedo extractor. Dr. Edmund D. Lowney did several control studies on adolescents with acne and found that fewer inflammatory lesions develop when blackheads near the surface are expressed. But pimples and deeper pores should not be mashed or irritated by pressure, as they become cysts and abcesses which might leave scars.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

HEALED FRACTURE

J. N. writes: My 16-year-old son had a hairline fracture of the skull when he was 7. Would it be safe for him to play football on a high school team, using the routine protective equipment?

REPLY

Yes. The fracture healed within two months of the original injury and the same can be said of any brain damage that might have occurred.

PLAYPENS AND THE EMOTIONS

Mrs. R. P. writes: Does putting a child in a playpen pose more of a psychological threat than his crib or high chair? We mothers in the neighborhood are arguing this question.

REPLY

No, assuming that the playpen is part of the child's normal environment and is not used to penalize him.

TRANSISTOR FAN

S. C. B. writes: Is there any harm to the heart or body if you keep a transistor radio in your shirt pocket and play it every day?

REPLY

No, but the noise may annoy others. These radios do not give off harmful rays.

CURE OF ADDICTION

H. D. W. writes: Why are there so few reformed drug addicts compared with reformed alcoholics?

REPLY

Drug addiction is difficult to treat and cures are few and far between. Also, reformed drug addicts don't usually talk about their former habit.

Old Hull Is Giving Engineers Bad Time

A dehydrated carrot salesman from King City is causing much inconvenience at the Army Corps of Engineers base in Sausalito. But, if all goes well, things will have shaped up by Oct. 31.

It seems that Richard H. Davis of King City (also of Bakersfield and with a post office box in Sausalito), a salesman of dehydrated carrots, had an old steel ferry hull, with superstructure removed, tied up at Kappas Yacht Harbor.

About six weeks ago the vessel was found, loose and afloat, by the Coast Guard on patrol in Richardson Bay. A derelict, the Coast Guard took it to the base yard. But when it got just south of the south pier, the 130-foot-long, 40-foot-wide and 12-foot-deep ferry promptly sank. It now blocks a portion of the south pier.

Davis was advised he had 30 days to salvage his ship. He responded that he didn't have the carrots nor facilities.

The corps issued invitations for bids to remove the derelict from their waterways and yesterday Smith-Rice Co. of San Francisco submitted a low bid of $14,775, agreeing to remove the obstruction by Oct. 31.

A corps spokesman said it is the responsibility of the engineers to remove any vessel abandoned in a navigable channel. Legislation has been proposed before Congreess to make the owner liable in such cases in some degree, but this is still in proposal stages.

"We're not happy about it," said the corps man.

Marin 'Olympic Day' Set To Raise Funds For Games

An "Olympic Day" program to raise funds toward sending the United States Olympic team to Tokoyo will be presented the afternoon of Oct. 4 at the Meadows' Oakview Club in the Terra Linda section of San Rafael.

Mrs. Beth Kaufman, a member of the United States Olympic Games Committee, announced the program will include professional tennis, fashion show, and synchronized swimming by U. S. amateur champions.

Heading the activity at 2 p.m. will be a doubles tennis match of Northern vs. Southern Marin. Harry Roche of Lagunitas Country Club and Hal Wagner of Rafael Racquet Club will face Bill Kennedy of the Mill Valley Tennis Club and J. Paul Wilkins of the Belvedere Tennis Club.

The fashion show will be sponsored by the Mannequin League of Marin. Models will show fall fashions around the three swimming pools of the Oakview Club.

Following the fashion show will be an exhibition by the Ann Curtis Synchronized Swim Team of Los Ranchitos and the Marionettes of San Francisco.

"All money raised for the Olympic Fund is used only for the athletes, coaches and managers of the teams to cover transportation, housing, goods and uniforms," Mrs. Kaufman declared.

Tickets are available at several local stores and from the Oakview Club, the Meadows Apartments, 919 Lea Drive, San Rafael, and Mrs. Kaufman at 118 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo.

Bus Drivers Due Awards

Two Marin County bus drivers have qualified for safe driving awards by the Greyhound Co.

They are Robert A. Schneider of Mill Valley, who qualifies for a 15-year award, and Benny C. Cessna of 28 Villa Avenue, San Rafael, who qualifies for a 10-year award.

The awards are given for the number of complete years of accident-free driving. The years need not be consecutive.

Redwood Bark Wins Honor

The Redwood Bark, Redwood High School student newspaper, has received an international honor rating from Quill and Scroll.

The award represents superior achievement and is the highest rating which can be given by Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists. High school papers from all 50 states and several foreign countries are rated by the society.

The award was given for papers of the second semester of last year, for which was also recently received an all-American honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Assn., the top award given by that organization.

Democrat Club Sets Extremism As Topic

The Tiburon Peninsula Democratic Club will sponsor a panel discussion on "Extremism Examined" at 8 p.m. today at Reed School.

Samuel N. Le Count, chief counselor at College of Marin, will moderate the discussion by Howard Jewell, assistant state attorney general, on "The Effects of Extremism on Constitutional Rights"; Charles Fessler, teacher of American government at San Rafael High School, on "Extremist Movements and Academic Freedom," and a third speaker not yet selected.

Art Studio Tour Slated For Oct. 4

A tour of Marin County artists' studios will be sponsored Oct. 4 by the Marin County Committee for the San Francisco Art Institute Development Program.

Studios to be visited are those of Mill Valley sculptor Jeremy Anderson, Sausalito weaver Bea Bernardi, Mill Valley printmaker John Ihle, Sausalito csulptor and painter Art Grant, Tiburon painter and printmaker Frank Milner, Ross painter Doris Morrison, Ross painter and muralist Jose Moya del Pino, Belvedere painter and mosaicist Helen Steinau Rich, and Sausalito sculptor and painter Serge Trubach.

The tour will conclude with a reception from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Mill Valley studios of sculptor Richard O'Hanlon and painter Ann O'Hanlon.

Tickets may be purchased at Ludins' Art Center, San Rafael; Dimitroff's Frame Shop, Mill Valley; Torrance's Gallery, San Anselmo, and Virgo Gallery, Sausalito.

Dimitroff Frame Shop is running a show of paintings by San Francisco Art Institute artists who live in Marin in conjunction with the tour.

Warren Report To Be Released Sunday Evening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The report of the Warren Commission's investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy will be made public at 6:30 p.m. (EDT) Sunday.

The White House said yesterday that the inquiry's findings, estimated to contain more than 250,000 words, will be released for publication in Monday morning newspapers. This means that its contents may be published or broadcast on radio or television after 6:30 p.m. (EDT) Sunday.

President Lyndon B. Johnson will receive his copy of the report from Chief Justice Earl Warren and others on the seven-man commission tomorrow at the White House.

The report will be on sale to the public Monday morning at the Government Printing Office in Washington. Hard-cover copies will be priced at $3.25. Paperback copies will sell for $2.50.

Steve Allen Ending Show

The actor said yesterday that Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. had released him from his contract so he could devote full time to his role as host of the weekly "I've Got a Secret" program on CBS-TV.

Allen has been commuting between New York and Hollywood to tape the shows. "It was just too much," said a spokesman for the actor.

String Workshop

The Marin Workshop for Strings will start weekly instruction in orchestra performance at 4 p.m. Oct. 2 in the San Rafael High School music room. The workshop, sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin, is designed to build a reservoir of players for the Marin Youth Orchestra. All intermediate string players are eligible.

Mill Valley Completes Study On Problem Of Marin City

Sausalito School District's number one problem — Marin City's "de facto segregation"—has been examined during the past month by an interested neighbor, Mill Valley.

Yesterday the neighbor released its findings, which the two school boards will talk about Monday at 8 p.m. at Old Mill School in Mill Valley.

The 36-page report, "Financial and Practical Implications: Interdistrict Attendance, Annexation, Unionization, Mill Valley and Sausalito School Districts," was prepared by G. R. McConnell, Mill Valley district superintendent. He was assisted by Leo B. Edson, Mill Valley assistant superintendent, and Marcus F. Davis, Sausalito district superintendent.

No recommendation is made, the report supplying data and raising questions.

"Since this is a report on desegregation, it touches only lightly on the operation of integrated schools—a matter which would call for the most creative planning," says the introduction.

The first would simply require a contract between the two districts. Some children from the Mill Valley district would then be transported by bus to Manzanita School, and some of the Marin City children to a school in Mill Valley. Additional transportation cost would present one obstacle.

Annexation of Marin City (or part of it) to the Mill Valley district would require a petition by 25 per cent of registered voters of the area to be annexed. It would then be subject to approval by the county board of supervisors and an election. Objection is that it would add to Mill Valley's school load disproportionately to the amount of taxable value.

Unionization would require a 25 per cent petition and an election. It would make possible transferring children within the district.

The report points out that Mill Valley faces a classroom shortage. Class sizes have been exceeded in some grades to reduce the number of children already transferred from school to school.

Integration begins after desegregation, the report states. It suggests that special arrangements—if Mill Valley swapped pupils in an interdistrict agreement—might be necessary for "enrichment of the program for the incoming children." In addition, in-service education of teachers and added costs for supplies might be required.

The report was written with the idea that transfers would be strictly of Negro children who attend Richardson Bay and Manzanita schools.

"Annexation of Marin City alone might create another ghetto," the report says, "this time a Caucasian one, which would rob Sausalito children of an opportunity to mix with minority groups."

Shoreline Highway might be used as a boundary between the two districts and if so would "equate the districts geographically and give Sausalito an opportunity to achieve racial balance as a by-product of acquiring the Tamalpais Valley and the unused Eastwood site (in Tamalpais Valley)."

On the money side, McConnell says that Mill Valley would face educating 470 more students (from Marin City) represented by a $10 per child support program from Marin County and no other significant local source of income.

Sausalito, on the other hand, would benefit tremendously financially. Marin City contains less than 2 per cent of the Sausalito School District's assessed valuation and produces 45 per cent of the student body.

Under unionization, Sausalito would gain $21.25 per child from the state and Mill Valley would lose $20.23 per child. This would mean an over-all loss in state aid of $44,963 for the combined area.

PG&E Includes Safety Features At Bodega

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Pacific Gas and Electirc Co. said Monday that substantial safety margins have been included in the design of vital equipment for the Bodega Bay atomic power plant.

The company made the report in a letter to the Atomic Energy Commission, which had inquired last month about PG&E's design considerations for certain equipment and structures.

The AEC, in its letter, outlined hypothetical earthquake forces at Bodega Head far greater than ever recorded in California and asked PG&E to show how its plant design would accommodate them.

The company explained that its design criteria "contain substantial margins of safety against failure, and provide containment and safe plant shutdown in the event of earthquakes" as large as those theoretically posed by the AEC.

PG&E is seeking permission to build a nuclear-fueled power plant at Bodega Bay, but the company's application has been contested on grounds that Bodega Bay is a poor site for such a plant because it lies on the San Andreas earthquake fault.

Colorful Time Ahead For REA

The first weekend, Oct. 3-4, brings out the Grape Festival at San Anselmo, "Discovery Days" seafaring events at Bodega Bay, and the colorful Gem and Mineral Show at Redwood Acres Fairgrounds, Eureka. At quaint Ferndale, near Eureka, the Victorian Village antique show runs Sept. 28 through Oct. 4.

The second weekend, Oct. 10-11, offers the Industrial Exposition and Champagne Festival at Cloverdale, the Columbus Day "Festa Italiana" in San Francisco's North Beach, plus the "Double 10," Oct. 10, celebration in Chinatown, and the Napa County Art Festival at park headquarters, Lake Berryessa.

All eyes will be on the San Francisco International Film Festival, Oct. 14-27.

Then comes the Pacific Quarter-horse Show and Sale at the Cow Palace, Oct. 16-18, followed by the Grand National Livestock Exposition and Rodeo in the Cow Palace, Oct. 23-Nov. 1.

The final weekend, Oct. 31-Nov. 1, winds up October color with a Fall Flower Festival in Ross, and Lake County's first Frog Marathon at the Fairgrounds, Lakeport.

Actor Wayne Being Treated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Wayne, 57, is being treated at Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles for an ankle injury and a respiratory ailment, his secretary says.

The secretary, Mary St. John, said yesterday Wayne underwent surgery to correct an old ankle injury last Wednesday.

He developed an allergy "to something he had taken" and it caused an abscess on one lung, she said.

Suggestions Win Awards

Six Hamilton Air Force Base enlisted men have been given awards for suggestions they made in the military suggestion program.

The men were given checks and certificates by Col. John W. Jacobs, deputy for materiel of the 78th Fighter Wing.

Receiving the awards were: SM/Sgt. Raymond B. Edwards of 157 West Kelly Drive on the base; M/Sgt. Charles E. Ross of 27 Tarrant Court, San Rafael; M/Sgt. Cyrus N. Wells Jr. of 1297 Lynwood Drive, Novato; S/Sgt. Kenneth E. Hartman of Petaluma; S/Sgt James Wallace of 315 Bolling Drive on the base, and A/1c Richard A. Edwards of 553 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 24, San Rafael.

At Doane College

Thomas R. Prest of 639 Sausalito Boulevard, Sausalito, was among 175 freshmen starting classes this month at Doane College, Crete, Nebr. He is son of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Prest.

San Anselmo Woman Reviews Preparation For Peace Corps

Miss Spicer, who graduated from the University of California in June with a degree in bacteriology, says she is excited by the challenge of the peace corps, with its goal of becoming "part of the people where we are sent, not just breezing through."

Carol says that she asked for an assignment in public health but was assigned to teach mathematics-science to secondary school students.

"It really doesn't matter what I'm assigned to, I'll be able to use my bacteriology training. The peace corps is always dealing in basic living conditions wherever it is," said Miss Spicer.

CAROL K. SPICER
To India with Peace Corps

"We were told that the first six months would be the hardest."

This is the period when peace corps workers feel the full brunt of the living conditions they are trying to change, and realize how little they will be able to achieve.

"Bue we'll be leaving behind us new patterns which will last after we leave, because we try to work with what's available," said Carol.

The attractive, blue-eyed volunteer said that her training was heavy in its emphasis on language. She will have to do most of her daily business in Hindu-Urdu, combination of two languages which are different when written, but similar when spoken.

"In our language training we tried to re-enact some basic daily living situations," she said. "These were designed to help us fit smoothly into the life of our surroundings.

"For example, I will have to behave much more rudely than I want to towards the man who comes to do my laundry, if there is one, because he would be embarrassed if I treated his as an equal."

The training emphasized that changing the caste system is not the objective of the corps, even in rural areas where it is strongest. Carol is scheduled to go to such an area in West Bengal.

"But in the Peace Corps, you must be very flexable," she said. "I may never get there if I'm needed for something else."

Planners Increase Meetings

San Anselmo Planning Commission voted Monday night to meet twice a month starting in October to cope with the increasing amount of business.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month, chairman Charles R. Leitzell, said today.

The city's planning staff was requested last night to find out if other cities required subdividers of small hillside areas to contribute money toward improvement of access roads to their subdivisions in lieu of constructing curbs, gutters and sidewalks in their developments.

The commission, Leitzell said, is seeking a plan which will improve the entire roadway rather than just a small area or none at all.

Discussion of a proposal of the San Anselma Chamber of Commerce to rezone the downtown area for planned development from its present commercial zoning was scheduled for an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday in the city hall.

Teacher Median Pay In State Is $7,204

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The median salaries for classroom teachers in California during 1963-64 was $7,204, the State Department of Education has reported.

This included 145,592 fulltime teachers but did not include persons in administration capacities.

The median salary for elementary teaechers was $6,781, while high school teachers had a median of $7,697 and junior college teachers $7,204.

Since last year, the minimum salary for teachers was raised from $4,500 to $5,000. This means not only that no teachers may be employed for less than this amount, but the increase in the lowest-level positions was expected to be reflected in increases on up the salary line.

In 1963-64, there were 173 teachers who received less than the minimum of $4,500 and 1,743 who were paid less than $5,000.

The department's report showed California teachers have received salary increases averaging about 4.9 per cent (for the median level) every year for the past 11 years.

In 1952-53, the medians were $3,997 for elementary teachers; $4,783 for high school teachers and $5,463 for junior college teachers, with an overall median of $4,266.

Since 1952-53, the median salary for all California teachers has gained by 68 per cent. The increase for elementary teachers was 67 per cent; for high school teachers, 61 per cent, and for junior college teachers, 69 per cent.

The department showed there were 84,702 elementary teachers in 1963-64, with 54,426 high school teachers and 6,464 junior college teachers.

Two Firms Due State Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License board announced it plans to issue licenses to two San Rafael firms if no protest is received by Oct. 7.

Last Frontier Builders, Inc., 1456 Lincoln Avenue, will be issued a general building contractor's license. The company listed its officers as David E. Dexter, president and manager; Bernard S. Gagliardi, vice president, and Ellen A. Dexter, secretary.

ELECTED PRESIDENT— Walter T. Winter, Tiburon attorney, has been elected president of the California Chapter of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, a national organization of lawyers specializing in divorce law.

Record For Cow

Geronimo Group Seeks Way To Enforce Cleanup

More than 200 residents of San Geronimo Valley discussed means to enforce cleanup of the valley and strengthen fire ordinances at a meeting Monday night at Lagunitas School.

Mrs. Marie Gee, secretary of the San Geronimo Valley Clean-Up and Beautification Committee, said the turnout was one of the largest ever in the valley.

The residents discuss the dumping of trash along the highways, abandoned cars, rats, skunks and condemnation of buildings with county department heads and representatives of other agencies.

Mrs. Gee said the committee will recommend a fire ordinance for the valley and a tightening up of garbage and trash laws at a meeting of the directors of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Friday, and that the recommendations will be forwarded to county supervisors.

To English Seminar

Terra Linda High School will send 16 English teachers to the 14th annual Asilomar Conference on Language Arts Friday. The meeting is sponsored by the California Council of Teachers of English.

Airline Employees Flying High On 'Fringe' Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The man or woman sitting next to you on your airline trip may be enjoying one of American industry's most underrated "fringe" benefits.

Namely, air transportation—either free or at drastically reduced rates — for employees of the airlines.

The airline industry is not noted for high pay scales except at the pilot or executive levels. But employee travel privileges are a major reason why turnover in airline personnel is on the low side. They represent, as one carrier likes to term it, "hidden pay" of a kind exclusive to the airline industry.

It is not generally realized that comparatively few business firms grant employees sizable discounts on the products they manufacture. A recent survey of 1,200 representative companies, in fact, disclosed that 85 per cent did not provide product discounts.

Transportation is the product of the airlines, and employees can "buy" the product for considerably less than the public pays. Travel privileges vary from airline to airline, but in general they offer travel benefits not only to employees but members of their families. And most airlines have reciprocal agreements providing reduced rates for "off-line" travel. For example, American Airlines employees can fly for half-fare on 68 airlines throughout the world and for a 25 per cent discount on six others—and this is with guaranteed or positive space.

American estimates that its employees and their families flew more than 243 million miles on passes last year. That is more than the total revenue miles flown by any single local service airlines. American breaks it down to about 11,000 miles per employee.

American's pass privileges, regarded as representative but possibly more liberal than on some carriers, are given to anyone who has been with the company for six months. Free transportation is on a space available basis and also has mileage limitations — an employee can fly only so many miles or so many trips.

Half-fare passes are unlimited and space is guaranteed. An employee can make a reservation and get confirmed space just as if he were a regular passenger. The mileage and total trip restrictions on free passes are liberalized as seniority increases. Emergency and vacation trips are not charged against mileage.

American levies a small service charge on most of its passes. An employee flying jet coach, for example, pays a $2 charge for trips of up to 1,800 miles and $3 for flights of more than 1,800 miles. The first class jet service charges are $5 and $8 and flights on Electra equipment cost a flat $2, regardless of length or class of service. No service charge is involved for piston-engine planes.

American, like all airlines, requires employees to observe certain rules when traveling on passes. They're to be "properly attired," they must make arrangements for in-flight meals 24 hours before departure, and they must give paying passengers priority in seat preferences. Stewardesses are authorized to report any "non-rev" (for non-revenue) who refuses to change his seat.

Some airlines extend free or reduced transportation to retired employees and their families. All in all, the "non-revs" probably would rather have their pay cut than lose their pass privileges.

Scholars Turn Journeymen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "traveling scholar plan" has gained good acceptance during its first year, says the new chairman of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

The chairman, Ohio State University vice president and dean of faculties Dr. John C. Weaver, said 41 graduate students took part. Eleven major Midwest universities are participating in the program, which allows a graduate student to go to another campus for a quarter or two to take advantage of a particularly good course or facility.

He Couldn't Get Paid, Anyway

UMTATA, South Africa (AP)—Thieves tried to burgle a bank in this small town in South Africa's Transkei Territory.

They cut power and telephone lines, used matches to find their way to some keys and emptied nearly every drawer.

When they came to a cable running across the floor of the main hall, they cut it too, apparently believing it was some sort of alarm.

All they had done was cut the cable of the floor polisher. The cleaner was pretty upset next morning when he was unable to get on with his work.

Bacteria Is Problem To Copper

VANCOUVER (AP)—Dr. P. C. Tussell and a team of five University of British Columbia scientists are working on the problem of getting mineral-eating bacteria to extract metal from low-grade ore.

The bacteria have been able to get 80 to 90 per cent of the copper and almost all the nickel from test samples during laboratory experiments, Dr. Tussell says.

He explains that the bacteria — thiobacillus ferro-oxidans — change metal sulphides to sulphate form by the addition of oxygen. In the sulphate form the metal can be washed from the ore with water.

The bacteria will eat a very low grade of ore which would otherwise be uneconomical to use, he says.

"These bacteria have been working for us for centuries without our knowing it. The sulphates came out dissolved in mine water and the companies extracted the metal. Now that we know it's the bacteria we can put them to work more efficiently."

The scientists hope to come up with a system in which the bacteria can be sprinkled over a pile of ore at the mine site and save shipping the ore to the smelter. This would enable mines to operate economically in remote areas.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has the only accredited department of welding engineering in the United States.

Texas Tunnels Carved Through Solid Salt

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP)—Deep underneath this East Texas town lies a fantastic network of immense tunnels carved through solid salt.

The vast passageways dwarf the mining machines that work in them. Soaring as high as 80 feet and reaching a width of 30 feet, the tunnels stretch out dimly in a gigantic checkerboard pattern.

Large machines, looking strange in this world 700 feet underground, roll on rubber tires through the silent network, carrying endless tons of rock salt to conveyor belts.

Footsteps fall silently on the underground floors. Noise of machinery takes on a muted, soft sound. The air is salty, but easy to breathe. The temperature stays a pleasant 80 degrees year-round.

Salt—solid, broken, crushed—is everywhere. In places where it has been trampled by men and machines, it takes on the consistency of sand at an ocean beach. In some sections, it is hard as a rock and absolutely clear, with a diamond - like sparkle.

No foreign material is used to support the mine. Approximately 50 per cent of each mined section is left in place as support for the giant passageways. The rest goes out to the world in a variety of shapes and sizes, for home and industrial uses.

The Grand Saline operation, known as a quarry mine, is operated by the Morton Salt Co. It probably never will be exhausted.

"This mine is only a little bite off a huge dome of salt," said Ray Rucker, mining superintendent. "We cover about 70 acres with 11-12 miles of tunnels, but we're just beginning. The deposit goes down 22,000 feet, and we've gone down only 700 feet so far. There's enough salt here to last almost forever."

On an average day, the 18 employes who labor in the tunnels produce 800 tons of rock salt. They use only a few machines to dig out this daily mountain of sodium chloride.

The mining process is simple. First, an undercutting machine slices into the base of a solid wall of salt to a depth of about 10 feet. Then a double-barreled drilling machine known as a "jumbo" bores one and one-half inch diameter holes in a predetermined pattern. Explosives are tamped into the holes and electrically detonated. Several hundred tons of rock salt are blasted down from the wall face onto the mine floor, some of it in lumps weighing hundreds of pounds.

A loading machine dumps the blasted salt into a large transporter car, which carries it to the conveyor belt. It then goes through grinding, crushing and screening operations that separate it into seven different grades.

The final product is used in thousands of ways, from deicing streets and tanning leathers to preserving pickles and processing cheese.

Table salt is produced also in great quantities at the Grand Saline plant, but through an evaporative process rather than direct mining. By pumping fresh water deep into the rock salt deposits, and drying the resultant brine, the company produces the refined salt so essential to the flavor of food.

The Grand Saline mine has long been open to visitors, who pass the word to their friends about the interesting sights to be seen. But the mine does not have sufficient facilities for handling the growing throng of tourists, and reluctantly closed to visitors.

Red Tape Bothers Communist China

"Paper work is a means of office work," China's official Peking People's Daily newspaper said revealingly. "Much of it is entirely necessary. But there is also much that can be dispensed with or which is unnecessary."

The paper echoed a lament heard in many lands:

"The consequence of having too much paper work is that many cadres are tied up in their offices and have no time to carry out investigations and studies at the basic levels. At the same time, it brings a great deal of trouble to other departments and organs at the lower levels."

How did it all happen? The paper asked in a commentary. Why is there so much paper work now? It never used to be so.

"To analyse the reasons for excessive paper work and to solve the problems thus created, we must first of all start with examination and improvement of the work of our departments."

A typical examination disclosed "that the principal causes did not originate from the outside; they originated from the inside and were due to the shortcomings of the work of the department itself."

An article published in another newspaper, the Canton Nanfang Jihpao, contained complaints of handicraft cooperative members about excessive paper work.

The bureau, the article said, "has demanded reports and filled in forms indiscriminately. The situation is quite grave. We have to make reports once every five days or 10 days, and each form has to be filled in with a host of figures.

"After the basic-level cooperatives fill in the forms, the federations of cooperatives have to submit summary reports, giving their comprehensive and analytic views. What is filled in a form this time will have to be filled in again next time . . ."

Buick

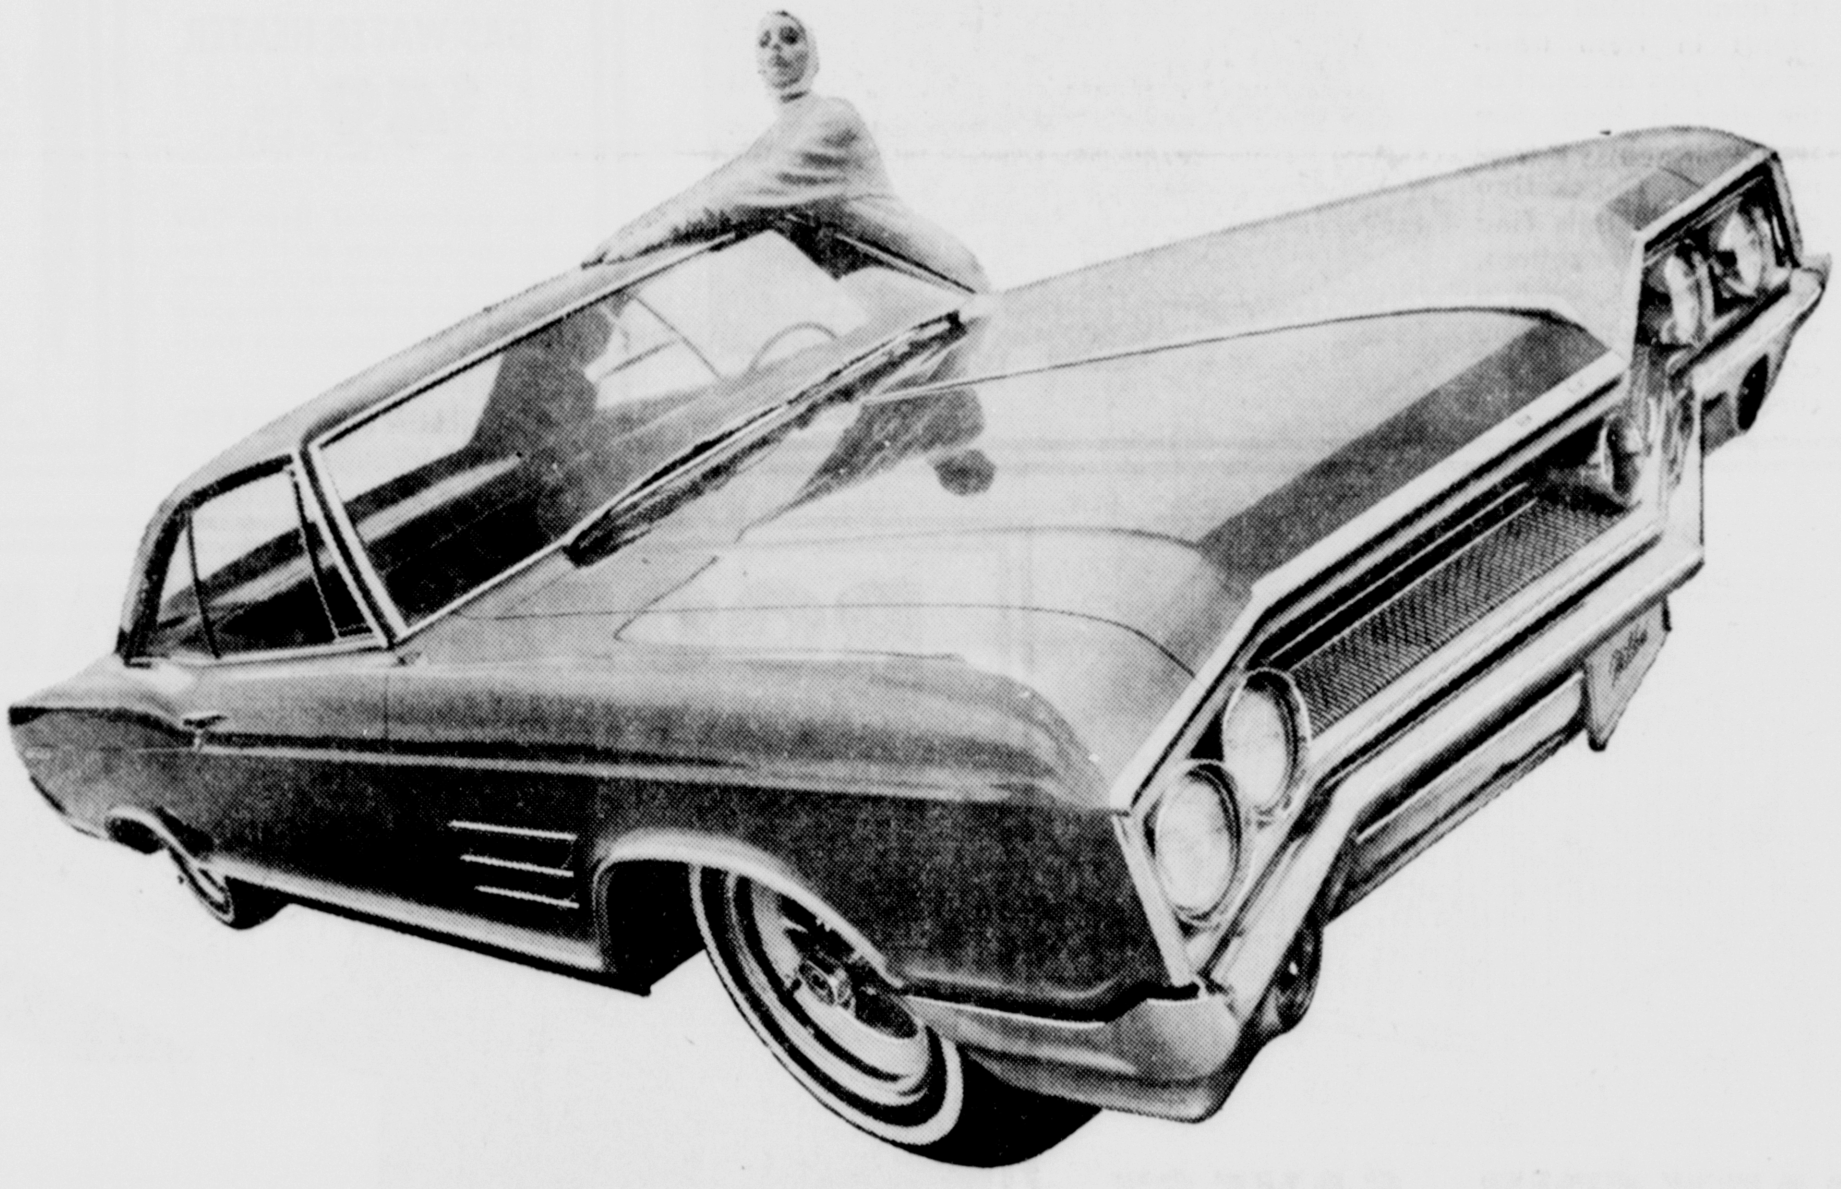
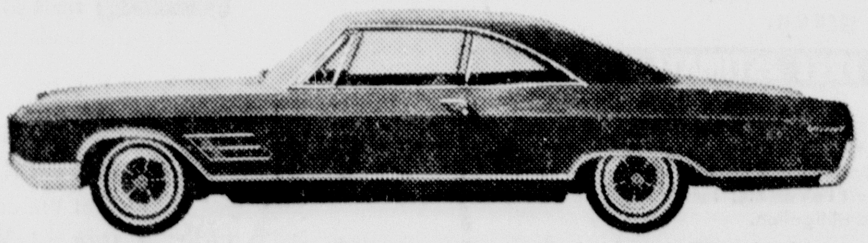
Buick



We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions–and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.



Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick

Summer Is Hard For Insurance

That's the word from the nation's leading insurance companies whose claim files, as the vacation season draws to a close, bulge with warm-weather mishaps.

Take, for example, the records which show, among other things:

—A man was beaned by a coconut in Florida while watering his lawn.

—A man in New England went for a swim and was shot by a resident who mistook him for a porpoise.

—A boating enthusiast pulled so hard on the starter cord of his outboard motor that he fell into the water and was run down by his own boat.

—A tourist in a stuffy hotel room placed an electric fan near the foot of his bed. He was rudely awakened when he stuck his foot in the fan and injured a toe.

One of the most provocative claims presented was that of a housewife who broke her wrist during a train trip. On her claim report she described her mishap:

"Injured by jerk on train."

INDIA'S 'HUCKLEBERRY FINN'

They Dreamed Of Flying Before Wright Brothers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six decades before the Wright brothers' aerial triumph at Kitty Hawk, N.C., three Britishers designed, patented and built a model of a "machine for conveying goods, letters and passengers from place to place through the air."

They called it an "aerial steam engine."

But all that ever got off the ground was a hullabaloo of harmful publicity. After two much-trumpeted models failed, the inventors were ridiculed out of the flying machine business.

Yet the plans for the unsuccessful invention of the 1840's incorporated many essentials of the modern airplane. And though the machine itself never survived a test, it anticipated the powered, sustained and free flight envisioned by glider-builders of the time and realized by the Wright brothers in a flimsy "aeroplane" over the North Carolina sand dunes in 1903.

The Library of Congress now has received a gift from Mrs. John Jay of New York of the papers of John Chapman, one of the collaborators in the brilliant, if luckless, partnership that furthered the vision of air travel. Included are design plans of the curious craft.

The aerial steam engine was the brainchild of William Samuel Henson. He built and tested a 20-foot wing span model between 1844-47, assisted by John Stringfellow, an engineer.

Stringfellow, later whipped up a smaller model. It also was a dud.

Chapman, a political writer and editor in later life, became involved with the project through his friendship with Henson. The papers "disclose Chapman's familiarity with the leading aerodynamical ideas of his time and suggest him as a hitherto unknown and unsuspected third man in this curious aeronautical partnership," the Library said.

Henson was said to have designed the machine about 1840. He registered it for a patent in 1842. But he touched off premature publicity by printing the patent drawings in the Illustrated London News and I'Illustration in 1843.

Soon after the drawings appeared, the Library said, "a host of romanticized sketches based upon them began to appear widely." By the time Henson got to work on the first model in 1844, the aerial steam engine was on its way to being "illuminated, exaggerated and finally defeated by propaganda."

But Henson and his friends were encouraged by their own publicity. They formed an "Aerial Transit Co." — before producing or testing even a model of the plane—which was to finance a full-sized airplane.

After a model powered by a small steam engine and two pusher propellers flunked the first test in 1847, Henson quit the project and emigrated to Texas.

Stringfellow endured public derision and remained in England. He attempted to carry on Henson's work with a new 10-foot-span model based on Henson's designs. He launched a model from a wire in tests at Chard and Cremorne Gardens in London in 1848, but "there is no evidence that the machine was ever proved capable" of flight, the Library said.

The aerial steam engine was a much-heralded failure — quite the opposite of the quiet success observed by a handful of people at Kitty Hawk years later. It took some time before word of that got around.

Dream Just Too Darn Realistic

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—That was a real wild dream that O. Knox Kling of Des Moines had the other night.

In the dream, a man was making objectionable remarks to Mrs. Kling in a restaurant. Kling objected, the man swung at him, Kling ducked, and landed a solid left.

Then Kling awoke. His left hand hurt, and then he realized he had banged it into a night stand. An X-ray the next day showed a fracture of a knuckle on the left hand. Kling had to have a cast, and a brace extending almost to the elbow.

It's Relaxing To Be An Ex

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—When a new state park lodge was opened, former Gov. Bert Combs was among the speakers at the dedication.

His opening statement was a tacit summary of life away from the spotlight.

"One great advantage of being a private citizen again," he remarked, "is that now nobody expects me to say something brilliant or witty every time I open my mouth.

Facts Of Wine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dinner wines are generally made from a naturally fermented grape juice, while dessert wines are fortified with extra alcohol, according to the Wine Institute.

OBSERVES A TRADITION

Life Began After Long Glacier Age

By WIL LEPKOWSKI
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—A formidable glacier apparently held much of the world in an icy grip some 600 million years ago. Only when this until now obscure ice age ended did life start to flower.

This is the interpretation of two British scientists in attempting to account for how the evolution of life suddenly went through a radical change eons ago.

Up to now, scientists have been puzzled by the abrupt multiplication of fossilized animal life forms observed in rocks dating from the so-called Cambrian era, which ended about 500 million years ago. No one had thought of connecting the change of evolutionary pace with a worldwide warming trend because there was no agreement that there had been a big freeze prior to the Cambrian period.

Recently, however, evidence of such an ice age has been mounting, largely through the mapping of tillites, which are rocky droppings from ancient ice bergs. The freeze, it now appears, was centered in the central Pacific and south Atlantic oceans—points which then may have been polar regions because of a shift in the earth's axis.

W. Brian Harland and Martin J. Rudwick of the University of Cambridge said in "Scientific American" that if their interpretation is correct, "it can hardly be mere coincidence that a geological event of such intensity was followed by a biological event of equally striking character."

It was as if a brake had been released, permitting life to go ahead and evolve from small, simple forms to the complicated creatures that eventually led to man.

Another factor complicating the tracing of the pre-Cambrian ice age was the gradual movement of continents from a bunched up mass to their present positions. This movement is known as continental drift. The theory is supported by similarities in rock magnetism, fossil patterns, and geological formations as far apart as India and Antarctica.

The scientists said, however, that it appeared the warming trend ending the ice age set in before the continents drifted apart. Life began to proliferate in the form of ancient clams, insects and reptiles on the shores of a super continent.

They attributed the end of the ice age to a heightening of solar radiation. This melted the glaciers and icebergs. The oceans rose and new, warm seas were formed, unlocking the forces of evolution.

Rum Running Replaced By Game Fishing

BIMINI, Bahamas (UPI) — Game fishing and tourism have replaced rum running as the economic bulwark of this tiny island.

Only a few oldtimers are left who recall the 1920s when the U.S. thirst for whiskey, rum and gin brought money into the pockets of the hard-working Bahamian entrepreneurs.

During the 15 years of the Volstead Act, swift boats laden with illicit cargoes from England and Scotland via Nassau played hide-and-seek with U.S. Coast Guard cutters on the way to rendezvous on the Florida coast 50 miles away.

Only a few of the Bimini bootleggers had been prudent enough to stash away their profits. When Prohibition was abolished in 1933, the easy-come, easy-go money from liquor traffic dried up.

Bimini slid into economic doldrums, but a few years later, American anglers discovered the treasure trove of big-game fish and brought with them a tourist prosperity which still endures.

Salt Of Earth

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Soil salinity reduces crop yields as much as 25 per cent, according to Texas A&M University. Salt in the soil reduces the amount of water available to plants.

Sailing Ships May Be Under Market Street

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Engineers preparing to build a subway in downtown San Francisco believe there's a strong chance they will find the remains of at least three 19th century sailing ships buried under Market Street.

"It's quite possible that these wrecks are fairly close to the surface, maybe only nine or 10 feet below," says R. E. Davis, a consulting engineer to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD).

The ships are the Callao, the Byron and the Galen. The San Francisco Maritime Museum reports the three vessels were among hundreds that brought gold seekers to the city in the 1840s and 1850s.

The ships later were abandoned and sunk along what was then the waterfront to make room for the expanding downtown district. They were covered over with mud and sand so city engineers could extend the waterfront six blocks toward the bay.

Other ships met the same fate. At first they were used as homes, stores, offices, warehouses, hotels and even jails. Piers eventually surrounded the vessels and soon they were stripped of their valuables, sunk and covered over.

The Maritime Museum has pinpointed the location of the Callao and Byron at the intersection of Market and Pine Streets. The Galen has been located tentatively one block away on Market, the city's busiest thoroughfare.

"If the ships are still below the water line," says Davis, "it's likely that we may come across them in a preserved condition."

Be Soused Rather Than Stupid, Men

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The chairman of a large Johannesburg company sent this memo to his senior executives: "All executives who have been drinking vodka at lunchtime are requested hereafter to drink whisky. We would prefer our clients to regard our staff as inebriated, rather than stupid."

The memo stemmed from a change in Johannesburg business executives' midday drinking habits. Many have switched from whiskey to vodka because they say the latter's telltale odor is less pronounced.

Texans Not Lamb-Likers

The national average per capita consumption of lamb is about five pounds annually while Texans eat only 2.5 pounds per capita. Some states, such as California, consume as much as 13 to 15 pounds per person annually.

Orts explained the main reason for this paradox is that Texans have come to think that all lamb is strong smelling when cooking and greasy when eaten. He says this is mainly due to improper cooking and preparation of lamb.

Spelling Variety

WOBURN, Mass. (UPI)—Letters received at the postoffice here down through the years have revealed 123 different spellings for Woburn. This city was named for Woburn, Bedfordshire, England.

Africans Fear Invisible Juju

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — He is reputed to be about two feet tall — Tokoloshe, the awesome, invisible juju feared by this country's highly superstitious Africans.

Mention of his name is enough to send African children howling into the nearest corner. This mythical menace is believed so powerful by most Africans that anything from hiccoughs to murder is often attributed to his mischief.

They believe he can walk through solid walls, fly, make women pregnant with a wink of his eye, and is ever-present everywhere.

His height explains why many urban Africans stand their beds on piles of bricks — "so Tokoloshe can't reach me when I'm sleeping." He is also the reason for the look under the bed at night — "he may be hiding there."

Africans roll the whites of their eyes when anyone mentions Tokoloshe. "I don't really believe in him," some will tell you, "but just to be on the safe side, please don't mention that name."

Most of them grow up with the image of Tokoloshe firmly imprinted in their minds. Children are threatened with his presence if they are disobedient.

If it rains when it isn't supposed to, if you trip and sprain your ankle, if you have a stomach-ache or if a rival gets off with your favorite girl friend — it's all Tokoloshe's fault.

In many rural areas African women always go to the nearest stream in parties when they fetch water. They believe Tokoloshe is skulking in the reeds and waiting for them to come along singly.

He is also supposed to have the power to change his shape. Africans believe he can appear in the form of a dog, a woman, a bug on the wall or a snake. In fact, almost any person, animal or insect is a potential threat because it could be Tokoloshe in disguise.

He is said to be immortal. Nobody seems to know where or when the legend started, but at times it has been so potent that hale and hearty Zulu warriors have been known to become ill and die because they thought Tokoloshe had bewitched them.

Many Africans carry talismen to protect themselves in case Tokoloshe should get troublesome. Sold by witchdoctors for about $28, they are usually worn around the neck or wrist. They are often made from feathers, beads, animal hide and copper wire.

This legendary spirit is said to have a penchant for grabbing drunks by the neck and throttling them as a punishment for drinking. If a drunk is found dead—from pneumonia a road accident or a heart attack—the explanation is always the same: "Tokoloshe got him."

Tokoloshe is said to be a second speedy Gonzalez when it comes to wedding night exploits with other men's brides.

Tribesmen believe the only way of safeguarding their bride on the wedding night is by burning khakibos, a weed with an unpleasant smell, near her. This apparently is too much for Tokoloshe.

According to African tribal laws, husbands must pay lobola for their future wives. The bride's father is paid, often in cattle, according to the beauty and age of his daughter. A virgin rates more than looser living girls.

If the husband's belief in his bride is later proved unfounded, his father-in-law avoids being called a cheat by blaming it all on Tokoloshe.

The husband has no comeback. Even if he can bring witnesses to testify his wife was seen before marriage with another man, the wife can say that wasn't a man—it was Tokoloshe disguised as a man and she was helpless in his power.

In South Africa many Africans are often away from their wives for months at a stretch at work in the gold mines. If during the husband's absence his wife falls pregnant, she often blames it on Tokoloshe. "He winked at me with his magic eye when I went to fetch water at the river," is an almost irrefutable explanation.

Branding Irons Shown In Texas

The collection was put together during the past 10 years by Leonard Stiles, a King Ranch employee. It totals 725 different branding irons.

Guess What Their Line Of Work Is?

NEW YORK (UPI) — What do Colonel Clean, Daniel Broom, Tom Tidy and Sweepy the Squirrel have in common?

All four have the same job, according to Keep America Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization. They are the official mascots of litter-prevention programs in Mississippi, Kentucky, Rhode Island and Maryland, respectively.

Four-Year College Education Is Costly

BERKELEY — Four-year graduates at the Berkeley campus of the University of California spent close to $39 million for their college education.

Chancellor Edward W. Strong announced this month the names of 3,711 Berkeley students who received degrees or certificates in June. Adding those who completed their work in summer session or the fall semester, 6,098 students received degrees on the Berkeley campus in the past year.

The breakdown of the year's total shows that 3,773 bachelor's degrees, 1,617 master's degrees, 492 doctorates and 216 law degrees were conferred. In addition, 281 teaching certificates and 31 other certificates were granted.

On the average, each graduating senior spent more than 2,500 hours in college classes and laboratories and nearly 4,000 hours in concentrated individual study.

Of the four-year graduates at Berkeley, many are already in career job positions, an increasing number (up to 60 per cent) will continue in school working toward higher degrees, some are entering military service, and more than 400 have applied for admission to the Peace Corps.

Taxpayer Given Refund In Dallas

DALLAS, N.C. (AP) — George Cox complained to Dallas town officials that he was overcharged for taxes. Town Clerk J. J. Moore checked and said, "That's right. We overcharged him."

Moore then asked the town board to pass a motion authorizing a refund. A few days later, Cox received the refund: 50 cents.

Red Tape Bothers Communist China

"Paper work is a means of office work," China's official Peking People's Daily newspaper said revealingly. "Much of it is entirely necessary. But there is also much that can be dispensed with or which is unnecessary."

The paper echoed a lament heard in many lands:

"The consequence of having too much paper work is that many cadres are tied up in their offices and have no time to carry out investigations and studies at the basic levels. At the same time, it brings a great deal of trouble to other departments and organs at the lower levels."

How did it all happen? The paper asked in a commentary. Why is there so much paper work now? It never used to be so.

"To analyse the reasons for excessive paper work and to solve the problems thus created, we must first of all start with examination and improvement of the work of our departments."

A typical examination disclosed "that the principal causes did not originate from the outside; they originated from the inside and were due to the shortcomings of the work of the department itself."

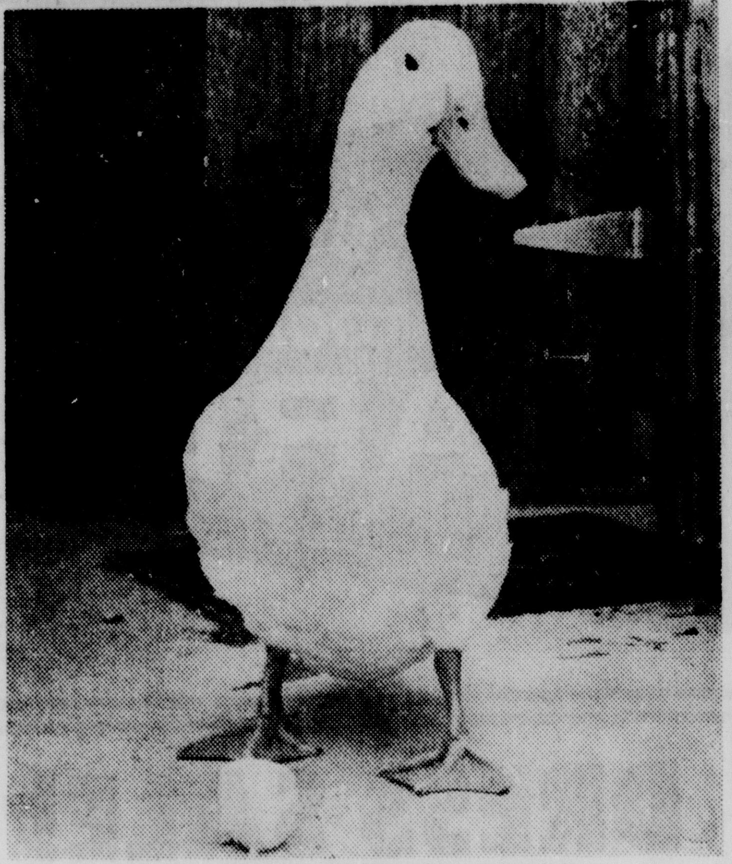
An article published in another newspaper, the Canton Nanfang Jihpao, contained complaints of handicraft cooperative members about excessive paper work.

The bureau, the article said, "has demanded reports and filled in forms indiscriminately. The situation is quite grave. We have to make reports once every five days or 10 days, and each form has to be filled in with a host of figures.

"After the basic-level cooperatives fill in the forms, the federations of cooperatives have to submit summary reports, giving their comprehensive and analytic views. What is filled in a form this time will have to be filled in again next time . . ."



THE YOLK'S ON GERT

Gertrude, the duck, has just begun to lay eggs and still makes a few mistakes. Her latest attempt, with which she recently posed in Austin, Tex., turned out to be only half an egg, with a perfectly formed yolk and the open end covered by the membrane which lines the rest of the shell.

Teen Population

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Census Bureau estimates there were 33 million teen-agers in the United States in 1963 and that by 1970 the number will have risen to 39 million.

Grain-Fed Cows

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Milk cows fed grain produce 2,500 to 5,000 pounds more milk over a 245-day period than cows fed no grain, Texas A&M researchers have discovered.

Capitol Of Texas Is Second To D.C.

AUSTIN, Tex.. (UPI)—The state capitol building of Texas contains 500 rooms and has 18 acres of floor space. It was built on the three-year period 1885-1888 of pink granite from Marble Falls, Tex.

The building is 528 feet long and 290 feet wide, not counting steps. Its great dome is 311 feet high, making the Texas capitol second in size only to the national capitol.

Buick

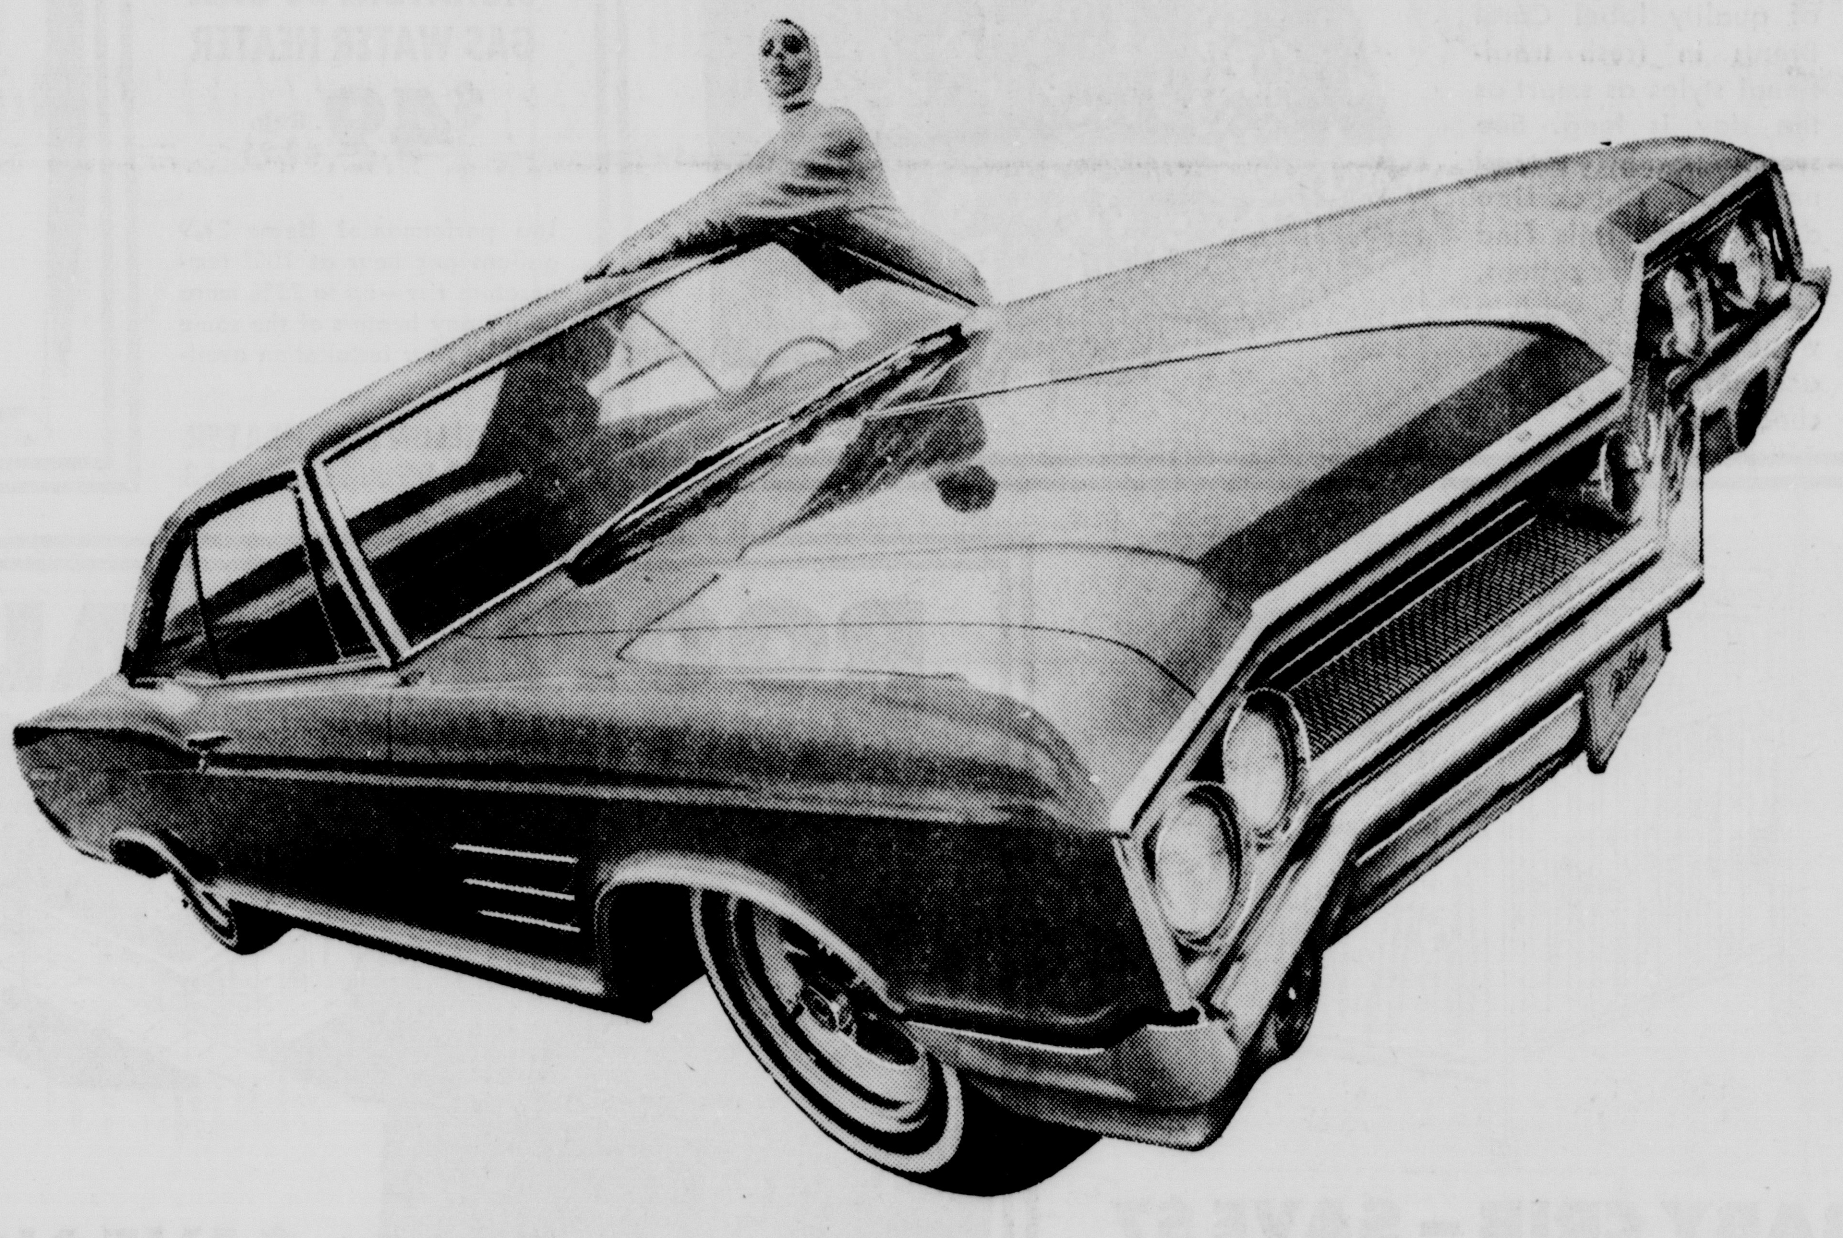
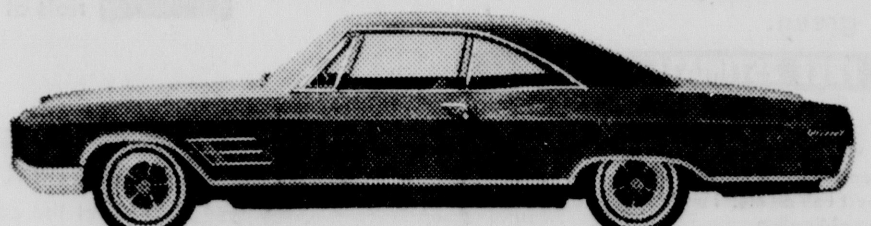
Buick



We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions–and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.



Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick

San Anselmo Woman Reviews Preparation For Peace Corps

CAROL K. SPICER
To India with Peace Corps

That's how a 21-year-old San Anselmo woman summed up her 12 weeks of Peace Corps training before leaving on her way to a teaching assignment in India.

Miss Spicer, who graduated from the University of California in June with a degree in bacteriology, says she is excited by the challenge of the peace corps, with its goal of becoming "part of the people where we are sent, not just breezing through."

Carol says that she asked for an assignment in public health but was assigned to teach mathematics-science to secondary school students.

"It really doesn't matter what I'm assigned to, I'll be able to use my bacteriology training. The peace corps is always dealing in basic living conditions wherever it is," said Miss Spicer.

"We were told that the first six months would be the hardest."

This is the period when peace corps workers feel the full brunt of the living conditions they are trying to change, and realize how little they will be able to achieve.

"Bue we'll be leaving behind us new patterns which will last after we leave, because we try to work with what's available," said Carol.

The attractive, blue-eyed volunteer said that her training was heavy in its emphasis on language. She will have to do most of her daily business in Hindu-Urdu, combination of two languages which are different when written, but similar when spoken.

"In our language training we tried to re-enact some basic daily living situations," she said. "These were designed to help us fit smoothly into the life of our surroundings.

"For example, I will have to behave much more rudely than I want to towards the man who comes to do my laundry, if there is one, because he would be embarrassed if I treated his as an equal."

The training emphasized that changing the caste system is not the objective of the corps, even in rural areas where it is strongest. Carol is scheduled to go to such an area in West Bengal.

"But in the Peace Corps, you must be very flexable," she said. "I may never get there if I'm needed for something else."

Planners Increase Meetings

San Anselmo Planning Commission voted Monday night to meet twice a month starting in October to cope with the increasing amount of business.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month, chairman Charles R. Leitzell, said today.

The city's planning staff was requested last night to find out if other cities required subdividers of small hillside areas to contribute money toward improvement of access roads to their subdivisions in lieu of constructing curbs, gutters and sidewalks in their developments.

The commission, Leitzell said, is seeking a plan which will improve the entire roadway rather than just a small area or none at all.

Discussion of a proposal of the San Anselma Chamber of Commerce to rezone the downtown area for planned development from its present commercial zoning was scheduled for an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday in the city hall.

Teacher Median Pay In State Is $7,204

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The median salaries for classroom teachers in California during 1963-64 was $7,204, the State Department of Education has reported.

This included 145,592 fulltime teachers but did not include persons in administration capacities.

The median salary for elementary teaechers was $6,781, while high school teachers had a median of $7,697 and junior college teachers $7,204.

Since last year, the minimum salary for teachers was raised from $4,500 to $5,000. This means not only that no teachers may be employed for less than this amount, but the increase in the lowest-level positions was expected to be reflected in increases on up the salary line.

In 1963-64, there were 173 teachers who received less than the minimum of $4,500 and 1,743 who were paid less than $5,000.

The department's report showed California teachers have received salary increases averaging about 4.9 per cent (for the median level) every year for the past 11 years.

In 1952-53, the medians were $3,997 for elementary teachers; $4,783 for high school teachers and $5,463 for junior college teachers, with an overall median of $4,266.

Since 1952-53, the median salary for all California teachers has gained by 68 per cent. The increase for elementary teachers was 67 per cent; for high school teachers, 61 per cent, and for junior college teachers, 69 per cent.

The department showed there were 84,702 elementary teachers in 1963-64, with 54,426 high school teachers and 6,464 junior college teachers.

Two Firms Due State Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License board announced it plans to issue licenses to two San Rafael firms if no protest is received by Oct. 7.

Last Frontier Builders, Inc., 1456 Lincoln Avenue, will be issued a general building contractor's license. The company listed its officers as David E. Dexter, president and manager; Bernard S. Gagliardi, vice president, and Ellen A. Dexter, secretary.

ELECTED PRESIDENT— Walter T. Winter, Tiburon attorney, has been elected president of the California Chapter of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, a national organization of lawyers specializing in divorce law.

Record For Cow

Geronimo Group Seeks Way To Enforce Cleanup

More than 200 residents of San Geronimo Valley discussed means to enforce cleanup of the valley and strengthen fire ordinances at a meeting Monday night at Lagunitas School.

Mrs. Marie Gee, secretary of the San Geronimo Valley Clean-Up and Beautification Committee, said the turnout was one of the largest ever in the valley.

The residents discuss the dumping of trash along the highways, abandoned cars, rats, skunks and condemnation of buildings with county department heads and representatives of other agencies.

Mrs. Gee said the committee will recommend a fire ordinance for the valley and a tightening up of garbage and trash laws at a meeting of the directors of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Friday, and that the recommendations will be forwarded to county supervisors.

Fire Rages In Santa Barbara

COMBINED AP & UPI

Green Valley in western Solano County this morning became the latest crisis point in the series of fires that have blackened an estimated 70,000 acres in three North Bay counties since last Friday.

OTHER FIRES

Other fires in Northern California (with acreage lost in parenthesis):

Petrolio in Humboldt County (9,000) not under control.

Rockport (90) under control.

Hopland (80) under control.

Upper Lake in Lake County (1,500) under control.

Healdsburg (100), new fire which broke out last night, not under control.

Chico (200) under control.

Auburn (5,100) under control.

GREEN VALLEY

"Borate bomber" aircraft, bulldozers, and firemen are being diverted from the Santa Rosa, Valley of the Moon and other area blazes to throttle the wind-whipped flames which chewed eastward from Napa over rugged Twin Sisters mountain since 3 p.m. yesterday, and are moving within two miles of scores of plush Green Valley homes west of Fairfield and Suisun City.

Regional Civil Defense Fire Service and Rescue Coordinator C. E. "Chuck" Green has left his Solano County headquarters and is coordinating the fire defense at the scene. His office told the Independent-Journal he believes enough men and equipment will be available in time.

FIRST SMOKE

When the smoke first flowered volcano-like over the twin-tipped mountain yesterday afternoon, Green could only look despairingly at it and continue trying to obtain equipment to halt the holocaust that had destroyed 91 homes in Sonoma and Napa counties. But the fire so far has blackened more than 45,000 acres.

He had obtained Civil Defense pumper and tank rigs from as far away as Fresno and Sacramento, for the fire lines. Like chess-men, other units were moving northward from Los Angeles to protect the areas left almost without equipment.

Marin County contributed volunteer firemen, trucks and bulldozers to Sonoma County fire lines; Contra Costa fire districts sent the nine trucks they dared spare; San Francisco rigs were to be seen lacing the streets of fire-ringed Sonoma County com-

FIERY STRUGGLE — Wind-whipped flames which onlookers described as "burning tornadoes tall as telephone poles" set some homes ablaze yesterday and skipped others in Agua Caliente outside Sonoma. Weary fire crews also had to watch such problems as gasoline tanks overflowing in the intense heat, hosing down the streets to keep their trucks from catching fire. In some cases, firemen had to crawl under trucks while flames whoosed past. (AP Wirephoto)

Marin Fire Fighters Still Going To Aid Of Neighbors

Other Marinites, however, were sent home as they became exhausted from many hours on the fire lines.

Among those returning last night was Tamalpais Fireman Robert Davison, who described the fire scene as "damned hot and damned smoky."

Staying on the scene from the same group were Jerry Collin, Robert De Walt, Donald Irving and Rev. John Duncan, pastor of the Community Methodist Church, Tamalpais Valley.

No injuries, but a few scorched eyebrows, were suffered by the group, according to Davison. He said they stayed on the job most of time, "fighting grass fires and house fires and just a little bit of everything."

Mill Valley mortician Jerry Gooch, who lives in Sonoma, reported today he helped save a friend's home yesterday "by luck" when it was surrounded by fire.

He said the house was safe Monday night, but was encircled by fire yesterday after the wind changed. Harry and Frank Merz of San Rafael brought a bulldozer and cleared the area around the home and other buildings while a tank truck sprayed them.

Novato firemen Walter Nolan and Alvin Butti last night replaced Capt. George Hale and fireman Samuel Marzell on a Novato truck which is operating in the Healdsburg area.

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) made an aerial inspection of the Calistoga fire area yesterday afternoon and reported that his Washington office is staying in touch with the federal office of Emergency Planning in case Gov. Edmund G. Brown declares the fire a major disaster area.

Clausen said "all that is humanly possible is being done" to fight the Napa and Sonoma fires.

SUCCESS

A goal for which there are many hard and fast rules, the trouble being that all are hard and none are fast.

Johnson 'Avoiding Reds'; Campaigns Called Dirty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders accused President Lyndon B. Johnson today of playing politics when he should be discussing history's "greatest issue": Freedom vs. communism at home and abroad.

House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck, credited Johnson as being the best politician he had seen in the White House.

However, Halleck said Johnson is going too far when he enlists top diplomatic and military officials in his campaign against Goldwater. He said the president is endangering the bipartisan tradition that politics stops at the water's edge.

Halleck appeared with Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen at the weekly "Ev and Charlie Show" following a regular strategy meeting of key republicans from both sides of the capitol.

Dirksen in his prepared statement renewed a GOP criticism that Johnson in his acceptance address at Atlantic City failed to mention the Communist threat. And he noted that in his opening campaign address at Detroit, the president spoke of prosperity, justice and peace but did not mention freedom.

Mundt told the Senate that the 1964 presidential campaign was "dirtier" and filled with more diatribe than those of the past.

He said the presidential candidates and their running mates have put on a campaign which "is an insult to the intelligince of the American voters."

As a result, Mundt said, "our image overseas will be so soiled and stained the only loser will be peace and freedom."

Mundt said Johnson, Goldwater, Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey and his GOP counterpart William E. Miller were equally responsible.

"They are honest, able, dedicated, highly-trained, patriotic individuals," Mundt said. "They are not crooks, vote-thieves, dopes, dupes, tripper happy or warmongers."

Mundt asked the senate "What kind of madness has overtaken these candidates for office?"

LBJ Gives Warning Of Extremists

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon B. Johnson said today that America's destiny "must not be placed in the hands of those who steer a reckless and callous course."

The nation's choice in this election year is "between the center and the fringe—between the responsible mainstream of American experience and the reckless and rejected extremes of American life," Johnson said. Speaknig before cheering delegates to the annual convention of the International Union of Electrical Workers, he said:

"We must be guided not by those whose compass points backward—but by those whose eyes and hearts are fixed on the stars that lead us forward.

"We have no time for arrogance or beligerence. We have no time for callousness or contempt—either in the policies of our nation or in the hearts of our leaders."

Johnson was interrupted at least a dozen times by cheers and applause by his labor union audience. As the president spoke to that group here his words beamed by closed circuit television to other union meetings in Chicago, Miami Beach, New

Forest Fire In Napa Out Of Control Again

NAPA (AP)—A forest fire in the Mount St. Helena area broke out of control again today at midday and reached the edge of Knight's Valley where 100 people live. The fire site is seven miles northwest of Calistoga, hard hit by fire Monday.

NWP Gets April Tunnel Deadline

Service Ordered By PUC

The California Public Utilities Commission today gave Northwestern Pacific Railroad until next April 17 to get trains rolling again through the Puerto Suello tunnel.

The commission issued an order requiring the railroad to begin reconstruction of the tunnel within 50 days after personal service of the order. It will be served tomorrow, a PUC aide said.

Reconstruction must be completed within 150 days after work commences, and within five days after completion, "the railroad must restore the same quantity and quality of service as that provided before the tunnel as damaged by fire and cave-ins in 1961," the PUC ordered.

A DEADLINE

This would make the deadline for restoring service next April 17.

In its get-tough order to end the railroad's long attempt to permanently abandon its main line San Rafael service, the PUC declared:

"This commission has jurisdiction under Section 762 of the Public Utilities Code to require a public utility to repair existing plant and facilities for the convenience of the public and to secure adequate service."

TODAY'S ORDER

The PUC initiated its own investigation into the actual abandonment of the line despite Interstate Commerce Commission turndown of an abandonment application. It held a hearing at the Marin County Civic Center in June. Today's order results from that hearing.

The commission in its order said that it clearly has the authority to order reconstruction of the tunnel, supplementing the ICC denial of abandonment

The ICC merely ruled the railroad could not abandon the line. Ordinarily, when an abandonment petition is filed, there is rail service on the line proposed to be abandoned. However, there has been no service on the San Rafael main line of NWP since the tunnel partially collapsed in a fire on July 22 1961. The petition to abandon was filed the following month.

After long hearings on the petition and two turndowns by the ICC, the railroad appealed to federal courts. The U.S. District Court in San Francisco rejected its appeal, which was then carried to the U.S. Supreme Court. The supreme court is expected to rule next month.

Meanwhile, the railroad has revived another projected abandonment, also turned down by the ICC, and lumped it with a petition to abandon the tunnel. Required legal notice of the new application, which seeks to aban-

PARKS, REC GROUP SEES MASTER PLAN

Proposal Outlines Recreation Space For Ultimate Population Of County

By FRANK FARRARA

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission took its first look yesterday at a tentative master plan for parks, recreation and open space to meet the county's ultimate population.

Boat harbors, golf courses, riding and hiking trails, picnic and camping areas, beaches and parks, roadside rests are envisioned in the plan.

Planner Walter Horchler, who is developing the plan, gave the commission a two-hour briefing that touched upon all the likely spots for recreational development in the county.

"The expansion of population calls for an equal expansion of recreation, if possible," Horchler said.

Despite the state parks and the Point Reyes National Seashore, there is still a need to develop more parks and recreational areas for Marin County residents, Horchler said.

State and national facilities attract out-of-county visitors, he said. "The county needs a park system to serve its own people."

Among major developments envisioned in the plan are:

1. Creation of boat harbors, beaches and picnic areas at Tomales Bay to make it a "boating paradise."

2. Construction of a multi-purpose reservoir in the Laguna Lake-Chileno Valley area of North Marin which could serve recreational needs as well as provide irrigation water and possibly industrial water for proposed development along Petaluma River and San Antonio Creek.

3. A network of riding and hiking trails along Marin Hills and connecting to a statewide trail, and bicycle trails.

4. Use of Marin Municipal Water District lands as a "recreation resource."

5. Development of facilities at Stafford Lake, near Novato.

6. Preservation of Santa Venetia Mountains as an upland reserve area.

7. A system of parkways and

Marin Long, Hot Autumn Continuing

The mercury climbed to 101 in San Anselmo yesterday as the area's long, late hot spell went on and on.

Temperatures were very little lower today, but the weatherman hoped sea breezes would break the heat wave by tomorrow.

Noon temperatures showed the mercury was climbing fast again. It was already 90 in Woodacre, while San Rafael and San Anselmo each had 86, Novato had 81 and Mount Tamalpais had 82.

Other highs yesterday were 94 in San Rafael and Mill Valley, 92 in Novato, 90 in Fairfax and 87 on Mount Tamalpais.

A weak low pressure trough, running along the coast from Mexico to Oregon, was expected to move inland tonight, bringing cooling air to parched Californians and others.

But the forecast offered little hope for fire-plagued parts of Napa and Sonoma counties. Officially, it predicted:

"Continued warm with low humidity and high fire danger except cooler near the coast."

Repeat Warning On Burning Ban

All outdoor burning in Marin County, including backyard incinerators, has been banned for duration of the current fire hazard period, fire chiefs in the county warned today.

Anyone violating the ban is subject to $500 fine.

The no-burning order was issued by the State Division of Forestry under emergency powers because of the rash of brush and forest blazes throughout California.

Four Saved From Nuclear Chamber

NEVADA TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI) — Four men who were trapped in an underground nuclear detonation chamber for more than 80 hours were rescued today in good condition.

George R. Cooper, was the last of the four workers to be brought up an 1,800 elevator shaft which was jammed Saturday night when an auxiliary elevator cable snapped.

Cooper stepped foot on the surface shortly after 8 a.m. Arthur Luhnow reached the top about an hour earlier.

None of the men was injured. The others are Leland Roeder and Floyd Shaw.

Food Poisoning Kills 35

NEW DELHI (UPI) — An American-supported school lunch program was reported continuing all over India despite the food-poisoning deaths of 35 small boys and the hospitalization of scores of others in a southeast Indian village.

The boys, all aged 4 to 10, were stricken at Maddikare in Andhra after eating a midday meal the chief ingredient of which were corn meal, powdered milk and vegetable oil.

This food was supplied by CARE. The organization supports a school lunch program for 7 million Indian children, including 950,000 in Andhra.

Both Indian and American officials were investigating the cause of the tragedy.

Hurricane Gladys Maroons 3,000

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Gladys, whose wind-whipped tides marooned 3,000 persons on North Carolina's fabled Outer Banks, swung on a northerly course today that apparently spared the heavily populated cities of the Eastern Seaboard.

Forecasters located the center of the storm, fourth hurricane of the season about 225 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

Forecasters said the 85 mile-an-hour winds at the storm's center was expected to pass southeast of Cape Cod, Mass., tonight.

State's Take Rises

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California general fund revenues for the first two months of the 1964-65 fiscal year totaled $314,997,664, up five per cent over a year earlier, Controller Alan Cranston reported yesterday. The sales tax, the largest revenue producer, accounted for $211,711,119 during the two month period, an increase of nearly nine per cent over last year.

British Troops Take Indonesia Prisoners

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — British Gurkha and New Zealand troops have killed another Indonesian paratrooper and captured several others in new action in the Malayan government announced today.

The latest kill brought to 19 the number of Indonesians slain since the paratroop landing in the Labis area of Johore State Sept. 2. More than 50 are believed to have been captured. About 20 guerrillas are believed still at large.

French Milk Strike

PARIS (UPI) — A milk strike spread from Paris to the eastern and northern sections of the country today. Dairymen in Toulouse, in the southwest, struck yesterday. The strike movement began in the Paris area last Friday in an effort to force the government to boost wholesale milk prices.

FBI Target Nabbed

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI)—Lloyd Donald Gresson, recently placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals, has been arrested at Elsinore, Calif., it was disclosed here today. Gresson was being sought on larceny and auto theft and was also wanted for questioning in the mysterious deaths of Margaret Ayoub, 37, of Wilkes-Barre, last June and Mrs. Lola Cotton, 44, in Miami, Fla., May 27.

Atlas Flies True

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (UPI)—An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile was launched successfully yesterday from this base toward a preselected target down the Pacific missile range, the Air Force reported. The launching was a routine firing by a Strategic Air Command missile crew, the Air Force said.

Stock Show Queen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sandra Jean Lewis of San Luis Obispo will reign as "Miss Grand National" during the Grand National Livestock Exposition, rodeo and horse show at the Cow Palace Oct. 23- Nov. 1. Show officials announced yesterday that Miss Lewis would lead the rodeo parade with three sister queens — "Miss Horse Show," "Mis Livestock" and "Miss Rodeo."

Fourth Bond Epic

LONDON (UPI) — Work on the fourth Bond film, "Thunderball," will begin in February, it was announced here. Sean Connery again will play the late author Ian Fleming's fictitious agent James Bond, alias 007, in his battle against Specter, an international crime syndicate which hijacks two hydrogen bombs and holds them for ransom by the western world.

Slow Probe Seen On Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee hopes to defuse a politically explosive investigation of the Justice Department and former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), whose committee ordered the inquiry yesterday over his opposition, says he intends to try to keep anything from happening until after the November elections.

As chairman of the special subcommittee created to conduct the investigation, Celler will have a lot to say about when it gets under way, but he'll be under heavy pressure to act promptly.

Republicans, who offered the resolution ordering the investigation and backed it almost solidly in committee, would like to see it begun while Kennedy is campaigning for the U.S. Senate from New York.

The Teamsters Union, which has been the chief force behind the investigation move, would like to see action before President James R. Hoffa's conviction for jury-tampering is heard on appeal in December.

After the 20-13 vote that set the investigation in motion, Celler told newsmen: "Nobody asked for this investigation except those involved with the Teamsters Union. If it had not been for their agitation, there would be no investigation."

The Teamsters want the committee to look into charges that the Justice Department violated Hoffa's constitutional rights by its actions during his trial in Chattanooga. They first backed an investigation directed specifically to Hoffa's case.

Homes Lost During Santa Barbara Fire

SANTA BARABARA (AP)—Erratic 45-mile-an-hour winds rammed a brush fire into an exclusive residential district near Santa Barbara last night, destroying at least 30 expensive homes.

The fire, reported contained yesterday afternoon, roared through the Montecito area east of the city, forcing evacuation of residents and 600 students at Westmont College.

U.S. Forest Service officials said there was a possibility the fire might extend into Santa Barbara proper.

The fire, shooting flames hundreds of feet into the air, broke out in a canyon in the afternoon. Aided by borate bombers, firemen had the blaze apparently contained at dusk before winds arose to drive it to new fury.

'Hard Luck' Glenn Regaining His Health, Looks To Future

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—January, 1964, dawned as a good year for Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. He was a national hero. There were plans for a senatorial race in Ohio.

Before two months elapsed, it was apparent that 1964 was to be the darkest year ever for the former astronaut who orbited an American spaceship around the earth in 1962.

The latest stroke of ill fate is the serious illness of his father, John Glenn Sr. of New Concord, Ohio. His mother also has been ailing. The astronaut's father-in-law, Dr. W. H. Castor of New Concord, has undergone two brain operations.

A dreary parade of bad luck started Feb. 26 with a fall in a Columbus, Ohio, apartment bathroom. The resulting head injury caused dizziness which knocked Glenn from the U.S. Senate race in Ohio. It also laid low a man who thrives on action.

Only now is he able to resume the things he enjoys most.

"Seems like old times," say the neighbors as they watch Glenn running along a country road. He also turns boaters' heads for a quick second look as the trim figure skims past on water skis.

"I am feeling much better," Glenn says, and he looks it. The twinkle is back in his eye. The quick, wry smile comes easy and often.

"It could be a lot worse," he said. "Annie's (his wife's) two operations proved to be successful. There were no signs of malignancy in the tissues. Our son David has enrolled at Harvard and our daughter Lyn is as bouncy and healthy as ever."

Glenn says he doesn't have any trouble with dizziness unless he moves his head faster than a gentle nod.

"It takes about 10 to 15 seconds to straighten out," he said. "Doctors say it will be one or two months and I will be completely cured."

The sandy-haired astronaut said he still doesn't know what he will do after he retires frorm the Marines.

"I want to work with NASA some, not an 8 to 4 office job but part time as a consultant. I would like to keep my hand in youth work and the Freedom Foundation, and have some sort of business connection that involves international travel.

"But I am still at the mercy of the medics. I have to go to San Antonio next week for another medical checkup. There are no immediate plans."

UAR Premier Due Soviet Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Aly Sabry of the United Arab Republic flew to Czechoslovakia today with agreements for Soviet aid in his pocket. Premier Nikita Khrushchev saw him off.

The agreements cover use of 280 million dollars in long-term credits promised by Khrushchev in Cairo last May.

They provide for Soviet participation in construction of an iron and steel complex to turn out more than a million tons of steel annually, a plant building heavy machinery, a machine tool factory, a lubricants plant and a thermal power station.

New Viet Labor Crisis Hits; Reds Down Two U.S. Planes

About 3,000 workers reportedly struck French-owned plantations in Bien Hao Province, demanding a 50 per cent pay increase and double rice allotments. There appeared a strong possibility that many more thousands of plantation workers in other provinces would join the strike.

Bien Hoa begins about 15 miles north of Saigon, and most of the province is controlled by the Communist Viet Cong. Unconfirmed reports said the workers struck at the demand of Red guerrillas who operate throughout the plantations.

A general strike in Saigon ended last night, but the new work stoppage underlined the uncertainty surrounding the government's future.

Early today two U.S. Air Force planes were shot down, and one American and one Vietnamese pilot were presumed captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The two Skyraiders with an American and a Vietnamese pilot aboard each were shot down while attacking guerrillas near Rach Gia, 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

The occupants of one plane bailed out. U.S. military spokesmen said the American was missing. The Vietnamese was rescued.

The second plane crash-landed and the American made his way to government lines. The Vietnamese pilot was missing and presumed captured.

Future Of County's Parks Is Outlined

scenic roads including wayside rests and viewpoints.

Horchler said urbanization will push developments into San Geronimo Valley, Nicasio Valley, Hicks Valley, San Antonio Valley and the area between Hamilton Air Force Base and Black Point.

"These areas are frankly lost," he said.

He said Paradise Beach Park, being developed near Tiburon, "will be perhaps the first county park that could be called a county recreation beach park." He felt that China Camp represents "the last possible chance to go to the beach close "to home."

Horchler admitted that county funds are limited for such a program and suggested that some facilities could be developed by private enterprise.

In this first briefing, he made no recommendation for land acquisition and set forth no priority for developments.

Some of Horchler's comments on existing recreational facilities were:

MUIR WOODS — "We don't have a type of Sunday diversion at Muir Woods. It's strictly visual."

POINT REYES NATIONAL SEASHORE — Development is concentrated around a few strategic areas with the accent on preserving the natural beauty. "We have no real recreational opportunity at Point Reyes right now. It will take two to three years."

ANGEL ISLAND — "Only a minor part has been developed."

STINSON BEACH STATE PARK—It's limited, hemmed in by development and cliffs.

SAMUEL P. TAYLOR STATE PARK—"Perhaps the most popular park for picnics and camping with many turned away. Use and overuse endangers trees and vegetation, and it would be actually desirable to reduce acreage and use . . . deconcentrate . . . but where could we send them?"

RODEO LAGOON — "An active site, but proposed development of Marincello will concentrate population and perhaps that will sublimate other attendance."

SAN RAFAEL—Boyd Park is outstanding, but San Rafael, for its size, is not too well endowed.

NOVATO—"Fastest rising district in the county, but has only one city park, an old cemetery. Novato relies on school facilities for recreation."

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said that when the plan is completed, the Marin County Planning Commission will hold two public hearings on it, and county supervisors will have at least one hearing.

The parks and recreation commission adjourned until Oct. 7 and 2 p.m. when commissioners are scheduled to discuss possible recreational use of Phoenix Lake with William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District.

Fire's Smell, Mice Bother Sausalitans

It wasn't the fire that bothered the residents on Spring Street in Sausalito this morning. It was the smell and the mice.

The fire in the Livermore Disposal Co. truck was noticed by a passerby at 9:45 a.m., who reported it to the fire department. The scavengers dumped their whole load on the street at Spring near Pearl Street to fight the fire.

Fireman Mike Kyle, off duty, smelled smoke, realized the city has a ban on burning and came out of his house at 614½ Spring Street. Other neighbors also emerged. Then, according to firemen, two mice appeared in the midst of the garbage and two women bystanders fled.

The fire was quenched, a city crew scooped up the mess with a loader, and firemen washed down the fragrant street and returned to the station.

Handicapped To Be Topic

A panel of San Mateo County educators will address a public meeting on neurologically handicapped children at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Davidson Junior High School, San Rafael.

The panelists are William S. Herbig, assistant superintendent of special education in the county; Edward A. Keuffer, a psychologist, and Mrs. Madeline Lassers, teacher of neurologically handicapped children.

The meeting is sponsored by the Marin chapter of the California Assn. for Neurologically Handicapped Children, in an effort to encourage a public school program for brain-injured and other educationally handicapped children in Marin County.

munities with hoses in last-ditch stands.

Dirty, gray smoke lay like a vast shroud over the once verdant areas of Sonoma and Napa counties and the hilly, residential Montecito area of Santa Barbara County yesterday when Gov. Edmund G. Brown's plane flew over the north and south line areas on an inspection tour.

State Division of Forestry officials hoped today to bring most of Northern California's forest and brush fires under control by tomorrow morning, but a sudden change in the winds could spoil their plans.

The weather bureau forecast for most of northern California today calls for extremely warm weather with variable winds from the east and north.

"I wish there was something we could do," Brown told Napa Mayor Ralph Trower and state officials when they met his plane at Napa County Airport. "Let's go and look at this thing."

As the party's limousines entered the Mount George Section northeast of Napa, the roads were lined by fire-seared vineyards and orchards with a scattering of charred homes.

Then Brown and his party moved to Calistoga, one of the hardest hit areas. He told Mayor Herbert (Bud) Hanly that he wished the state could do more to help the fire-stricken areas.

En route back to Los Angeles, Brown's plane passed over the Montecito fire near picturesque Santa Barbara. He remarked that this fire probably was more expensive in terms of property damage than the Northern California blazes.

"I hate to see these fires," the governor sighed. "They're like losing your family. California is such a beautiful state."

State Forester Paul Cox said the Santa Rosa blaze is "60 per cent under control and the danger to the city has been eliminated for now." Officials, however, said shifting winds could change the situation in a short time. Acreage lost is 38,000.

Cox said the Valley of the Moon fire has been stopped at a spot about two miles north of Sonoma on the south side of Agua Caliente Creek. Total acreage lost in this fire amounts to over 7,000.

The fire spread down both sides—into wine-rich Napa Valley on one side and toward Santa Rosa on the other.

At Calistoga the fire burned 40 homes Monday morning and forced half of the town's 2,500 residents to leave.

At Santa Rosa, firemen saved the Sonoma County Hospital in a dramatic battle early yesterday while 250 patients remained in their beds. Wind whipped the fire around the hospital through the outskirts of the city's high-priced foothill residential districts. Several houses were destroyed.

He saw animals trying to get through fences to get away from the fires. "I saw a fawn that was so tired he just stood there while the fire came on," he said.

Convict Wins Hearing Via Dorado Case

The first Marin Superior Court order to show cause why a prisoner should not be granted a writ of habeas corpus based on the so-called Dorado decision is scheduled for 2 p.m. Oct. 19 before Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The application was made by J. Charles Foulds, 26, serving a 12-year sentence at San Quentin Prison for forgery and passing a worthless check in Orange County. Foulds alleges he is illegally imprisoned because he was not informed of his right to counsel nor right to remain silent before he gave a confession which was later used during his trial.

Foulds also alleges he was unaware that a tape recorder was being used when he confessed.

Last Aug. 31 the California Supreme Court ordered that Robert B. Dorado, 29-year-old San Quentin prisoner, be granted a new murder trial in Marin County. The ruling was based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision involving an Illinois case holding that a man must be told his right to counsel once he becomes the "chief object of police attention" as a suspect.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. said today he has thus far denied two writ applications based on the decision because neither properly qualified. Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said he has ruled against three, all insufficient to warrant an order to show cause.

'Marshal J' On Trial For Assault

Television's "Marshal J." clad in western-type corduroy coat and cowboy boots, went on trial in Marin Municipal Court today on charge of assault and battery on a Sausalito waiter April 11.

The "marshall" Jay Alexander,, 37, of 2373 Dominic Street, Novato, allegedly assaulted William Capilos, 49, in Sausalito's Spinnaker Restaurant. Jury selection in the case began at 9:30 a.m. today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Capilos has filed a $40,000 personal injury damage suit in Marin Superior Court against Alexander, alleging the actor caused extreme physical injury and emotional distress as result of the incident.

Ranch Annex Plan On Agenda

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission will consider annexation of 200 acres of the Fagundes Ranch to the City of San Rafael at a meeting at 8:45 a.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The proposed annexation of the uninhabited ranch land, south of Lucas Valley Road between the extension of Las Gallinas Avenue and Highway 101, would bring the city boundaries almost completely around the unincorporated Terra Linda area.

The commission also will consider a proposal to annex six acres of the Hillcrest subdivision at Tiburon Glen Boulevard and Paradise Drive to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

Shop Center Will Expand At Novato

A $325,000 expansion and remodeling project for the Nave Shopping Center on South Novato Boulevard in Novato was announced today by William F. Nave, owner.

The expansion includes an 18,000-square foot department store costing $250,000 and $75,000 remodeling of the fronts of the existing buildings to make the entire center of one design and landscaping, Nave said.

Construction of the new department store, at the west of present stores, is expected to start on Oct. 15, with Al Villa of San Rafael as builder. Next Feb. 1 is the target date for completion, according to Nave.

Schaaf and Jacobs Inc. of San Rafael have drawn plans for the project.

The department store will be operated by Harold McAffee of Millbrae, who has had 15 years experience as a manager of a national department store, and has operated his own department store in San Bruno for the past five years, Nave said. He will operate both the San Bruno and Novato stores.

don part of the San Rafael main line plus the Sausalito spur line, was first published Sept. 9 and the necessary three publications were completed today.

Boris H. Lakusta, attorney for San Rafael and Marin County in fighting to restore the rail service, said today he expected the railroad would contend the PUC order could not take effect while the new application is pending. San Rafael will argue otherwise, he said. It will be up to the ICC whether to hold another hearing on the twin abandonments, both of which it has previously rejected.

York City, St. Paul and Kansas City.

Johnson's audience was bedecked with paper hats that said "LBJ for the USA." The union, which has endorsed his candidacy, roared with cheers for several minutes and tossed confetti around the ballroom when he appeared. It had the atmosphere of a political convention or New Year's Eve.

As usual, Johnson did not mention the name of his Republican campaign opponent, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater in his speech.

But pointing his finger toward the audience, Johnson said he had come to their meeting to ask them and all other Americans "to stand up and be counted for the character and conscience of their country."

"And that is what is under challenge. Americans are not presented with a choice of parties. Americans are not presented with a choice of liberalism and conservatism."

MARIN FIRECALLS

YESTERDAY:

8:53 a.m., San Rafael—False alarm at Francisco Boulevard and Harbor Street.

9:54 a.m., near Mount Tamalpais on Panoramic Highway—Resuscitator call for James H. Baggarly of Sonoya, Ga.; taken to Marin General Hospital.

12:55 p.m., Sausalito — Contractors illegally burning wire and wood at 59 South Street.

1:24 p.m., San Rafael — 5th Avenue and B Street, a car's gas tank overflowed onto street; hosed down street.

2:45 p.m., Marinwood—Fire in carburetor of car driven by Mrs. Graham A. Turner, 1295 Idylberry Road, at intersection of Marinwood Avenue and Miller Creek Road; out on arrival.

4:27 p.m., San Rafael—Mattress smoldering in basement of vacant house at 3 Jones Place; no damage.

Huge Sewer System For Bay Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A giant 300 - million - dollar sewer system to keep San Francisco Bay from becoming a cesspool by the year 2000 was proposed yesterday to a legislative study commission.

The plan for the horseshoe shaped system was advanced by Brig. Gen. Arthur H. Frye of the Army Corps of Engineers, and Bernard Smith, a civilian consulting engineer.

General Frye also told the commission headed by State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) "I do not advocate the complete cessation of fill in the bay, but intelligent control of that fill."

One branch of the system would start at the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers at Collingsville, and run under the bay past Marin County to a point 10 or 15 miles out in the ocean. The southern section would curve around the lower end of the bay with a feeder line to the Livermore area. It also would reach into the ocean for disposal.

Both would pick up municipal and industrial sewage.

Trustees Plan Site Accord

Lagunitas School District trustees decided last night to try to work out their differences with the Woodacre Improvement Club over expropriation of club property for a school site.

The trustees felt that despite the club members' objections, the site was so centrally located in the district's school population area that every effort should be made to reach agreement.

The property would include the clubhouse, and members felt that, although they could use the building after school hours, the club activities would be curtailed.

Man Booked For Fight With Driver

A 34-year-old San Rafael man was booked by San Rafael police last night on a charge he pulled another man from his car, knocked him down and kicked him.

Police said they picked up Joseph Columbus Hildreth of 1012 Los Gamos Road after his alleged victim, Joseph J. Carusone of 290 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, came to the station and signed a complaint at 11:32 p.m.

Carusone said Hildreth's car had struck his earlier as he started to pull off the Redwood Highway frontage road. When both cars stopped, he charged, Hildreth pulled him from his car, tearing his coat.

Hildreth then hit him in the face, Carusone said, kicking him after he fell to the ground.

IN MEMORIAM

MITCHELL, KATHLEEN MARIE—In loving memory of our darling daughter and sister, KATHLEEN MARIE MITCHELL, who departed this life suddenly SEPTEMBER 23, 1954, age three years, four months.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
It was a bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
To love, to hold and then to part
Is the saddest thing of the human heart.
O Lord, keep green the grave that lies
Beneath the wide and starry skies;
Keep sweet the sleep and give her rest,
Whose hands are folded o'er her breast.
Forgotten to the world by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you will ever be.

SADLY MISSED BY MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS.
MRS MARLYS MITCHELL and FAMILY and MR. FORREST MITCHELL

Novato Rejects Plan For Cluster Housing

The Novato City Council overroad the city planning staff and planning commission last night to reject a cluster housing plan for 21 acres in Pleasant Valley—to the plaudits of a throng of residents.

By 4-to-1 vote, Councilman J. Wayne Womack dissenting, the council returned the plan submitted by developers Roberts and Aguirre to the planning commission for revision.

After more than two hours of discussion of the plan, the council asked that all those who opposed it stand up. More than 100 members of the audience arose.

The planning staff had recommended approval of the plan, after cutting the number of units from 84 to 70. It passed the planning commission by 4-to-2 vote.

The area is zoned "planned single family," which permits cluster housing. However, objectors claimed the plan submitted by Roberts and Aguirre actually called for row housing on hillside lots 25 feet wide.

"We created the planned single family zone to prevent monstrosities in the hills. The citizens have rejected this plan and I am going to follow their wishes," said Councilman William Jack Adams in moving rejection.

Robert Roberts, one of the developers, said he was considering asking for rezoning to single family to avoid further fights with residents of Pleasant Valley.

"From our homes all we will see is a continuous fence and row of the backside of houses," said David F. Gillis of 30 Roy Court.

City Planning Director Robert Lagle pointed out that the developer could put homes on standard lots on the hill by excavation of the hillside.

Lloyd S. Brook of 520 Davis Avenue said Roberts did not want to develop the hill, only to sell it. As proof, he exhibited a copy of a classified advertisement in yesterday's Independent-Journal offering the acreage for sale.

The council awarded E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo, lowest of nine bidders, contract for resurfacing of the east end of Vallejo Avenue at $10,239. The engineer's estimate was $11,325.

It awarded Ceccotti and Sons of Marin, Corte Madera, lowest of eight bidders, a $9,377 contract for construction of the Sunset Parkway connection. The engineer's estimate was $11,850.

The Novato City Council also:

1. Passed ordinances regulating encroachments, grading, and trees in the public right of way, and giving the council the right to review planing decisions. It also adopted a fee schedule for encroachment and grading permits.
2. Adopted a 27-mile street system for gasoline tax purposes and accepted the Hill Avenue and Canyon Road street widening projects and the improvements in Forest Park Unit 6.
3. Authorized the Marin County Board of Supervisors to canvass the votes in the Ignacio-Loma Verde annexation election on Nov. 3.
4. Set the rental fee for private parties using the municipal swimming pool at $10 per hour for 50 people if they live within the city or Novato Unified School District and $15 per hour for those outside.
5. Authorized City Administrator J. Julien Baget to write the California Public Utilities Commission that the council favored extended telephone service with San Rafael.
6. Heard a report from Mayor Robert D. Carrow that the state might assume a large portion of the cost of realignment of the intersection of Diablo Avenue and Highway 101, for which the city has budgeted $50,000. Carrow asked that the city council meet with the State Highway Commission at its October meeting to try to speed allocation of funds to acquire right of way for the Novato freeway bypass. The council also approved a supplemental agreement on the freeway plans at San Marin Drive.
7. Set for Oct. 27 public hearing on annexation of 120 acres on the east side of Highway 101 south of Hamilton Air Force Base. This proposed uninhabited annexation has been approved by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.
8. Denied T. L. Sutton's appeal from planning commission turndown of rezoning from single family residential to commercial at Diablo Avenue and Novato Boulevard.
9. Approved making San Marin Drive a through street from Highway 101 to Novato Boulevard and installing stop signs on San Marin Drive at Novato Boulevard, on Industrial Way at First Street, and on Nave Drive at the main gate to Hamilton Air Force Base.
10. Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Monday to discuss large assessment district developments. Representatives of the North Marin County Water District and Novato Sanitary District will be asked to the meeting.

Dixie Meeting Set

Dixie School District trustees will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Miller Creek School to accept the school from contractor Royce Hall of Napa and to enter into an agreement with Eichler Homes for purchase of a school site in upper Lucas Valley.

State Help Is Due Novato On 'Islands'

The City of Novato may receive help from the State Division of Highways in landscaping center islands on Highway 101 within the city.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow last night told the Novato City Council that he had reached tentative agreement with Alan Hart, district highway engineer, for state participation in the landscaping project.

The city has $3,000 in the current budget to install irrigation and plantings on two islands north and south of the Grant Avenue intersection, pending state approval.

"Hart stated that the State Division of Highways might assist in the project and all the islands from Lamont north to Olive Avenue might be planted," Carrow reported.

San Anselmo Demos To Open Quarters

San Anselmo Democratic Headquarters will open officially Sunday at 7 p.m. in the old Ross Valley Savings and Loan Building on San Anselmo Avenue.

Anthony Nugent and Mrs. Carolyn Monroe, area chairman of the Committee to Elect President Johnson, made the announcement.

In San Geronimo, the Committee to Elect Johnson will have its organizational meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at Forest Knolls Camp.

Mrs. Diane Williams and Harold Gregg are co-chairmen of the San Geronimo Valley area.

AGAINST 14

Marin County social workers will wage a campaign to defeat Proposition 14 (housing amendment). Dorothy Chevalier of Sausalito announced today.

The Marin campaign is in response to a call to action from directors of the Bay Area chapter of the National Assn. of Social Workers.

McCABE TALK

George McCabe, Democratic candidate for Congress, called for passage of the Adult Basic Education Act at a Democratic picnic in Mill Valley's Boyle Park Sunday.

Passage of the act, now pending in Congress, would help reduce the dependency of many uneducated adults on others, increase their chances for employment, and in the long run, reduce tax burdens and increase the nation's productivity, McCabe declared.

Child Care Center Plan Is Revised

The child care center at Marin City will be operated by the county schools office, starting Dec. 1 but two teachers technically will be employees of the Social Services Department, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

The action resolves the question just which department really should run the center, now being operated by the Sausalito school district. It also makes possible a $10,000 federal grant to refurbish the rooms being used.

The Sausalito School District, meanwhile, has announced it would not require rent on the building space, but would ask $100 a month for utilities. In addition, Sausalito district will pay $1,209 toward refurbishing the building and $3,320 for operating the center and nursery school the rest of the fiscal year.

County Administrator Alan Bruce warned, however, that the federal funds for the two teachers are assured for this year only.

tomorrow! the beautiful shapes for '65

'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Chevrolet Impala '65

One look at it and—presto—last year's crop of cars seem like something that happened a long time ago. It's longer, lower, wider—with the kind of interior comforts that'll have many an expensive car wondering why it didn't think of them first. More shoulder room, more leg room up front and (thanks to a smaller floor tunnel) more foot room too. Curved side windows, rich new fabrics and an instrument panel that's a conversation piece all by itself (in the Impala series it has the look of hand-rubbed walnut). In fact, just about everything's new right down to the road. And even that'll seem newer because this year Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride is smoother than ever. But if all this seems like a bit too much to remember, don't try. Just take a drive at your dealer's. It'll all become unforgettable.

'65 Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

Chevelle Malibu '65

New style, new ride—and plenty of V8 stuff. Here are all the things that have made Chevelle America's most popular new-sized car—plus some new surprises that promise to make it come on stronger than ever for '65. Like those cleaner, bolder lines. Like the silky way it skims over the choppiest roads. (Thanks to softer coil springs and other suspension system refinements, Chevelle now rides with a serenity you'd expect only in a bigger, heavier car.) Like V8 power that'll make you think we stole some of Corvette's stuff—which we did. All told, five different power plants are now available from a quieter six to a V8 that comes on with 300 horses strong. Some people might have expected us to stand pat after introducing a car this successful last year. One short drive will show you how wrong they were.

'65 Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Chevy II Nova '65

It may very well be the expensive-est looking thrift car you've ever laid eyes on. But thrifty it is. The big difference this year being that Chevy II's marvelous mechanical efficiency now comes decked out in a debonair new look. And to keep things in stride under the hood, there's a new range of six engines available, no less, including a new 300-hp V8. Of course, you still get those famous Chevy II maintenance reducers—like self-adjusting brakes, long-lived exhaust system, battery-saving Delcotron generator. But if you go by all the fine new features, you could get the idea that saving you money was about the last thing we had in mind when we built this one. And in a way it was. Right up until we pasted the price sticker on the window.

Corvair Corsa '65

There's never been a Corvair—or any other car—like it. The entire line now sports a totally new Body by Fisher, styled with fresh, sophisticated flair that would set a European's pulse fluttering. The longer, wider design gives all Corvair closed models a thin-line hardtop roof, accented by frameless curved side windows. It also allows more shoulder and entrance room. And to go with the racier look, there's up to 180 hp available in the new Corsa series, up to 140 hp in the Monza and 500 series. Also a flatter riding independent suspension system, bigger self-adjusting brakes, more responsive steering—all solidly buttressed by a wider road stance for '65. Truth is, you've got to drive this one to believe it.

WHAT SHOES! AND WHO'LL WEAR THEM?

John Agababian, proprietor of the Corte Madera Shoe Repair Center at 11 Corte Madera Center, displays pair of size 18 shoes he made on order for a man from San Francisco who declined to say for whom they were purchased. The shoes are 19 inches long. Agababian, who says his business is "half and half" making shoes and repairing them, had to make his own lasts for the big footwear as standard lasts do not come in such sizes. The man who placed the order and picked up the shoes, said Agababian, wears only a size 10½.

Hillside Planning Freeze Discussed

A freeze on hillside development was shelved temporarily after brief discussion at last night's San Rafael Planning Commission meeting.

Two members opposed the freeze, one favored it, and a fourth said he was not ready to vote. Two members were absent.

The proposed freeze is still in the discussion stage. It would stop approval of new subdivisions by the planning commission in certain hillside areas—as yet unspecified.

The purpose of the freeze, as explained by chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr., would be to stop new hillside development until a "slope policy" could be spelled out in detail and enacted into law.

City Planner George H. Rodgers, in proposing the freeze, suggested it apply to lots of over 25 per cent grade, but this still left unspecified details of defining a 25 per cent grade unspecified.

Robbins said details could be worked out by the planning staff.

"We all realize that some ordinance on hillside development is necessary in the interests of conscientious planning," said Robbins.

He added that the freeze would be for a short time only, three months or six months—enough time for planning staff to organize a policy on hillside development and get an ordinance passed.

This did not satisfy the commissioners present, John A. Miskimen, Charles J. Hendrickson and Carl S. Brown. Brown and Hendrickson were opposed to any form of freeze or moratorium.

"These interim ordinances have a way of going on and on, for years," said Hendrickson. "It would be extreme to stop development this way."

"Any slope policy needs to be part of our master plan," said Brown.

Miskimen said he needed more time to study the freeze idea.

Several developers present objected to the freeze idea.

William J. Parnow said: "There is definitely a need for some limit on steepness" of a subdivision, and admitted that he has built on slopes too steep, at least once. "But I find this freeze arbitrary," Parnow said.

Leslie Smith, a planner for Kenneth Frost Associates, said any freeze would have to be applied to all hillside development, since all would be affected by the ordinance envisioned by the planners.

Kenneth Frost said a freeze of three or six months wouldn't be long enough. He said it would take at least a year to work out an ordinance based on a slope policy.

The slope policy being worked out by the planning staff for the commission would control the density of development in accordance with how steep the lots were in a given subdivision.

The density would be controlled by limiting the lot size, by spelling out a "cluster" development policy in which homes could be closer providing they were grouped in widely separated "clusters," or by leaving undevelped all lots above a specified steepness.

Truck Driver's Body Pulled From Treetop

EUREKA (AP)—A driver's body was pulled from his truck Tuesday as the vehicle teetered in a tree top 200 feet down a canyon.

Ogden M. Fox, 58, of Crescent City was found dead in the rig's cab. The truck fell from a narrow mountainous road Monday night, California Highway Patrol officers said.

San Rafael Board Of Education Votes Canal Street Site Purchase

The San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to buy a five-acre elementary school site at the southwest corner of Canal Street and Bayview Drive.

Four members of the board passed a resolution authorizing County Counsel Douglas J. Maliney to acquire the property, then designated chairman C. Paul Bettini to sign an agreement for the $130,680 purchase from Kerner-Bellam Co.

Board member Bella H. Aaron, who had objected to having the county counsel handle property negotiations, was absent from the meeting.

Only dissenting comment last night came from board member John M. Bagshaw, who said he was "still questioning whether this site is large enough. I am afraid we are boxing ourselves in."

The other three board members seemed to agree with Supt. Bert C. Corona, who replied that the admittedly small size of the site would be justified by its location.

A partial solution to the lack of acreage, Corona suggested, may be to make the school a two-story one.

In regard to another proposed school site, board members heard the latest report on the possible size and cost of a site in Peacock Gap, but took no action.

They were shown a map of the original 9.57-acre site offered by the Draper Companies, plus several additional lots on the north side of Peacock Drive which would bring it to nearly 12 acres.

Price of the smaller site, they were told, would be $13,500 per acre for a total of $131,625. The larger version, according to a letter from the Draper Companies, would cost the same amount per acre, plus $48.50 for each extra lineal foot of street frontage.

But Corona noted that the district had originally hoped to hold its cost to $100,000, which might mean cutting the site to eight acres. He said he did not feel purchase of the site was yet a pressing problem.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

1. Authorized the firm of Abbot and Hanks to do laboratory tests on new construction at Davidson Junior High and Sun Valley School, and hired Floyd S. Newgen, now working with Healdsburg schools, as building inspector at $375 per month.

2. Authorized a $62.40 foreign language study as part of a statewide study. Half the cost will be reimbursed to the district.

3. Adopted 19 textbooks in English, sociology and foreign languages.

4. Agreed to "be very careful in the future" about setting dates of bid openings to avoid conflict with holidays. The comment came on a letter from M. B. McGowan of 342 Mountain View Avenue complaining that a change in bid opening dates on the Davidson Junior High School addition had caused "confusion among general contractors" and had raised the price of the work.

5. Turned down the request of Jorgen V. Lunding of 241 Riviera Drive that he be notified "of any and all meetings" relating to buying school sites in the Peacock Gap and Glenwood areas. "I think the public notification is sufficient," commented chairman Bettini.

Supervisors To Meet On Marin City Needs

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center with the Marin County Redevelopment Agency on the problems of Marin City.

The meeting was called at the request of the redevelopment agency, faced with a financial problem of meeting obligations to other jurisdictions, particularly the Sausalito School District, and to private lenders, but with slow sales of houses and co-operative apartments in the redevelopment area.

$100,000 A Year For Greek Queen

ATHENS (AP) — Queen Mother Frederika of Greece is going to get a government pension of $100,000 a year, the newspaper Vima said today.

Palace officials declined to comment on the report, which quoted government sources.

Hub Manager Flautt Is Due Same Salary As Mill Valley's

San Anselmo City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt will get a $100 a month raise in salary, beginning Oct. 1, bringing his pay from $1,074 to $1,175, the same as Mill Valley pays its city manager.

City councilmen last night voted the pay raise by unanimous vote, and commended Flautt for "doing a good job."

The San Anselmo City Council also studied a proposal by Mozart Kaufman, who said he wants to develop the rear of his department store, which abuts the former Greyhound depot site so that the back will look even more attractive than the front.

He proposed a 16-foot sidewalk area at the rear entrance, with large planter boxes to serve as benches, and trees to provide shade. He wants to complete the improvement in November, in plenty of time for Christmas shopping.

The sidewalk area would encroach on city property.

Thomas Stoddard of The Alameda and Mrs. John West of Crescent Lane asked the councilmen to hold off approving individual improvement plans until a general plan can be worked out for the entire Hub area, with emphasis on esthetics. They said they are interested especially in preserving the creek.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Adopted a select system of streets as required by the state for gasoline tax purposes. Public Works Director Richard A. Sypher said that Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Redhill Avenue, Center Boulevard, and Butterfield Road are designated as main arterials.

2. Approved a sign to advertise the Oct. 3 Grape Festival, waived a business license for the festival, and decided to permit a fire engine to be stationed on the premises on that day.

3. Approved a list of six men who had passed the police officer examination but postponed hiring one until Chief Raymond R. Buchignani returns next month from the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy.

4. Called for bids on three new police cars to replace three 1963 sedans now in use. Bids will be opened on Oct. 13.

5. Approved re-installation of street light near 201 Brookside Drive, as requested by Hans E. Fischel of 107 Brookside Drive.

6. Asked Administrator Flautt to get information on future street re-alignment plans at the Hub so that owners of Mobil service station, gutted by fire, can make plans for remodeling.

7. Voted to extend a water line from Forest Avenue to Creek Road, with a fire hydrant at the end of the line. Cost to the city will be about $1,400. Fire Chief Frank Sousa recommended the water line extension for fire protection purposes.

Strep Cases Lead Diseases

Fifteen streptococcus infections, of which San Rafael and Mill Valley each had five, led the list of communicable diseases reported to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer, last week.

Fairfax had two of the infections, while Corte Madera, San Anselmo and Novato had the others.

There were five cases of measles, of which San Rafael had two. Others were in Marin City, Mill Valley and San Anselmo.

Novato had two of the three reported cases of mumps, with the other coming from Fairfax. The list also included one case each of Salmonella food poisoning (in Belvedere-Tiburon), infectious hepatitis (in Fairfax) and Shigella (in Corte Madera).

AA Meeting Set

The courthouse group of Alcoholics Anonymous will hold a public meeting Thursday to mark its seventh anniversary. The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Dept. 2 of Marin Superior Court at the Courthouse in San Rafael.

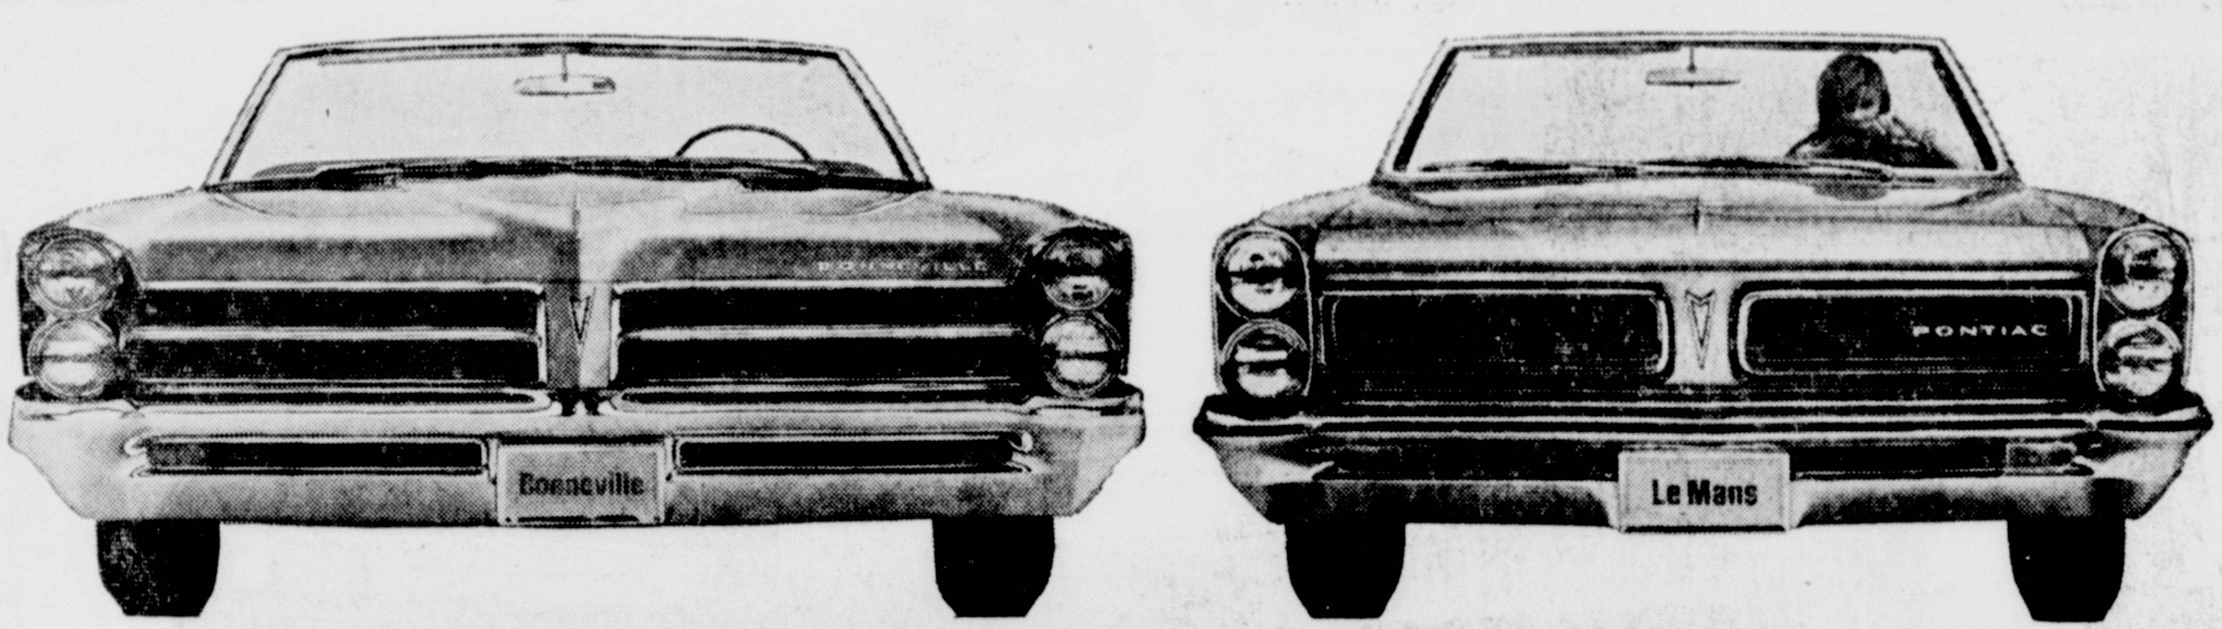
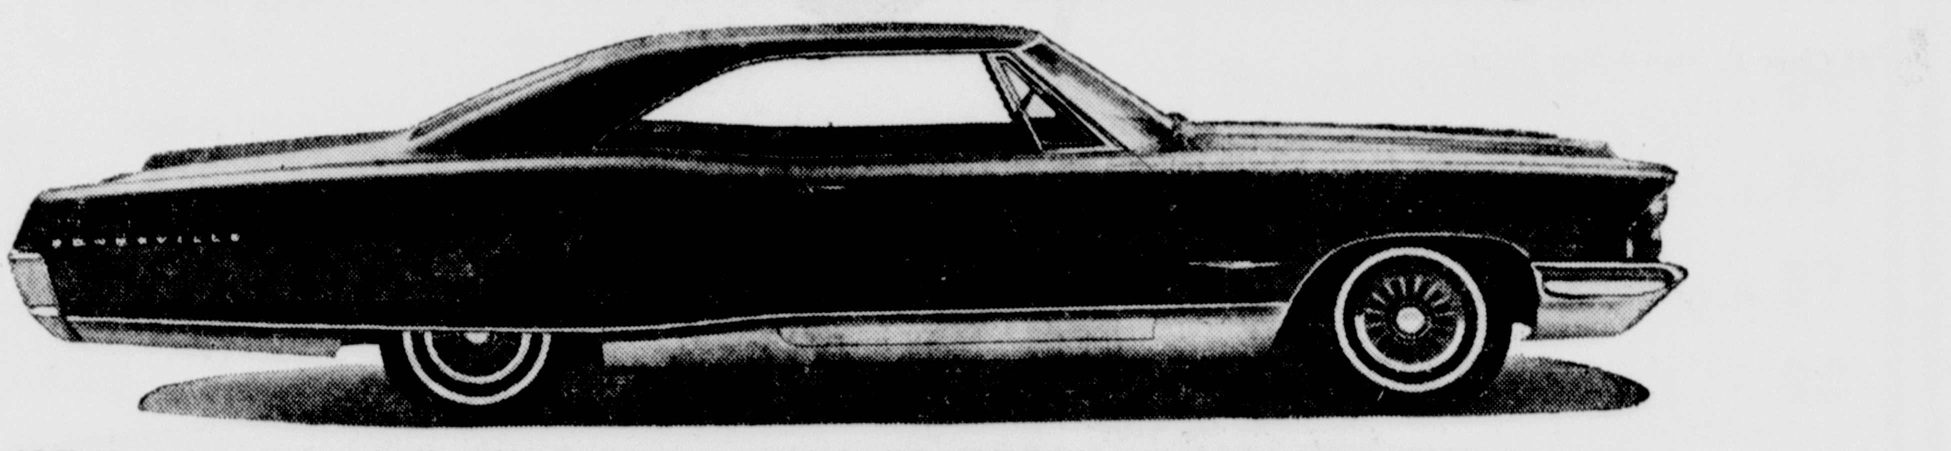
Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

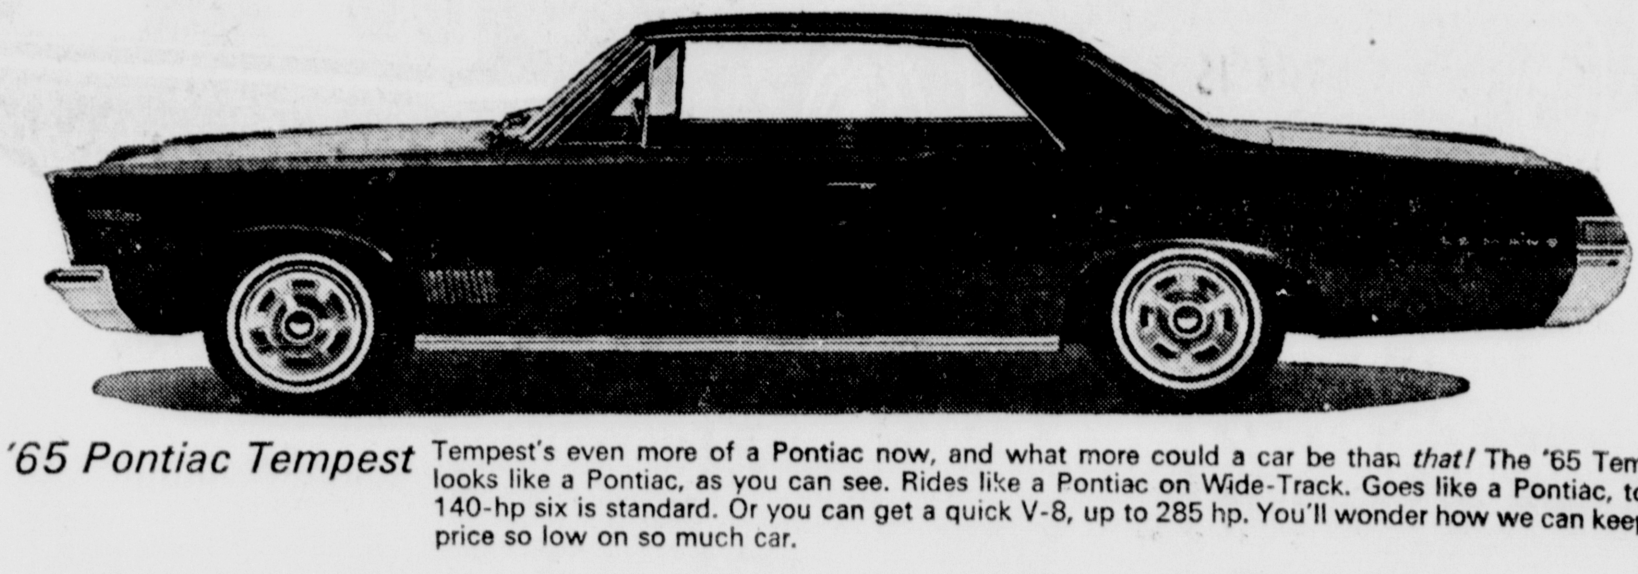
1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks



What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkiest, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!



'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.



'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

ALL A MISTAKE — Sylvan Millerbernd of Cosmos, Minn., leans against a Highway 15 sign near Winthrop, Minn., as he hitchhiked back home from Rochester after being picked up for a traffic ticket he had already paid. (AP Wirephoto)

PATROL MAKES ERROR

He Pays Ticket But Gets All The Traffic Will Allow

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Sylvan Millerbernd, 29, a farmer, is thinking about hiring a lawyer about that matter of a $10 traffic ticket.

It wasn't the ticket that irked him. It was what happened after he paid it.

Millerbernd, of Cosmos, Minn., was taken in a state highway patrol car 150 miles and jailed at Rochester for allegedly ignoring a traffic ticket issued in June. He paid it by mail Aug. 26.

He was arrested Sunday night at his home, where friends and neighbors were visiting, he said, and whisked away despite his protests. A relay of six patrolmen took him to Rochester.

"They treated me like a criminal," he said.

Worse yet, Millerbernd said the ticket had been instrumental in ruining a $1,000 engine and putting him out of the trucking business. He was given the ticket for having insufficient brakes on a pickup truck for towing a disabled semitractor. Driving the tractor home ruined the motor he contended.

Millerbernd said he wasn't offered a ride back from Rochester, so he hitchhiked the 150 miles back home, letting off steam on the way.

Drake High Hits Record

Sir Francis Drake High School has started the new school year with the largest enrollment in its history.

The San Anselmo school has 173 more students than the original capacity, but new facilities have been added to cope with the problem.

SUPERVISORS HIT PROPOSITION 14

Fusselman Opposes Board Move, Not His Right To Tell Others How To Vote

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday added its voice to those against Proposition 14 on the November ballot.

The vote was 4-1, with Supervisor William D. Fusselman opposed. The matter was not on the agenda and no one appeared to speak from the audience.

"I bow to no one in my compassion and sincere consideration and friendship for people of different race than my own," Fusselman said before the vote. But, he went on, "I wasn't elected to tell people how to vote."

(Proposition 14 calls for a constitutional amendment which would nullify California fair housing legislation and forbid such legislation in future.)

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who is a member of the executive board of the Marin Chapter of Californians Against Proposition 14, brought the matter up. He said Marin had been the only county in the state to formally endorse the Rumford Bill, which would be repealed by the proposed constitutional amendment.

He said in general he would agree with Fusselman not to take a stand on a state measure, but said the question of Proposition 14 was a moral and ethical one, and the board's action would be a "political duty."

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker seconded the motion and supervisor George H. Ludy said he wished he could re-second it.

Greyhound Faces State PUC Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Western Greyhound's request for a 20 per cent fare increase for Bay Area commute service has brought on an investigation by the State Public Utilities Commission.

The probe will be to determine whether bus fares, operations, facilities and service are "reasonable and adequate" and if the company should not be ordered to extend route service, the PUC said yesterday.

Greyhound proposed to buy 60 new buses at a cost of 1.8 million dollars for its commute service when it applied for the fare boost on July 23.

Oil Paintings

Mill Valley artist Don Elda Boutwell will show a collection of oil paintings next month at the Den of Antiquity, 1915 Bridgeway, Sausalito. The paintings will be shown during the whole of October.

PAUL Y. DUNN
Cites way to save

Giving To Crusade Is Called A Saving

"If we paid more attention—and gave more money—to our youth agencies, we would have to spend less in taxes for corrective programs in the long run" is the conviction of Paul Y. Dunn, chief executive of the Marin County Boy Scouts.

As chairman of the speakers' bureau for the current United Crusade drive, Dunn uses this as an illustration in his appeals for Crusade donations.

"It costs $16.25 per day to keep a boy or girl in Juvenile Hall," he says, "and while the parents pay part of this when they can, it still means dollars to us in taxes. And the contrast with the cost of supporting a boy or girl in a youth agency—less than $20 per year in the Boy Scouts, for example—is enormous.

"It is not the primary purpose of the Scouts and other youth agencies to prevent juvenile delinquency, but by the very nature of our work we do help in a very substantial way. All the youth agencies spend a great deal of effort in the high-delinquency areas."

State President Due At San Rafael Aerie

San Rafael Eagles Aerie will hold a dinner meeting Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. at which Joseph Fournier, president of the California Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be the featured speaker.

The dinner and speech will be followed by a business meeting and initiation of candidates.

Drake Widening Job Near Finish

Torn-up Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near the Hub intersection in San Anselmo will be restored to its former travelway by the time of the Oct. 3 Grape Festival, Administrator Douglas J. Flautt assured the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The entire street widening and bridge construction project should be completed by the contractor, Ghilotti Brothers, by mid-October, he added.

The original contract price was $117,990, but the job is now estimated at $142,300 because of work changes made since the contract was awarded back in May, Flautt disclosed.

Public Works Director Richard A. Sypher outlined various factor which resulted in the $25,000 discrepancy in cost.

One was that the concrete bottom of the Tunstead Avenue bridge was designed so that the footings are well below grade, and the city engineer did not feel that an invert is necessary. But the State Division of Highways, in approving the plan for gasoline tax funds, asked that the invert be included. This added $8,961 to the cost, plus the added cost of reinforcing steel.

During demolition, an old concrete railroad bed appeared to be only two feet thick. But after work began, it was discovered that the thickness increased to 10 feet at the deepest point.

Typographical errors also caused miscalculation in the amount of concrete required, Sypher said.

"I do not expect this situation to occur at any time, and assuredly not again under my supervision," Sypher told the city fathers.

City councilmen and citizens in the audience expressed concern that the torn-up streets are hurting business in town, and a widened Sir Francis Drake Boulevard might run into a bottleneck when the four-lane highway narrows to two lanes at Tunstead Avenue and southward toward Ross.

Engineer Sypher showed drawings of the four-lane to two-lane transition at Tunstead Avenue and said, "We haven't made anything any worse."

Administrator Flautt reported that Ross Town Council has already engaged an engineer to plan for the transition at Bolinas Avenue, when Sir Francis Drake is widened to the Ross city line.

Goldwater Blasts Cuts In Defense For 'Handouts'

Miller Says Debate Avoided; Humphrey Defends Economy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Barry Goldwater said today in Dallas, Tex., that President Lyndon B. Johnson wants to cut defense spending in favor of "handouts here, subsidies there," and declared: "That way lies national suicide."

Drumming criticism of the Democrats' foreign and defense policies, the Republican presidential nominee said that if the United States is to halt communism and safeguard freedom "we must be stronger than the enemy by far.

"We must realize that the responsible use of power—to deter those with hostile intent—is not so largely to provoke all-out war as it is to prevent war," Goldwater said in an address prepared for the American Legion's national convention.

"If the Communists believe the odds favor them," the Arizona senator said, "they will not hesitate to hit us with their most fearsome weapons."

Goldwater said the administration now proposes "to cut our military spending in order to provide funds for sticking the government's fingers in a still larger mess of pie—for handouts here, subsidies there."

He said that effort is likely to end up "draining the public's purse" and doing more harm than good.

At Idaho Falls, Ida., Goldwater's running mate Rep. William Miller today charged that President Johnson is "hiding behind a smoke screen" to avoid campaign debate on his personal fortune and other issues.

Miller continued his hard-hitting attack on Johnson as he swung into the second day of an intensive campaign swing that has been dominated alternately by slashing criticism of the president and vigorous defenses to allegations of conflict of interest against himself.

He continued hitting at the personal financial activity of Johnson, arguing that there was public "suspicion and doubt" about the way the Johnson family acquired a fortune centered on a television station, a federally regulated activity.

Miller described the president as a man without convictions, one whose ethics needed close public scrutiny.

Last night in Billings, Mont., Miller said, as he had previously, that he had opposed "discriminatory wool legislation," on behalf of the company and said he had done so to protect the jobs of its workers. He said he had no stock holdings in Lockport Felt.

Miller had said earlier he was an assistant secretary and director of the firm at a salary of $7,500 a year.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning at Evansville, Ind., today told Indiana voters that if they want a responsible president they'll have to vote Democratic.

"In such a difficult and demanding period of history, this nation has no choice but to elect as president the man who knows the meaning of responsibility, who has demonstrated his capacity to bear the immense burdens of this office . . .

"Responsibility has been the hallmark of the Kennedy-Johnson administration and responsibility is the single quality which most distinguishes President Johnson from the leader of the Goldwater faction," the Democratic vice presidential candidate told a courthouse rally in this southwestern Indiana city.

"Unlike the leader of the Goldwater faction," Humphrey said in his prepared remarks, "I come to Evansville today to reaffirm the conviction that we need not fear the future, we need not retreat to the past, we need only seek the help and the hands of the American people in our quest for a better America, in our pledge to keep America moving forward."

Humphrey defended this record and said the Democrats had demonstrated responsibility by "taking an economy which has suffered three recessions in eight Republican years and transforming it into an economy which produces 43 consecutive months of record-breaking growth."

TRAFFIC 'SPEED KILLS' THEORY IS CHALLENGED

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new automobile accident report, challenging the theory that chances of a mishap increase in proportion to the rate of speed, says the key factor is the difference between a vehicle's speed and the average speed of other traffic moving in the same direction.

A report by Bureau of Public Roads experts—issued yesterday—concluded that an automobile traveling 40 miles an hour on a highway with a 60-mile speed limit is just as likely to be involved in an accident as another car going 80.

Among other conclusions:

Chances of an accident of a car going 20 miles an hour would be sharply higher than either the 40 m.p.h. or 80 m.p.h. vehicle.

The death rate is highest at very high speeds, but lowest at average speeds.

Drivers under 25 or over 65 are more likely to be involved in accidents.

Curtain Going Up For 1965's Autos

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry was in a holiday mood today as it lifted the curtain on the first of its 363 new 1965 models.

Ford Motor Co. unveiled its Lincoln-Continental line today, and American Motors put its Ramblers on display.

All General Motors divisions will show their new products tomorrow with Chrysler Corp. and the rest of Ford's lines due for public view Friday.

Salesmen in 40,000 dealer showrooms across the country had their pencils sharpened to resume the fast selling pace which marked the 1964 model run.

One of the key questions was whether auto makers would hold the price line, in view of contract gains won by the United Auto Workers and increased costs of some materials.

A partial answer came Tuesday when Ford announced that 1965 Lincoln-Continental prices would be unchanged. The four-door sedan, for example, was listed at a $5,766 factory-suggested price, the same basic price the car has had since it was introduced in September 1960.

Basic prices of Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet lines remained the same as in 1964, but there were some adjustments in prices of optional equipment.

In general, the trend in 1965 cars was towards longer, more powerful vehicles.

On the styling front, the most noticeable thing about 1965 cars is that their generally follow long, clean lines with a minimum of gingerbread. More engine options and raft of accessories are available.

Chevrolet, with 45 models in its five lines, offers more choices than any other car maker. Ford is next with 44.

The fastback, a straight slopping line from the rear window to the rear bumper was noticeable on quite a few new cars.

The industry seemed to operate on the theory that customers had more money and wanted more than a stripped-down car.

General Motors Pact Negotiations Slow Up

DETROIT (AP) — Controversial non-economic problems appeared today to be the major roadblocks to a peaceful settlement in labor contract negotiations between General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union.

Bargaining teams—faced with an impending strike deadline—met in morning, afternoon and night sessions yesterday seeking agreement on a pact covering some 354,000 UAW-represented employees at 129 GM plants in 71 cities across the nation.

Their time was devoted almost exclusively to such matters as working conditions, production standard, union representation and disciplinary layoffs.

Both sides agreed there was still time to avoid a nationwide strike before the 10 a.m. Friday deadline set by the UAW. Their comments to newsmen, however, were anything but encouraging.

"There was no progress whatsoever—and a lot of work has yet to be done," said UAW president Walter Reuther.

"There was no substantial forward movement," agreed Louis Seaton, GM vice president for personnel. "But if we work at it, there is no reason in the world why we can't reach a settlement on both economic and non-economic matters."

In an effort to speed up the process, both sides agreed to scale down their representation at the main bargaining table to six members each. Other negotiators formed subcommittees concentrating on such specialized subjects as pensions, insurance, skilled trades and the like.

Friday's strike deadline is for an agreement on a national contract covering such items as wages, pensions, vacations, relief time and working conditions.

Editors For High School Are Named

Editors of the two student publications at Terra Linda High School have been named, and student staffs have been selected for each.

Charles Ennis, last year's outstanding high school journalist award winner, will head the Voice of Troy, student newspaper. Ennis, a junior, is a son of Lt. Col. Charles Ennis, 258 Las Lomas Street, Hamilton Air Force Base.

Sue Vantine and Jan Miller, both seniors, will head the yearbook, "Oracle," as co-editors. Miss Vantine is a daughter of Robert Vantine, 362 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, and Miss Miller is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, 558 Pinewood Drive, Marinwood.

Helping with the newspaper will be Donna Spencer, managing editor; Sheryl Griffen, news editor, and Jerry Webb, advertising manager and sports editor.

On the yearbook, Jackie Nyhus will serve as senior editor, Marilyn McLean as activities editor, and Bonnie Brown as art editor.

DOLLARS FOR DEMOCRATS DRIVE

Former United States Treasurer Elizabeth R. Gatov of Kentfield autographs a dollar bill, which bears her official signature, to open the Democrats fund campaign. Watching are Jenny and Katie Westberg, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Westberg of Mill Valley. The one-week drive starts this Saturday.

Pro-Prayer Vote Ousts Trustees

LA MESA, Calif. (UPI)—Three La Mesa-Spring Valley School District trustees who voted to ban teacher-led prayers in school have been recalled from office.

An organization called Parents for Prayers started the recall movement after the five-man board voted 3-2 to ban teacher-led prayers. The action to have prayers banned in the district's schools was initiated by the American Civil Liberties Union.

The recalled trustees — who will be replaced on the board by Mrs. Geraldine Gill, Dr. William McCandless and the Rev. Lewis Ginn—say they acted on the advice of San Diego County Counsel Bertram McLees Jr.

Newspaper Editor Named At Seminary

She replaces Edward Weber of Kansas, who was elected editor last year but did not return to the seminary this year. The paper was named the Disseminarian last year, its first year of publication after some years' lapse.

Hub Parks Cost Put At $131,000

A master plan for San Anselmo Memorial Park, which would include play areas for all ages, an elevated park area with picnic grounds, and possibly a field house and an amphitheater, was laid out last night before the San Anselmo City Council.

Landscape architect William L. Kapranos presented a point-by-point proposal, which adds up to a total cost of about $131,000 if all items are included. The city paid the architect $500 to draw up the master plan.

Mayor William Franchini thanked the architect for an "excellent plan" and decided to postpone a decision until each councilman has had a chance to study the proposal in detail.

Thomas Stoddard, representing the San Anselmo Homes Assn., suggested that a public swimming pool be considered instead of the amphitheater. He said a pool would be widely used, and "would pay for itself and ultimately might help pay for the entire park."

Architect Kapranos's plan calls for an active playground area adjacent to Isabel Cook School, and a park area, elevated about three feet, for more passive recreation. The elevated portion would include a field house, picnic area, amphitheater, wading pool, seniors' play area, tiny tot compound, and landscaped grounds.

A parking compound would provide for about 80 parking spaces, with adjacent courts for volleyball and badminton.

The plan also outlined a complete irrigation system to make it easier for the city to water the grounds and maintain the park.

Red-Led Japanese Oppose U.S. Base

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—About 35,000 Communist-led demonstrators marched past the U.S. Navy base in this port city today shouting opposition to visits by nuclear submarines.

The Japanese government recently gave its approval to port calls by atomic subs provided they do not carry nuclear missiles.

Measure For Aged Housing Will Be Topic

County Proposition A on the Nov. 3 ballots—the proposal for a bond issue to underwrite low-rent housing for the elderly—will be discussed on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

This is the third in a series of political discussions scheduled by program conductor Kitty Oppenheimer before the election.

Speakers will be Richard Phenix, coordinator of the Marin County Community Services Project; Mrs. G. Stanleigh Arnold, vice chairman of the Citizens Committee for Housing of Marin's Elderly; John Shonbran, regional director of the Public Housing Administration, and Fran Jenkins, representative of the Marin County Real Estate Board on the Citizens Committee for Home.

Questions telephoned by listeners will be directed to the speakers. A rebroadcast from a recording will be at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Cello, Piano Program Is Near-Perfect

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Beethoven's lyrical genius shone with brilliant clarity in the playing last night by cellist Gabor Rejto and pianist Adolph Baller of four sonatas.

It was the opening recital of Dominican College's concert series, presented in Angelico Hall. It was also the first of a series of concerts the musicians will give as a benefit for the scholarship they have established at Dominican as a memorial to their late colleague, violinist Maurice Wilk, who with them composed the Alma Trio.

Sonatas performed were the F Major, Op. 5, No. 1; the D Major, Op. 102, No. 2; the G Minor, Op. 5, No. 2; and the A Major, Op. 69.

All were so beautiful and so flawlessly executed that it was almost impossible to select high points of the program. Though the effortless ease and technical perfection of the faster movements was thrilling, we were most impressed with the wonderful warmth of cello tone, subtly turned phrases and expressive power of the melodies in the adagio movements.

In response to their enthusiastic reception by an audience composed mostly of young women students at the college, the artists played Beethoven's Variations in B Flat Major.

To Antioch College

Ronald A. Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Yoder of 917 Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael, will enter Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, next week. Ronald was a June graduate of Terra Linda High School. He tentatively plans to major in accounting.

Religious Freedom Declaration Sought

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Three American cardinals appealed to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today to pass a declaration that every human being has a right to complete religious freedom.

Conservative Spanish and Italian cardinals assailed the proposal as a danger to the Roman Catholic Church.

During the same meeting in St. Peter's Basilica, the 2,500 council fathers voted approval of the very heart of the collegiality concept of shared power by pope and bishops in governing the Church.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis — speaking for nearly all 244 U.S. bishops — called on the council to defend religious liberty. They said approval of the declaration was an absolute necessity.

The opposition to the religious liberty declaration — one of the most controversial tropics of the council — came from cardinals Alfredo Ottaviani and Ernesto Ruffini of Italy, and Spanish Cardinals Fernando Quiroga and Jose Bueno.

They supported the view that public officials have the right to establish a state religion.

Cardinal Ottaviani, conservative head of the Vatican's holy office, was quoted as saying:

"We must profess and defend the Catholic faith even if sometimes this brings persecution."

Cardinal Cushing, in his first speech to the council, was quoted as saying:

"What we are asking," he said, "can be summed up in what has become an important phrase in traditional American life — 'decent respect for the opinions of mankind'."

Danish Election Upsets Cabinet

COPENHAGEN Denmark (UPI) — Socialist Premier Jens Otto Krag today delivered the formal resignation of his coalition government to King Frederik. Monday's general election had reduced the coalition to a minority.

The King asked Krag to stay on as caretaker premier. None of the opposition parties won a majority, and it was expected that Krag would try to form a minority coalition government instead of calling for new elections immediately.

Whatever the political uncertains, no changes were foreseen in Danish foreign policy. All the major parties agree on adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Jury Decrees Death For Children's Slayer

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A jury decreed death Tuesday for Robert Nicolaus, 31, who confessed he placed his three children in a car trunk and then shot them to death.

It took the Sacramento County Superior Court jury six hours to decide to send the pale, Sacramento State College psychology graduate to the gas chamber.

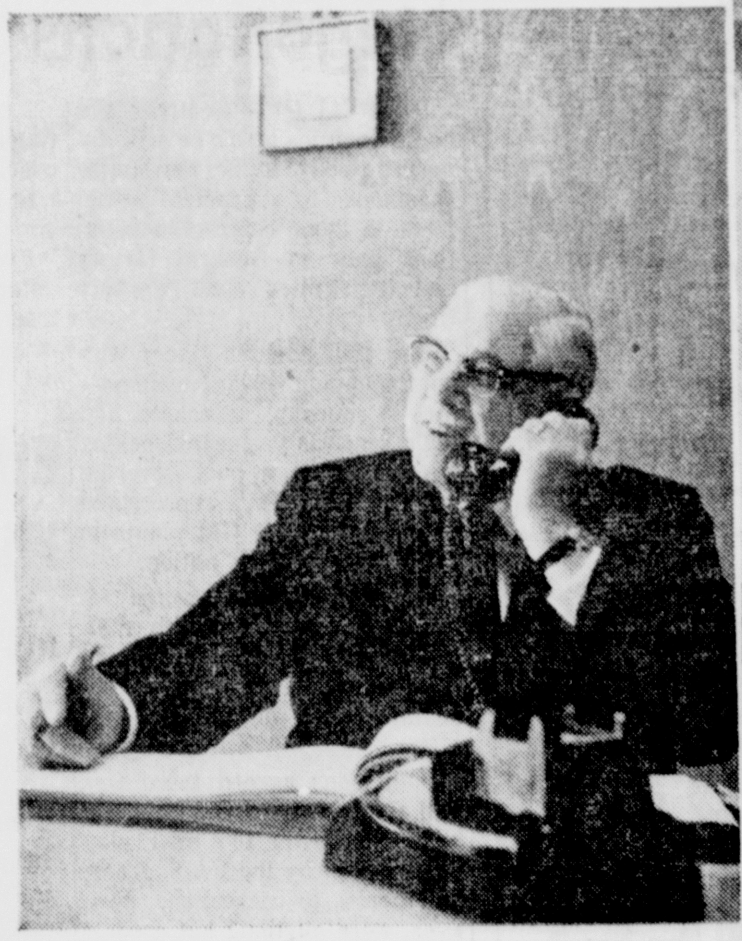
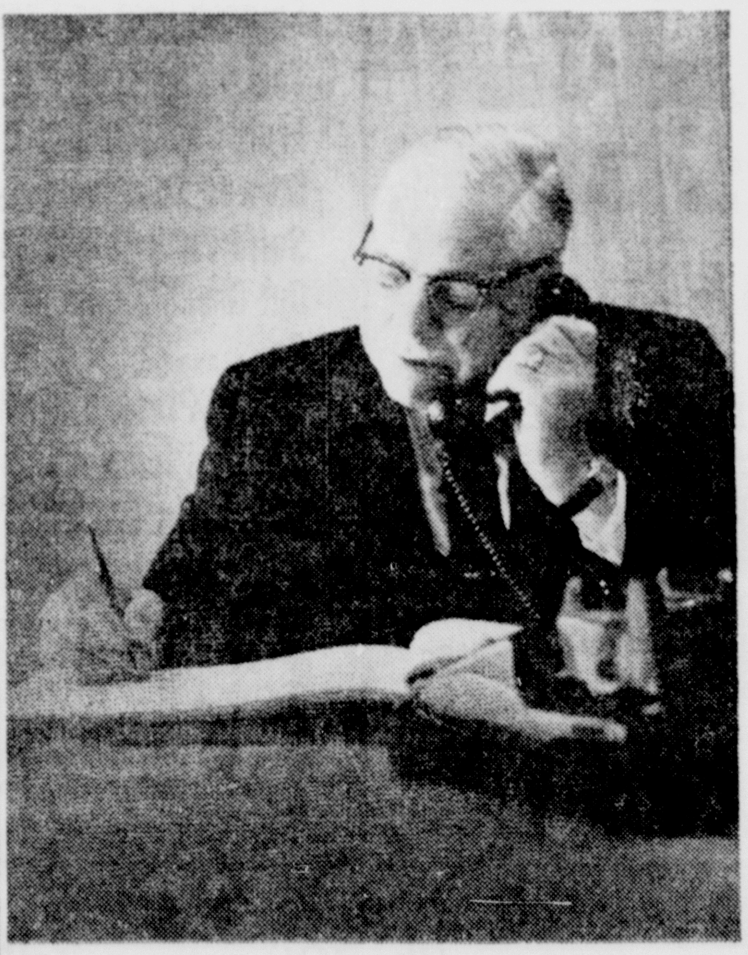
Bill Fusselman Calling





Now, I thoroughly dislike bitter personality exchanges. Nevertheless my close friends and supporters insist that I must show just how my opponent tries to maneuver the voters without disclosing his past 15 years activities.

The important thing is not whether either one of us has the personal satisfaction of winning this election. The real and only important thing to you is how well you will be served.

As an example of his effort to direct your attention away from an explanation of how he has devoted his 15 years residence in the County, my gracious opponent, last November, had this to say to many people: "I am going to take him on for his age and absenteeism." "HIM," being your humble servant. A question is posed: Does he infer that I am mentally incompentent? HE is, if he thinks so. If it is longevity he refers to: Who knows? He MAY have a direct line to headquarters and have the answer. I doubt it. I don't think he can qualify. As a matter of information—my Mother was within 4 months of being 90—my Dad's father was 92 and his mother 84.

After the shock of having a fiftieth birthday, age has never bothered me. I have had 25 more happy years to justify my existence—25 years of training and experience which can be very valuable to you.

What has he been doing the past 15 years for the public weal? He continually refers to himself as a successful businessman. What business? How successful?

His claim of my absenteeism is completely false—just sheer nonsense, which was proven when I published the attendance record of all five Supervisors.

You know, the meetings of the Board of Supervisors have the least time requirements of the entire job. ABSENTEEISM? I haven't taken a vacation in the 22 years I have been Supervisor. Nor have I left the County for a period of over 24 hours. There has been a continuing attention to County Business.

A long time friend who has many contacts with County departments said to me recently, "Bill, to many people you fellows are just names in the paper. It's a shame they don't have more opportunities to meet you." He is right. I suppose thousands of Marin folks never have been to one of our meetings, nor have had occasion to confer with their particular Supervisor. So I had some photos taken in July and August while I was at work. Three of them, used here, will illustrate my availability.

I have a telephone on my desk at home—another one in my office at the Civic Center which is served by alert operators at the two switchboards—one at the Civic Center and the other at the Courthouse. If I am in either building the call will go through. On the road I am constantly tuned in on a two-way radio with the operators at our Communications Center in San Rafael. I have carried on, "loud and clear," conversations with them from north of Sebastopol, Montgomery Street, Union Square and the many residential areas of San Francisco, as well as the East Bay. Contact can be had around the clock. Complete availability.

Sincerely,

Bill Fusselman

Well Baby Clinics To Offer More Service

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday appropriated $1,525 to increase the number of child health conferences —also known as well baby clinics—provided by the county health department.

According to the plan submitted by the department, nine more clinics a year will be held in the Fairfax - San Anselmo area, so that each city will have two sessions every month.

Nine sessions will also be added for the Gallinas Valley and 15 other sessions a year will be spread throughout the county as population and requests demand the service.

Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant health officer, said that in some places appointments are being booked two months in advance, and that infants should be able to receive medical checks much sooner than that after birth.

The board also agreed to hire Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks at $600 a month and Dr. Patricia A. Hallinan at $550 a month to share the post of assistant health officer should Dr. Tonelli take a year's leave of absence for further study.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to draw up a statement of the facts in the question of whether a Marin transit district should be formed. The action was taken even though the board had learned such a statement could not be mailed with the sample ballots.

2. Directed architects of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation to take into consideration plans by the Louise A. Boyd Museum Assn. and the Marin Museum Assn. for needs for space in the Civic Center complex. The foundation is revising the Civic Center-Fairgrounds master plan.

3. Took the question of changes in the zoning ordinance restricting residential development in industrially and commercially zoned areas off the calendar, and asked for a survey of needs for such uses and for a possible interim move controlling such development, but not necessarily prohibiting it.

4. Adopted open area zoning for three small parcels of Marin Municipal Water District watershed land which had inadvertently been missed in a previous action.

5. Appointed Barbara Bradley as intermediate typist clerk, auditor-controller's office; Garry L. Aquilino as junior accountant, treasurer-tax collector's office; Joseph L. Henderson as tabulator operator, data processing bureau; Alvin Lees as programmer, data processing system; Martha Jean Warner as deputy clerk, municipal court; Nelda E. Oakley as intermediate typist clerk, sheriff's office; Marjorie O'Brien as senior typist clerk, health department; Louie Preston as social worker, social services; Nona Sheets as library aide, library, and Luther Norwood as janitor, public works.

6. Promoted Jeanne Desmond from intermediate account clerk to senior account clerk, auditor-controller's office; Lois Motz from intermediate typist clerk to library assistant, and Betty Times from library aide to intermediate typist clerk, library; Branson Peppers from mechanic to heavy equipment mechanic, and Richard G. Shaler draftsman I to draftsman II, public works.

Chairman Named For Bay Crusade

Major group chairmen were announced today for two of the five divisions in the Marin United Crusade campaign now under way.

Charles E. Pollock, chairman of the professional division, named these group chairmen: Dr. Ira H. Degenhardt of San Rafael, physicians; Dr. James R. Rideout, Terra Linda, dentists; Richard A. Clarke, San Rafael, attorneys; Robert Matthews, Marin General Hospital, hospitals and medical groups; Richard O. Pancost, Sunny Hills, social agencies; Jack Hermann, Kentfield, architects; Richard S. Harding, San Rafael, consulting engineers, and Glenn W. Sleezer, San Rafael, accountants.

The professional division has been assigned a quota of $24,903.

In the public employees division, chairman Michael Mitchell named William Desmond of the county health department as chairman of the county section and Eugene Churchill of the North Marin County Water District as head of the tax districts. City chairmen include Mrs. Eleanor Lyncn, San Rafael; Douglas Flautt, San Anselmo; Arthur Lang, Mill Valley; Mrs. Isabelle Moore, Larkspur; Arthur H. Brandow, Corte Madera; Mrs. Alice Leonesio, Fairfax; Kenneth H. Huck, Sausalito, and Mrs. Natalie Lewis, Ross.

Quota set for the public employees division is $8,969.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee has voted to continue for two years the Food for Peace program for disposing of U.S. farm surpluses overseas. Final congressional approval is expected.

President Lyndon B. Johnson had asked that the program be extended for five years. In the past 10 years 12.3 billion dollars worth of agricultural products was shipped abroad at a cost of 17 billion dollars.

The measure authorizes expenditure of 3.5 billion dollars on the program over the next two years.

$120,000 Assault Suit Filed

A $120,000 suit for alleged assault and false arrest has been filed in Marin Superior Court by a Novato man against his neighbor.

Melvin Kobretz, 33, of 45 Montego Key, filed the suit against George Schultz. He alleges that on Sept. 6, Schultz, of 57 Montego Key, struck him without provocation, and the defendant then unlawfully arrested Kobretz "without probable cause."

Kobretx asks $20,000 damages for the alleged assault, and a total of $100,000 damages for physical and mental suffering resulting from the arrest.

Marin County sheriff's reports show both Kobretz and an "Arthur" Schultz of that address were booked on citizens' arrests for assault and battery. Marin Municipal Court records show no complaints were later filed, however, and bail for both men was exonerated.

Trustees Take A Reading On New Way Of Teaching

Four members of the San Rafael Board of Education were given a rundown last night on promising new techniques now being introduced to a few classes in the city's schools, for teaching youngsters to read.

The explanation came from Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan, who worked with similar methods in Euclid, Ohio, schools before coming here.

Jordan said the systems were worked out to get away from having small reading groups while the rest of the class did "seat work" of questionable value.

First step, he said, was creation of a "mechanized first grade by "tearing out the cloak room and putting in a console."

At first, tape recordings were used, with each child listening through earphones. Later, these were supplemented with slides to illustrate what was heard. Finally, Jordan said, the Euclid schools installed an enlarging device which projected words on the wall.

"It has been fairly well established that there is some positive correlation between retention and the size of print," he said.

Year-end tests indicated use of these devices had brought a phenomenal increase in the average reading ability of the youngsters, Jordan said. With a "normal" score set at 2.0 (for second grade), classes using the devices came up with median scores of 3.4, or nearly fourth grade level. Highest pupils in these classes, Jordan said, went beyond the limits of the test's scoring system, which stopped at 4.0.

Part of the explanation, Jordan said, is that children today have larger vocabularies when they first enter school than they used to. The reason: television.

Only three classes in the district are using the system this year, partly because of cost limitations and partly because Jordan and other officials prefer not to give teachers the feeling new methods are being "rammed down their throats."

Jordan said he would give a future demonstration on still another system, called "words in color." Results using this technique, he said, have been even greater.

"That is the one that really frightens us," he said.

Board member Bella H. Aaron was absent from the session.

San Rafael Votes Extra Salary To Vice Principals

Salaries of elementary school vice principals and teachers-in-charge were raised last night by the San Rafael Board of Education.

Acting on recommendation of Supt. Bert C. Corona, the board granted the vice principals a $100 yearly raise and gave teachers in charge a $50 per year increase.

The board hired two full-time teachers, 14 adult education instructors, a clerk, and a home economics teaching aid.

Hired to teach French and German at Terra Linda High School was Donald Calder. Mrs. Katherine L. Louis was hired as a primary grade teacher.

Juliet Larrabure was hired as a clerk in the adult school and Mrs. Joanne McCrillis was designated a teacher aid in home economics at Terra Linda High School.

School Meeting

Discussion of additional classroom construction and reports on inventory, curriculum and report cards are scheduled by the Larkspur School District Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district offices at 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Flight Pattern Hearing Asked

A public hearing on the change in the Hamilton Air Force Base flight pattern was requested of the Air Force last night by the Novato City Council.

The formal request was voted after four members of the audience asked that such a hearing be held.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street said she had tried to attend a briefing last Tuesday at the air base, but was denied admittance by the authorities there.

She also reported she had brought complaints about the change in the flight pattern to the attention of Rep. Donald H. Clausen and the Federal Aviation Agency.

"I disagree with the policy and procedures of the Air Force," said C. P. Hansen of 1418 Cambridge Street.

Mrs. Joseph D. Moock of 5 Dawes Court presented the council a petition with 17 signatures protesting the change in the approach pattern, which brings planes down to 1,500 feet over the residential area of Novato.

The Air Force had proposed a change from the south approach to one over Novato for their bad weather approach when winds blow from the south. This was approved June 15 by the FAA, and practice flights have been made over it since that time. As a result of residents' protests, the briefing for city officials and a few others was held last Tuesday.

J. Wayne Womack assured the group that Col. Charles D. Chitty, commander of the 78th Fighter Wing, had promised another briefing if the residents of the area wanted it.

The council then formally asked for such a meeting to be held at a time and place in which the public could attend, with advance notices given in the press.

Plan Commissioners Crack Down On Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission came down hard last night on businesses which try to add more signs to buildings already built to specifications approved by the commission.

"It's this piecemeal routine that kills us," said commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson.

"We have served notice that signs in downtown San Rafael are going to be few and far between," said chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

The case in question was a request by the United California Bank for a 5-foot by 5-foot sign. in the parking lot at the bank's new location. 830 Third Street Last week the commission had denied a request for another additional sign. this one to go atop the Northwestern Savings and Loan Ass'n. at 1200 Fifth Avenue.

Commissioner Hendrickson said that the United California sign was "just another piecemeal afterthought."

"Your building is already loaded," he told L. J. Hendy, assistant vice president in the bank's properties department. "Now you're trying to push this down our throats."

The four commissioners present voted unanimously to turn down the request.

The ire of another commissioner was vented against "blackmail" of the commission by designers and builders pleading ignorance of the law."

Commissioner John A. Miskimen was referring to a request by Harold Cookson, 53 Bret Hart Lane, for a variance to allow a 15-foot setback for his house rather than the 25 feet required. A swimming pool had already been built in the rear of the lot. seemingly on assumption the variance would be granted.

Since the permit for the pool had already been granted, however, Miskimen saw no alternative but to joint the other commissioners in approving the varience.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Approved Mobil Oil Co.'s request for a service station permit on the northwest corner of Francisco and Bellam Boulevards.
2. Postpone to Oct. 13 consideration of a subdivision at Chula Vista Drive, south of Oakmont Avenue, pending submittal of a revised map.
3. Postpone again Draper Co.'s request for subdivision of Peacock Gap Unit 7, extension of Peacock Drive and abutting territory, pending review of school site location by the San Rafael Board of Education.
4. Approved tentative map of Hujon, Inc., for Loch Lomond Highlands subdivision on condition that street pavement be widened from 22 to 26 feet, there be no blanket setback exceptions, and there be reservation of a 40-foot access for streets or utilities.
5. Approved plans for a 46-unit apartment complex at Bellam Boulevard and Sonoma Street by Spiliotis and Co.
6. Approved plans by Richard V. Bettini for a 44-unit apartment complex at Woodland Avenue and Irwin Street, conditional on sidewalk being built.
7. Approved plans to alter the Cheda Building at 1041 Fourth Street to house the Courthouse Creamery and the Modern Eve Shop.
8. Granted architectural approval to plans for an 8-unit apartment building at Marian Court and Bellam Boulevard, planned by Leland Mosk, providing all landscaping is installed before occupancy.
9. Gave Charles Grandi permission to build a duplex at 55-58 Elizabeth Way.

Noxato Youth, 14, Picked Up By Police

A 14-year-old Novato boy was cited to juvenile authorities by Novato police yesterday for indecent exposure.

Vivian Irene Zaehringer, 62, of 1817 Center Road, Novato, reported that the boy was exposing himself to passing cars on Center Road. Police said the boy admitted the act.

'Blinded' Driver Hurt In Crash Into Creek

A Novato driver was cut about the face and arms when his car hit a parked car and plummeted into Novato Creek at 8:15 p.m. yesterday.

Steven Guinasso, 51, of 840 McClay Road, told Novato police he was driving west on Grant Avenue when the lights of an oncoming car blinded him. His auto hit a parked car belonging to Stanley J. Montagne of 1305 Kaehler Court, then crossed the street and went into the creek. He was treated at Novato General Hospital.

Board Rejects Paradise Beach Bids

Two bids for first phase development of Paradise Beach County Park were rejected as excessive yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The board then authorized readvertising in the hope of attracting lower bids.

The lower of the bids received was $62,753.17, with $11,829 additional if restrooms are built, by A. and J. Shooter, Inc. of San Rafael. The other was $66,711.37 plus $13,473 from Cagnin and Dorward, San Anselmo.

Total amount available is about $57,000.

Park Director Kelvin J. Nelson said the lack of bidders might have been caused by late notice to the Builders' Exchange and trade journals. He and architect ASA Hanamoto said re-advertising might bring in lower bids, in spite of approaching winter weather.

Hanamoto said that the new bids could be based on a liberal time limit for completion and then a reluctance to bid late in the year might be overcome.

The board took final action on acquisition of the St. Hilary's wildflower area in Tiburon. The land is being purchased for $41,000, including $15,000 from the county, $12,300 in a federal open space grant, and $13,700 from the Belvedere - Tiburon Landmarks Society.

The board then voted to lease the property for 25 years to the Landmarks Society for maintenance as open area.

Home Owners Win Prizes

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Rasmussen, 16 Southridge East, have won first prize of $50 in a property improvement contest sponsored by the Reedlands Property Owners Assn.

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Clements, 5 Greenwood Court, won second prize of $50; Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Persinger, 7 Warren's Way, $20; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maillard, 41 North Terrace Court, $15, and Mrs. Alice E. Royo, 49 Reed Ranch Road, $10.

The contest for the most improvement of exterior appearance of properties was judged by a vote of the members of the association, Mrs. John Hellstrom, secretary, explained.

U.S. Judicial System Anniversary Is Marked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, apparently noting current congressional attempts to curb the Supreme Court's powers, said yesterday that debate over the court's authority to limit the powers of states "has never ended."

Marking the 175th anniversary of the federal judicial system, the smiling chief justice recalled congressional resolutions introduced "but not passed" designed to limit the court's jurisdiction over a century ago "for having invalidated state laws."

In the current debate, court critics are trying to delay — or prevent—implementation of the court's directive that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned according to population.

Warren recalled vigorous arguments in the first Congress between those "who feared federal encroachment of state power and those who were apprehensive of state power being exercised at the expense of national authority."

He made clear his viewpoint when he said "fortunately . . . a crucial provision" of the judiciary act of 1789—assuring federal legal authority to protect national rights under the Constitution — "became law and provided one of the most important nationalizing influences."

Warren spoke at the opening of a national archives exhibit of landmark decisions and key documents in Supreme Court history.

Missing Car Is Located

A San Rafael man read of a stolen car in the paper yesterday and called police to say the car was sitting near his house.

Angelo D. Laurenti of 223 Belle Avenue reported the blue 1964 Corvette coupe matched the description of one stolen Friday from Dr. Irenaeus N. Tucker of Kentfield.

Police said the car's motor and transmission were missing.

Entry of plea of Jesse Garcia, 30, charged with giving a false name to obtain narcotics, was continued in Marin Municipal Court yesterday until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Garcia, who has been residing in a San Anselmo hotel, was arrested Monday at the G and G Co. prescription pharmacy in Mill Valley after police learned he had allegedly obtained a bottle of terpin hydrate and codeine at Rutherford's Pharmacy, 68 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, under the name of Al Lopez.

Sausalitan Elected To GOP Unit

Richard E. Herndon, an attorney who lives at 144 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, was elected last night to the Marin County Republican Central Committee.

He succeeds William M. Spencer Jr. of Mill Valley, who resigned because his business will take him on trips out of the county.

Gerald E. Misner, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, appointed James McNab and William Anderson, both of Kentfield, to head the finance drive for the November campaign.

Misner said about 30 Marin Republicans will attend the annual meeting of the First District Republican Congressional Committee at Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa Friday night.

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), congressman from the First District, is scheduled to be the keynote speaker.

Hamlet' Is On Screen Tonight

A moving picture production of William Shakespear's "Hamlet," filmed as it was being performed on stage, will be presented tonight and tomorrow at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo.

The production stars Richard Burton and is directed by John Gielgud. Evening performances are set tonight and tomorrow night and a matinee will also be held tomorrow.

Matinee performance starts at 1:45 p.m., and the evening show starts at 8 o'clock.

Retirement Plan Approved At Hospital

A retirement plan, life insurane and major medical insurance for employees of Marin General Hospital were voted last night by the hospital district board.

Details of all are yet to be worked out, however.

The three members of the board present—chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, Mrs. Marion C. Ibach and Paul Kent—approved the employee retirement program, the result of two years study, to go into effect Jan. 1. Details are to be worked out meantime by Barrett Coates of the retirement consultant firm of Coates, Herforth and England in San Francisco.

The plan discussed would apply to employees reaching the age of 65. It would provide a pension of about 50 per cent of the former salary for those with 30 years or more of service, but whether this would apply to average salary over the 30 years or to the highest salary or average over a shorter period is yet to be decided.

The life insurance plan, to provide $2,000 life insurance for each employee, will be put out to bid by insurance carriers. The major medical insurance plan also will be subject to offers, and its details will depend on them.

All are to be started Jan. 1.

The board, on motion of Kettenhofen, also voted to initiate a hospital-administered home care program for persons convalescent after hospital treatment but still requiring special care. Details of what it should offer and what rates should be charged are to be worked out by a committee of Kettenhofen, Mrs. Ibach, and Dr. Wilson P. Goddard. The board plans to seek a subsidy from the Babcock Foundation to assist in financing the plan.

Harold A. Riede, the district's attorney, reported he was attempting to arrange with the examiner to resume hearings on admission of Dr. Stanford Ascherman to practice at the hospital, as directed by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. in Marin Municipal Court last Friday. He has not yet been able to do so, however, he said.

Three of the eight candidates for two hospital board posts at stage in the Nov. 3 election attended the meeting, which lasted until 1 a.m. today. They are George E. Croke, Hadden W. Roth, and Thomas K. Procter.

Newspaper Is Bought In Fairfax

The Fairfax News, a weekly "voluntary subscription" newspaper has changed hands.

The owner of the Pacific Sun and the Valley Sun, Merrill Groman, bought the weekly tabloid from Charles Colby, owner of the Terra Linda News and the San Pedro Pointer, both free distribution papers.

Groman said the principal change in the Fairfax News operation under his management will be its printing in his Stinson Beach publishing plant rather than in San Francisco, as previously.

Groman said the News would continue to appear on Thursday with coverage of Fairfax community news and "perhaps a little more photography than before."

Personnel changes brought about by the purchase place Mrs. Ralph Sutton as editor becoming news editor of the Valley Sun, with Barbara Scott becoming news editor of thae Sun, and Dolores Dollahite taking over as news editor of the News.

Peter Edwards, former editor of the Fairfax News, announced yesterday that he will start a new weekly newspaper in the area to be named the Fairfax-San Geronimo-Nicasio Reporter.

Edwards said he hopes to have the first edition of his newspaper out tomorrow, but said he had not yet completed printing arrangements.

Reed Trustees Look Into 7 School Sites

Trustees of Reed School District last night discussed seven possible school sites in the northern part of their Tiburon Peninsula district, but held off decision until further site studies are prepared.

Residents at last night's meeting seemed generally in favor of placing the school on the land known as the "Swayback Horse Pasture" off Tiburon Boulevard, with the possible addition of fill offshore of the pasture.

Trustees asked architects and the district staff to draw up comparative figures on the cost of any cutting or filling necessary on each site, cost of putting in roads and utilities, acquisition cost, a report on soil conditions, in addition to figures on the number of school-age children in the area of each site.

Trustees noted that some of the sites proposed on the hills of the peninsula would require removal of hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of dirt, and filling on the site.

"It's a crime to talk of making 60-foot cuts in these hills," R. W. Harvey of 173 Stewart Drive, said from the audience. "Even if it does require filling the bay." Harvey said he preferred the horse pasture site. He called it "centrally located . . . the most feasible" for the cost.

Trustees were less enthusiastic, noting that realignment of Tiburon Boulevard is already planned through the land, which would be surrounded by roads if the district were successful in having the proposed road moved farther toward the bay. Among other objections, they mentioned that the site would entail more bay filling than is planned by the highway division; it would be small and in later years still another site might be required in the area because of lack of room for expansion.

Areas under consideration for the school are:

1. Four different sites in the area of Stewart, Geldert, Hacienda drives and south of Trestle Glen Boulevard.
2. An area on the ridge somewhat north of Reed School and near the edge of Smithridge Estates.
3. A site on the ridge somewhat south of the end of Avenida Miraflores.
4. The horse pasture.

Trustees agreed to consider more detailed data on the sites at their Oct. 27 meeting.

Chemical Engineer

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Board of Civil and Professional Engineers announced James R. Laible, 117 Elena Circle, San Rafael, passed a recent examination for registration as a chemical engineer.

Black Point Bids Called

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Division of Highways has called for bids for removing slide material from the shoulder of State Route 27, the Black Point Cutoff, about seven miles east of Novato.

The work also will include stabilizing the slopes, reconstructing the shoulders and installing additional drainage facilities.

Bids will be opened in Sacramento Oct. 28, with $61,000 available.

Airlines Turn Up In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed mixed today in active trading.

Airlines were the upside feature, with United, Pan American and Western gaining a point or better.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.6 million shares compared with 5.26 million yesterday.

Fractional gains and losses were the general rule among key stocks but the favored issue throughout the list advanced a point or more.

Gains exceeding a point were made by Western Air Lines, Pan American, United and American Airlines.

IBM rose more than 3.

Up a point or better were Xerox, U.S. Smelting and Dymo Industries.

Milwaukee Road was up about 2 following news of merger agreement with Chicago and North Western which was off a fraction.

Texas Gulf Sulphur also was heavily traded and gained more than 2.

Up a point or better were Norfolk and Western and Trans World Airlines. Delta Air Lines rose about 2.

General Motors and Ford took fractional losses. Chrysler moved slightly higher after early wavering.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in heavy trading.

Bonds were mostly unchanged.

Chevrolet Firm Lost Franchise To Sell Autos

Andersen Chevrolet Inc. of Novato, which closed its doors to business yesterday, lost its franchise to sell Chevrolet cars, it was disclosed today by Alfred W. Bowman, member of the board of directors.

The selling agreement expired last Friday and the application for a new agreement was denied on the same date, Bowman said.

However, cars were still being sold through locked doors, Bowman charged.

During the last three months, Andersen Chevrolet Inc., has been operating under an extension of the selling agreement originally issued to Gordon Andersen, now deceased, Bowman said.

The application for the new permit was made in the name of Robert Rewoldt, member of the board of directors. This was denied.

"It was presumptious on the part of Rewoldt to post the 'permanently closed' sign while continuing to sell cars through the back door, especially after being ordered to close by the board of directors," Bowman said.

During World War II, the Declaration of Independence and the text of the Constitution were placed in Fort Knox for safekeeping.

Firm Declares Cash Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of Castle & Cooke, Inc., have declared a cash dividend of 35 cents for the second quarter of the 1964-65 fiscal year.

It is payable Oct. 16 to stockholders of record Sept. 28. The same dividend was paid for the first quarter of the current year. In the last fiscal year Castle and Cooke paid a total cash dividend of $1.20 per share plus a year end extra of 30 cents per share.

SO NEW! SO RIGHT! SO OBVIOUSLY CADILLAC!

The 1965 Cadillac is the most dramatically new Cadillac in sixteen years; new from chassis to rooftop and new from start to stop. Its remarkable styling—elegant, majestic and impressive as never before—establishes it instantly as an all-time Cadillac great. And not only is it an inspiration to look at—it is a revelation to drive! The marvelous responsiveness of Turbo Hydra-Matic is now standard on all eleven models. A new concept of frame and suspension gives the car incredible steadiness and levelness of ride—even under the severest conditions of cornering and handling. And there is quiet—quiet beyond anything you imagined possible in a motor car! Cadillac's new and more spacious interiors are marvelously rich and luxurious—and include such personal options as an exclusive tilt and telescope steering wheel. Cadillac owner or Cadillac admirer—you owe yourself a journey at the wheel without delay.

You will know at once that this is—in every way—the new Standard of the World!

Oakland Group Offers $6.5 Million Cash For Indians

BALANCING ACT BY PIRATE PIGSKINNERS

Drake High School end Larry Stein (81) reaches for a pass from Al Simontacchi during first quarter of the Pirates' game against Petaluma last Saturday, but the ball is slightly out of his reach. Moving in to help stop the pass is Petaluma's Chris Iverson (56). Drake barely got past the Trojans in the season opener for both teams, holding off a late rally for a 19-14 victory.

BATTLE FOR THE BALL—Drake's Stan Carter, an end, and an unidentified Petaluma defender both go after a pass from Pirates' Simontacchi during the third quarter of their game last Saturday in College of Marin stadium. Neither boy got the ball, however, as it fell incomplete.

Cleveland Says 'No' To Offer

CLEVELAND (AP) —Gabe Paul said today the Cleveland Indians have turned down an offer from an Oakland, Calif., group that wanted to move the American League club's franchise to Oakland.

"We received an offer," Paul said. "I'm not going to say how much it was, but I am going to say we turned it down.' '

The Oakland Tribune reported that $6.5 million was offered for the Indians. Paul, who owns a 20 per cent interest in the Indians, has said previously he has no intention of selling out, despite the club's financial troubles.

Paul, the president and general manager, took over two years ago as part of a 19-man syndicate which reportedly pid $6 million for the Indians.

Mayor John C. Houlihan, Chairman Kent D. Pursell of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, and President Robert T. Nahas of Coliseum, Inc., joined in urging the Ohio club owners to accept the bid.

Stockman is owner of the Edgewater Inn and a partner or director in 12 other corporations, said the Oakland Baseball Corp. which includes himself and two other Bay Area businessmen with backing from financial institutions.

Charley Fox Asked To Postpone S.F. Trip Until End Of Season

CONNOLLY

Charley Fox, manager of the S.F. Giant "farm team" at Tacoma, was asked to postpone his trip to S.F. until after the 1964 National League pennant race was over. Fox had a hotel reservation in the city and was prepared to come here several days ago. But at the last moment he was advised, so I am told, to cancel his reservations and wait until advised further by Giant officials.

It may not mean a thing and yet it does seem significant that the man who is most likely to succeed Alvin Dark as manager of the Giants in 1965 was "flagged down" at the eleventh hour on the assumption his presence in San Francisco while Dark was still boss might cause some of the parties concerned embarassment.

NONE OF the Giant official family would affirm or deny the Fox story, but it was freely whispered around the Candlestick Park archives that Charley has the inside track and the big bosses do not want the people to get a false impression of him as one seeking the job of Dark. They would rather have the public think he is just moveing up in the ranks and stear him clear of having any aims or designs on the job until AFTER Dark is advised of his fate.

At no time since the Dark explosion on racial rumors flitted about several weeks ago has owner Horace Stoneham discussed any stories on Dark's replacement. He prefers to say that the contract of Dark as manager doesn't end until the 1964 season expires.

Some of those who have talked with Dark believe he is "not through yet."

DARK WON'T say he is making other plans and he won't admit he is through. So all anybody can say or think is pure speculation.

But lately in his TV shows and at other functions, Dark maintains he is not planning any other switch until after he is told that his contract will not be renewed.

Houston was one of the spots, so it is reported, that Dark had a chance to land a job. The job was his, so they said, if he would take it.

But somebody in the Houston family came up with a strong objection to the hiring of Dark and it proved fatal, at least to Dark's immediate chances.

THERE IS quite a yarn connected with Dark losing out at Houston. One eastern scribe here with the Phils told me Dark definitely was "considered," but passed up.

Meanwhile Leo Hughes, Tacoma trainer for years, refused to be connected with any rumors about Fox coming to S.F.

"I don't know anything about Fox succeeding Al Dark and neither has Charley Fox ever mentioned it," Hughes explains.

Marichal To Pitch For Giants Tonight

HOUSTON (AP)—Everywhere Alvin Dark goes in the waning days of the 1964 National League competition, the same question is asked.

"I just don't know," says Dark. "I don't know what will happen."

The question is whether Dark will return next year as manager of the San Francisco Giants.

"When the season ends I won't have a contract," Dark said before the Giants beat Houston 7-1 last night. "Then it will depend on whether any club is interested in me.

"This club, if it stays healthy, has a chance to win the pennant next year," said Dark.

As if to prove a point, the Giants clobbered the Colts with some players who weren't healthy at one time or another this season and with a pitcher who wouldn't have received his major league chance if it had not been for injuries.

Although Dick Estelle failed to be around at the finish for the fourth time since being recalled from Tacoma, he surrendered only seven hits and made it to the ninth inning.

Orlando Cepeda, who had a leg injury at the start of the season, drove in three runs with his 31st homer and a two-run single. He now has 97 rbi's.

Harvey Kuenn, in and out of the lineup this season, passed the 2,000 career hit mark in collecting three singles. He has 11 hits in his last 21 at bats.

Estelle, whose record now is 1-1, had a 7-0 lead when the Colts got to him for their only run in the fourth. Jerry Grote tripled and the ball got away from Willie Mays for an error as the Houston catcher scored.

After Cepeda started the second inning with his homer, Tom Haller and Jim Davenport singled. They advanced on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kuenn that was mangled by Rusty Staub.

In the third, Mays reached base on a force play and went to third when Dierker tried to pick him off. The youngster's second wild pitch brought Mays across.

In the fourth, after two were out, Hal Lanier and Matty Alou collected infield scratch hits. Jim Hart and Mays walked, bringing in one run and reliever Dave Guisti. Cepeda then singled.

Masanori Murakami, the Japanese southpaw, came in during the ninth with two Colts on base and none out and retired the side on two harmless ground outs and an infield pop fly.

Yankees Extend Win Streak To 7 Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

You know that pennant race in the American League . . .

It may just be over.

The New York Yankees saw to that last night, sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 5-3 and 8-1. The twin triumphs stretched the Yankees' American League lead to 2½ games over the Baltimore Orioles, who lost 2-1 to Detroit, and 3½ games over the Chicago White Sox, who were shut out 1-0 by Los Angeles.

The Yankees hold an imposing four-game edge in the loss column and seem on the threshold of clinching the pennant that looked all but lost exactly a month ago today. On Aug. 22, New York lost its sixth straight and dropped six games off the pace.

Since then the perennial champions have won 22 of 29 including the last seven straight while moving to the top of the heap. Even though their lead is two games less than the margin held by the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies, the Yankees actually are in a stronger position because their remaining schedule does not call for them to meet the contenders. Philadelphia must play pursuing Cincinnati and St. Louis three times each in its last 10 games.

The last time the Phillies won the pennant was 1950 and the Yankees swept four straight from them in the World Series. A rookie named Whitey Ford, who had come up in mid-season to lift a slumping pitching staff,

Reds Blast Phillies, 9-2

By MIKE RATHET

You know that pennant race in the National League. . .

It may just be starting.

The Cincinnati Reds saw to that last night, capitalizing on Chris Short's wildness and a homer by Frank Robinson for a 9-2 victory over National League leading Philadelphia that trimmed the Phillies' lead to 4½ games.

The second-place Reds and the third-place Cardinals, five games back after a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets, actually are in a better position than Baltimore and Chicago, trying to catch the New York Yankees in the American League scramble.

The White Sox are in the worst position — five games down in the all-important loss column. The other three pursuers are four games back in that department, but there's one big difference in the two races. The contenders in the American League do not meet again while the Reds and Cardinals still have games remaining with the sluggish Phillies.

And Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler knows it.

"It sure does remind you of '50 all over again," said Sisler, who played for the Phillies in 1950 when they blew a 7½-game lead in the final 11 games and had to win the pennant from Brooklyn on the last day of the season.

"We have momentum now which we didn't have before, that good spirit only winning produces," said Sisler. "This club is battling back when it's behind, which it wasn't doing earlier."

The Phillies also weren't losing as often earlier. The loss to the Reds was their second in a row and their fourth in the last six games. Philadelphia has 10 games remaining — three each with St. Louis and Cincinnati, including another with the Reds tonight.

In other games yesterday, Pittsburgh's Bob Veale tied the major league strikeout high for the season by fanning 15 batters in a 2-0 loss to Milwaukee, Dick Estelle won his first major league game in San Francisco's 7-1 victory over Houston and the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 behind eight innings of shutout relief by Cal Koonce.

Short, now 17-8, put himself in a jam in the third inning and the Reds wound up with four runs. As it turned out that was enough for Jim O'Toole, 16-7, who kept eight Philadelphia hits fairly well scattered.

Walks to O'Toole and Chico Ruiz around a single by Pete Rose got the Reds started in the third. One run scored when Vada Pinson hit into a force out and the second came over as catcher Gus Triandos fired the ball into centerfield on Pinson's steal of second. Robinson then capped the uprising with his 28th homer.

Curt Simmons got the job done for the Cardinals with a six-hitter, allowing the Mets a run in the first inning on a single by Bobby Klaus, Roy McMillan's double and a sacrifice fly by Jim Hickman before settling down.

Simmons, 16-9, got the only runs he needed in the fourth when Bill White's single, a triple by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat's sacrifice fly produced two runs off Tracy Stallard.

Veale, 18-11, went into the ninth with a chance to tie the modern record of 18 strikeouts held by Sandy Koufax and Bob Feller but missed it when Eddie Mathews hit into a double play and Sandy Alomar grounded out.

Denny Lemaster, 16-11, won it with a seven-hitter, getting the only runs he needed when the Braves scored twice against Veale in the second on Joe Torre's single and doubles by Gene Oliver and Denis Menke.

Estelle got enough support from Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn against the Colts. Cepeda drove in three runs with a homer and single while Kuenn collected three hits, including No. 2,000 of his major league career.

Bomb Threat Made On Grid Star's Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police kept an around-the-clock watch on the east side home of Cleveland Browns' fullback Jim Brown following an anonymous threat that his house would be bombed.

The police vigil was ordered yesterday after an official of station KYW-TV reported receiving a telephoned bomb threat from a woman shortly before Brown appeared on a show to discuss racial issues.

A police department spokesman said cruisers would pass Brown's house frequently to see that everything was okay. "This will continue until we think it's no longer necessary," the spokesman added.

Brown and his wife, Sue, have three children and live in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Forrest L. Fraser, producer of the Mike Douglas show, reported the incident to police. He said a woman asked him to tell Brown that if he appeared and talked "about the things that have been in the papers. . . we are going to bomb his home."

The woman identified herself only as representing a New York organization, then hung up, Fraser said.

Brown, on the show, discussed some of the statements he made in a controversial article he wrote this week in a national magazine. These included some of his views on segregation and the Black Muslims, who preach Negro supremacy.

The statements are from Brown's forthcoming book, Off My Chest.

Emphasizing that he was not a member of the organization, Brown said:

"I've never considered it. I'm not part of it. I probably won't ever be."

49ers Lose Bill Cooper For Season

The professional football season has just begun and the San Francisco 49ers have already lost three players for the season.

Linebacker Bill Cooper early yesterday underwent surgery on his injured knee at St. Mary's Hospital fr ligament and cartilage damage sustained in Sunday's win over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Forty-niner end Verne Burke and tackle Bob St. Clair were sidelined for the season prior to opening day action.

Fullback J. D. Smith also injured his knee in Sunday's game, but is still undergoing tests to determine the extent of his injury.

The 49ers yesterday looked at movies of the Philadelphia game and then went through light loosening-up drills. They face the tough St. Louis Cardinals in Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Race Driver Jim Pardue Dies From Crash Injuries

Pardue, 32-year-old North Wilkesboro veteran, died two hours after his 1964 Plymouth crashed through the fourth turn guard rail during a tire test run for a manufacturer of racing tires.

The car, making the highly banked turn as an estimated 141 miles per hour, tore down 30 feet of steel guard rail, catapulted into the air and came down atop a steel wire fence which surrounds the 1½ mile racing oval. From there, it traveled down a 75-foot embankment and came to rest about 200 feet away upside down in a drainage ditch.

Pardue, semi-conscious, was taken from the car by a rescue squad and other drivers participating in the tire tests. He was taken to Cabarrus Memorial Hospital at Concord. A physician said he died of "massive head and internal injuries."

A scholarly looking, neatly groomed father of three children, Pardue was testing the tires for use in the $50,000 National 400 stock car race scheduled at the track Oct. 18.

Known to race followers as Genial Jim, Pardue was in the midst of his best season since turning professional in 1959. He finished second in the rich Daytona 500 at Daytona Beach, Fla., in February.

On Labor Day he finished third in the Southern 500 at Darlington, S.C. He had won in excess of $35,000 this year.

It was the second fatal accident at the multi-million dollar speedway this year. Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach was severely burned in a three-car accident during the World 600 in May and died from his injuries July 2.

Pardue, who won the pole position in the May race in which Roberts was burned, was in the seventh lap of a 10-lap test run when he lost control of his car.

Track officials and spokesmen for the tire company said it had not been determined what caused the wreck. Speculation was that Pardue either blew a tire or dropped a sway bar, causing the racer to veer out of control.

Pardue, who was an auto salesman before becoming a race driver, had said many times that the Charlotte Speedway was his favorite track. But he had had little success there. He wrecked during the 1963 World 600, and was put out of the same race this year by a faulty ignition wire after starting on the pole.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Pardue's widow, mother and three children survive. His father died about three months ago.

Wilt's Stomach Keeps Him Out Of Action

Wilt Chamberlain's stomach hurts and the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Assn. feel the pain.

While most of his mates took off for the three-game exhibition series against the Los Angeles Lakers, the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain stayed behind with gastro-enteritis.

Dr. Richard Cavanaugh made the diagnosis after examinations at St. Mary's Hospital. He explained Chamberlain has an inflammation of the stomach and intestines.

Chamberlain must miss at least two of the three games against the Lakers.

"It might be due to highly seasoned food or irregular hours in the off-season," said Franklin Mieuli, a club director.

"On the other hand, it could be the result of an ulcer, and that's what concerns us. We have phoned his Philadelphia doctor for his past medical history to find out if there has been any such attack previously," Mieuli said.

Chamberlain, who's been in discomfort for a month, said he never had stomach troubles before.

Forward Tom Meschery and guard Gary Phillips also stayed home. Meschery recently took a cast off a finger he broke before the season started while moving a high-fidelity set through a doorway. Phillips underwent surgery on his ankle and now it's sore.

A NEW IDEA TO HELP THE OLYMPIC FUND

The idea was originated by Chuck McNulty and Robert Kans. Persons have contributed $10 each for the Olympic fund and received contributor plaques. But instead of keeping the plaques, they are used in a display, with the donor's name under them.

They line the wall at Marin County Blueprint Service, 23 Joseph Court in San Rafael. Names of 51 Marin County persons are under that many plaques, as the list grows and grows. The drive is being sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Injectors of Marin car club has donated their time to pick up donations by auto. Gasoline for this has been donated by Carlson Moving and Storage Co.

The drive will continue until next Monday, at which time the plaques will be returned to the donors. Persons interested in adding to the drive should send funds to either Don R. Hoffman Associates, 856 Sweetzer Avenue, Novato, or Marin County Blueprint Service at 23 Joseph Court, San Rafael, McNulty said.

Griffith Defends Title By Whipping Welsh Challenger

LONDON (AP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith set off for a well-earned holiday in his native Virgin Islands today after winning over a partisan London boxing crowd with a masterly defense of his title against Welshman Brian Curvis.

Griffith, 26, dropped the 27-year-old British Champion for counts of eight in the sixth round, nine in the 10th and nine again in the 13th before a sellout crowd of 10,300 at Wembley Indoor Stadium.

Griffith was full of praise for the plucky Briton.

"He gave me a good fight and deserves a return," the champion said. "I'll be happy to fight him again any time he's ready."

British promoter Jack Solomons, who staged last night's show, immediately suggested an outdoor title fight between the two in Wales next summer.

"It's okay by me if my managers agree," said Griffith.

Gil Clancy, one of Griffith's two managers, said: "it's okay by me, too." and Clancy and Griffith shook hands on the deal.

Griffith said he was looking forward to his holiday.

"This fight was a lot tougher than I expected," the champion said.

"I tried to finish the fight earlier and thought I had him going once or twice — but he certainly wanted the title. He kept coming back and I couldn't polish him off."

Griffith set the pace from the start of the 15-rounder and battered the gallant Welshman so hard at times that it looked certain the challenger would be knocked out. Somehow the super-fit Curvis hung on. It was his second defeat in 32 pro bouts.

Griffith earned $56,000 for his 10th welterweight title fight. He has an 8-2 record for these, regaining the crown quickly each time after the defeats. His over-all record is 42-5. Curvis earned about $14,000.

Referee Harry Gibbs, the sole official, raised Griffith's right arm as a symbol of his victory. His scorecard, per custom, was not disclosed. The Associated Press had Griffith in front, 9-4 with two rounds even. Each weighed 145½.

"It was the old story of the amateur style of British boxing being unable to cope with the two-handed, non-stop fighting tactics of a trans-Atlantic champion," wrote Peter Wilson, boxing writer of the Daily Mirror.

Other writers had similar comment.

Limited Frosh Football At Tam

Because of a shortage of coaches at Tamalpais High School, the schedule for the frosh football team has been cut to three games this year, it was announced yesterday by Al Ahlsten, junior varsity grid coach at Tam.

The frosh team will be working out with the junior varsity this year because of a lack of coaching strength. The frosh gridders will not play the first three games of their schedule, but will play in their final three games, against Novato, Marin Catholic and Redwood.

Haley Not At Seals' Camp

Len Haley, the hot-skating member of the Western Hockey League champion San Francisco Seals, will be fined if he doesn't get in to training camp by today, the club announced.

Paul Jackson became the first casualty of practice when he was hit hard on the right ankle by a puck. He was sent to a hospital for x-rays.

Drakes Bay Cruise Scheduled Oct. 10

The Marin Power Squadron Drakes Bay Cruise will be held on Saturday, Oct. 10, starting at the Sausalito Channel entrance buoy at 7 a.m., it was announced today.

Members of the cruise committee are Robert Hensen, Richard Pendleton, Eugene F. Sweeney and Robert M. Kell. Registration for the cruise will end Sept. 30.

won the final game. Ford's still around and he's got a replica for the role he played in 1950 in young Mel Stottlemyre, whose late-season hurling helped the Yankee drive get started.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston shut out Washington 3-0 and Kansas City outlasted Minnesota 10-9.

Stottlemyre started the first game and led 5-3 when he tired in the ninth, giving up two singles. Berra went to the mound, hesitated a moment, and then called in Ramos, who came to the Yankees from Cleveland two weeks ago.

Ramos fed Al Luplow a double play pitch to save it for the youngster who has now won eight games since coming up early in August.

In the nightcap, Ford held a 3-1 lead through seven innings and Reniff finished up with a five-run Yankee ninth icing it.

New York belted two homers in each game with Roger Maris and Joe Pepitone connecting in the opener and Mickey Mantle and Phil Linz in the nightcap.

Berra had a broad grin in the happy Yankee dressing room. "I feel more like a genius than I did a month ago," he said.

Linz, who was fined $200 in the celebrated harmonica playing incident during last month's losing streak, was happy too. "If we clinch the pennant," he said, "I'll bring my harmonica in the dressing room and play a tune."

Baltimore lost it when Al Kaline crashed a two-run homer in the first inning, rubbing out a 1-0 Oriole lead.

Ed Rakow relieved Tiger starter Hank Aguirre after four straight walks forced in a run. He got out of the jam and worked into the ninth when the Orioles loaded the bases again. Julio Navarro came on and retired Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens on pop flies to end it.

The Orioles stranded 13 runners as Rakow beat them for the third time. Milt Pappas, 15-6, was the loser.

The White Sox never got started against the Angels' Fred Newman, who throttled them with a five-hitter for his 13th victory.

Three of Chicago's hits were high bouncers in front of the plate and the Sox never posed a serious threat. Rookie Bruce Howard, making his first major league start, pitched a strong five-hitter but was tagged with the loss.

The only run of the game came in the third inning with two out when Jim Fregosi doubled and Willie Smith singled him home.

The Red Sox scored all their runs in the ninth and Bill Monbouquette, who hurled a five-hitter, worked out of a bases-loaded spot in the bottom half to beat the Senators. Al Smith's pinch double was the key hit for Boston.

Ed Charles clouted a three-run homer and Bill Bryan followed with a pinch hit home run as the Athletics passed the Twins in the ninth inning. There were five other homers in the game.

Daddy's gonna look at all those new cars

But he's gonna buy our new 1965 Ford from Ames Ford...

Daddy's smart. He knows most of those other dealers just put on a show at new model time, but they want too much money for them, specially at the start.

Daddy says Ames Ford sells their new models at their usual special money-saving deals right on opening day. They must have the right idea, 'cause they sell more cars than anybody else. We can wait 'til tomorrow night to go to Ames Ford. (For the big news in 1965 automobiles see Ames Ford's big 12-page section in tomorrow night's Independent-Journal.)

PRO FOOTBALL NOTES

Y A's Sub On The Spot

By HAL BOCK

John Baker, a 270-pounder, put Tittle in a daze and the New York Giants in a tizzy with a bone jarring tackle that knocked the veteran quarterback out of Sunday's game.

The injury, diagnosed as severely bruised cartilages around three ribs, left Tittle as doubtful at best for Friday night's game with the Washington Redskins. If Y.A. can't go, Gary Wood, a rookie, will handle the signal calling.

It would be a tough spot for a 21-year-old from Cornell with the Giants 0-2 and desperately needing a win to stay alive in the National League's Eastern Division race.

Before the night's over, Wood may wish he were far above Cayuga's waters againespecially with ex-Giant Sam Huff out to prove New York was wrong in trading him down the river to Washington.

If that fellow who kept scoring touchdowns for San Francisco in its upset victory over Philadelphia looked familiar to Eagle Coach Joe Kuharich, there was a good reason.

Mike Lind played for Kuharich for three years at Notre Dame. At least he was on the Irish roster. Injuries limited him to five games in the three seasons, so that Kuharich never did see much of him.

Lind made up for it Sunday, scoring three times, and Kuharich would just as soon notsee any more of him.

One man's meat and potatoes is leftover hash for another.

After the Los Angeles Rams had blown a fourth quarter lead and had to settle for a tie with the Detroit Lions, Ram Coach Harland Svare was philosophical.

"A tie in this league is like a win," said Svare.

Not so for Lion Coach George Wilson. "We lost because we didn't block and tackle," the disappointed Wilson said.

Boston Patriot Coach Mike Holovak was talking to reporters after his club lost the American League title to San Diego by 51-10 last January.

"For the life of me," Holovak said, "I can't believe that's the difference between the two teams."

The Houston Oilers have one of the strongest passing attacks in the AFL and they don't do badly when the other guys are throwing either.

The Oilers lead the league in interceptions with six, five of them coming against the Oakland Raiders Saturday night. Four of the steals were by rookies and two — by Pete Jacquess and Bennie Nelson — were returned for TDs.

DAVIS CUP PLANS

Outthink Them, Yanks Ordered

CLEVELAND (AP) — "We can beat the Australians if we think," said old Ed Faulkner, "but we've got to think — we must beat them with our heads."

Faulkner is the secret weapon of the U.S. Davis Cup team in its challenge round battle against heavily favored Australia here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

He is 64, a mild mannered, Swarthmore College professor who remains unobtrusively in the wings as Chuck McKinley, Dennis Ralston and their mates sharpen their tennis strokes for the big weekend.

He is of an entirely different cut from the coaches the Americans have used in the past — Denny Pails, Jack Kramer, Eddie Moylan and Pancho Gonzales.

"I have had great admiration for Ed for years," Seixas said Monday. "His job is not to change the boys' games or tamper with their techniques in any way. He watches, picks out flaws and gives advice.

"He has been invaluable. I know of no more knowledgeable man in tennis.

way. He watches, picksout flaws and gives advice.

"He has been invaluable. I know of no more knowledgeable man in tennis.

Faulkner, a gaunt, red-faced man with disappearing gray hair, tutored Big Bill Tilden back in the 1920s when he was a pro and Tilden a member of the Germantown Cricket Club in Philadelphia. Later, he coached the French Davis Cup team which included Rene LaCoste, Henry Cochet, Jean Bortra and Jacques Brugnon. He worked with such greats as Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison.

"Our big problem now is to get Dennis Ralston in the right frame of mind," Faulkner said. "Dennis is inclined to worry when he misses a shot. He will throw away a half doezn important points before getting back on the beam.

"We must eliminate these lapses. We also are working on McKinley's service. He must hit it deeper so it cannot be attacked."

Faulkner made movies of both the American and Australian players during the recent national championships at Forest Hills and drew up involved charts showing weaknesses and strengths of both.

He has detailed brochures on the Australian stars, Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle.

The American Davis Cuppers have been holding skull sessions — like football teams on Monday mornings — during which they study the films and map strategies.

"The trouble is, most boys today don't always listen," Faulkner said. "Unlike Tilden, Cochet and LaCoste, they are all alike. They believe in getting out there and banging the ball, never thinking in terms of strategy.

"We need strategy to beat the Australians. They are ahead of us by equipment."

Builders '9' Beaten By Pacifica

Pacifica Lions, one of the San Francisco teams interested in entering the Marin County Winter league, showed they are capable of playing atop brand of baseball Sunday by defeating the Billings Hutchinson Builders, 6 to 3.

The Builders outhit their opponents, but ended up on the short end of the scoring as the Pacifica club did all the damage in the last two innings with three hits and four runs. Bill Dawson from San Jose held the Builders in tow for six innings and then the Builders went on a scoring rampage, tallying three times to lead 3-0. Starter Bob De Rosa was nicked for a two-run home run in the eighth by Pacifica and then the big ninth came as the B-H nine used three pitchers, including Steve Miller and Ron Cole, who finally put out the fire, striking out the only man he faced.

Leading the Builder 11-hit attack was newcomer Jim Sanderson who garnered a single, double and 380 feet home run over the left field wall. The Builders, strengthening for the coming winter league, have added Sanderson from Vallejo J. C. and catcher Larry Smoot, former Builder receiver, from the El Paso team in the Texas League. Also aiding the losing Builder cause was Dave Hughes with a pair of singles and two tremendous defensive plays in the outfield to cut down potential rallies.

MARIN PADRES LOSE IN PRO KEG LEAGUE

San Rafael Padres are 1-1 in the won-lost column of the Western Professional Bowling League after suffering a sound thrashing at the hands ofthe Santa Clara Moonliters Sunday in Santa Clara. The margin was 27-5 in the league's point-system.

Dick Treadway topped the Padres with a five game total of 1056 on games of 221, 215, 225, 215 and 180. Someother high games in the losing cause were 223 by Don Gee and a 204 by Phil Wallace.

Carmichael, South San Francisco and Stockton lead the league after two weeks with a 2-0 record, followed by San Rafael and Santa Clara at 1-1 each and El Cerrito, Fremont and San Francisco at 0-2.

Next Sunday San Rafael hosts San Francisco at Country Club Bowl, 7 p.m.

Patriots Lose Star For Rest Of Season

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots learned yesterday that halfback Jim Crawford will be out for the season.

Dr. Joseph Dorgan said Crawford, injured on the first play of the regular season against Oakland, tore ligaments in his left knee.

San Diego Wins Coast Playoff

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —San Diego zipped across five first-inning runs, then coasted to an 11-5 victory over Arkansas Monday night to give the Padres the Pacific Coast League title, 4 games to 3.

The game was the seventh in the series, and the Western Division winners took the league championship with triumphs in the second, third, fifth and last games.

Leatherwood Hurls Softball Victory

In the evening's other game Perry's blasted Capelli's, 14-3.

It isn't often one has a chance to learn first-hand about an exotic Chinese recipe. However, Mrs. Ethel Barrie, owner of the new Lin Fa Restaurant in Terra Linda, has given the recipe for Lin Fa Spareribs, one of the delicacies of the Far East.

LIN FA, the Cantonese restaurant in the new Northgate Shopping Center, is named for the lotus flower (the meaning of lin fa). Mrs. Barrie, who owns and manages this gourmet spot, previously operated Sai Wu, in the Westlake area in San Francisco, for nine and one-half years. Incidentally, Sai Wu means Westlake in Chinese. She first specialized in a take-home operation, but demands for her excellent Chinese cuisine prompted her to open a full-scale restaurant.

MRS. BARRIE made quite a transition from her former occupation, that of a fitter in one of the exclusive dressmaking shops in San Francisco, when she was prevailed upon by her many friends, who liked her "way with food," to open her original restaurant.

LIN FA SPARERIBS

1 lb spareribs
1 tbsp soy sauce
1 tsp salt
1 cup water
½ cup vinegar
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup Chinese or Chinese mixed pickles
4 or 5 drops sesame seed oil
2 tsp corn starch

METHOD: Cut ribs in 1-inch cubes; marinate in soy sauce for one hour; roll in flour and fry until brown. Combine rest of ingredients, except sesame oil and corn starch, and cook on stove until tender. Just before serving with flaky steamed rice, add the sesame seed oil and corn starch mixed with cold water. This has an unusual and different flavor scarcely ever found in a sparerib recipe.

RECIPE FOR PRAWNS
(Use Butterfly Prawns)

1 cup all-purpose flour
1 egg
1 tsp sugar
½ tsp salt
2 tbsp peanut oil
½ tsp baking powder
2 cups water

Mix ingredients and fry prawns in peanut oil.

Pan Can Cause Recipe Failure

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI)—A cook who boasts that she never follows recipes is asking for trouble if she tampers with directions for such baked goods as cakes, cookies, bread and rolls.

Even the wrong size or shape pan can cause recipe failure. The size and shape of baking pans affect both the volume and texture of baked goods, says the utensil committee of the Aluminum Association. The association represents primary manufacturers of aluminum.

Pans with sides too high for the batter they contain prevent good browning. Cakes baked in pans too small for the recipe will run over and acquire burned edges. Baking pans that have darkened through usage will absorb too much heat, which causes over-browning on bottom and sides of cakes.

Shiny pans such as those made of medium weight aluminum are ideal for most baking and are easy to keep bright. Three commonly-used sizes of aluminum cake pans are an 8x8x2-inch loaf pan; 8-inch diameter round layer-cake pans 1¼ inches deep, and muffin pans designed for 6, 8 or 12 medium-sized cupcakes 2 to 2½ inches in diameter.

Since few home cooks have a full range of pan sizes, here's a substitution list:

Instead of two (8-inch) round layers, use two thin 8x8x2-inch square pans or pans to make 18 to 24 cupcakes 2½ inches in diameter.

Instead of three (8-inch) round layers, try two squares 9x9x2 inches each.

Two (9-inch) round layers; one rectanngle 15x10x1-inch or 30 cupcakes, 2½ inches in diameter.

One square 9x9x2-inch: two thin 8-inch round layers.

Most baking pans currently available are stamped with the size. If yours are not, measure with a ruler or yardstick across the bottom of the pan.

Another invitation to failure lies in altering amounts of ingredients, especially such key ones as flour, sugar, shortening or liquid. Some flavoring agents, such as grated orange rind for grated lemon rind, can be substituted successfully. Fresh grapes for raisins cannot, even though raisins are dried grapes. Liquid from fresh grapes would throw the recipe off balance.

Doubling a recipe or changing baking time and/or temperature also can spoil a recipe. You'll save money and effort in the long run by making up an exact recipe by exact directions as many times as needed to get the number of servings desired.

Be sure oven is preheated to the needed cooking temperature before you place filled pans in it. Place them at or near the middle of the oven where the heat is most even; but leave space between pans so that air can circulate freely. If necessary, place pans on different racks, but stagger them so that no one pan is directly above another.

Resist the impulse to peek before the minimum baking time of 20 minutes—for most cakes—has passed. Don't open the oven door until the last 10 or 15 minutes of baking time for angel-food cakes and never shift pans around during the baking period for any cakes.

Two difficulties in baking still may result even if you heed all these warnings. If foods consistently are over or under baked at the end of a recommended cooking time, have the oven temperature control checked for accuracy.

Lime, Raspberry Combine To Make Colorful Dessert

Home Cooks of the shortorder variety may be interested in a new packaged product — lime-flavored pie filling.

In our own test kitchen we used the pie filling in a Lime Raspberry Parfait. Such a pretty combination it made — snowy-green layers laced with garnet!

LIME RASPBERRY PARFAIT

1 package (3½ ounces) lime-flavored pie filling
½ cup sugar
2½ cups cold water
2 eggs, separated
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries, thawed
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Turn the pie filling into a saucepan; stir in ¼ cup of the sugar. Gradually stir in the cold water and the slightly beaten egg yolks, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until mixture just starts to boil. If the flavor capsule is undissolved, break it with the mixing spoon and stir to blend. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in the remaining ¼ cup sugar; continue to beat until very stiff. Fold into cooled pie-filling mixture.

Drain syrup from thawed raspberries. Turn the cornstarch into a small saucepan; stir in a little of the raspberry syrup, keeping smooth; stir in remaining raspberry syrup. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Cool slightly; fold in drained raspberries.

Spoon about half of the cooled pie-filling mixture into 8 parfait glasses (¾ cup size); add over half of the raspberry mixture. Spoon remaining pie-filling mixture over raspberry layer; top with remaining raspberry mixture. Chill 1 hour before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Ever Top A Cake With Seedless Grapes?

Don't let making a fancy cake scare you. Even if you are not adept with a pastry tube, you can decorate a cake in delightful fashion.

When ever those delicious seedless grapes—green or golden—called Thompson are in season, we use the fruit to make a Bunch of Grapes cake.

OUR WAY is to put together two cake layers with apricot preserves, frost with whipped cream and outline the seedless grapes over the cream in the shape of a bunch. A short length of green stem from the grapes finishes off our handiwork. This amusing decoration is delectable to eat; the flavor of the grapes is just right with the cake, spiced filling and cream.

The following recipe produces sponge cake layers that are perfect for this dessert; a little fresh orange juice and grated lemon rind attend to its good flavor. Its texture is fine.

BUNCH OF GRAPES SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup plus ⅓ cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup apricot preserves (jam)
2 tablespoons, brandy, if desired
Cream Frosting
1½ cups seedless grapes

Sift together the flour, baking powder and ¾ cup sugar. With electric beater, beat egg whites with salt and cream of tartar until they stand in soft peaks; gradually adding the ⅓ cup sugar, beat until very stiff. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks with orange juice, lemon rind and sifted dry ingredients at medium speed for 1 minute. Fold in egg whites.

Turn into 2 ungreased round 8 by 1¾-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire racks for 30 minutes; turn out.

Put cakes together with apricot preserves (mixed with brandy if used). Cover top and sides with Cream Frosting. With a toothpick, outline the shape of a bunch of grapes on top of cake. Fill in with grapes to simulate a bunch—to do this easily, place the grapes in one layer. Refrigerate.

CREAM FROSTING

1¼ cups heavy cream
3 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon vanilla

First Satellite Missile In 1959, But Project Drifted Into Limbo

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—An Air Force B-47 flying 30,000 feet across the Florida peninsula banked into a precise southeast course as it reached the Atlantic Coast.

Moments later, a torpedo-shaped missile dropped away from a pylon on the right wing and its rocket engine flamed into life. Quickly it raced ahead of the plane and then arched straight upward into sky.

At an altitude of about 150 miles, the missile passed through the center of a five-mile-square "window" or target area in space at exactly the same moment as an orbiting Explorer satellite. For a brief instant the two were only a few hundred yards apart. If the missile had been armed with a nuclear warhead, it could have destroyed the satellite.

This event occurred on Oct. 13, 1959, over what is now Cape Kennedy and is the first recorded satellite intercept. The missile was the Bold Orion, a creation of the Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., which had built it in hopes of capturing a contract for an air-launched ballistic missile — what later became the ill-fated Skybolt missile.

Bold Orion didn't win the contract and it rapidly faded into obscurity. But its one exploit is being recalled today in the light of President Lyndon B. Johnson's announcement that the United States has developed two anti-satellite systems that are now capable of destroying orbital bombs or other hostile spacecraft.

For Bold Orion proved that it was possible for a missile to wage war in space.

On paper, and as indicated by Bold Orion, the interception of a satellite looks relatively simple. The orbital path and speed of any spacecraft can be determined quickly with optical telescapes, radar and computers. The only problem is timing the launch of an intercepting missile so that it appears in the path of the spacecraft at the right moment.

But, as McNamara remarked to newsmen in the wake of President Johnson's announcement: "It wasn't easy for us." What makes the feat difficult is developing a missile that can be launched on split-second notice and getting it to maneuver so that it is exactly aligned with its orbital target. That takes a complicated guidance system.

Nike-Zeus, because it is solid fueled, fulfilled the instant start requirement. But even with a beefed up booster stage and higher performance upper stages, the 48-foot missile was able to intercept low flying satellites — below 200 miles.

This fact prompted McNamara early in 1963 to give the Air Force a go-ahead on a new plan to use Thor missiles for satellite interception. (Its Saint idea was scrapped.) The 1,500-mile range Thors can loft a warhead 600 miles straight up. With some auxiliary solid-fueled rockets strapped on to the booster, turning it into a Thrust Augmented Thor (TAT), it can fire one to 1,000 miles. The Thor, however, has a liquid fueled core which must be loaded before firing, giving it less than instantaneous readiness.

Although McNamara said the bases for the two new anti-satellite systems are classified secret, it has been widely reported that the Nike-Zeus is on Kwajalein and Thors are being tested on Johnston Island, about 1,000 miles southwest of Honolulu.

This year, the Russians have been experimenting with a Polyot satellite having limited maneuverability. The ability to change orbits, if perfected, could complicate the anti-satellite mission. However, because of their location, the new weapons could get two and perhaps three shots at a low-flying Soviet satellite before it reaches the U.S. mainland, possibly offsetting any maneuvers.

President Johnson's decision to reveal the new weapons now during the campaign is being interpreted as largely politically motivated. He already has disclosed the existence of the previously secret 2,000 m.p.h. A-11 "Interceptor" and SR-71 "Reconnaisance-Bomber" in an effort to head off criticism from GOP candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater, who claims the administration isn't working on new strategic weapons.

However, it is known that the Russians have been observing the Johnston Island operation from their trawler fleet and presumably were aware that an anti-satellite weapon was being developed.

The "Over-the-Horizon" Radar also disclosed by the President Thursday has been under development for sometime and its existence probably was known to the Russians. The new radar can now pick up the launching of Soviet missiles as soon as they leave the pad, doubling the 15-minute warning time of the Ballistic Missile Early System (BMEWS) which can not see over the horizon.

The Thor and Nike-Zeus anti-satellite systems cost a bargain-basement 80 million dollars to develop. McNamara indicated there were no plans to deploy the system further. Both use available missiles, including Thors which had been based in England.

Oxen Hauled Ship Down To The Sea

ROWLEY, Mass. (UPI)—It took 100 yoke of oxen to haul a newly-built ship from this village to the sea back in 1814.

Cap'n Nathaniel M. Perley built the ship, a 110-ton schooner, on Rowley Common. The oxen transported the vessel on a set of tracks a mile and a half to the ocean where it was launched. The feat was performed, according to the Boston Sentinel of May 7, 1814, "to the amazement of the entire world" without injury to man, beast or property.

Castro Leaves No U.S. Assets To Offset His Seizure In Cuba

By EDWARD J. MOWERY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam has combed the nation's fiscal hideaways for blocked Cuban assets in the United States and has found virtually nothing worth seizing.

The government's July 8, 1963 freeze order on Cuban assets—18 months after a total embargo on U. S. - Cuban trade—apparently came much too late to be effective.

Fidel Castro, after seizing 1 billion dollars of American property in Cuba, used the time lag to clean out his valuables in the United States. Before the U. S. broke with Castro, Cuban assets in the United States were believed to be about 250 million dollars.

A newly completed Treasury census of Cuban assets disclosed that Cuban property and assets in the United States approximates 148.8 million dollars.

Of this total, however, only 19.6 million is reported to be owned by the Cuban government. The balance, of little or no value for vesting purposes, is the property of Cuban nationals.

The treasury explained:

"Most of this 19.6 million dollars does not constitute a net asset of the Cuban government. Most of the property claimed by Cuba is in the form of claims asserted against institutions in the United States. The 19.6 million includes . . . 12 million dollars in suits pending in U. S. courts brought by Cuba against American firms.

"In most of these suits, the American defendants have (filed) counter - claims . . . (mostly) based on appropriation of their assets in Cuba."

An analysis of the treasury's report indicates that the bulk of Cuban assets here are ethereal, and real Cuban assets may total less than 8 million dollars.

Authority for the survey follows this important chronology of events:

Two years later U. S. recognition was withdrawn.

On Feb. 3, 1962, President John F. Kennedy invoked a total embargo on U. S. trade with Cuba.

A Treasury directive to freeze Cuban assets in this country came July 8, 1963, under authority granted by the Trading with the Enemy act.

The way was now clear to determine the extent of Cuban assets to offset partially the losses of Americans through Cuban expropriations.

Last Jan. 31 census forms were mailed to 8,000 individuals, banks, corporations and various organizations.

Federal reserve banks distributed adidtional forms to various financial institutions.

The forms required data on property in this country in which Cuba or its nationals had an interest, organizations in the U. S. "substantially owned or controlled" by Cuba or its nationals (U. S. branches of Cuban companies.)

The first question yielded 3,750 reports from 200 sources. The second brought a single report — on an unidentified Florida holding company subsidiary operating "almost exclusively" in Cuba.

"The majority of the reports filed," the treasury noted, "covered bank accounts, insurance policies, stock and bonds, registered in the name of Cubans. Reporting banks were concentrated in the New York and Miami areas."

"Owners of these accounts appear to be middle income Cuban families who placed some of their savings in the United States for safe keeping."

The Cubans' money is safe. But the billion dollar loss of Americans in communist Cuba has apparently gone down the drain.

Gromala Makes Mistake Branding Kent A Bigot

The president of the California Young Republican organization, John Gromala, claims he has proof that Roger Kent agreed to placing racial restrictions in Kent Woodlands property deeds in 1947.

We don't know whether this is true or not; but let's assume for the moment that it is.

So what!

So today Roger Kent is outspokenly against racial discrimination and is a staunch foe of Proposition 14.

While Gromala stands in support of Prop. 14 and therefore his position on discrimination is open to more question than is Roger Kent's.

Marin County has a superior court judge—a very human one—whose senseless deeds of youth would be most embarrassing were they to be dredged up and fully aired today.

The judge is a good judge, a just judge, a wise judge. He is admired and respected. We suspect that those who know the stories of his youth respect him even more for having outlived and outgrown his mistakes.

We know a chief of police in Marin about whom the same can be said. He is admired even more by those who know of the past he has outlived and outgrown.

Roger Kent, as chairman of the Democratic Party organization in California, is frequently quoted as having uttered colorful invective in response to acts or statements of his political adversaries. We regard some of these outbursts as inflammatory. But that's politics.

When it comes to a charge as serious as that of racial discrimination, the record speaks for itself. Roger Kent is an active foe of Proposition 14.

To accuse him of bigotry and hypocrisy on this issue is ridiculous.

Young Republican president Gromala ought to apologize.

ASTRONAUTS FACE PERSONALITY PROBLEMS

Personality clashes among astronauts on long journeys through space are a potential problem now being studied by scientists.

Since man-in-space projects of the future will include several persons rather than the single-man phase of the first space efforts, personality needs must be considered.

It is believed, however, that small crews enclosed together on long space trips will have few serious problems because each member will depend so much on the others for survival. Hostile feelings are likely to be suppressed while the men are working together to complete their mission.

The ability to get along with others is a divine quality that every person should strive for if he is to fullfill his responsibilities in any capacity, be it that of parent, student, worker or even astronaut.

Peace, progress and prosperity in every phase of activity depends on love of all men as children of the same Father in heaven.

"Bear one another's burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ." (Galatians 6:2)

Let me be an instrument of Your love, O Lord, in every way I can.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Two Propositions On Ballot Affect Veterans' Exemptions

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The November 3 ballot insofar as propositions go, is a long one. It has a total of 17 measures on which voters are called to decide, all of which are vital in one way or another to the taxpayers of California.

PROPOSITION 4 curtails veteran's tax exemption. At the present time, veterans no matter where they resided during the war, are entitled to an exemption of taxes on $1,000 of their property.

The proposed law would restrict this exemption to veterans who were residents of California at the time of entry into service, or on the effective date of the amendment. Thus, no veteran enjoying the exemption now would be deprived of the reduction in taxes he enjoys.

Proponets of Proposition 4 claim that some 70 million dollars annually is lost in local taxes because of veterans migrating to this state and claiming the exemption.

PROPOSITION 5 is another amendment affecting veterans. This one increases from $5,000 to $10,000 the amount of property the widow of a veteran may own and still receive the veterans exemption, which now is continued for widows on decease of the veteran.

It is pointed out that many widows have lost the exemption because of the operation of California's property laws.

On the other hand, opponents point out the exemption is merely another extension which will burden ordinary taxpayers to some extent. The Los Angeles chamber of commerce and the League of Women Voters of California are listed as opponents of the proposition.

PROPOSITION 6 provides for a retaliatory tax on out-of-state insurers. It is a revision of an amendment already in effect, and would allow California to tax insurance companies from other states at the same rates California companies are being taxed in other states.

Proponents point out 44 states have retaliatory laws, to act against discrimination. The amendment received unanimous support from the legislature, and no argument against its passage is contained in the voters' pamphlet.

PROPOSITION 7 provides a deviation from normal practices of state financing. Its passage would allow those responsible for safeguarding state retirement funds, with the exception of the teachers retirement fund, to play the stock market. In other words, funds which can now only be invested in bonds could be used to buy stocks, shares, or other obligations of corporations.

The plea for passage of this amendment is that the state could make more money by investing these retirement funds in corporation stocks. Several other states permit this operation. The University of California is not under the prohibitory clause and has some of its reserve in stocks.

ASSEMBLYMAN Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley) writes the argument against the amendment. He points out that in the event of fluctuation, the public will be the loser, as it would be forced to underwrite losses. No provision is in the amendment, Rumford says, for establishment of a technical committee to safe-guard the fund.

The risk of public money, Rumford declares, is too great for the benefits which would be derived.

Moonshiner Rained Out

ATLANTA (UPI) — A foxy Fulton County moonshiner used rain water to make his illegal liquor until his luck ran dry.

Policeman J. W. Estes said he searched creek banks for months trying to find the moonshiner's stills. Under normal conditions moonshiners try to put their equipment on streams.

When Estes finally located the stills in a hollow, he found the moonshiner had rigged a catch basin to capture the rain.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some GOP Voters Won't Support 14

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to take exception to some of the remarks made by Mrs. Jordan in her letter to the I-J of Sept. 17, in which she states that many Goldwater supporters wish to help the Negro, but because they also cherish preservation of individual rights they are voting Yes on Proposition 14.

I would like to say first that I agree with Mrs. Jordan in her assertion that many Goldwater supporters wish to help the Negro. I know this to be true. And I have seen more than one car with a Goldwater sticker on one side of the bumper and a "No on 14" on the other. I'm sure it is precisely because these people cherish individual rights and wish to help the Negro that they are voting NO on Proposition 14.

To truly cherish individual rights means to cherish the rights of other individuals as well as one's own. Surely if any one of us had to choose between being able to buy the property of our choice, and being able to use a piece of property in a completely unrestricted fashion, we would choose the former. We don't raise a hue and cry against zoning regulations, building codes, health regulations and anti-nuisance ordinances, even though they do indisputably limit individual control of property. We accept them, because we see we have no right to do with our property anything harmful to others, or which will deny the exercise of another's rights.

Proposition 14 is not primarily a measure to repeal the Rumford Act. It doesn't take a constitutional amendment to do that. Many people, Goldwater supporters and others, who dislike the Rumford Act are nevertheless voting No on 14 because they do not wish to see the large real estate interests able to exercise "absolute" discretion as to whom they will rent or sell. . . . Absolute power in the hands of any special interest group is indeed something to be avoided.

The Reason For Opposing Prop. 14

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As I talk to people about the need to defeat Prop. 14, many say to me, "I am very sympathetic towards Negroes and believe that we should do something to help them." While this is an humane point of view, it should be made clear that the opponents of Prop. 14 are not seeking any favors for any group. They are asking only that the people of California refrain from placing an unfair obstacle in the path of any man who wishes to better the condition of his family.

Poor Are Poorer In Marin County

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to compliment Dr. Bostick on furthering my education. For years I was under the impression that M.D.s were "experts" in medical matters, not in causes and treatment of poverty and dependency. R. H. Nelson did not indicate his qualifications for "expertness."

Neither of our "experts" indicated how much poverty there was in Marin County or if they even knew the definition of poverty. Are our "experts" suggesting that the poor in Marin County are less poor because there are fewer of them in this county proportionately than in other localities? Marin does have the highest per capita income in the state. It also has the highest cost of living. According to my simple arithmetic, a poor family (defined as $3,000 or less annual income) is "poorer" in Marin than a family with the same income in any other county of the state.

Are our "experts" recommending that because there are only a couple of thousand such families in Marin, this County do nothing about them? Or do they believe that if we just don't mention the "poor," they will disappear? From their comments about the anti-poverty program, I question if they have ever read the Economic Opportunity Act.

Since they have displayed their "depth of knowledge" and their ability to write and express their feelings and attitudes, I for one now ask them to display their abilities to read, evaluate and discuss point by point the 7 different parts of the bill and state their objections to the various programs proposed in the bill.

Sausalito Council Receives Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a rebuttal to the letter of Mrs. Mac Boyle Lewis, the following is submitted:

The actions of the Sausalito City Council are to be truly admired in the declaration of a moratorium on bay filling. The Council, under heavy opposition fire, has set a magnificent precedent in striving to insure the preservation of our most precious resource, San Francisco Bay.

It is certainly heartening to know that our local government is endowed with a true sense of perception and is cognizant of the public interest in this vital issue.

The moratorium paves the avenue to a comprehensive and exacting planning program for the Sausalito waterfront. The end product will, most certainly, be representative of the feelings of the citizenry and set the tone for the intelligent development of our shoreline.

True, as Mrs. Lewis has stated, from an aesthetic standpoint much of our present waterline leaves little to be desired. We, as residents of Sausalito, acknowledge this fact and are eagerly looking forward to the rectification of the situation. To accept the Sausalito Properties Inc. project, which has been highly criticized, would in the planning realm be putting "the cart before the horse." If accepted the project would inhibit the planner, influence his decisions, and in general, jeopardize the community's chances for a well planned waterfront area.

Congratulations, Sausalito City Council, for your timely and appropriate decision; we, today, as will Sausalitans of the future, thank you for your efforts in achieving this end.

Nixon Seen As Almost Sure To Gain However Vote Goes

WASHINGTON — Former Vice-President Nixon will be working harder to elect Barry Goldwater than anyone except Barry Goldwater.

His great concern is the future of the Republican party — but he is not overlooking the future of Richard Nixon.

One of two things could happen:

If Sen. Goldwater wins, Mr. Nixon could have any one of the highest posts in the New Administration — Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, or Attorney-General.

IF GOLDWATER is defeated and particularly if badly defeated, Nixon figures to emerge as the center of the whole effort to unite the party and, not illogically, to be visibly on hand to pick up the pieces for another try at it himself in 1968.

He will deliver more than 100 speeches in 30 states during the next 30 days — plus daily press conferences and local TV and radio appearances — in behalf of the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

He will put extra time and effort into those states, like New York, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan, where he can help elect Republican candidates for Governor and Congress.

He intends to put his persuasive powers behind holding — and winning back — the moderate Republicans for Goldwater. His candid opinion is that Goldwater must retain the support of nearly 95 per cent of the Republican voters in order to win. (The most objective evidence is that at this stage Goldwater is losing nearer to 25 per cent of the Republican vote which went for Nixon in 1960).

MOST REPUBLICAN professionals recognize that Nixon is the one national leader who can do most to unify the party.

Those who are close to the facts know that it was Nixon who planned the Hershey harmony conference, who arranged for Goldwater, Eisenhower, and himself to talk it all out at lunch beforehand. It was Nixon who arranged the exchange of letters in which Goldwater explained that by "extremism" he meant "whole-heartedness." It was Nixon who proposed bringing the GOP Gubernatorial candidates to Hershey. It was Nixon who asked Goldwater to do his best to get Clare Boothe Luce out of the race against Sen. Kenneth Keating in New York.

ALL OF THIS does not mean that Nixon can produce the substance of Republican unity or make the difference between defeat and victory for Sen. Goldwater. But he is going to give it a heroic try.

In doing so he will renew and strengthen his relations with nearly every Republican party leader in the nation and will earn the gratitude of hundreds of Republicans running for office this fall.

He will either prove to be the architect of substantial Republican unity or, in the event of Goldwater's defeat, be the Republican leader in the best position to put the party back on its feet after November.

IF GOLDWATER is decisively defeated, he may carry down with him other Republican candidates who might have been future leaders of the party. Such a consequence could leave Nixon the nearly lone national figure in a party badly needing unifying leadership.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Candidates Mum On Attack From Pulpit

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Although completely at odds on most issues, President Lyndon B. Johnson and GOP challenger Barry Goldwater apparently agree on the scriptural admonition that there is "a time for every matter under heaven, a time to keep silence, and a time to speak . . ."

THE PRESIDENTIAL candidates separately decided that it is a "time to keep silence" on the blunt sermon of Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of Washington Cathedral, casting a plague on both their political houses.

After reading the published account of Sayre's sermon in the Washington papers, Senator Goldwater's strategists became so upset that they immediately huddled with the GOP candidate.

"Senator, what do you think of Rev. Sayre's statement?" asked one nervous Goldwater adviser. "What should we do? How should we answer it?"

AFTER A MOMENT of deep contemplation, Goldwater calmly replied:

"In my judgement, we came out on top of that one. Rev. Sayre only said that I was stupid. He called the President a crook. Wouldn't you rather be called stupid than a crook?"

With a series of signs of relief that could be heard in the next room, all of the Goldwater advisers nodded their agreement.

At the White House, the first reaction of President Johnson's advisers was to try to keep the President from seeing the statement on the grounds that he would blow up.

According to a reliable White House source, President Johnson ran across the story on Dr. Sayre's sermon the next day, reading an account of it in one of the Washington papers.

"The President's first reaction was to call Sayre and tell him off," reported this source. "But after he cooled off and thought about it a while, the President decided to do nothing."

"This summer we beheld a pair of gatherings at the summit of political power, each of which was completely dominated by a single man; the one man of dangerous ignorance and devastating uncertainty, the other a man whose public house is splendid in its every appearance but whose private lack of ethic must inevitably introduce termites at the very foundation.

"The electorate of this mighty nation is left homeless, then, by such a pair of nominees. It knows not where to turn, it stares fascinated at the forces that have produced such a sterile choice — frustration and a federation of hostilities in the one party; and in the other, behind a goodly facade, only a cynical manipulation of power.

"YET IN THE END this is no fault of our leaders. For they only reflect what they so cannily perceive to be the preoccupation of every single one of us.

"Few eyes are lifted up in this nation to a nobler purpose than selfish gain . . . This is a fever, a dread sickness to which we have become so accustomed that we think it normal. No wonder that the political parties in our society reflect the emptiness of our faith and the tinsel baubles by which we forever seek to disguise the lack."

Two Marin Libraries Are Compared; Labor Temple Painted With Rollers

Visitors to the San Rafael Library find large expanses of shelving vacant. They find, usually, plenty of places to sit and read, or to do research.

Just the opposite is the case in Mill Valley. The visitor there finds the bookshelves not only filled to capacity, but with additional volumes piled on top, so that organization of the volumes necessarily suffers. And he finds everything crowded.

The impression is that the Mill Valley Library has many more volumes. Actually, there is not much difference in number.

As of the close of last year, the San Rafael Library had 42,657 titles, according to Head Librarian Vivian R. Smith. About 2,500 are being added this year, she said.

San Rafael City Council last year budgeted $13,000 for purchase of new books, and this year has upped the amount to $19,000. Mill Valley budgeted $13,000 last year also, and this year increased the amount to $14,000. (The San Rafael council has not always been so generous in the past, however.)

The difference is largely in that San Rafael built a $180,000 addition to its library in 1960. There are now separate locations for children's library and junior library, all within the building. So there is plenty of room for expansion.

Mill Valley's old library building, on the other hand, is virutally "bursting at the seams." But Mill Valley voters in June approved a $325,000 bond issue for a new library, so the canyon city next year should have as much library space as San Rafael.

IT ALL DEPENDS on whose job it is. A few weeks back, the Painters Union stopped painters on a Larkspur school from using rollers, declaring that union rules dictated the job must be done with brushes—admittedly slower, but doing a better job, according to the union's claim.

Last week, the Labor Temple in San Rafael — which houses headquarters of the Painters Union along with other AFL-CIO affiliates — got a new coat of paint, put on, of course, by union members.

SOUNDS OF POLITICKING already are being heard in connection with next April's San Rafael Board of Education election. Terms of John M. Bagshaw and Mrs. Bella H. Aaron will expire. Neither has announced yet whether he or she will be a candidate for another term, but various others are alraedy being mentioned as potential candidates. Among those mentioned are Frank Parker, who was nosed out in the 1963 election; H. D. Skoloff, who just missed election in 1961; L. E. Weisenburg Jr., who served on a citizen building and finance committee and has been somewhat critical of the board's building and site acquisition politices, and Harold E. Schioldager, who also was on the building and finance committee. Doubtless there will be others, as February filing time draws nearer.

ART BUCHWALD

Bull Moose Party Decries Women Voter League Plan

WASHINGTON—The League of Women Voters is at it again. They're trying to get women to vote in November. As one of the founders of the Bull Moose Party, which has been working quietly for the repeal of the 19th Amendment (we were the first to point out that women can't cook—96.4 per cent of all professional chefs are men — women can't sew — 89 per cent of all couturiers are men—women can't even have babies without help—92.7 per cent of all babies are delivered by men) we have posed the question: "Why should women have the right to vote if they can't do the things they're supposed to do?"

NEW EVIDENCE has been unearthed to show that the Bull Moose Party is not just whistling "Dixie." A book written by Dr. L. P. Brockett, entitled "Women's Rights, Wrongs, and Privileges," has become to the Bull Moose Party what the Blue Book is to the John Birch Society. Written in 1869, Dr. Brockett spelled out the many disadvantages there were in giving the franchise to women.

Dr. Brockett maintained that women were well represented in politics by their husbands and fathers. No reasonable request made by a woman through their menfolk went unheeded. As Dr. Brockett put it, "the general sentiment of tenderness and regard for the female sex on the part of men both in high and low station is their greatest protection and safeguard, and they would lose this if they voted themselves."

THE GOOD DOCTOR pointed out that letting women vote was against the natural order of things.

"When a husband and father votes, he is voting for the family, but if women are allowed to vote they would be voting as individuals, which is incompatible with the organization of society and subversive to its best interests."

Give women the right to vote, Dr. Brockett warned, and the male voter will say, "I have no need to consider anybody's interest but my own."

Dr. Brockett believed, and his prophesies have borne fruit, that once a woman was given the vote the sexes would be at war. He wrote, "Let man understand that woman is determined to stand for herself and neither desires nor needs his assistance, then an antagonism would be engendered which many waters could not quench."

He pointed out that if a woman disagreed politically with her husband it could lead to separation and even permanent estrangement.

"WOMEN ALLOW their passions to get overheated and call it righteous sentiment. They make more of their idols, raise more false halos about them, and even have it as a kind of virtue to bear defeat badly in their cause. There is no hatred so implacable, especially with women, as political hatred, no bitterness so intense as that which is engendered by political strife."

And how could you hide these passions? Dr. Brockett predicted that if women got the vote their charm and beauty would disappear and "women will acquire a more careworn expression; they will have a sharper, more wiry voice, modulated upon a higher key; and that 'lean and hungry look' which has been characteristic of politicians since the time of Cassius."

The doctor dwelt on the fact that if good women got suffrage they would have to go down to the polls and stand in line with servant women, women of the lower classes, and even women of ill-repute whom, he predicted, would be paid to be there early.

AS EVERYONE KNOWS, Brockett's words weren't heeded and women did get the vote. All his predictions have come true. The only hope to bring us back to the good old days is Barry Goldwater, but unless Senator Goldwater calls for the repeal of the 19th Amendment, the Bull Moose Party is going to sit this one out.

Schools, Recreation Agreement Reached

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission Monday night approved a proposed agreement with Novato Unified and San Jose School districts for a recreation program on school playgrounds.

Edmund Mahany, parks and recreation director, advised against city participation in the Little League program. The commission delayed its decision for two meetings to hear from representatives of the Little League.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 23, the 267th day of 1964 with 99 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Mars. The evening star is Saturn.

Augustus Caesar, the first Roman emperor, was born on this date in 63 B. C.

On this day in history:

In 1779, the Bonhomme Richard commanded by the American naval hero John Paul Jones, defeated the British frigate Serapis in a battle off the coast of Scotland.

In 1926, Jack Dempsey lost the heavyweight championship boxing title to Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.

In 1943, the U. S., Great Britain, Russia and China established the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to help war-liberated areas of the world.

A thought for the day — Harry Truman once said: "The responsibilities of the great states is to serve and not to dominate the world."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Imitation In Game Sometimes Better Than The Real Thing

Every man whose wife wants a mink coat should be interested in a proof that an imitation is sometimes better than the real thing.

Thus far my research into the matter has gone only as far as a bridge hand, but this does serve to demonstrate the general principle.

South saw that he could take a real finesse in spades whenever he pleased. If it worked, he would make his contract, losing only one diamond and two clubs.

AN IMITATION

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and returned a low club. To East, it seemed that declarer was about to try a club finesse with smething like A-J or A-J-x in the South hand.

Deceived by this imitation finesse, East played a low club. South played the jack to force out the ace, and only at this moment did East see that the club play was not really a finesse.

SETS UP QUEEN

West led his other diamond, and South won with the king. Declarer now led out the ace and king of hearts and was delighted to see that the trumps broke evenly. His contract was assured.

South could afford to lead the ten of clubs, losing to the king. This set up dummy's queen of clubs before the spades had been touched.

East returned the jack of spades, but it was too late. Since declarer had no further need of the spade finesse he put up the ace of spades, led a small trump to dummy and discarded the queen of spades on dummy's queen of clubs.

DIAMOND TRICK

Declarer could then give up a diamond trick and ruff his remaining diamond with dummy's last trump.

If South relied on the genuine finesse in spades he would lose a spade trick as well as a diamond and two clubs.

The fake finesse in clubs was better than the genuine article.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ K 8 6 4 3
♥ J 7
♦ 9 2
♣ A 9 5 3

Answer: Bid four spades.

The jump to game usually shows a singleton or void suit in addition to excellent trump support, but two doubletons and five-card trump support should be good enough.

Dinners And Ball In Belvedere

By MOLLY MARIN

Several dinner parties are planned to precede the St. Stephen's Belvedere Ball on Saturday evening which will be given at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

The Clarence M. Kretchmers will have as their guests Messrs. and Mesdames Edwin G. Weed, Robert Crockett, Merritt Ruddock, Frank King, John Hoefer, Carlton Skinner, Russell Keil, MacBoyle Lewis and the Rev. and Mrs. Llewellyn White.

THE JAMES ELLIOTTS will have six couples in for dinner at their Belvedere home, and the Dickerson McAfees will entertain at cocktails and dinner for Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Bates, Willard Patton, Vincent Trembly and Edward Stephens. Mrs. McAfee is St. Stephen's Guild president.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Graham are entertaining with cocktails, and after that, the group will have dinner at a Tiburon restaurant before going to the ball. Guests of the Grahams will be the Messrs. and Mesdames Kirk Bassett, Willard Pittman, Mrs. Joan Schultz and Mrs. Emily Knapp.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY SANDERSON and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Wrenn (the two wives are co-chairmen of the ball), will have about 20 people for cocktails. Among the guests are the Ernie Van Asperns, James Crittendens, James Leversons and the Robert Benioffs.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moore will be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Anawalt. The Basil Knauths will entertain at cocktails and dinner at their home. Among their guests will be the John Wileys, W. C. Witters and Robert Goetz.

THE J. WILLIAM ZIMMERMANS of Greenbrae are leaving by plane today for New York City where they will attend the World's Fair. While in the East, they will take an auto tour through the New England states.

DR. AND MRS. Bernard Blumberg of Greenbrae were given a surprise celebration on the occasion of their 10th anniversary Saturday by a group of friends. Hosts for the dinner party at the Blumberg home were Mr. and Mrs. Miles B. Kaplan of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abrams of Skokie, Ill., who flew in especially for the event. Friends came from San Francisco, Peninsula and Marin. Among the 50 guests were Marinites Dr. and Mrs. Jack Siegal, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Silberman and Messrs. and Mesdames Mel Ricardi, Peter Molinari, Lawrence Keilman and Jack Price.

CAPT. AND MRS. Maxim W. Firth of San Rafael have returned after a two months' tour of the United States. Highlights of the trip were visits with Mrs. Firth's sister, Mrs. William Kelley, in Pittsburgh, Pa., nephew Miller Kelley in Fort Collins, Colo., and another sister, Mrs. Martha Cunningham in El Paso, Tex.

An interesting reunion with the Firths' best man, Vice Adm. Horace Rivero, who is now vice chief of naval operations, and classmates took place in Washington, D.C. Excellent weather followed them from the Grand Tetons, where Capt. Firth fished for trout, to the Gaspe Peninsula with its quaint villages, over the new eighteen-mile Chesapeake Bay bridge and tunnel and back through Texas and California.

'Why P-TA' Will Be Topic Of District Meet Tomorrow

The Fourteenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet tomorrow at the Guerneville Elementary School, Guerneville. Registration will begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Program topic will be "Why P-TA?" and will be presented by the department of extension and the department of organization. Panelists will be Mrs. Robley Berry, director of extension for the CCPT; Douglas Arthur, director of industrial services, Petaluma Schools, and Mrs. Hubert Pessner, director of extension, Fourteenth District.

Mrs. Dale Moore of Petaluma president of the district, will give a report of the state board of managers meeting held in San Francisco last week.

JAZZING IT UP

Mrs. Crawford Heads P-TA

Mrs. Eugene Crawford, as president of the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Assn., will be serving in a field in which she has shown continuing interest in the past few years.

She says, "As parents we need to understand the problems and goals of the school, and in turn express our concerns and hopes. The P-TA is the important link between school and community."

Mrs. Crawford has been a member of the Tam High P-TA for five years, during which she served as program chairman and on the curriculum council.

She has also served as vice president of the Marin Council of Community Services in 1962-63, president of the Marin Family Service Agency in 1959, and has worked for Sunny Hills.

MRS. EUGENE CRAWFORD

A native of Evanston, Ill., she was educated at Mills College. Before her marriage to Eugene, who is an architect, she was employed by the Standard Oil Co. in Portland, Ore.

The Crawfords have lived in Mill Valley 17 years and have two children, Lynn, 19, a student at the University of the Pacific, and Bruce, 17, a senior at Tamalpais High School.

The president is a member of the Mill Valley Tennis Club and of the Outdoor Art Club.

Other officers are Mrs. Tris Coffin, first vice president; Robert Prather, second vice president; Mrs. Iris Meyer, third vice president; Irwin Peterson, fourth vice president; Mrs. Harold Griffeath, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Staiger, recording secretary; and Mrs. Edna Pixley, treasurer.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS OBORN MacLEAN

JOAN SWART

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swart announced the engagement of their daughter, Joan Amber, to Norman Francis Rianda of Gonzales at an al fresco buffet dinner on Sunday evening in their San Rafael home.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended California Polytechnic College. She is the sister of John Bernhardt Swart of San Rafael and granddaughter of Mrs. John Sandretto of San Rafael and granddaughter of Mrs. John Sandretto of San Rafael and Mrs. Milton Feig of San Francisco.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rianda of Gonzales, was graduated from Gonzales High School and California Polytechnic College. He is employed with Spreckels Sugar Co. in Manteca. Raymond Rianda of Greenfield is his brother and he is the grandson of Mrs. Henry Rianda and Mrs. Bernard Breschin of Gonzales.

Barbecue Planned In Lucas Valley

The Lucas Valley Home and School Club will have its annual barbecue on Saturday at 1 p.m. to acquaint the parents of Lucas Valley School students with the programs carried on by the club. Softball and other games and festivities for children are planned. Hamburgers and hot dogs will be served with soft drinks.

The Home and School Club sponsors activities aimed at helping the school. The room mothers, teachers' aides, library volunteers and the clerical pool are all members of the Home and School Club, giving their time to assist the school staff.

Team Rooters Plan Dance

Annual fall dance of Redwood Junior Giants rooters for teams past and present will be held Oct. 3 at the Mill Valley Golf and Country Club.

An hors d'oeuvre table and buffet dinner will be catered and a combo will play for dancing. The dance is a fund-raiser for the Redwood team of the Pop Warner football league.

Tickets for the dinner-dance, which begins with cocktails at 7 p.m., may be obtained this week from committee chairman Mrs. James Carroll, Mrs. Joseph Minutoli or Mrs. Ross Ashley.

Newlyweds Residing In Sacramento

The wedding of Judith Eliason, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Eliason of Alameda, and Douglas Oborn MacLean of Tiburon took place in a private ceremony at the Los Angeles Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on Sept. 1.

Judith wore a full length gown of white organza over taffeta. Attending her were Judith LeaVell and Beverly Sarjeant, both of Alameda, who wore moss green organza over taffeta.

Roy Briggs of Oakland was best man.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. MacLean of Tiburon, attended Brigham Young University, then served a two and one-half year mission in Central America. He is presently attending the University of California at Davis preparing for a teaching career.

The bride attended Brigham Young University and was graduated from the University of California. She is a dietitian at Sutter Hospital in Sacramento.

After a wedding trip on the Mendocino Coast, the couple is living in Sacramento.

COMPARE AND SAVE

We can save you money on meat. We can save you money without sacrifice of quality. Careful checking shows us that our meat is just as good as most—better than many. The comparative prices listed were advertised by other markets throughout Marin, last week. We urge you to clip our ad . . . compare the prices this week. We feel that no matter where you live in this county . . . you will save substantially on the average family meat bill when you buy at Sil's. Certainly it's worth looking into. Why don't you make the test, this week. We'll be seeing you.

On ⅝ acre, this Ross residence needs only small remodeling to make it a perfect home for a large growing family. Ideally situated. Youngsters can hike and bike in any direction—in safety. Unusual room arrangement makes this an ideal home for retired folks, also, with its good "visiting grandchildren" set-up. Grounds are level with pool site and gracious entry drive.

RESOLUTION NO. 3138
RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO ESTABLISH SETBACK LINES ALONG THE SOUTH SIDE OF LISBON STREET AND THE WEST SIDE OF VERDI STREET

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission of the City of San Rafael, on the 25th day of August 1964, recommended the establishment of setback lines along certain streets in the City of San Rafael, which setback lines are described as follows:

(a) Five feet on the south side of Lisbon Street from Verdi Street and Bellam Boulevard, said distance to be measured from the street right-of-way line; and

(b) Five feet on the west side of Verdi Street from Belvedere Street to Market Street, said distance to be measured from the street right-of-way line.

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission has determined that the public necessity, safety, and general welfare require the establishment of said setback lines.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS RESOLVED that the City Council of the City of San Rafael, under the authority of Chapter 13.04 of the San Rafael Municipal Code, hereby declares its intention to establish said setback lines.

NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 5th day of October 1964, at 8:00 o'clock P.M. in the Council Chambers, City Hall, San Rafael, California, a public hearing will be had on said proposed setback lines, and any and all persons having any objection to the establishment of the said proposed setback line or lines may appear before the City Council of the City of San Rafael, and present any objections which they may have to said proposed setback line or lines as set forth above.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution shall be published twice in the Independent Journal, a newspaper published in the City of San Rafael, and two copies of this Resolution shall be posted conspicuously at least 100 feet apart upon the side of each street in front of each block of the streets mentioned above along which the said setback lines are proposed to be established. Said publication and posting of this Resolution shall be made at least ten days before the time of said public hearing.

I, W. L. MORGAN, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at a regular meeting of the Council of the City of San Rafael held on the 21st day of September, 1964, by the following vote, to wit:

Nairobi Afraid Over Civil War

By HENRY REUTER

NAIROBI (WPS)—The ghost of Kabalega is walking again in Uganda, and there is talk that civil war may erupt any time between now and Nov. 4.

Kabalega did not like the British when they were colonizers of Uganda. And he liked them even less when they signed a treaty of friendship with his arch-enemy, the Kabaka, Ruler of the powerful kingdom of Buganda.

So Kabalega's men attacked the British, and their Baganda allies, and in the fighting that followed, the Baganda conquered six Bunyoro counties. As for the Kabalega, he was captured and exiled to the Seychelles Islands, in the Indian Ocean.

Ever since, the Bunyoro have been clamoring for their "lost counties." A Royal Commission set up by Britain found that four of the counties were populated mostly by Baganda, who had no wish to return to Bunyoro. The other two contained many Baganda who did want to return, however; so the Commission recommended a referendum to settle the matter.

But in October, 1962, Uganda gained its independence, with the referendum unheld, the issue unresolved, and the Kabaka's Baganda people threatening to shed their last drop of blood to keep the counties. In the past year, anticipating the referendum, the Kabaka has dipped into his treasure chests to settle thousands of Banganda ex-servicemen in the disputed areas.

The date of referendum has now been fixed—for Nov. 4. But the Uganda Government has announced that only persons who voted in the 1962 election will have a vote in the referendum, thus nullifying the Kabaka's expensive efforts to weight the vote.

Until very recently, the Uganda Government was made up of two parties. One was the Uganda Peoples' Congress (UPC), led by Prime Minister Milton Obote. The other was the Kabaka Yekka (KY) party which controls almost all the votes in Buganda, the richest, most heavily-populated, most advanced and most influential Ugandan area.

With the Baganda indignant at the possibility of losing their captured counties through a referendum, relations between the UPC and the KY have been increasingly strained. Earlier this month they snapped. The KY-UPC coalition dissolved, and the 14 KY members of parliament joined 16 members of the Democratic Party in opposition.

Today tensions are running high in the two disputed "lost counties" of Buyaga and Bugangazzi. Among their banana, cotton and coffee plantations there is constant talk of civil war.

Prime Minister Obote — still constitutionally secure, with his UPC's 59 seats compared to the 30 of the combined oppositions —has indicated that he intends to play it tough and deal ruthlessly with any lawbreakers as the referendum day approaches.

It is the first time that Uganda's people have been called on to settle such a major issue constitutionally instead of with spears and knives. And it will be the first time that the central Government has been called upon to flex its muscles to prevent war among its component kingdoms.

Bleachers Refund To Two Schools

San Rafael High School District will receive $4,220 as its share of damages being paid by six eastern manufacturers of folding school bleachers in settlement of an anti-trust suit.

Novato Unified School District will receive $1,031 as a result of the $575,000 settlement, which will be divided among 143 public agencies in California in repayment for what the State Department of Justice said were fixed prices on the bleachers.

The triple damage payment in anti-trust damages came as the result of a suit initiated in 1960 on charges of a price-fixing conspiracy involving the manufacturers who produced 90 per cent of all such bleachers sold in the United States.

The companies involved were Brunswick Corp. of Chicago; Consolidated Founderies and Manufacturing Corp. of Chicago; Fred Medart Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis; Safway Steel Products Inc. of Milwaukee; Universal Bleacher Co. of Champaign, Ill., and Wayne Iron Works of Wayne, Pa.

More Tonkin Clashes Seen

TOKYO (UPI)—Vice Adm. Roy L. Johnson, commander of the U.S. Seventh Fleet, fully expects further clashes with Communist forces in Far Eastern waters, according to an interview published today in the Pacific Stars and Stripes.

Johnson gave the interview to the U.S. armed forces newspaper before the latest Gulf of Tonkin incident last Friday.

"Incidents are bound to occur," he was quoted as saying. "The situation has been explosive and could well continue to be until Mr. Khrushchev and the Reds denounce their over-all objectives."

Plumbers To Meet

Associated Plumbing Contractors of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties Inc. will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Sabella's Restaurant, Alto. Members will see a film titled "Cathodic Protection with Galvanic Anodes."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Great Strides Have Been Made In Complexion Problems Control

VAN DELLEN

A Dermatologist writes: "I think you could do a great service to teenagers and their parents by informing them of the great strides medical science has made in the management of complex problems.

As a dermatologist, I am appalled at the lack of knowledge and understanding of the subject among parents and family doctors. Scarring occurs in 20 per cent and this could have been prevented in many of these youngsters with proper care."

THE LETTER WAS timely because I was just about to write on several suggestions for acne. A team from Boston University Medical Center felt the same way because they sent out a news release criticizing parents and physicians for taking the attitude that nothing can be done. This leads to unintentional and undeserved neglect. This, in turn, offers little solace to the self-conscious teen-ager with blackheads and pimples.

The Boston group is working on hormones that will decrease the activity of the oil-producing glands. They are aiming at excessive amounts of oily material (sebum) that irritates the skin to form pimples. Meanwhile they suggest the use of special soaps, drying and peeling lotions, and ultraviolet light.

A TUCSON SKIN specialist traced the flare-up of acne among girls 20 years of age and younger to the use of hair spray. Older girls developed a slight thinning of the frontal hair. If these problems exist, stop spraying or wear a cosmetic mask.

From the University of Pennsylvania comes a report on the benefits derived from the proper use of a comedo extractor. Dr. Edmund D. Lowney did several control studies on adolescents with acne and found that fewer inflammatory lesions develop when blackheads near the surface are expressed. But pimples and deeper pores should not be mashed or irritated by pressure, as they become cysts and abcesses which might leave scars.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

HEALED FRACTURE

J. N. writes: My 16-year-old son had a hairline fracture of the skull when he was 7. Would it be safe for him to play football on a high school team, using the routine protective equipment?

REPLY

Yes. The fracture healed within two months of the original injury and the same can be said of any brain damage that might have occurred.

PLAYPENS AND THE EMOTIONS

Mrs. R. P. writes: Does putting a child in a playpen pose more of a psychological threat than his crib or high chair? We mothers in the neighborhood are arguing this question.

REPLY

No, assuming that the playpen is part of the child's normal environment and is not used to penalize him.

TRANSISTOR FAN

S. C. B. writes: Is there any harm to the heart or body if you keep a transistor radio in your shirt pocket and play it every day?

REPLY

No, but the noise may annoy others. These radios do not give off harmful rays.

CURE OF ADDICTION

H. D. W. writes: Why are there so few reformed drug addicts compared with reformed alcoholics?

REPLY

Drug addiction is difficult to treat and cures are few and far between. Also, reformed drug addicts don't usually talk about their former habit.

Old Hull Is Giving Engineers Bad Time

A dehydrated carrot salesman from King City is causing much inconvenience at the Army Corps of Engineers base in Sausalito. But, if all goes well, things will have shaped up by Oct. 31.

It seems that Richard H. Davis of King City (also of Bakersfield and with a post office box in Sausalito), a salesman of dehydrated carrots, had an old steel ferry hull, with superstructure removed, tied up at Kappas Yacht Harbor.

About six weeks ago the vessel was found, loose and afloat, by the Coast Guard on patrol in Richardson Bay. A derelict, the Coast Guard took it to the base yard. But when it got just south of the south pier, the 130-foot-long, 40-foot-wide and 12-foot-deep ferry promptly sank. It now blocks a portion of the south pier.

Davis was advised he had 30 days to salvage his ship. He responded that he didn't have the carrots nor facilities.

The corps issued invitations for bids to remove the derelict from their waterways and yesterday Smith-Rice Co. of San Francisco submitted a low bid of $14,775, agreeing to remove the obstruction by Oct. 31.

A corps spokesman said it is the responsibility of the engineers to remove any vessel abandoned in a navigable channel. Legislation has been proposed before Congreess to make the owner liable in such cases in some degree, but this is still in proposal stages.

"We're not happy about it," said the corps man.

Marin 'Olympic Day' Set To Raise Funds For Games

An "Olympic Day" program to raise funds toward sending the United States Olympic team to Tokoyo will be presented the afternoon of Oct. 4 at the Meadows' Oakview Club in the Terra Linda section of San Rafael.

Mrs. Beth Kaufman, a member of the United States Olympic Games Committee, announced the program will include professional tennis, fashion show, and synchronized swimming by U. S. amateur champions.

Heading the activity at 2 p.m. will be a doubles tennis match of Northern vs. Southern Marin. Harry Roche of Lagunitas Country Club and Hal Wagner of Rafael Racquet Club will face Bill Kennedy of the Mill Valley Tennis Club and J. Paul Wilkins of the Belvedere Tennis Club.

The fashion show will be sponsored by the Mannequin League of Marin. Models will show fall fashions around the three swimming pools of the Oakview Club.

Following the fashion show will be an exhibition by the Ann Curtis Synchronized Swim Team of Los Ranchitos and the Marionettes of San Francisco.

"All money raised for the Olympic Fund is used only for the athletes, coaches and managers of the teams to cover transportation, housing, goods and uniforms," Mrs. Kaufman declared.

Tickets are available at several local stores and from the Oakview Club, the Meadows Apartments, 919 Lea Drive, San Rafael, and Mrs. Kaufman at 118 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo.

Bus Drivers Due Awards

Two Marin County bus drivers have qualified for safe driving awards by the Greyhound Co.

They are Robert A. Schneider of Mill Valley, who qualifies for a 15-year award, and Benny C. Cessna of 28 Villa Avenue, San Rafael, who qualifies for a 10-year award.

The awards are given for the number of complete years of accident-free driving. The years need not be consecutive.

Redwood Bark Wins Honor

The Redwood Bark, Redwood High School student newspaper, has received an international honor rating from Quill and Scroll.

The award represents superior achievement and is the highest rating which can be given by Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists. High school papers from all 50 states and several foreign countries are rated by the society.

The award was given for papers of the second semester of last year, for which was also recently received an all-American honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Assn., the top award given by that organization.

Democrat Club Sets Extremism As Topic

The Tiburon Peninsula Democratic Club will sponsor a panel discussion on "Extremism Examined" at 8 p.m. today at Reed School.

Samuel N. Le Count, chief counselor at College of Marin, will moderate the discussion by Howard Jewell, assistant state attorney general, on "The Effects of Extremism on Constitutional Rights"; Charles Fessler, teacher of American government at San Rafael High School, on "Extremist Movements and Academic Freedom," and a third speaker not yet selected.

Art Studio Tour Slated For Oct. 4

A tour of Marin County artists' studios will be sponsored Oct. 4 by the Marin County Committee for the San Francisco Art Institute Development Program.

Studios to be visited are those of Mill Valley sculptor Jeremy Anderson, Sausalito weaver Bea Bernardi, Mill Valley printmaker John Ihle, Sausalito csulptor and painter Art Grant, Tiburon painter and printmaker Frank Milner, Ross painter Doris Morrison, Ross painter and muralist Jose Moya del Pino, Belvedere painter and mosaicist Helen Steinau Rich, and Sausalito sculptor and painter Serge Trubach.

The tour will conclude with a reception from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Mill Valley studios of sculptor Richard O'Hanlon and painter Ann O'Hanlon.

Tickets may be purchased at Ludins' Art Center, San Rafael; Dimitroff's Frame Shop, Mill Valley; Torrance's Gallery, San Anselmo, and Virgo Gallery, Sausalito.

Dimitroff Frame Shop is running a show of paintings by San Francisco Art Institute artists who live in Marin in conjunction with the tour.

Warren Report To Be Released Sunday Evening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The report of the Warren Commission's investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy will be made public at 6:30 p.m. (EDT) Sunday.

The White House said yesterday that the inquiry's findings, estimated to contain more than 250,000 words, will be released for publication in Monday morning newspapers. This means that its contents may be published or broadcast on radio or television after 6:30 p.m. (EDT) Sunday.

President Lyndon B. Johnson will receive his copy of the report from Chief Justice Earl Warren and others on the seven-man commission tomorrow at the White House.

The report will be on sale to the public Monday morning at the Government Printing Office in Washington. Hard-cover copies will be priced at $3.25. Paperback copies will sell for $2.50.

Steve Allen Ending Show

The actor said yesterday that Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. had released him from his contract so he could devote full time to his role as host of the weekly "I've Got a Secret" program on CBS-TV.

Allen has been commuting between New York and Hollywood to tape the shows. "It was just too much," said a spokesman for the actor.

String Workshop

The Marin Workshop for Strings will start weekly instruction in orchestra performance at 4 p.m. Oct. 2 in the San Rafael High School music room. The workshop, sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin, is designed to build a reservoir of players for the Marin Youth Orchestra. All intermediate string players are eligible.

Mill Valley Completes Study On Problem Of Marin City

Sausalito School District's number one problem — Marin City's "de facto segregation"—has been examined during the past month by an interested neighbor, Mill Valley.

Yesterday the neighbor released its findings, which the two school boards will talk about Monday at 8 p.m. at Old Mill School in Mill Valley.

The 36-page report, "Financial and Practical Implications: Interdistrict Attendance, Annexation, Unionization, Mill Valley and Sausalito School Districts," was prepared by G. R. McConnell, Mill Valley district superintendent. He was assisted by Leo B. Edson, Mill Valley assistant superintendent, and Marcus F. Davis, Sausalito district superintendent.

No recommendation is made, the report supplying data and raising questions.

"Since this is a report on desegregation, it touches only lightly on the operation of integrated schools—a matter which would call for the most creative planning," says the introduction.

The first would simply require a contract between the two districts. Some children from the Mill Valley district would then be transported by bus to Manzanita School, and some of the Marin City children to a school in Mill Valley. Additional transportation cost would present one obstacle.

Annexation of Marin City (or part of it) to the Mill Valley district would require a petition by 25 per cent of registered voters of the area to be annexed. It would then be subject to approval by the county board of supervisors and an election. Objection is that it would add to Mill Valley's school load disproportionately to the amount of taxable value.

Unionization would require a 25 per cent petition and an election. It would make possible transferring children within the district.

The report points out that Mill Valley faces a classroom shortage. Class sizes have been exceeded in some grades to reduce the number of children already transferred from school to school.

Integration begins after desegregation, the report states. It suggests that special arrangements—if Mill Valley swapped pupils in an interdistrict agreement—might be necessary for "enrichment of the program for the incoming children." In addition, in-service education of teachers and added costs for supplies might be required.

The report was written with the idea that transfers would be strictly of Negro children who attend Richardson Bay and Manzanita schools.

"Annexation of Marin City alone might create another ghetto," the report says, "this time a Caucasian one, which would rob Sausalito children of an opportunity to mix with minority groups."

Shoreline Highway might be used as a boundary between the two districts and if so would "equate the districts geographically and give Sausalito an opportunity to achieve racial balance as a by-product of acquiring the Tamalpais Valley and the unused Eastwood site (in Tamalpais Valley)."

On the money side, McConnell says that Mill Valley would face educating 470 more students (from Marin City) represented by a $10 per child support program from Marin County and no other significant local source of income.

Sausalito, on the other hand, would benefit tremendously financially. Marin City contains less than 2 per cent of the Sausalito School District's assessed valuation and produces 45 per cent of the student body.

Under unionization, Sausalito would gain $21.25 per child from the state and Mill Valley would lose $20.23 per child. This would mean an over-all loss in state aid of $44,963 for the combined area.

PG&E Includes Safety Features At Bodega

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Pacific Gas and Electirc Co. said Monday that substantial safety margins have been included in the design of vital equipment for the Bodega Bay atomic power plant.

The company made the report in a letter to the Atomic Energy Commission, which had inquired last month about PG&E's design considerations for certain equipment and structures.

The AEC, in its letter, outlined hypothetical earthquake forces at Bodega Head far greater than ever recorded in California and asked PG&E to show how its plant design would accommodate them.

The company explained that its design criteria "contain substantial margins of safety against failure, and provide containment and safe plant shutdown in the event of earthquakes" as large as those theoretically posed by the AEC.

PG&E is seeking permission to build a nuclear-fueled power plant at Bodega Bay, but the company's application has been contested on grounds that Bodega Bay is a poor site for such a plant because it lies on the San Andreas earthquake fault.

Colorful Time Ahead For REA

The first weekend, Oct. 3-4, brings out the Grape Festival at San Anselmo, "Discovery Days" seafaring events at Bodega Bay, and the colorful Gem and Mineral Show at Redwood Acres Fairgrounds, Eureka. At quaint Ferndale, near Eureka, the Victorian Village antique show runs Sept. 28 through Oct. 4.

The second weekend, Oct. 10-11, offers the Industrial Exposition and Champagne Festival at Cloverdale, the Columbus Day "Festa Italiana" in San Francisco's North Beach, plus the "Double 10," Oct. 10, celebration in Chinatown, and the Napa County Art Festival at park headquarters, Lake Berryessa.

All eyes will be on the San Francisco International Film Festival, Oct. 14-27.

Then comes the Pacific Quarter-horse Show and Sale at the Cow Palace, Oct. 16-18, followed by the Grand National Livestock Exposition and Rodeo in the Cow Palace, Oct. 23-Nov. 1.

The final weekend, Oct. 31-Nov. 1, winds up October color with a Fall Flower Festival in Ross, and Lake County's first Frog Marathon at the Fairgrounds, Lakeport.

Actor Wayne Being Treated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Wayne, 57, is being treated at Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles for an ankle injury and a respiratory ailment, his secretary says.

The secretary, Mary St. John, said yesterday Wayne underwent surgery to correct an old ankle injury last Wednesday.

He developed an allergy "to something he had taken" and it caused an abscess on one lung, she said.

Suggestions Win Awards

Six Hamilton Air Force Base enlisted men have been given awards for suggestions they made in the military suggestion program.

The men were given checks and certificates by Col. John W. Jacobs, deputy for materiel of the 78th Fighter Wing.

Receiving the awards were: SM/Sgt. Raymond B. Edwards of 157 West Kelly Drive on the base; M/Sgt. Charles E. Ross of 27 Tarrant Court, San Rafael; M/Sgt. Cyrus N. Wells Jr. of 1297 Lynwood Drive, Novato; S/Sgt. Kenneth E. Hartman of Petaluma; S/Sgt James Wallace of 315 Bolling Drive on the base, and A/1c Richard A. Edwards of 553 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 24, San Rafael.

At Doane College

Thomas R. Prest of 639 Sausalito Boulevard, Sausalito, was among 175 freshmen starting classes this month at Doane College, Crete, Nebr. He is son of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Prest.

San Anselmo Woman Reviews Preparation For Peace Corps

Miss Spicer, who graduated from the University of California in June with a degree in bacteriology, says she is excited by the challenge of the peace corps, with its goal of becoming "part of the people where we are sent, not just breezing through."

Carol says that she asked for an assignment in public health but was assigned to teach mathematics-science to secondary school students.

"It really doesn't matter what I'm assigned to, I'll be able to use my bacteriology training. The peace corps is always dealing in basic living conditions wherever it is," said Miss Spicer.

"We were told that the first six months would be the hardest."

CAROL K. SPICER
To India with Peace Corps

This is the period when peace corps workers feel the full brunt of the living conditions they are trying to change, and realize how little they will be able to achieve.

"Bue we'll be leaving behind us new patterns which will last after we leave, because we try to work with what's available," said Carol.

The attractive, blue-eyed volunteer said that her training was heavy in its emphasis on language. She will have to do most of her daily business in Hindu-Urdu, combination of two languages which are different when written, but similar when spoken.

"In our language training we tried to re-enact some basic daily living situations," she said. "These were designed to help us fit smoothly into the life of our surroundings.

"For example, I will have to behave much more rudely than I want to towards the man who comes to do my laundry, if there is one, because he would be embarrassed if I treated his as an equal."

The training emphasized that changing the caste system is not the objective of the corps, even in rural areas where it is strongest. Carol is scheduled to go to such an area in West Bengal.

"But in the Peace Corps, you must be very flexable," she said. "I may never get there if I'm needed for something else."

Planners Increase Meetings

San Anselmo Planning Commission voted Monday night to meet twice a month starting in October to cope with the increasing amount of business.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month, chairman Charles R. Leitzell, said today.

The city's planning staff was requested last night to find out if other cities required subdividers of small hillside areas to contribute money toward improvement of access roads to their subdivisions in lieu of constructing curbs, gutters and sidewalks in their developments.

The commission, Leitzell said, is seeking a plan which will improve the entire roadway rather than just a small area or none at all.

Discussion of a proposal of the San Anselma Chamber of Commerce to rezone the downtown area for planned development from its present commercial zoning was scheduled for an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday in the city hall.

Teacher Median Pay In State Is $7,204

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The median salaries for classroom teachers in California during 1963-64 was $7,204, the State Department of Education has reported.

This included 145,592 fulltime teachers but did not include persons in administration capacities.

The median salary for elementary teaechers was $6,781, while high school teachers had a median of $7,697 and junior college teachers $7,204.

Since last year, the minimum salary for teachers was raised from $4,500 to $5,000. This means not only that no teachers may be employed for less than this amount, but the increase in the lowest-level positions was expected to be reflected in increases on up the salary line.

In 1963-64, there were 173 teachers who received less than the minimum of $4,500 and 1,743 who were paid less than $5,000.

The department's report showed California teachers have received salary increases averaging about 4.9 per cent (for the median level) every year for the past 11 years.

In 1952-53, the medians were $3,997 for elementary teachers; $4,783 for high school teachers and $5,463 for junior college teachers, with an overall median of $4,266.

Since 1952-53, the median salary for all California teachers has gained by 68 per cent. The increase for elementary teachers was 67 per cent; for high school teachers, 61 per cent, and for junior college teachers, 69 per cent.

The department showed there were 84,702 elementary teachers in 1963-64, with 54,426 high school teachers and 6,464 junior college teachers.

Two Firms Due State Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License board announced it plans to issue licenses to two San Rafael firms if no protest is received by Oct. 7.

Dante Brusatori, DBA Sales of California, 110 Belvedere Street, will be issued a glazing contractor's license.

Last Frontier Builders, Inc., 1456 Lincoln Avenue, will be issued a general building contractor's license. The company listed its officers as David E. Dexter, president and manager; Bernard S. Gagliardi, vice president, and Ellen A. Dexter, secretary.

ELECTED PRESIDENT—Walter T. Winter, Tiburon attorney, has been elected president of the California Chapter of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, a national organization of lawyers specializing in divorce law.

Record For Cow

Geronimo Group Seeks Way To Enforce Cleanup

More than 200 residents of San Geronimo Valley discussed means to enforce cleanup of the valley and strengthen fire ordinances at a meeting Monday night at Lagunitas School.

Mrs. Marie Gee, secretary of the San Geronimo Valley Clean-Up and Beautification Committee, said the turnout was one of the largest ever in the valley.

The residents discuss the dumping of trash along the highways, abandoned cars, rats, skunks and condemnation of buildings with county department heads and representatives of other agencies.

Mrs. Gee said the committee will recommend a fire ordinance for the valley and a tightening up of garbage and trash laws at a meeting of the directors of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Friday, and that the recommendations will be forwarded to county supervisors.

Airline Employees Flying High On 'Fringe' Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The man or woman sitting next to you on your airline trip may be enjoying one of American industry's most underrated "fringe" benefits.

Namely, air transportation—either free or at drastically reduced rates — for employees of the airlines.

The airline industry is not noted for high pay scales except at the pilot or executive levels. But employee travel privileges are a major reason why turnover in airline personnel is on the low side. They represent, as one carrier likes to term it, "hidden pay" of a kind exclusive to the airline industry.

It is not generally realized that comparatively few business firms grant employees sizable discounts on the products they manufacture. A recent survey of 1,200 representative companies, in fact, disclosed that 85 per cent did not provide product discounts.

Transportation is the product of the airlines, and employees can "buy" the product for considerably less than the public pays. Travel privileges vary from airline to airline, but in general they offer travel benefits not only to employees but members of their families. And most airlines have reciprocal agreements providing reduced rates for "off-line" travel. For example, American Airlines employees can fly for half-fare on 68 airlines throughout the world and for a 25 per cent discount on six others—and this is with guaranteed or positive space.

American estimates that its employees and their families flew more than 243 million miles on passes last year. That is more than the total revenue miles flown by any single local service airlines. American breaks it down to about 11,000 miles per employee.

American's pass privileges, regarded as representative but possibly more liberal than on some carriers, are given to anyone who has been with the company for six months. Free transportation is on a space available basis and also has mileage limitations — an employee can fly only so many miles or so many trips.

Half-fare passes are unlimited and space is guaranteed. An employee can make a reservation and get confirmed space just as if he were a regular passenger. The mileage and total trip restrictions on free passes are liberalized as seniority increases. Emergency and vacation trips are not charged against mileage.

American levies a small service charge on most of its passes. An employee flying jet coach, for example, pays a $2 charge for trips of up to 1,800 miles and $3 for flights of more than 1,800 miles. The first class jet service charges are $5 and $8 and flights on Electra equipment cost a flat $2, regardless of length or class of service. No service charge is involved for piston-engine planes.

American, like all airlines, requires employees to observe certain rules when traveling on passes. They're to be "properly attired," they must make arrangements for in-flight meals 24 hours before departure, and they must give paying passengers priority in seat preferences. Stewardesses are authorized to report any "non-rev" (for non-revenue) who refuses to change his seat.

Some airlines extend free or reduced transportation to retired employees and their families. All in all, the "non-revs" probably would rather have their pay cut than lose their pass privileges.

Scholars Turn Journeymen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "traveling scholar plan" has gained good acceptance during its first year, says the new chairman of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

The chairman, Ohio State University vice president and dean of faculties Dr. John C. Weaver, said 41 granduate students took part. Eleven major Midwest universities are participating in the program, which allows a graduate student to go to another campus for a quarter or two to take advantage of a particularly good course or facility.

He Couldn't Get Paid, Anyway

UMTATA, South Africa (AP)—Thieves tried to burgle a bank in this small town in South Africa's Transkei Territory.

They cut power and telephone lines, used matches to find their way to some keys and emptied nearly every drawer.

When they came to a cable running across the floor of the main hall, they cut it too, apparently believing it was some sort of alarm.

All they had done was cut the cable of the floor polisher. The cleaner was pretty upset next morning when he was unable to get on with his work.

Bacteria Is Problem To Copper

VANCOUVER (AP)—Dr. P. C. Tussell and a team of five University of British Columbia scientists are working on the problem of getting mineral-eating bacteria to extract metal from low-grade ore.

The bacteria have been able to get 80 to 90 per cent of the copper and almost all the nickel from test samples during laboratory experiments, Dr. Tussell says.

He explains that the bacteria — thiobacillus ferro-oxidans — change metal sulphides to sulphate form by the addition of oxygen. In the sulphate form the metal can be washed from the ore with water.

The bacteria will eat a very low grade of ore which would otherwise be uneconomical to use, he says.

"These bacteria have been working for us for centuries without our knowing it. The sulphates came out dissolved in mine water and the companies extracted the metal. Now that we know it's the bacteria we can put them to work more efficiently."

The scientists hope to come up with a system in which the bacteria can be sprinkled over a pile of ore at the mine site and save shipping the ore to the smelter. This would enable mines to operate economically in remote areas.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has the only accredited department of welding engineering in the United States.

Texas Tunnels Carved Through Solid Salt

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP)—Deep underneath this East Texas town lies a fantastic network of immense tunnels carved through solid salt.

The vast passageways dwarf the mining machines that work in them. Soaring as high as 80 feet and reaching a width of 30 feet, the tunnels stretch out dimly in a gigantic checkerboard pattern.

Large machines, looking strange in this world 700 feet underground, roll on rubber tires through the silent network, carrying endless tons of rock salt to conveyor belts.

Footsteps fall silently on the underground floors. Noise of machinery takes on a muted, soft sound. The air is salty, but easy to breathe. The temperature stays a pleasant 80 degrees year-round.

Salt—solid, broken, crushed—is everywhere. In places where it has been trampled by men and machines, it takes on the consistency of sand at an ocean beach. In some sections, it is hard as a rock and absolutely clear, with a diamond - like sparkle.

No foreign material is used to support the mine. Approximately 50 per cent of each mined section is left in place as support for the giant passageways. The rest goes out to the world in a variety of shapes and sizes, for home and industrial uses.

The Grand Saline operation, known as a quarry mine, is operated by the Morton Salt Co. It probably never will be exhausted.

"This mine is only a little bite off a huge dome of salt," said Ray Rucker, mining superintendent. "We cover about 70 acres with 11-12 miles of tunnels, but we're just beginning. The deposit goes down 22,000 feet, and we've gone down only 700 feet so far. There's enough salt here to last almost forever."

On an average day, the 18 employes who labor in the tunnels produce 800 tons of rock salt. They use only a few machines to dig out this daily mountain of sodium chloride.

The mining process is simple. First, an undercutting machine slices into the base of a solid wall of salt to a depth of about 10 feet. Then a double-barreled drilling machine known as a "jumbo" bores one and one-half inch diameter holes in a predetermined pattern. Explosives are tamped into the holes and electrically detonated. Several hundred tons of rock salt are blasted down from the wall face onto the mine floor, some of it in lumps weighing hundreds of pounds.

A loading machine dumps the blasted salt into a large transporter car, which carries it to the conveyor belt. It then goes through grinding, crushing and screening operations that separate it into seven different grades.

The final product is used in thousands of ways, from deicing streets and tanning leathers to preserving pickles and processing cheese.

Table salt is produced also in great quantities at the Grand Saline plant, but through an evaporative process rather than direct mining. By pumping fresh water deep into the rock salt deposits, and drying the resultant brine, the company produces the refined salt so essential to the flavor of food.

The Grand Saline mine has long been open to visitors, who pass the word to their friends about the interesting sights to be seen. But the mine does not have sufficient facilities for handling the growing throng of tourists, and reluctantly closed to visitors.

PREVIEW OF TOY WORLD

Assisting his young customer is the Toy World's new owner, Robert Rivers. At the Corte Madera to shop Bradley Stager, is properly impressed by the popular combat equipped soldier. Bradley is a son of the Robert Stagers of Corte Madera.

They Dreamed Of Flying Before Wright Brothers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six decades before the Wright brothers' aerial triumph at Kitty Hawk, N.C., three Britishers designed, patented and built a model of a "machine for conveying goods, letters and passengers from place to place through the air."

They called it an "aerial steam engine."

But all that ever got off the ground was a hullabaloo of harmful publicity. After two much-trumpeted models failed, the inventors were ridiculed out of the flying machine business.

Yet the plans for the unsuccessful invention of the 1840's incorporated many essentials of the modern airplane. And though the machine itself never survived a test, it anticipated the powered, sustained and free flight envisioned by glider-builders of the time and realized by the Wright brothers in a flimsy "aeroplane" over the North Carolina sand dunes in 1903.

The Library of Congress now has received a gift from Mrs. John Jay of New York of the papers of John Chapman, one of the collaborators in the brilliant, if luckless, partnership that furthered the vision of air travel. Included are design plans of the curious craft.

The aerial steam engine was the brainchild of William Samuel Henson. He built and tested a 20-foot wing span model between 1844-47, assisted by John Stringfellow, an engineer.

Stringfellow, later whipped up a smaller model. It also was a dud.

Chapman, a political writer and editor in later life, became involved with the project through his friendship with Henson. The papers "disclose Chapman's familiarity with the leading aerodynamical ideas of his time and suggest him as a hitherto unknown and unsuspected third man in this curious aeronautical partnership," the Library said.

Henson was said to have designed the machine about 1840. He registered it for a patent in 1842. But he touched off premature publicity by printing the patent drawings in the Illustrated London News and I'Illustration in 1843.

Soon after the drawings appeared, the Library said, "a host of romanticized sketches based upon them began to appear widely." By the time Henson got to work on the first model in 1844, the aerial steam engine was on its way to being "illuminated, exaggerated and finally defeated by propaganda."

But Henson and his friends were encouraged by their own publicity. They formed an "Aerial Transit Co." — before producing or testing even a model of the plane—which was to finance a full-sized airplane.

After a model powered by a small steam engine and two pusher propellers flunked the first test in 1847, Henson quit the project and emigrated to Texas.

Stringfellow endured public derision and remained in England. He attempted to carry on Henson's work with a new 10-foot-span model based on Henson's designs. He launched a model from a wire in tests at Chard and Cremorne Gardens in London in 1848, but "there is no evidence that the machine was ever proved capable" of flight, the Library said.

The aerial steam engine was a much-heralded failure — quite the opposite of the quiet success observed by a handful of people at Kitty Hawk years later. It took some time before word of that got around.

Summer Is Hard For Insurance

That's the word from the nation's leading insurance companies whose claim files, as the vacation season draws to a close, bulge with warm-weather mishaps.

Take, for example, the records which show, among other things:

—A vacationer in a restaurant pushed back his chair and fell into an open fish pool.

—A man was beaned by a coconut in Florida while watering his lawn.

—A man in New England went for a swim and was shot by a resident who mistook him for a porpoise.

—A boating enthusiast pulled so hard on the starter cord of his outboard motor that he fell into the water and was run down by his own boat.

—A tourist in a stuffy hotel room placed an electric fan near the foot of his bed. He was rudely awakened when he stuck his foot in the fan and injured a toe.

—A woman in Pennsylvania drove straight into a tree—while operating a golf cart.

One of the most provocative claims presented was that of a housewife who broke her wrist during a train trip. On her claim report she described her mishap:

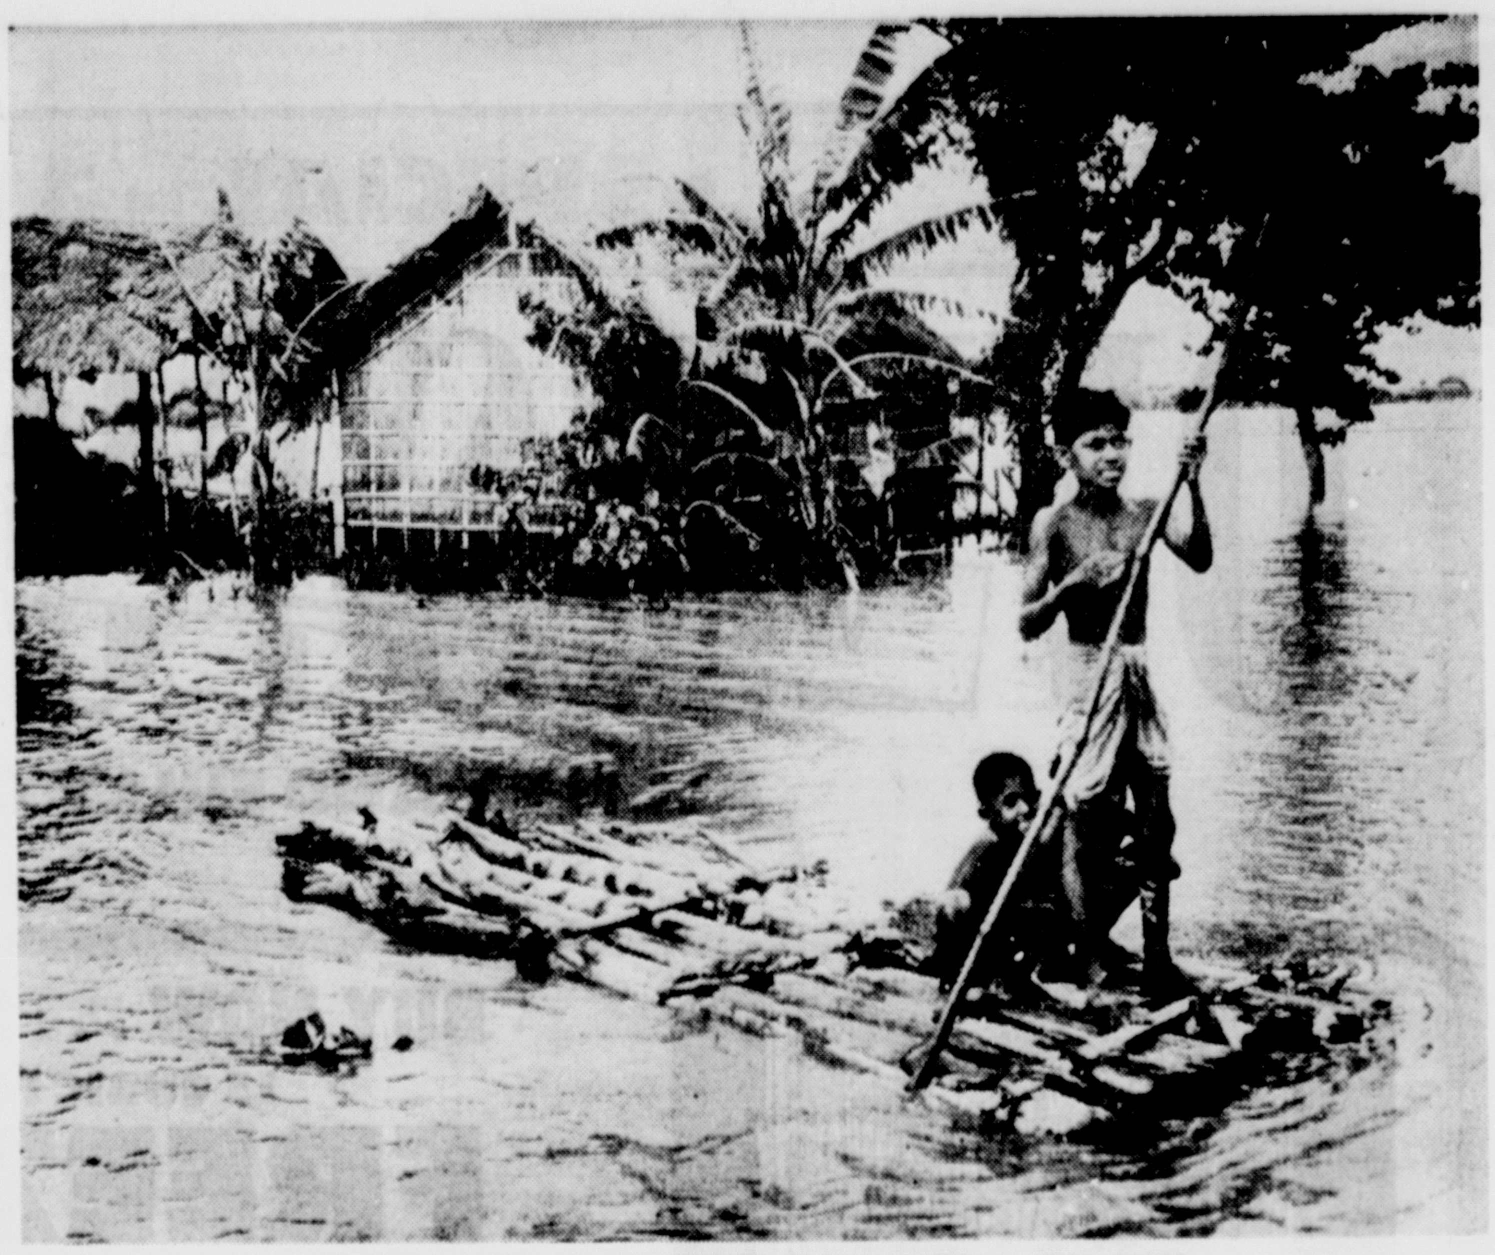
"Injured by jerk on train."

Dream Just Too Darn Realistic

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—That was a real wild dream that O. Knox Kling of Des Moines had the other night.

In the dream, a man was making objectionable remarks to Mrs. Kling in a restaurant. Kling objected, the man swung at him, Kling ducked, and landed a solid left.

Then Kling awoke. His left hand hurt, and then he realized he had banged it into a night stand. An X-ray the next day showed a fracture of a knuckle on the left hand. Kling had to have a cast, and a brace extending almost to the elbow.



INDIA'S 'HUCKLEBERRY FINN'

It's Relaxing To Be An Ex

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—When a new state park lodge was opened, former Gov. Bert Combs was among the speakers at the dedication.

His opening statement was a tacit summary of life away from the spotlight.

"One great advantage of being a private citizen again," he remarked, "is that now nobody expects me to say something brilliant or witty every time I open my mouth."

Facts Of Wine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dinner wines are generally made from a naturally fermented grape juice, while dessert wines are fortified with extra alcohol, according to the Wine Institute.

OBSERVES A TRADITION

Norma Lennert of Montgomery Ward children's department staff observes a tradition. The Corte Madera Center and Wards Anniversary and Ward's own Birthday Sale are simultaneous storewide celebrations.

Life Began After Long Glacier Age

By WIL LEPKOWSKI
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—A formidable glacier apparently held much of the world in an icy grip some 600 million years ago. Only when this until now obscure ice age ended did life start to flower.

This is the interpretation of two British scientists in attempting to account for how the evolution of life suddenly went through a radical change cons ago.

Up to now, scientists have been puzzled by the abrupt multiplication of fossilized animal life forms observed in rocks dating from the so-called Cambrian era, which ended about 500 million years ago. No one had thought of connecting the change of evolutionary pace with a world-wide warming trend because there was no agreement that there had been a big freeze prior to the Cambrian period.

Recently, however, evidence of such an ice age has been mounting, largely through the mapping of tillites, which are rocky droppings from ancient ice bergs. The freeze, it now appears, was centered in the central Pacific and south Atlantic oceans—points which then may have been polar regions because of a shift in the earth's axis.

W. Brian Harland and Martin J. Rudwick of the University of Cambridge said in "Scientific American" that if their interpretation is correct, "it can hardly be mere coincidence that a geological event of such intensity was followed by a biological event of equally striking character."

It was as if a brake had been released, permitting life to go ahead and evolve from small, simple forms to the complicated creatures that eventually led to man.

Another factor complicating the tracing of the pre-Cambrian ice age was the gradual movement of continents from a bunched up mass to their present positions. This movement is known as continental drift. The theory is supported by similarities in rock magnetism, fossil patterns, and geological formations as far apart as India and Antarctica.

The scientists said, however, that it appeared the warming trend ending the ice age set in before the continents drifted apart. Life began to proliferate in the form of ancient clams, insects and reptiles on the shores of a super continent.

They attributed the end of the ice age to a heightening of solar radiation. This melted the glaciers and icebergs. The oceans rose and new, warm seas were formed, unlocking the forces of evolution.

Rum Running Replaced By Game Fishing

BIMINI, Bahamas (UPI) — Game fishing and tourism have replaced rum running as the economic bulwark of this tiny island.

Only a few oldtimers are left who recall the 1920s when the U.S. thirst for whiskey, rum and gin brought money into the pockets of the hard-working Bahamian entrepreneurs.

During the 15 years of the Volstead Act, swift boats laden with illicit cargoes from England and Scotland via Nassau played hide-and-seek with U.S. Coast Guard cutters on the way to rendezvous on the Florida coast 50 miles away.

Only a few of the Bimini bootleggers had been prudent enough to stash away their profits. When Prohibition was abolished in 1933, the easy-come, easy-go money from liquor traffic dried up.

Bimini slid into economic doldrums, but a few years later, American anglers discovered the treasure trove of big-game fish and brought with them a tourist prosperity which still endures.

Salt Of Earth

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Soil salinity reduces crop yields as much as 25 per cent, according to Texas A&M University. Salt in the soil reduces the amount of water available to plants.

Sailing Ships May Be Under Market Street

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Engineers preparing to build a subway in downtown San Francisco believe there's a strong chance they will find the remains of at least three 19th century sailing ships buried under Market Street.

"It's quite possible that these wrecks are fairly close to the surface, maybe only nine or 10 feet below," says R. E. Davis, a consulting engineer to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD).

The ships are the Callao, the Byron and the Galen. The San Francisco Maritime Museum reports the three vessels were among hundreds that brought gold seekers to the city in the 1840s and 1850s.

The ships later were abandoned and sunk along what was then the waterfront to make room for the expanding downtown district. They were covered over with mud and sand so city engineers could extend the waterfront six blocks toward the bay.

Other ships met the same fate. At first they were used as homes, stores, offices, warehouses, hotels and even jails. Piers eventually surrounded the vessels and soon they were stripped of their valuables, sunk and covered over.

The Maritime Museum has pinpointed the location of the Callao and Byron at the intersection of Market and Pine Streets. The Galen has been located tentatively one block away on Market, the city's busiest thoroughfare.

The BARTD plans to begin construction of the subway next year.

"If the ships are still below the water line," says Davis, "it's likely that we may come across them in a preserved condition."

Be Soused Rather Than Stupid, Men

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The chairman of a large Johannesburg company sent this memo to his senior executives: "All executives who have been drinking vodka at lunchtime are requested hereafter to drink whisky. We would prefer our clients to regard our staff as inebriated, rather than stupid."

The memo stemmed from a change in Johannesburg business executives' midday drinking habits. Many have switched from whiskey to vodka because they say the latter's telltale odor is less pronounced.

Texans Not Lamb-Likers

The national average per capita consumption of lamb is about five pounds annually while Texans eat only 2.5 pounds per capita. Some states, such as California, consume as much as 13 to 15 pounds per person annually.

Orts explained the main reason for this paradox is that Texans have come to think that all lamb is strong smelling when cooking and greasy when eaten. He says this is mainly due to improper cooking and preparation of lamb.

Spelling Variety

WOBURN, Mass. (UPI)—Letters received at the postoffice here down through the years have revealed 123 different spellings for Woburn. This city was named for Woburn, Bedfordshire, England.

Africans Fear Invisible Juju

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — He is reputed to be about two feet tall — Tokoloshe, the awesome, invisible juju feared by this country's highly superstitious Africans.

Mention of his name is enough to send African children howling into the nearest corner. This mythical menace is believed so powerful by most Africans that anything from hiccoughs to murder is often attributed to his mischief.

They believe he can walk through solid walls, fly, make women pregnant with a wink of his eye, and is ever-present everywhere.

His height explains why many urban Africans stand their beds on piles of bricks — "so Tokoloshe can't reach me when I'm sleeping." He is also the reason for the look under the bed at night — "he may be hiding there."

Africans roll the whites of their eyes when anyone mentions Tokoloshe. "I don't really believe in him," some will tell you, "but just to be on the safe side, please don't mention that name."

Most of them grow up with the image of Tokoloshe firmly imprinted in their minds. Children are threatened with his presence if they are disobedient.

If it rains when it isn't supposed to, if you trip and sprain your ankle, if you have a stomach-ache or if a rival gets off with your favorite girl friend — it's all Tokoloshe's fault.

In many rural areas African women always go to the nearest stream in parties when they fetch water. They believe Tokoloshe is skulking in the reeds and waiting for them to come along singly.

He is also supposed to have the power to change his shape. Africans believe he can appear in the form of a dog, a woman, a bug on the wall or a snake. In fact, almost any person, animal or insect is a potential threat because it could be Tokoloshe in disguise.

He is said to be immortal. Nobody seems to know where or when the legend started, but at times it has been so potent that hale and hearty Zulu warriors have been known to become ill and die because they thought Tokoloshe had bewitched them.

Many Africans carry talismen to protect themselves in case Tokoloshe should get troublesome. Sold by witchdoctors for about $28, they are usually worn around the neck or wrist. They are often made from feathers, beads, animal hide and copper wire.

This legendary spirit is said to have a penchant for grabbing drunks by the neck and throttling them as a punishment for drinking. If a drunk is found dead—from pneumonia a road accident or a heart attack—the explanation is always the same: "Tokoloshe got him."

Tokoloshe is said to be a second speedy Gonzalez when it comes to wedding night exploits with other men's brides.

Tribesmen believe the only way of safeguarding their bride on the wedding night is by burning khakibos, a weed with an unpleasant smell, near her. This apparently is too much for Tokoloshe.

According to African tribal laws, husbands must pay lobola for their future wives. The bride's father is paid, often in cattle, according to the beauty and age of his daughter. A virgin rates more than looser living girls.

If the husband's belief in his bride is later proved unfounded, his father-in-law avoids being called a cheat by blaming it all on Tokoloshe.

The husband has no comeback. Even if he can bring witnesses to testify his wife was seen before marriage with another man, the wife can say that wasn't a man—it was Tokoloshe disguised as a man and she was helpless in his power.

In South Africa many Africans are often away from their wives for months at a stretch at work in the gold mines. If during the husband's absence his wife falls pregnant, she often blames it on Tokoloshe. "He winked at me with his magic eye when I went to fetch water at the river," is an almost irrefutable explanation.

Branding Irons Shown In Texas

The collection was put together during the past 10 years by Leonard Stiles, a King Ranch employee. It totals 725 different branding irons.

Guess What Their Line Of Work Is?

NEW YORK (UPI) — What do Colonel Clean, Daniel Broom, Tom Tidy and Sweepy the Squirrel have in common?

All four have the same job, according to Keep America Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization. They are the official mascots of litter-prevention programs in Mississippi, Kentucky, Rhode Island and Maryland, respectively.

Four-Year College Education Is Costly

BERKELEY — Four-year graduates at the Berkeley campus of the University of California spent close to $39 million for their college education.

This figure, based on the estimated typical budget for a student living in one of the University's residence halls, is for the 3,773 students who completed four years of undergraduate study on the Berkeley campus during the 1963-64 academic year.

Chancellor Edward W. Strong announced this month the names of 3,711 Berkeley students who received degrees or certificates in June. Adding those who completed their work in summer session or the fall semester, 6,098 students received degrees on the Berkeley campus in the past year.

The breakdown of the year's total shows that 3,773 bachelor's degrees, 1,617 master's degrees, 492 doctorates and 216 law degrees were conferred. In addition, 281 teaching certificates and 31 other certificates were granted.

On the average, each graduating senior spent more than 2,500 hours in college classes and laboratories and nearly 4,000 hours in concentrated individual study.

Of the four-year graduates at Berkeley, many are already in career job positions, an increasing number (up to 60 per cent) will continue in school working toward higher degrees, some are entering military service, and more than 400 have applied for admission to the Peace Corps.

Taxpayer Given Refund In Dallas

DALLAS, N.C. (AP) — George Cox complained to Dallas town officials that he was overcharged for taxes. Town Clerk J. J. Moore checked and said, "That's right. We overcharged him."

Moore then asked the town board to pass a motion authorizing a refund. A few days later, Cox received the refund: 50 cents.

TO TEACH IN INDIA

San Anselmo Woman Reviews Preparation For Peace Corps

Miss Spicer, who graduated from the University of California in June with a degree in bacteriology, says she is excited by the challenge of the peace corps, with its goal of becoming "part of the people where we are sent, not just breezing through."

CAROL K. SPICER
To India with Peace Corps

Carol says that she asked for an assignment in public health but was assigned to teach mathematics-science to secondary school students.

"It really doesn't matter what I'm assigned to, I'll be able to use my bacteriology training. The peace corps is always dealing in basic living conditions wherever it is," said Miss Spicer.

"We were told that the first six months would be the hardest."

This is the period when peace corps workers feel the full brunt of the living conditions they are trying to change, and realize how little they will be able to achieve.

"Bue we'll be leaving behind us new patterns which will last after we leave, because we try to work with what's available," said Carol.

The attractive, blue-eyed volunteer said that her training was heavy in its emphasis on language. She will have to do most of her daily business in Hindu-Urdu, combination of two languages which are different when written, but similar when spoken.

"In our language training we tried to re-enact some basic daily living situations," she said. "These were designed to help us fit smoothly into the life of our surroundings.

"For example, I will have to behave much more rudely than I want to towards the man who comes to do my laundry, if there is one, because he would be embarrassed if I treated his as an equal."

The training emphasized that changing the caste system is not the objective of the corps, even in rural areas where it is strongest. Carol is scheduled to go to such an area in West Bengal.

"But in the Peace Corps, you must be very flexable," she said. "I may never get there if I'm needed for something else."

Planners Increase Meetings

San Anselmo Planning Commission voted Monday night to meet twice a month starting in October to cope with the increasing amount of business.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month, chairman Charles R. Leitzell, said today.

The city's planning staff was requested last night to find out if other cities required subdividers of small hillside areas to contribute money toward improvement of access roads to their subdivisions in lieu of constructing curbs, gutters and sidewalks in their developments.

The commission, Leitzell said, is seeking a plan which will improve the entire roadway rather than just a small area or none at all.

Discussion of a proposal of the San Anselma Chamber of Commerce to rezone the downtown area for planned development from its present commercial zoning was scheduled for an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday in the city hall.

Teacher Median Pay In State Is $7,204

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The median salaries for classroom teachers in California during 1963-64 was $7,204, the State Department of Education has reported.

This included 145,592 fulltime teachers but did not include persons in administration capacities.

The median salary for elementary teaechers was $6,781, while high school teachers had a median of $7,697 and junior college teachers $7,204.

Since last year, the minimum salary for teachers was raised from $4,500 to $5,000. This means not only that no teachers may be employed for less than this amount, but the increase in the lowest-level positions was expected to be reflected in increases on up the salary line.

In 1963-64, there were 173 teachers who received less than the minimum of $4,500 and 1,743 who were paid less than $5,000.

The department's report showed California teachers have received salary increases averaging about 4.9 per cent (for the median level) every year for the past 11 years.

In 1952-53, the medians were $3,997 for elementary teachers; $4,783 for high school teachers and $5,463 for junior college teachers, with an overall median of $4,266.

Since 1952-53, the median salary for all California teachers has gained by 68 per cent. The increase for elementary teachers was 67 per cent; for high school teachers, 61 per cent, and for junior college teachers, 69 per cent.

The department showed there were 84,702 elementary teachers in 1963-64, with 54,426 high school teachers and 6,464 junior college teachers.

Two Firms Due State Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License board announced it plans to issue licenses to two San Rafael firms if no protest is received by Oct. 7.

Last Frontier Builders, Inc., 1456 Lincoln Avenue, will be issued a general building contractor's license. The company listed its officers as David E. Dexter, president and manager; Bernard S. Gagliardi, vice president, and Ellen A. Dexter, secretary.

ELECTED PRESIDENT— Walter T. Winter, Tiburon attorney, has been elected president of the California Chapter of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, a national organization of lawyers specializing in divorce law.

Record For Cow

Geronimo Group Seeks Way To Enforce Cleanup

More than 200 residents of San Geronimo Valley discussed means to enforce cleanup of the valley and strengthen fire ordinances at a meeting Monday night at Lagunitas School.

Mrs. Marie Gee, secretary of the San Geronimo Valley Clean-Up and Beautification Committee, said the turnout was one of the largest ever in the valley.

The residents discuss the dumping of trash along the highways, abandoned cars, rats, skunks and condemnation of buildings with county department heads and representatives of other agencies.

Mrs. Gee said the committee will recommend a fire ordinance for the valley and a tightening up of garbage and trash laws at a meeting of the directors of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Friday, and that the recommendations will be forwarded to county supervisors.

To English Seminar

Terra Linda High School will send 16 English teachers to the 14th annual Asilomar Conference on Language Arts Friday. The meeting is sponsored by the California Council of Teachers of English.
